THE GENEALOGICAL FOLLIES OF 1933

- I. THAT, the war between the 'T'ISSERS and the 'T'AINTERS is either real or sanguinary, or, in the leastwise, helpful.
- II. THAT, history and genealogy can be created by ipse dixit proclamations.
- III. THAT, self-constituted committees can determine genealogical facts, by selection and exclusion.
- IV. THAT, an American Heraldry can be established, without law or jurisdiction, or by vote and certificate of purity.
- V. THAT, accurate genealogy to any great degree can be secured, as scientific or practical truth.
- VI. THAT, being a professor, or critic, or editor, or favorite of certain, localized groups, per se adds any prestige or certainty to genealogical findings.
- VII. THAT, valuable as it is for forensic discussion, the surreptitious, but personal and hostile beliefs and disbeliefs, as so unkindly expressed, often in the columns of the Boston Transcript, reflect any credit upon genealogical standards and writers—it rather debases them.
- VIII. THAT, an "experienced" genealogist wins his spurs or recognition by editorial compliment or group selection. His is only the genius of honest, hard work.
 - IX. THAT, in America, it is right or just to set-up one group exponent, or preachment, section or teaching, as against another, in a field of research, where all are striving for historical perfection. Such is narrow, intolerant and selfish.
 - X. THAT, the REAL SUCCESSOR to SAVAGE has been since born, or the PERFECT GENEALOGIST has now arisen.
 - XI. THAT, the sneer of the professional at the amateur is more harmful than assumed, and, that the avocative has neither right nor authority.
 - XII. THAT, the flare of any one to "whisper" behind hands, or to write "confidentially", in questioning the integrity of unselfish work, is the mark of the true critic or of the gentleman. Of such are "cowards" made.
- XIII. THAT, only good, true Americans are admitted to the various patriotic societies, and all others are without ancestry, or half-breeds. Registrars are not the sole judges of "quality".
- XIV. THAT, all genealogy, outside of New England, is uncertain, carelessly compiled, "hodge-podge", "skip and jump", etc. That is plain "tommy-rot".
- XV. THAT, all western culture is bizarre and crude, the erudition of the "sons of wild jackasses".
- XVI. THAT, members of genealogical and historical societies are without right of recognition, although they pay the bills and furnish the officers, agents and editors, with their livelihood.
- XVII. THAT, a genealogical trust, or sectional control of the output, dictation of policy, or other bureau, can be made the benefactor to any one.
- XVIII. THAT, the PERFECT GENEALOGY has been yet written, or is soon to issue.
 - XIX. THAT, scholarship is local, expert opinion is sacred, criticism ever helps much, and "good men" all die young—some live beyond sixty.
 - XX. THAT, ALTRUISM can be displaced by self-exaltation, or mutuality for good, by SELFISHNESS.

THE FAMOUS SURVEY MAP OF 1769 SMITH'S HISTORY OF NEW JERSEY

(Second edition by Sharp, 1877). (Front-is-piece)

"Another innovation is a finely executed copy of a map, published in 1777, by William Faden, Charing Cross, London, of which it is unnecessary to speak at length, as an inspection must satisfy every one of its importance in this connection. Although this sketch and map form no part of the original edition, (1745), the fact that the former was never before published, and that the latter was taken from the first official draft and survey of the PROVINCE, (New Jersey), will render them of peculiar interest, and the publisher has, for this reason, thought them valuable additions."

Wm. S. Sharp.

The outstanding, opening and leading feature of PART FIVE was the reproduction from several sources of "THE GREAT MAP OF AUGUSTINE HERRMAN, "NEW JARSY", in 1673," (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 650). While regrettable that the latter map did not show all of New Jersey, and particularly the geography of the central and northern section, thereof; yet, the date, 1673, and the remarkable accuracy, with limited means to draft it, of the cartography of the drawer of the map, and the other related place and name designations, rendered it most valuable in this compilation. It did give a contemporary illumination of The Period, with some expression of the physical evidences and topographical environment of the FIRST SETTLERS, arriving before that date. (Note the further reference, post, at the end of this article, relating to the HERRMAN MAP).

Now, this FAMOUS SURVEY MAP OF 1769, while later than the intended year limits of THE PERIOD, (1664-1714), it was just before THE REVOLUTION and was the first Map to be based upon the original surveys, in strict sense, as far as discoverable. It was not published, in connection with the first edition of SMITH'S HISTORY OF NEW JERSEY, and it was the front-is-piece of the second edition, published by WILLIAM S. SHARP, (himself a descendant of F. S.), at Trenton, August, 1877. Several, original draughts and copies are in existence, independently. While the copyright has expired, The New Jersey Historical Society is to be credited, with whatever permission to republish, equitably, to be given. The writer has thought that this FAMOUS SURVEY MAP OF 1769 is not very extendedly available, because it was originally engraved, printed or lithographed (?), on the cheapest of paper, poorly executed, and has been torn, roughed up and missing from most copies of SMITH'S HISTORY OF NEW JERSEY, (2nd. Ed.), and it is so large in size, frail and flimsy, where existent, that its use is not possible or practicable. Unfortunately, without expensive retracings, the place names and other features are not clearly reproducible. But, this effort at preservation will no doubt please every student and searcher, who uses this REFERENCE SERIES, to his advantage, as well as delectation.

As will be readily noted, this FAMOUS SURVEY MAP OF 1769, bears certain indicia and recitals of its purport and coverage. (Front-is-piece).

The following title of this map.

"THE PROVINCE of NEW JERSEY, Divided into EAST and WEST, commonly called THE JERSEYS."

"Engraved & Published by WM. FADEN, Charing Cross, December 1st, 1777."

"This MAP has been drawn from the Survey made in 1769 by order of the Commissioners appointed to settle the partition Line between the Provinces of New York & New Jersey by Bernard Ratzer, Lieut. in the 60th Regt. and from another large Survey of the Northern Part in the possession of the Earl of Dunmore by Gerald Banker. The whole regulated and ascertained by Astronomical observations."

Relative to the boundaries of NEW JERSEY, as then constituted, this MAP makes clear the geographical confines, of which the western, or DELAWARE RIVER, and the northern, or the Colony of New York, are, naturally, at the moment, the most important.

The notable, internal features of the SURVEY are the two LINES, run at different times, in attempts, at different dates, to fix, beyond further dispute, the locus of the line of division, between EAST and WEST JERSEY, so important in the early, political development of the Colony of Nova

Of these LINES, as running, approximately northwest by southeast, (intended to be north and south), as designated on the SURVEY MAP, "KEITH'S LINE in 1687" was the earlier, and shorter, but of the same general direction of the division, and giving a greater portion of land to EAST JERSEY.

This EAST and WEST JERSEY DIVISION LINE was very carefully presented, with record references, in PART FOUR, (vide, ante, p. 548). The surveyors were GEORGE KEITH, of East New Jersey, ANDREW ROBINSON, of West New Jersey, and PHILIP WELLS, of New York, and, though the latter was the greater and more experienced Surveyor, long of Staten Island, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 636), it was naturally, designated as the KEITH SURVEY or KEITH'S LINE OF 1687. Consult authorities appended in the reference.

The second of the two LINES, as shown by the FAMOUS SURVEY MAP OF 1769, is thus designated as "DIVISION LINE RUN IN 1743 between EAST NEW JERSEY and WEST NEW JERSEY", of the same general direction as the other, northwest by southeast, but the southern-terminus of each was Little Egg Harbor, on the Atlantic, and in the case of the former, it ran farther, northward, and, separating, to give more land to WEST NEW JERSEY, had its northern terminus at the Delaware River, just south of Minising Island, within the limits of modern Sussex County, (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.). This became important as to future county divisions and as to the determination of much land title litigation, ensuing, and which continued, civilly and politically, and between individuals, for many, many years. Scarcely a deed record or other conveyance, on its borders, but what contained a reference or recital of either or both of these LINES.

The LINE of 1743 was laid out by and known as the JOHN LAWRENCE LINE, (ARCHIVES, 1st., ser., Vol. VI, pp. 154 et seq.), where complete record is given.

It was done under the Administration of Governor Lewis Morris, and the opening recordal instructions, together with other excerpts, will add to the FAMOUS SURVEY MAP FEATURES:

"Instructions from John Hamilton and Andrew Johnston to John Lawrence for running the Partition Line between East and West Jersey.

(From original among Papers of F. J. Paris in the New Jersey Historical Society Library, Package 6, No. 18).

INSTRUCTIONS TO MR. JOHN LAWRENCE CONCERNING THE RUNNING THE PARTITION LINE BETWEEN EAST AND WEST JERSEY.

1st. With this you'll Receive a Commission to you for Running the Partition Line between East & West Jersey to the Execution of which you'll be sworn as in the Draught of the Oath on the Back thereof."

2nd. You are to Employ Martin Ryerson or Gersham Mott or some other as an Assistant Surveyor if you think proper & also proper Chainbearers & Markers all which are to be sworn or Affirm'd truely to Perform the Office you Employ them in, and to have a Certificate of those Oaths or Affirmations indors'd on the back of your Commission and Sign'd by the Magistrate who Administers the Oaths or Affirmations to them, before you Proceed to the Work.—"

"3dly. You are to Proceed to Little Egg Harbour on the Sea Coast with the hands by you Employ'd & there Ascertain the most Southerly Point of a Certain Beach or Island of Sand Lying next & adjoining to the Main Sea on the North Side of the Mouth or Entrance of a certain Inlet Bay or Harbour Call'd Little Egg Harbour, to the Ascertaining whereof the finding the markt Trees of the Line run by George Keith in the Year 1687, (a Coppy of whose Survey from Lib: O. Page 1, you have herewith) from that same Point may be Assisting to you, for in that Line that Point then was, & Storms may since that have altered it by Adding to it or washing from it, but the Place where it formerly was we Conceive is what's to be adhered to—if the Point Remain now in the Line of George Keith & consequently is in the same Place now where it then was—"

"21. When you have thus finish'd that Work you are fairly to Lay down on a Map the Random & true Lines with all the Things you Observ'd in their true Places, and make Return to us of the Map and a Copy of your Field Work in Order for forming such Certificate of the Work agreeable thereto, as may be proper to be Recorded, you are also to Return your Commission in Order that it may given You.

JOHN HAMILTON ANDREW JOHNSTON".

THE NOTABLE NEW JERSEY GORE OF LAND ACREAGE The "angle" between the KEITH and LAWRENCE LINES.

"On September 5, 1688, Governors Coxe and Barclay, entered into an agreement for terminating all differences concerning the deed of partition; stipulating that the line run by Keith, to the south branch of the Raritan, should be the bounds, so far, between the provinces, and directing the route by which that line should be continued for perfecting the division. (See Smith's Hist. N. J. pp. 197, 198). But this agreement was never carried into effect.

Subsequent to the determination of the north station point, in 1719, several ineffectual attempts were made by the parties to ascertain the line. At length, John Hamilton, and Andrew Johnstone, commissions under the Act of 1719, (the latter named in 1740), at the request of the eastern proprietors, in the year 1743, appointed JOHN LAWRENCE to run the line, pursuant to the act of Assembly; which was, accordingly, done in September and October of that year. And this line, the East Jersey proprietors allege, has been irequently recognized by the West Jersey proprietors, particularly, by the susue of warrants of relocation from the year 1745, to 1765, for lands which were found to be east of DEND, THE GORE, or ANGLE FORMED BY KEITH'S AND LAWRENCE'S LINES; by lune; and by other acts of acquiescence, entered upon their minutes. To this line of LAWRENCE'S Least Jersey proprietors still firmly adhere."

"The line run by LAWRENCE, in Sussex County, forms the boundary between Byram and Greene, Newton and Greene, and Stillwater, and between Walpack and Sandistone townships; crossing the Delaware into Pennsylvania, about fifteen miles below the present northermost point of the state, it strikes the Delaware again, in the State of New York, near thirty miles north of the mouth of the Mackhackamack." (Vide, post, this PART, p. indic. under SUSSEX). (GORDON, pp. 73 and 75).

The boundary line, established by this SURVEY, was set in 1769, and, was the permanent dividing line between the colonies of New York and New Jersey, from that date. On the FAMOUS SURVEY the Commissioners, in 1769." It is necessary to investigate and examine the colonial records of New York, in order to ascertain details of this boundary line survey. It is also important to New Jersey descendants to follow the history and records of the old Minisinck, (N. Y.), Grant or patent, whose southwestern focus or center was at the Delaware River, where in 1769 was the town of "Minising" and "Minising Island", in the Delaware River itself. The latter is not far south of the present town of Milford, Penna., and on the New Jersey side, where the state highway crosses the Delaware River, by bridge, (formerly, only by boat or raft), it leads into Montague Township, Sussex County, N. J.

For MINISINCK, there are several references in CALENDAR OF LAND PAPERS, (p. 807, most imp.). This was an orig. grant to John Evans in 1694.

FAMOUS SURVEY MAP OF 1769 (Other Features)

This old map shows many place names, most of which have been preserved to this day, while some have been lost or changed, forever. The county division lines, with mountains and rivers, are the most interesting and intriguing features. Because of the topography, and the call of New York colony, where so many New Jerseyites migrated before 1800, it is clear that the lines, by ground surface necessity and by following water confluences, were indicative of the migration into northwestern New Jersey, shortly before and subsequent to the War of the Revolution.

CIRCLE OF N. J. COLONIZATION CENTER

(As related to the purposes and scope of this SERIES, the geographical center of the PISCA-TAWAY and WOODBRIDGE settlement and Colonial activities are shown by an arbitrary black circle, as reproduced in the map, which may be said to have been the New Jersey Colonizing Center. —O. E. M.)

Middlesex County with its neighbors, Monmouth, on the south; Hunterdon and Somerset on the west; Essex, on the north, and Staten Island, above "Rariton Bay", contiguously, on the east, are evident. Morris County, farther northward, was the line of march to the Delaware River, Sussex County, later, and the final distribution point, at Port Jervis, New York, at the northwestern intersection of that colony with New Jersey, (vide, post, this PART, pp. indic.). This led into the orig. Minisinck Patent.

In Middlesex County, the towns or villages of PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE, PERTH AMBOY, BONHAMTOWN, METUCHEN, NEW BRUNSWICK, SCOTSPLAINS, and WESTFIELD are plainly evident, with others; in Essex, of ELIZABETHTOWN and RAWAY. These have been reviewed at various points in this REFERENCE SERIES.

On Staten Island, should be moted "Billop's Point", the location of the old "French Church", and the fringe of Atlantic Coast, called "Great Kills", referred to in many records, and the point of land, jutting out, elsewhere marked as "MONEE'S POINT", (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 147,

By the Division Line of 1743, Hunterdon County, as well as Burlington, to the south, became, altogether, parts of West Jersey. Ringos, Pennington and Maidenhead should be noticed in the former, as well as the capital city of Trenton, in Burlington. Particularly should be noted the towns of Rocky Hill and Princetown, (not Princeton, as vide, ante PART FIVE, p. 769), with, strangely enough, Nassau Hall, attached to the latter.

In connection with the OLD HERMANN MAP, (supra), this FAMOUS SURVEY MAP OF 1769, further outlines and presents Delaware Colony, with its then political divisions, in a most pointed manner. Delaware Bay looms large, furnishing the boat entrance, capacious and wide, so easy and attractive, which made removal of New Jersey settlers to Delaware, before 1700, both natural and certain, as well as under the rule of the first jurisdictions, both Dutch and English New York, over this section.

As indicated, in THE SECOND MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE, (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.), Rehoboth Bay was visited, and the quaint, little old town of Lewes, Delaware, (as appearing upon this map, with its ancient "Whorekill Road"). The very old houses there and the old cemetery with their New Jersey surname identifications, remain to this day as evidence of New Jersey First Settlers, of which PAYNTER or PAINTER, is a notable example. Descendants of the first RICHARD PAINTER OF E. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 725-6).

This map, with the foregoing highlights, so to speak, pointed out, is worthy of the closest and most affectionate study by the enthusiastic and faithful New Jersey historian and genealogist.—O. E. M.

NEW JERSEY IN 1798

The frontispiece Map of the AMERICAN GAZETTEER, (vide, post, this PART, in BIB.), and a specific map of Northern Part, U. S. A., (p. 353), exhibit, without much detail, but with name-places, showing divisions, at that date, New Jersey, with Amboy and Sussex. A description, to be remembered, (in part,) as follows: (pp. 360-3),

"NEW JERSEY, one of the United States of America, is situated between 39 and 41.24.N. latitude, and between 74.44. and 75.33.W. longitude from London: bounded E. by Hudson's river and the ocean; W. by Delaware Bay and river, which divide it from the States of Delaware and Pennsylvania; N. by the line drawn from the mouth of MAHAKKAMAK river, in lat. 41.24. to a point on Hudson's river, in lat. 41." * * * * * "The number of inhabitants is 184,139, of whom 11,423 are slaves", and many other interesting items.—O. E. M.

THE GREAT MAP OF AUGUSTINE HERRMAN (Supplemental)

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 645-6 and 650 et seq).

It was the thought of the writer to give credit to all sources: British Museum of London, where the original map reposes, to the Congressional Library, at Washington, for hist. and photostat, and to the John Carter Brown Library, of Providence, R. I., (p. 650), each and all of whom were most courteous and helpful in producing this map.

It is now made clear, what was not easy to discern, by any one who is not a special map student, that the copy appearing in ill., (p. 646), is a copy of the John Carter Brown Library Map, in that there is a difference, not readily noticeable; "the difference between the two maps lies in the fact that our copy has pasted beneath the portrait of Augustine Herrman the imprint of the publisher by whom the map was sold. This seems a slight enough matter, but when there are only two known copies of a certain map, it is well to note carefully any differences between them." Mr. Lawrence C. Wroth, Librarian.

This editor is also indebted to Mrs. Mary C. Bean, of Baltimore, Maryland, for a like explanation, which may add to this interest; as she has sent a photostat, as well.

"Photostat, one-quarter size, made from full-size photostat copy of reproduction at the Library of Congress of the engraved map in the British Museum. The original in the Museum is the only known* copy of the Faithorne engraving. It is in four parts, perhaps so issued for binding, and is remarkably accurate as to the then known regions. Augustine Herrman, amongst other attainments, was a trained surveyor and map maker, and for his work in producing this map, received from Lord Baltimore a grant of 30,000 acres of land, Bohemia Manor, in Delaware. Early maps of New York were made by him and he made the first drawing published of New Amsterdam (N.Y. City). He was born in Prague in 1606, and spent his youth in Holland.

Merry Christmas 1933

"In a book published in 1866 on "American Paper Currency," we found the following reference to the Seven Dollar bill issued by the United States in 1776—

"The bill had for its device a storm descending from a black cloud with the motto designed to encourage the dejected who may be too sensible of present inconveniences and fear their continuance."

Serenabit "IT WILL CLEAR UP"

We believe that the "black clouds" are gradually lifting and along with our CHRISTMAS GREETINGS and best wishes for the NEW YEAR, we express the hope that for you and all of our friends in 1934

Mr. & Mrs. R. S. Hecht"

"Faith—Courage

Black years of depression, want, woe and turmoil lie behind this Nation. Ahead is the pathway of hope, the road to peace and security.

To go on requires sublime courage, patience and determination. We have placed our trust in the wisdom of a courageous leader. Our duty and our salvation demands our complete support.

We cannot fail—we must not falter. The welfare and safety of this Nation rests in our hands. Without universal support, the Chief Executive is impotent. Shall we cringe in fear or go forward with determination?

It is a time for reconsecration to the task ahead! Let this glorious Christmas, coming as it does at the break of the long night of despair, bring new courage and a new purpose to forge ahead. Let the spirit of helpfulness, unselfishness and comradeship be rekindled in every human heart.

In this land of plenty, made bounteous by a generous Providence, there should never be a needless tear, a drooping head, a pain-torn heart. There is enough for all, and he who on this blessed Christmastide seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, shall be a thrice worthy guest in the Father's Mansion—and he shall also be the MAN that God intended him to be! Only upon this condition can there be given everywhere, throughout the length and breadth of the land, true meaning to the song of the angels—"Peace on earth, goodwill to men!"

THESE THREE

There are in life's armory Armors, one and two and three. Steel-blue or silver for a choice Or shining gold to make a heart rejoice. He, who girds himself with steel, The battle's wounds will scarcely feel-Following his unglimpsed Lord, Faith is his unbroken sword. He, whose armor's silver pure, Will come through combats all secure— Never in darkness blindly grope, For, lo, his glowing shield is Hope. The third is armor, oh, most strange, Its beauty without rust or change, But loud a warning cry, Who chooses Love himself must die. Aileen Templeton.

BOOK REVIEWS—PERSONAL COMMENT

These are gratefully noted and certainly helpful toward a contemporary appraisal of earnest, worth while efforts. They will preserve standards of judgment for subsequent years. In a restricted field, such as Genealogy, the estimate of fair, high-minded reviewers is a valuable contribution to the cause. Criticism, even though honest, where difference of opinion alone expresses itself, is of little value. The personal equation too frequently directs and beclouds the opinions of the critic. The editorial column is not the place in which to exercise a selfish interpretation of unselfish labors. Occasionally, an editor so far forgets himself.

Happily, the work of this author has attracted wide attention, generous support, and a multitude of favorable commentators. The enthusiasm from workers and professionals in a sphere, heretofore uncoordinated, though possessing many individual, excellent publications, has proven most inspiring. Never will it be possible for any searcher or student, in his coverage of this section, to be able to ignore the data and preservations of this REFERENCE SERIES of history, genealogy and bibliography of colonial New Jersey. Though the common dry-as-dust, accepted form of presentation has been waived, by the very cogency of its language and its provocative spirit, the evidence to all of its integrity of purpose and of its clearance for altruism, will survive any unkind or selfish criticisms. This is not a "flamboyant fulmination"—just a noteworthy fact.

To show his gratitude, this writer and editor, wishes, properly, to include both reviews and personal comments, to memorialize these kind expressions and his reciprocative kindness, even though the pages lengthen to immoderate proportions—no text will be lost or forced out of place.

The review of M. Atherton Leach, as follows, is delightful, as she has caught the intended human interest and the real purport of "Genealogical Deductions." One partisan editor would have been more fair, if he had read, first, before writing, "A Cautionary Word," (PART THREE, p. 309), and the introductory remarks in PARTS THREE, (p. 405) and FOUR, (p. 582).

It is practically impossible, within the brief compass of a notice, to do justice to the wealth of genealogical and historical material included in Part Four of Dr. Monnette's expanding compilation, enriched as it is with a wealth of unusual maps and other illustrations. The present number's high-water sections are: The Court Minutes of Middlesex County, 1683-1720; Special Genealogical Treatment: First Settler Families, and General Bibliography, History and Families.

All printed material pertinent to the author's subject is being covered and many

All printed material pertinent to the author's subject is being covered and many outworn theories noted and set aside. His inter-colonial settings and migrations are rich in human interest and his genealogical deductions valuable as guide-posts, though inquiries and detours may be necessary before the inn of documented facts by the side of the road is finally reached.

Dear Mr. Monnette:

I enclose a formal acknowledgment of your gift* of Part V, which (except for Part IV) completes our set.

By action of the Board of Trustees, on last Saturday evening, you have been elected a corresponding member of the Institute, as a slight recognition of your valuable contributions to the genealogical history of Staten Island.

I think you may be pleased to know that, in connection with a rather important lawsuit now in progress, the fact that the surnames Tysen and Sweem had been applied to the same individual was first ascertained from your writings.

Yours truly,

NEW JERSEY HISTORY

The new work on New Jersey local history and genealogy now being compiled by Mr. Orra E. Monnette, of Los Angeles, California, entitled "First Settlers of ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, New Jersey," is, truly, a most unique and comprehensive undertaking. It covers the Colonial period of 50 years, 1664-1714.

The compiler has been delving into New Jersey history for years, and he has gathered one of the most complete libraries covering the local and family history of New Jersey, to be found in this country.

From this valuable repository, he is now gleaning the materials covering the sections of which he treats in this new work. But, besides this, he has also been making extensive copies of very rare manuscripts, of unpublished town and church records, and of many other sources, not available to many workers in New Jersey history.

These are all being edited and properly arranged under certain subject headings which make the work more easily handled by the genealogical worker. Four issues of the book have been published, with others to follow. Each issue is a complete book in itself, covering a definite field of genealogy and local history.

The value to a genealogist of having so much source material in the compass of one book, is incalculable. And the preservation to the use of the future historians, of this vast store of historical facts, cannot be estimated. This work should be in all historical and genealogical libraries.

29 May, 1933

My dear Mr. Monnette:

Allow me to acknowledge with thanks on behalf of the Committee on Heraldry the receipt of Part V of your "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge" which came to hand today.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Harold Bowditch, Secretary, Committee on Heraldry. FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY, 1664-1714. By ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE. (The LeRoy Carman Press, Los Angeles, 1933, pp. 234, $8.25).

This is Part Five of "eight or more parts" printed in an edition of 350 copies. The high standards of previous portions are continued in this section which contains comments by the editor, maps and a vast amount of source material for the fifty years following the conquest of New Netherland by the English. The general bibliography relating to the first settler families is carried over from Part Four. Much space is devoted to seven pioneers: Pierre Billiou, Richard Stockton, Israel Folsom, John Gilman, Henry Freeman, James Giles and Luke Watson. Settlers of Delaware before 1700 are included. Vital statistics and lists of settlers of East New Jersey not included in previous volumes are printed, many of them in alphabetical order. Jersey genealogical notes from the Newark Evening News are reprinted. Lists of many names from New York colonial archives appear in chronological arrangment. About a hundred pages are devoted to a "Special Genealogical Treatment of First Settler Families," which is the most valuable portion of this compila-Only trained genealogists will appreciate the prodigious amount of patient research necessary to gather and to organize this material. Only a man with a long purse and a religious devotion to the cause could carry the plan to a successful culmination. So intimately is East New Jersey related to New York in the period covered that this assembly of source material will be of quite as much service to New Yorkers as to Jerseyites. Congratulations and thanks are due Dr. Monnette for his valuable contribution. A. C. F.

"Part Five (out of a proposed series of eight) is now published in Dr. Orra Eugene Monnette's "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Old East New Jersey" (LeRoy Carman Press, Los Angeles). The frontispiece is a reproduction of the Hermann map of 1870. Included in the book is a great mass of miscellaneous genealogical information, part of which is a reprint of articles on Jersey Genealogy that appeared several years ago in The Newark Evening News. There is information as to first settler families, a list of old New Jersey Governors, an account of the origin of New Jersey Huguenot names, etc. The volume has a number of illustrations.

From: "BOOKS" Los Angeles Saturday Night, May 20, 1933.

"Genealogy That is History".

Orra Monnette's monumental work as a genealogical historian entitled "First Settlers of Ye Plantations Piscataway and Woodbridge, Old East New Jersey," has now reached its fifth part (there will be eight or more in the series). The necessary research has been a work of love, but of prodigious labor, time and expense, particularly, as the edition is limited to 350 copies, printed on excellent paper and bound in cellusuede, with a number of illustrations, maps and the like. When the work is completed the several parts, of course, can be bound in a single volume in appropriate style, although that is not obligatory since the present binding is both attractive and durable. As noted in a previous comment on the series, the work includes source records and genealogical foundations in New England, particularly, Piscataqua region, New Hampshire and Massachusetts; England and Scotland progenitors with West Indian migrations, as applied to lineages, and especially, the Huguenots, French Protestant emigres from France before 1700.

What is known as the Great Map of Augustine Herrman "New Jarsy" in 1673 is a feature of part five. It appears as the frontispiece. The original is preserved in the British Museum and is reproduced from photostats of the original in the Congressional Library. The map (1673) bears at the top the royal coat-of-arms of England and to the right, a little below, is the Herrman family coat-of-arms. In the center of the map, showing Calvert county, "The Clifts" is limned, upon the crown of which the first Isaac Monnet settled, by grant from Lord Baltimore. Isaac was the progenitor of the Maryland branch of the Monnettes in America.

To librarians, genealogists, family historians, and the like, this non-profit labor of Orra E. Monnette cannot fail to be of great interest. When completed, the work will furnish an invaluable historical reference for Old East New Jersey, since the foundation records of New Jersey's first families are included. Part V is a new appraisal "in another phase" to quote the indefatigable compiler, whose constructive appeal is made in the spirit of this work. "Genealogy, yes," he admits, "but, primarily, history and love of nativity, American, her first principles and her institutions." In the words of the author, "They learn only who serve." "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge." Part V (1664-1714.) By Orra Eugene Monnette, B. A. LLD. The LeRoy Carman Press.

"FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLD EAST NEW JERSEY, by Orra Eugene Monnette, 1933. Part V, octavo, heavy suede paper, illustrated, pp. 650 to 884. Price $8.25. Address: Orra Eugene Monnette, 350 S. Oxford Ave., Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. Monnette has given most freely of his time, labor and money in printing this work on Piscataway and Woodbridge. It is stimulating and provocative of thought, and he deserves credit for some discoveries of interest.

Part V continues the miscellaneous assortment of old records, reprints of some of Mr. Monnette's articles which originally appeared in the Newark Evening News, gives extracts from the Nathaniel Fitz Randolph "Book of Records," and brief genealogical articles in alphabetical order. Some of his genealogical conclusions will probably not meet with general acceptance, but in others he has been more successful.

Recommended to genealogical libraries."*

p. 313).

(Foot-note)*-The recommendation is appreciated but reference must be had to statement which is key-note to work of this avocative, first made, 1911, in MONNET, (p. 945), "a cautionary word," and repeated in this SERIES, PART THREE, p. 309), in haec verba;

"Unfortunately, genealogy is not an exact science, and from scattered fragments the whole, completed and well-rounded structure is with difficulty erected. Hence, no deductions have been attempted without an honest belief in the proper and rightful conclusions upon the fact in hand. If it does not positively appear that a relationship or connection existed, the honest inquirer has equal right with the author to judge of the same. Certain salient facts, however, are beyond dispute. Hence, let all bend in interest to the ensuing genealogical lineages."

Unhappily, personal opinion does not create genealogy, but is argumentative thesis only. Yet, care should be exercised so as to avoid "Destructive Genealogy," (vide ante, PART THREE, p. 312).

My Dear Mr. Monnette:

On behalf of the Ohioana Committee I wish to thank you for the nine books which you have sent for the Ohioana Library.

They have been catalogued and book plates placed in them and will be placed in the Collection in the very near future.

I cannot refrain from adding a little note and telling you who I am. I am Florence Roberts, daughter of Frank H. Roberts of Marion and Crawford Counties. I understand that we are distantly related. Frank S. Monnett of this city secured for me my first position after graduating from Ohio Wesleyan University. Therefore it has been with a special, personal interest that I have looked through your books, and I am very proud to have them in our Collection.

With deep appreciation,

Sincerely yours,

DR. MONNETTE'S RESEARCH ON NEW JERSEY FAMILIES VALUED GENEALOGY STUDY.

Of Much Interest Here, Whence Many Jersey Settlers Came.

Dr. Orra Eugene Monnette, 350 South Oxford Avenue, Los Angeles, California, has issued and has ready for delivery, Part Three, of his new work "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714" (by the Leroy Carman Press, Los Angeles, Calif., price $8.25). Part One and Part Two of this work have been reviewed in this newspaper earlier this year.

W. Va. Families

A great genealogical and historical work is being done by Dr. Monnette, not only for the people of New Jersey, but for the many thousands of descendants of New Jersey families who now reside in almost every state of the Union. It is to be regretted that some permanent method of recording and preserving the genealogical records of the founders and settlers of the Colonies now forming the United States was not inaugurated at the beginning of the first settlements and continued down to the present. But, alas, such is not the case and the great majority of such records are entirely lost. The records which are being gathered and published by Dr. Monnette add much to the remnants of such records as yet remain. Such efforts, not only of Dr. Monnette, but every other individual assisting in gathering and preserving genealogical and historical data deserves to be commended.

A partial list of contents of Part Three of Dr. Monnette's work follows:

Covers Field Well

It is dedicated to the Drake, Fitz Randolph, Bonham and Hawkins families. Short sketches are given of the early progenitors of these four families in New Jersey. These sketches are followed by an article on The Scots in East New Jersey; Perth Amboy First Settlers; the Clinker Lot Right Men; List of Patents for Lands in Perth Amboy; List of Quit Renters, Patentees and Warrantees of Piscataway and Woodbridge; Drake Coat of Arms; Middlesex County Freeholders, 1748; Beginnings of New Brunswick; First Legislative Assembly of New Jersey; Sketch Map of Piscataway, New Hampshire; Piscataway, N. J., Tombstone Inscriptions; Monumental Inscriptions in Woodbridge Cemeteries; First Settlers in 1711, 1714 and 1750; List of Freeholders of Middlesex County, N. J., in 1750; Leaming and Spicer Families; Province of New Jersey, 1664-1682; Notes from New York Genealogical and Biographical Records; Pointed Genealogical Indications; Genealogical

Dear Cousin Orra:

Appreciate very much your sending us Part Five. It came when I had a badly injured wrist and as yet can scarcely guide a pen.

Enjoy seeing the interior of your study. Remember your portrait done in oil by Graham, the noted painter, when a child, also those peculiar whittled picture frames (of grandfather George Washington Hull and his wife Artimissa Scribner) which hang on the wall behind your desk.

Had never seen the pictures of our great grand parents Scribner (Samuel Scribner, third and wife, Almira Clark), but was with Aunt Olive (your mother) in Washington, D. C. the spring she gave the clock to the D. A. R. (Vide ante, PART FIVE, p. 833).

We are having a chance to cool off as the thermometer registers 50° but the crops are drying up for lack of rains, too much in May, the farmers couldn't plant and sow till late now this unheard of June drought.

We are all enjoying good health.

Hope you are the same.

Cora.

Hope you come to see us when you come to Chicago and the Fair.

"NATIVE SON GIVES CITY'S FIRST DONATION TO OHIOANA LIBRARY

Bucyrus' first contribution to the Ohioana Library, founded by Mrs. Myers Y. Cooper and housed both in the Governor's Mansion and in the new state administra-Cooper and housed both in the Governor's Mansion and in the new state administration building which opened this week, has been received by Mrs. A. L. Higgins, Crawford county chairman, from a native son and author Orra E. Monnette, now residing in Los Angeles, Calif. Mr. Monnette, whose executive ability, energy, perseverance and public spirit have made him one of the outstanding figures in the business and cultural life of Southern California is intensively interested in the activities of patriotic, historical and genealogical societies, and has devoted much time, energy, and study to historical and genealogical research and writing.

Bucyrus' own Public Library is the richer because of Mr. Monnette's contributions of his various works, and it is significant that the city's first contribution to the Ohioana Library, which contains only books by Ohio authors and books about Ohio, should be made possible by one who spent his boyhood days here, received his early education in the public schools of the county, and after graduation at Ohio Wesleyan University, and his admittance to the Ohio bar, began his law practice in Bucyrus, as a member of the firm of Beer, Bennett and Monnette.

Bucyrus, as a member of the firm of Beer, Bennett and Monnette.

BOOK LIST.

Ten volumes were sent to Mrs. Higgins for the Library by Mr. Monnette, including the four-volume edition of "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey."

Other volumes include "Monnette Family Genealogy," "The Hull Family in America," "California Chronology," (covering a period of three hundred and fifty years, 1510-1860), and "California Society Sons of the Revolution," also a book of poems "Red Shining Star," and a story "Don Felipe de Neve," in manuscript form and also other manuscript poems.

It is interesting to note that among Mr. Monnette's manuscript is a later.

It is interesting to note that among Mr. Monnette's many activities including a prominent place in the banking system, he has been president of the board of directors of the Los Angeles Public Library since 1914. He is vice chairman of the board of directors of the Bank of America, and his name appears in "Who's Who in America."

PURPOSE

The Ohioana Library, made possible in the beginning by Mrs. Myers Y. Cooper, was established with a four-fold objective to stimulate state pride and to acquaint the public with the very large number of writers in all fields of writing and creative work, who are from, or of Ohio; to assemble this representative Ohioana collection in one place as a correlated unit; to give honor and recognition to those of our state who have contributed to the beauty, the culture, and the education of the world through books; to prepare and maintain a permanent card catalogue at the Governor's mansion, and at the Ohio State Library listing all Ohio writers and important data about them, and also distinctive books about Ohio.

The Library has been established without any public funds of appropriation, and the Ohio committee wishes everyone in Ohio to feel an interest and pride in developing this unique collection and asks for hearty cooperation on the part of every citizen." (Sunday morning, December 3, 1933.) NEW PUBLICATION DESCRIBES EARLY NEW JERSEY FAMILIES

Dr. O. E. Monnette is Author of Book Containing Important Genealogical Data.

Part Four of "First Settlers of Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714," by Dr. Orra Eugene Monnette of 350 South Oxford Avenue, Los Angeles, California, has been published and is now on sale by the author at the price of $8.25 per copy.

Dr. Monnette is sparing no expense in gathering together and publishing the early genealogical records of New Jersey. The records are most valuable to many thousands of families all over the United States, for there are few states in this nation but what have descendants of these old New Jersey families; in fact it seems to have been one of the principal places from which the great migrations started to the south, southwest and west. It seems that the trend of the emigrants was ever towards the setting sun and their trek started very early in the history of the Colony of New Jersey. One can hardly peruse a genealogical work on any family or group of families and not find some branches of the family that descend from or has intermarried with some family that originally came from New Jersey, and for this reason Dr. Monnette's works hold an exceptional interest to the people of the greater portion of the United States.

Part Four, above referred to comprises 194 pages and 39 illustrations. The pages are printed in small type thereby permitting a much greater amount of material being contained in this part of the book than could be found in many books containing twice the number of pages. It contains miscellaneous data concerning these first settlers, with historical corrections and corrections in with historical connotations and genealogical in-terpretations that may lend interest and historical development to the further parts yet to be issued development to the further parts yet to be issued by Dr. Monnette.

The volume contains a number of press notices regarding former parts of this work, a genealogical outline of many of the families to be treated in this work, and many short sketches of various early New Jersey families, some of whom follow: Adams of Piscaetaway, Adams of Woodbridge, Andrew family, Blackwell, Bonham, Butcher, Bradford, Brown, Chapman, Clark, Compton, Cooper, Cox, Crowe or Crowell, Dalrumple, Dennis, Dilly, Doty or Dotey, Drake, Dunham, Eddy, Frazee, Freeman, Harrison, Higgins, Hull, Hunt, Kendall, Kemble, Kimball, LeForge, Morris, Noe, Pike, Powell, Prince, Richards, Runyon, Skinner, Smith, Sommers, Stout, Sutton, Thorpe, Tingley, Trotter, and many others.

OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY, 1664—1714.

Not the least interesting feature of Vol. IV of Mr. O. E. Monnette's work with the above title (see Proceedings, Vol. XIV, p. 418) is the large number of illustrations, which include many reproductions of old maps as well as portraits and facsimiles of documents, and, of particular interest to Huguenots, some illustrations of an old French Bible of 1669. The general contents continue the genealogical, bibliographic and other detailed information as to settlers in the district dealt with drawn from a multiplicity of sources, among which we notice in particular lists of the Huguenot Pioneers at Staten Island, and some references regarding the French Church erected in Boston, Massachusetts, in 1715. Vol. V, since issued, is of the same general character, with a still larger proportion of illustrations and further reproductions of interesting old maps."

LEB:P SUITS THE OVER-CRITICAL EYE

"Mr. Monnette has, it is now some little time ago, completed and published the fifth part of the FIRST SETTLERS OF THE PLANTATIONS in East Jersey. . . in which he covers, in the work as completed, the fifty years from 1664 to 1714. This is a very remarkable compilation. The Pennsylvania Genealogical Society's last magazine, in its reviews, refers to the wealth of genealogical and historical material gathered by Mr. Monnette. The volume is most beautifully and interestingly gotten up. Few genealogical books suit the Editors overcritical eye. . this does. When a man who has the means does this sort of a thing and does it well, it in part consoles those of us who have not the means".

well, if in part consoles those of the means?.

THE COUNTY COURT NOTE-BOOK, (June, 1931, Vol. X, No. 3, p. 31, current this 1934).

"My courteous acknowledgment to the Editor, Mrs. Milnor Ljumdstedt, with gratitude, for she, herself has and is performing mightily for history and genealogy in Maryland and Virginia, at which latter the N. E. professorial charge is "hodge-podge", etc. Such being purely, provincial, "bunk", resented by all south and west of the peculiarly sequestered spheres of genealogical perfection(?),—O. E. M.

COMMENTS ON FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY, etc.

I know of few books on genealogy to compare with Mr. Monnette's series on "Ole East New Jersey". They are unique. I open the pages to find myself surrounded by the hardy old settlers around Baritan Bay who probably avaluated. around Raritan Bay who probably produced a great-er quota of the strong men who pioneerd our western wilderness than any other group in American history. This is no venture into a graveyard of facts. There are facts—yes, facts that fairly elbow one another for room on the pages under my eyes; but they are moving, breathing, palpitating with life.

The fascination of the books for me rests largely on the evidence, so inescapable on every page, that Mr. Monnette is a pioneer himself. He has dared to break with the old traditional school He has blazed a trail into a new of genealogy.

form of genealogical literature which must surely be welcomed by every progressive seeker comprehensive information about our f on the Jersey shore. His works have infinite variety which hold the interest. They are ably written, studiously and carefully prepared, thoroughly documented. They are books which might well be read by any person wishing a clearer knowledge of the founding of our country.

CHANGING SURNAMES

As the running head of the ill. shows, here are reproduced by consent, (reverse page), portions of two pages, (436 and 437), in continuity, of Cowan's Bibliography of California.

The authorship of this editor is modestly offered, for substantive reasons, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. x), but more particularly is attention directed to the surname collocation, of MONNET, or MONET, (Fr. MO - NAY), in variation, ranging from MONEY to MONNETTE. The "watchmaker" MONET was a famous French jeweler in Los Angeles, in 1850, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 673, under FRANCAIS, p. 28), and, MONIER and MOYNIER were early variants and settlers, there.—O. My senior associate, in the banking business, for a period of twelve years is entirely modest and unaffected by the plaudits of men, and only yields to the inclusion in his REFERENCE SERIES of personal, complimentary and commendatory expressions because of his unselfish efforts to record biographical items concerning the achievements of members of the MONNET FAMILY, (as in his forthcoming volume, under that subject); and, for the edification and instruction of his lovable daughter, Miss Helen Hull Monnette, to whom this entire REFERENCE SERIES has been dedicated, with the hope that, in her maturity, she may carry on to greater perfection this unselfish, altruistic effort of her father.

BUILDERS OF AMERICA Orra Eugene Monnette

(Quotation)

(Quotation)

"In the whole range of national biography, it would be difficult to uncover a more colorful or versatile subject than that of the man named in the sub-title of this article. Examination of the manifold and varied interests of Orra Eugene Monnette leaves one not only impressed, but utterly bewildered at the extent of his activities, and the diversified character of his achievements. Banker, lawyer, writer, poet, genealogist and historian, he has done all these things well, and, while doing them, found time to participate in the councils of national, fraternal and patriotic societies. His executive ability, energy, perseverance and public spirit have made him an outstanding leader in the cultural and commercial life of the nation. of the nation.

It is outside the purpose of this article to give a complete biographical outline of Dr. Monnette's career. The interested reader will find abundant reference to that in "Who's Who in America" and in the National Cyclopedia of American Biography. Let us here say, however, that when Orra Monnette is not giving counsel to a bank, he may be found helping to plan the great city of Los Angeles; if he is not directing the destinies of a great financial institution, he will probably be engaged conferring with civic leaders; if he is not consolidating powerful financial organizations, he will doubtless be discussing educational and cultural matters with authoritive groups; if he is not writing books on history and genealogy, he will be presiding at patriotic society gatherings. In his spare time—some day we are going to take Mrs. spare time—some day we are going to take Mrs. Monnette aside and ask her, very confidentially, what her husband does with his spare time.

MONNETTE AND GENEALOGICAL HISTORY

But it is his literary efforts in the field of historical genealogy which interests us most, at present. Genealogy, with Dr. Monnette, is an exciting and pleasurable pursuit to which he has given unselfishly of his time and substance, without hope or expectancy of reward. It is a pursuit by which he finds outlet for his taste for scholarly research. The many volumes he has written dealing with the subject are all valuable contributions to genealogical literature. al literature.

The most notable of his recent literary efforts is a series on Colonial and Provincial history and genealogy, entitled, "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey," the fourth part of which has just been issued. To those numerous present-day Americans whose forbears pioneered this historic territory, Dr. Monnette's work is a priceless record. It is, too, of immeasurable value to all historians.

It is, too, of immeasurable value to all historians. Only by careful perusal of this monumental contribution to family history can one fully comprehend the magnitude of the task, or the historic significance of this literary achievement. Valuable vital statistics of the pedigree of the First Settlers are revealed, and source records produced of those early pioneers. Yet there is nothing cold or impersonal in the method of presentation. The work is ALIVE and brimful of descriptive incident and enthralling historical narrative. Withal, the reader is impressed by the extraordinary care exercised in the compilation of the genealogical data.

Remarkable, too, are the court records therein reproduced. These, together with other valuable evidence, reflect the social customs of the times. They enable us, also, to learn something of the trials and tribulations of these early settlers whose strong hearts and willing hands helped them to conquer primeval land and hostile neighbors. Viewed from this angle the work is an inspiration. "There is nothing in the present difficult period of depression," said Dr. Monnette in a recent speech, "which has not been encountered, and overcome by our early American ancestors." This is exactly the impression derived from his work on the "First Settlers," and it is indeed a valuable thought to carry with us when we bemoan present day conditions ditions.

As a leader in large enterprise, Orra Monnette has had an unusual and valuable experience, which has had an unusual angles to his work on "The has had an unusual and valuable experience, which he advantageously applies to his work on "The First Settlers." He is able to separate the real from the un-real. His penetration and keenly analytical mind is quick to detect that which is of historic value, and his commercial training just as readily prompts him to discard ruthlessly that which is immaterial. The reader is amazed at the skillful selection of vital facts presented in "First Settlers," for every fragment of documentary evidence has been carefully examined and every history source explored. The net result is a work of abounding merit, a veritable genealogical encyclopedia. cyclopedia.

Monnette, The Man

Monnette, The Man

There is much of the character of the author in his writings. His impatience of the pontifical utterances of self-elected "authorities" bespeaks the robust directness of the man. When he aims a dart at these high priests of social and hereditary exclusiveness, it flies straight and true to the target. Yet his darts carry nothing of venom, they are clean and swift,—and effective. He is essentially too American to be tolerant of those who would create a new world aristocracy with old world national frontiers.

Descended from an old Humanet family of Descended from an old Huguenot family of ancient origin, he reveals his pride, his very justifiable pride, in his family lineage. Doubtless the splendid Monnette ancestral record inspired this busy man of affairs to labor so untiringly in genealogical research in a wider field. Whatever the cause, the results are manifest. The many valuable volumes which have emanated from his pen have greatly enriched historical and genealogical literature.

The "First Settlers" series is dedicated to his riched historical and genealogical literature.

The "First Settlers" series is dedicated to his only daughter, Helen Hull Monnette, now in her thirteenth year. There is something exquisitely fine in this tribute of a father to his child. In his desire to compliment her, he, all unconsciously, enables us the better to understand him. The strong iron man tradition is shattered by his own hand. He assures us, with pardonable pride, that she is tall, fair, with blue eyes, proud of her name, her father, her race, and of America. "Thus indeed."

THE ORDER OF DEMOLAY

One of the greatest of Martyrs was JACQUES-BERNARD de MOLAY, (c. 1243-1314). The last Grand Master of the TEMPLARS. He was a native of Burgundy, France, and entered the Order of Templars in 1265, and was elected Grand Master in 1298, and suffered martyrdom at the hand of the Papists. Mrs. J. H. Letton Valrico, Florida January 24, 1934

"You remember past summer, I sent your book Part V, which you very generously gave to me, to Miss Stelle at The Tampa Public Library, hoping that she could arrange to have the Library buy your entire set. Some time later she expressed a desire to have * * see your book, and I very gladly sent it to her the second time.

A few days ago, my mother spent an hour in the Library and Miss Stelle came to her saying we would never know what a blessing your book had been to * * * * At the time I sent it, he was very discouraged. He had never before been interested in genealogy, but he became intensely interested in your book and found inspiration and courage in it. It gave him a new interest in life and today he has regained his health. All, Mr. Monnette, due to you and throu your generosity to me. Miss Stelle said we cannot imagine the joy it is to her, and she gives entire credit to the inspiration, gained in studying your book."

CONCLUDING

To the foregoing personal items, biographic and complimentary, the compiler of this section has added the two affidavits of JEREMIAH DRAKE and MRS. ADELE HULL-KELLOGG, heretofore mailed to subscribers, as "Advance sheets—PART SIX" as reprinted infra.

DOROTHY B. LONG.

LAWRENCE (much confused).

This article so headed, as appears in PART FIVE, (vide, ante, p. 880,) is the objective of the unkind remarks of Mr. Howard Stelle Fitz Randolph, (for answer to which the succeeding affidavit was prepared and filed with the N. Y. GEN. & BIOG. SOC., q. v.), as he presented them in "EDITORYS NOTE", (THE RECORD, Vol. LXIV, 1933, July, pp. 306 to 309, inc.—quite a lot of space and printing to give to an insignificant POPINGA, to which the writer makes no claim of inheritance or special interest, except as a gen. problem—O. E. M.). It is very difficult to imagine the cause or objective of this personal reflection upon this writer, as he had always used the entente cordial and noblesse oblige, in every reference to Mr. Randolph, in this SERIES, as many page refs. show; (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. XXIII; PART THREE, p. 378, and PART FOUR, p. 463). And, it is true that he, Randolph, orig. encouraged this SERIES, and, sev. times in the RECORD, he has referred kindly to this writer's efforts.

However, this writer received some unnecessary and sarcastic references from him, at other times; (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 462 and 463), which were answered, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 613 and 614, with ref., to PART THREE, p. pp. 6

IT IS TRUE, HOWEVER, THAT MR. RANDOLPH WAS GIVEN FULL CREDIT, WITHA COMPLIMENT FOR HIS PRIOR COMPILATION, re THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE BAKER, in his IAN OF ROTTERDAM, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 475); the language being "from the skillful pen of Mr. Howard Stelle Fitz Randolph, Assistant Editor of The N. Y. GEN. and BIOG. REC.)", etc., and, likewise, in the BIB., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 475), where the language was used, "An excellent compilation from the pen of Howard S. F. Randolph," etc., (q. v.), which recognized all of the records, so carefully compiled by him, and needlessly, to the great waste of paper and printer's ink repeated in his EDITOR'S NOTE, (supra). All for the purpose of discrediting this writer and showing his

"inexperience", and that his "pronouncements" should not be taken too seriously by the uninitiated,

The statements of and under the title, (supra), are here re-alleged and reiterated, as true and factual, and as predicated, rationally and intelligently, upon authorities and findings, fully supporting the

There is one typographical error in the second paragraph, in which the printer omitted the title of the book, as in the BIB, in this PART, (vide, ante, FLUSHING, WALLER, p. 16). It should have been, pp. 14-16, and not just, "(p. 14)".

The writer fully realizes the erroneous statements, appearing in various other compilations, many times repeated, in reference to the LAWRENCE FAMILY; commencing with the genealogical claims of eager descendants to come into rights of inheritance, for the recovery of the fabulous (?) TOWNLEY ESTATES, as see two books, noted (post), under LAWRENCE, giving the sides of this controversy. Much false genealogy thereby crept in, no doubt. HOLGATE was also challenged as in error, tho no very thorough, authoritative or successful job has yet been made of it, in dispossessing his conclusions—just the customary ipse dixits of those who disagreed. He was orig, accepted as an authority, as well as Mr. H. G. Somerby, called "exact", and exalted in other particulars, who first claimed the true LAWRENCE LINEAGE, as this writer sees it. Finally, Mr. Charles H. Browning made his unfortunate reversal of his own statements, by ipse dixit—a clear case, etc. IF THIS IS NOT LAWRENCE (MUCH CONFUSED), WILL THE BRILLIANT EDITOR SHOW THIS WRITER?

I. THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE BAKER,— The writer fully realizes the erroneous statements,

I. THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE BAKER—WILL THE BRILLIANT EDITOR PLEASE FILE HIS DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE THAT HE WAS IDENTICAL WITH THE ALLEGED THOMAS LAURENTSEN POPINGA? It would make interesting reading. The writer will pay reasonably for any authenticated record of such fact—THEN WHY THE UNFAIR, DISCOURTEOUS CRITICISM?—O. E. M.

such fact—THEN WHY THE UNFAIR, DISCOURTEOUS CRITICISM?—O. E. M.

II. POPINGA, AS A SURNAME.—This was fully treated in PART FOUR, (pp. 623-4). A careful reexamination of all authorities, and sevnew ones, fully sustains the statements there made, and the writer can only reiterate; POPINGA was not a surname, etymon or patronymic. KEITH expressed his doubt, in the same way, (p. 430). As a family name in the 17th Cent., the best ill. was "When the Swedish colong was flourishing under its own government, this island (Tinakonk) belonged to a MR. PAPEGAY (PAPEGOIA), the Swedish governor," etc. He d., in 1667, and his "widow", was called "Madame Papegay". (JASPER DANCKAERTS, pp. 100-1-2-3), etc., and she was also called, "Madame Papegoia", which is the correct use of the appellation, as a name, from the orig. root, and no other.

IF THE BRILLIANT EDITOR thought by the above review, this writer was calling him "a bird", or that a bird was laughing at him, he did not understand the attempted, but slight play of humour, as no reflection was intended—if THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE BAKER were charged by some one, wrongfully, as being a bird, he, good-humouredly, acknowledged the sobriquet, with a smile. WHAT IS THERE IN THAT FOR ANY ONE TO GET MAD ABOUT?

A careful search of all books, and even a letter to the Dutch Embassy at Washington, reveals no

A careful search of all books, and even a letter to the Dutch Embassy at Washington, reveals no sur-name in Holland, as POPINGA, as in Postal card, (vide, post, this PART SIX, p. indic.). BERESTYN, (vide, ante, BIB., this PART, p. 950). HEINTZE-CASCORBI, (idem, p. 954). The latter ends the controversy.—O. E. M.

In evidence of training and experience over thirty-five years, of historical and genealogical application, (with every wish for modesty of personal expression).

—O. E. M.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES

SS AFFIDAVIT OF ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE

Affiant, Orra Eugene Monnette, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

That, he is a lawful citizen of the United States of America, and now a resident of the City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California, having been such a resident, since his intention to remove from his former residence in Toledo, Ohio, expressed in August, 1906, and completely carried out and made effective in April, of 1907.

That, he was born in Dallas Township, Crawford County, Ohio, April 12, 1873, at very early A. M., ca. I o'clock in the morning, to his American born parents, Mervin Jeremiah Monnette, and Olive Adelaide Hull, lawfully married in Morrow County, Ohio, and the former of an American lineage running back in years to 1681 and the latter of an American lineage running back in years to 1635, when their original ancestors, by surname, migrated and settled in the American colonies.

That, affiant was educated in the common public schools of Ohio, was graduated in the Public Schools of Bucyrus, Ohio, (full course, and special in Latin and German), in June, 1890; matriculated in the Ohio Wesleyan University, at Delaware, Ohio, September, 1890, and was graduated thereby June, 1895, as an honor man of his class; with full classical course credits, receiving the degree of B. A., and special course in Law, likewise receiving election to Phi Beta Kappa (1908), honorary scholastic Society, (initiated at Leland Stanford, Jr., University, at Palo Alto, California), and with special credits for class room teaching and instruction given by affiant in Latin and special science courses in addition to the required curriculum of the old classical courses.

That, in more recent years, affiant has been interested in and attached to the Lincoln Memorial University of Harrogate, Tennessee, for high citizenship and lofty American purposes, became a Trustee of that institution, and, in 1930, was the recipient of the degree of Doctor of Laws (LL.D.) awarded to him by that University for authorship and addresses, civic achievements and public service in law and government, in the City of Los Angeles, and nationally in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States of America, of which affiant became a director.

That, after a temporary residence in Greenville, Darke County, Ohio, (1891-2), under the tutelage of the Hon. Martin B. Trainor, lawyer and publicist, and, likewise, under a long student law affiliation, with the Hon. Thomas Beer and the Hon. Smith W. Bennett, at Bucyrus, Ohio, 1891 to 1896, in October of the latter year, upon examination of the Supreme Court Commission of the State of Ohio, with oral and written-tests, affiant was admitted to the practice of law by the Supreme Court of Ohio, and, did, actively thereafter engage in the practice of law in that State, at Bucyrus, and Toledo, Ohio, till 1907, being admitted to practice likewise, in the U. S. District Court at Cleveland, Ohio.

That, thereafter, to wit, May 1st, 1907, affiant was admitted to the practice of law in the State of California, which he actively pursued in the courts of that state till January 1st, 1912, and has since until this date appeared in and become an attorney of record, in said courts, to the present day.

That, affiant belonged to a family of bankers upon both the paternal and maternal order of his ancestry, having a grand father Monnett, who founded a bank, and served as its President, and a grandfather, Hull, who founded a bank and served as its President, in Bucyrus, Ohio, and that affiant was, from an early age, schooled and experienced in banking, having reached the position of assistant cashier, in the Second National Bank of Bucyrus, Ohio, whereupon by his admittance to the Bar, deflected his practical vocation to that of the law, January 1st, 1897, when he was admitted as junior partner in the law firm of Beer, Bennett & Monnette of that city.

That, upon his later residence in Toledo, Ohio, affiant became a stockholder in three banks of that city, and since and later, upon change of residence to Los Angeles, California, affiant became officially affiliated as director and executive officer with eight other banks, President of three of them, and organized The Citizens Trust and Savings Bank, there 1911, and the same was successfully operated; whereupon, affiant organized, and became its first president of the original Bank of America, there, 1922-3, and, now, is vice-president of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association and of its affiliate, Bank of America, of California, in this year, 1933.

That, affiant has always been interested in books, has written and compiled several volumes, of history, political forms, formal theses and addresses, literary articles and poetry, and history and genealogy; that, he has served as a member of the Board of Library Commissioners of the Los Angeles Public Library for nearly 19 years, and was recently elected President of said Board for the eighteenth consecutive year, the oldest appointee continuously, (that is, in point of continuous, uninterrupted service), in office in the public service of Los Angeles, California.

That, affiant has been a lecturer and platform speaker from his college days, occupying pulpit and rostrum, addressing many American audiences, for many years, speaking before thousands of people, upon different formal, ceremonial, political, patriotic and festive occasions.

That, affiant, early in his life became a zealous and continuous researcher and writer of history and genealogy, not as applied to fanciful or aristocratic preferment in family or blood origin, but as related to the historic events, episodes and related movements of migrations and civilizations, racial and religious, particularly in the colonization and settlement of America, producing from his pen several original monographs of history and genealogical compilations, preserving facts and records, otherwise likely to have been lost, as a special contribution to this kind of literature.

That, because of his intense Americanism, abiding loyalty as an American citizen and his desire to aid in the promotion of American patriotism, affiant has joined regularly and been a member in good standing of many and varied patriotic and hereditary societies; likewise, many historical and genealogical societies and organizations, to forward these altruistic objectives.

That, affiant is now engaged in the publication of a series of books, entitled "First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714", in eight or more PARTS, relating to early Colonial New Jersey History and its first settlers, of which PART FIVE, issued from the press, April 12, 1933.

That, in said SERIES, PART ONE, (pp. viii-x), are presented the Society membership affiliations, compilations, historical and genealogical, and biographical references to this affiant, not immodestly listed but preserved as biographical data for the benefit of the sole daughter of affiant and such general and public use as they may properly serve, in genealogical reference.

That, affiant is performing this public service at his own personal expense, for no commercial profit or advantage, and beyond a small charge per PART in an effort to pay printing bill, (which it has well done to date), expects to receive no monetary reward (as is the most common result of genealogical publication efforts, at least of individuals).

That, affiant has only desired to preserve records, co-ordinate data and make logical deductions thereupon, which shall aid and serve others, and thereby unselfishly contribute to this entrancing field of pastime and association and without the slightest thought or wish for self-aggrandizement or self-exploitation whatsoever.

That, affiant is greatly distressed and personally moved to emotion by the recent publication in the July issue of The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, (N. Y., Vol. LXIV, pp. 306-309,) of an editorial article by the pen of Mr. Howard Stelle Fitz Randolph, Assistant Editor, under "Editor Notes", which aside from its excellent genealogical material and formal negative arguments, makes personal and unfair criticisms upon this affiant wholly unjustified and intended to reflect upon him before the genealogical public and in its special realms.

That the language in question is "Fearing that inexperienced genealogists may be misled by some of Mr. Monnette's pronouncements, let us examine three of the very direct statements which he has made;" which is very reflective upon this affiant in the point of his experience as a genealogist and in the implication that his pronouncements will mislead others, "inexperienced".

That, affiant is entirely willing, in the light of the facts given in this affidavit to substantiate, full and complete experience as a genealogist to make any fair and honest statement, respecting genealogical truth, as he may conscientiously believe it to be truthful and correct as far as human knowledge and mental integrity can produce.

Affiant states that upon that rational interpretation of his statements being called to the attention of Mr. Randolph he very promptly denied that such was intended but, nevertheless, there in print for all such it stands, and because the little daughter of affiiant reveres the honor and integrity of her father and his long record of public service, affiant wishes herein to further recite his qualifications and experience as a genealogist.

That, as early as 1895, affiant was urged by his Aunt Mary Jane Monnett-Hull to aid her as the Monnett family historian which he subsequently did she having gathered and preserved many intimate family records, (M. F. G. 1911, p. 5 et seq.).

That, affiant attributes his greater zeal and interest in the subject of research and genealogy, to a practical experience he received and knowledge of court and land records he gained as a lawyer in his earlier law practice, especially on or about 1897-8. The Pittsburgh Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, operating westward from Pittsburgh, in north Central Ohio, through its purchasing agents, acquired additional tracts and parcels of land in Crawford County, Ohio, to serve to widen its right of way through that County and affiant was employed under contract to and did abstract every foot of ground so purchased, by examination and research in all official records in Crawford, Marion, Delaware and Franklin Counties, Ohio, performing this work assiduously for two years, visiting county seats and state offices, in Ohio, and making up many large sized abstracts of title for railroad and farm lands. which were submitted for appraisal and acceptance by the then Hon. S. S. Wheeler, R. R. Attorney at Lima, Ohio, and none of which abstracts were ever returned for correction or disapproval, the work of two years being substantially paid for, and complimented by superior R. R. officials, and always seriously considered by this affiant as one of the real, laborious, but successful achievements of his life and legal experience.

That, after sixteen years of exacting and conscientious research, at a compilation and publishing cost of Twenty-five Thousand Dollars, including books purchased as aids in the work, he published his first genealogical work of proportions, the Monnet Family Genealogy, in 1911, a large royal octavo volume of 1300 pages and 171 illustrations, which became at once and still is to this day the sole genealogical authority ever published concerning that family, its lineages and pedigrees, remaining and continuing as unquestioned authority to this date, and so regarded in the various expressions of MONNET or MONET data and kinship; that, since that publication, affiant has, at great expense, extended his researches and investigations, with zealous labor, in America and in France, particularly intending and expecting to publish a similar, though supplementary volume relative to the Monnet Family, establishing nearly thirty cognate and surname variations, since the original French appellative has, because of varied spelling and phonetic variations, suffered many changes and name corruptions.

That, prior to 1911, affiant had researched, compiled, printed and published many historical and genealogical articles in pamphlet, monograph form and in publications fully establishing both his ability and experience in this particular kind of work and, in certain reference in the Old Northwest Genealogical Quarterly, (1908-1912) formerly published at Columbus, Ohio, in a series of articles on The Hull Family in America, New Jersey branch, laid the foundation for and collaborated in the formal genealogical compilation of that Family, issued in book form in 1913 by The Hull Family Association in America.

That, prior to his present undertaking, of "First Settlers", etc., affiant had accumulated a personal library of 8,000 volumes, inclusive of genealogical books, local histories and related topics, files and binders, covering at least 1,500 American families, many records, original items, documents, old bibles and data, with abstracts of official records, photostats and photographs, which are comparable to any individual holdings in the American Field of Genealogy.

That, affiant has expended, as an avocative genealogist only, and never for personal gain or profit, many, many hours of time and labor, (never carried into his office, profession or business, but in the "wee, small hours of the night", Saturdays, holidays and Sundays), and many thousands of dollars, in an application of nearly 38 years as a studious, conscientious and practical genealogist, with no other purpose or motive than that of historical interest, American patriotism and altruistic helpfulness to others, (a total of $500.00 would represent the modest charges made to all others for any work done upon commission in all that range of service), the employment of hundreds of other people for data, typing and copying, and official certifications, representing more thousands of dollars of expense, during this long school of experience, as herein recited.

That, affiant does not believe genealogy to be or likely to become an exact science, with any great degree of final accuracy; that, by its very nature, pedigree work, however expertly done or skillfully performed, is permeated with selfish and self-serving applications, organization dictation and exclusiveness, imperfect knowledge and historical inaccuracies, and recordal errors, with their official sanction and personal peculiarities, so that mistakes in research, manuscripts and publication cannot be avoided, and he, who claims genealogical perfection or expert scholarship in this field has either a superiority complex of exceptional vanity, or/and, in basing his merit upon his self-sufficiency judgment usually does more harm than good.

That, affiant has, in the long course of his genealogical experience, visited many of the European libraries and centers for American genealogical research; has travelled thousands of miles in the United States, visited nearly all of the important historical and genealogical libraries, many of the Eastern, Southern and Middle Western town, village and county seats in research and the examination of old Colonial and later records of state, county and town, spending much time and most exacting labors, in search of genealogical facts and vital statistics; that, many of these records have been certified by officials for him, copies, abstracts and transcripts taken and supplied to him and, more recently, photostats and photographic copies in many instances; that, particularly, have the source records, both official and unofficial, of New Jersey, many in New York State and on Long Island, Staten Island, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia, been personally examined by this affiant, so that his knowledge of records and relationship one to the other, and to the subjects in hand, and their proper co-ordination in historical and genealogical compilations, have been definitely used and intelligently applied by this affiant with respect to his compilations.

That, affiant has been conscious of imperfect, unsatisfactory performance and ever wishes devoutly for the earnest, fair guidance of greater intellect and power.

That, for the purposes of this affidavit, affiant has not desired to be at all boastful in expression or to cater to any vain expressions of achievement, but, certainly, by his years of experience and scope of work, has proven his right to speak and write authoritatively upon the genealogical subjects undertaken by him.

That, since this affidavit has a definite purpose, and is biographic in expression, affiant wishes to set forth the following domestic relationships.

That, affiant has been honorably married thrice, the recipient of and honored by three gracious, accomplished women; (1) Ella Elizabeth Crim, of the old aristocratic, social, banking family of Galion, Ohio, herself a literateur of quality; (2) Carrie Lucile Janeway, of the fine Columbus, Ohio, family, her father a well-known manufacturer of his day and (3) Helen Marie Kull (not Hull), who gave up her courses at the University of California to join her life to that of affiant and to whom was born the daughter, Helen Hull (named so, after her grandmother and the N. J. family of that surname,) Monnette, to whom this SERIES is dedicated, almost the life work of affiant, lovingly dedicated, and may a proud father of a beautiful child, clean-minded and honest, of American heritage and character, be forgiven this personal filial reference, for of what else is Genealogy made! If this be new, novel, then may all critics example their erudition, if any, likewise—O. E. M.

Affiant supports good citizenship, honest endeavor, and urges that America and American institutions triumph though individuals pass into obscurity.

And, further, affiant, saith not.

DRAKE-HULL-CHASE-SCRIBNER EVIDENCES

In consideration of the fact that, when the author of this SERIES was born, there was no recording act in the State of Ohio, and, therefore, there being no birth certificate, possible of attainment, the writer has wished, forever, to establish his American nativity and citizenship. Also, for the genealogical material therein, as related to the First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge, and, particularly, the DRAKE family, of which he is a descendant, the following affidavit has seemed worthy of inclusion:

JEREMIAH DRAKE, being first duly sworn,

JEREMIAH DRAKE, being first duly sworn, deposes, as follows:
Affiant was born May 15, 1848, near Boykins, in Southampton County, Virginia, and has now lived over 85 years, and is in sound mind and clear memory, with full possession of all his physical faculties, and a clear understanding of the use of the English language and the purport of the statements herein made under oath.

That, he was a son of JEREMIAH DRAKE, born Oct. 15, 1804, in the same place, but who removed from there, and died in 1895, at Mt. Blanchard, Hancock County, Ohio, and of PRISCILLA WILLIAMS, born in 1808, in Herford County, North Carolina, who died in 1894, at the same place as her husband, where both are buried. That, the grandfather of affiant was DRURY DRAKE, and his wife, the grandmother of affiant was MARY KITCHEN.

That, affiant is now living with his son-in-law, and his daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Schoenberger, at house number, 929 Twenty-second street, in Santa Monica, California. And, that affiant is retired and not engaged in any business, although in his younger days he was a farter, rancher and in Santa Monica, California. And, that affiant is retired and not engaged in any business, although in his younger days he was a farmer, rancher and agriculturist, knowing intimately the cultivation of the soil, farming and that for many years he followed agricultural pursuits and stock-raising. That, when he was about 12 years of age, his parents moved from Old Virginia, in 1859, bought a farm, and settled in Hancock County, Ohio, at a little place, then called Arlington, where they lived and died, and this affiant lived, until his marriage, as hereinafter set forth.

That, June 11, 1871, affiant married THAM-ZEN HARRIS, who was a niece of WILLIAM CHASE, who, with one ABRAHAM CHASE, were children of JUDAH CHASE and his wife, SUSAN HULL, born Sept. 14, 1808, died June 28, 1885, who was a sister of GEORGE WASH-INGTON HULL, hereinafter mentioned, who was born July 21, 1824 and died Nov. 29, 1891, and whose wife, whom he married about 1845 was ARTEMISSIE SCRIBNER, known as "ATTIE" or "ARTIE" HULL, with each and all of whom, is affiant had a personal acquaintance and of each and all of whom, affiant now has a personal recoland all of whom, affiant now has a personal recoland all of whom, affiant now has a personal recollection, and their relationships.

That, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL'S oldest son was named JASPER GIRARD HULL and his second child was named OLIVE ADELAIDE HULL, or "OLLIE", as she was called, who became the wife of MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE, and that they were the father and mother of ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, hereinafter mentioned, there being three other children, LEWIS WESLEY HULL, JOHN CHARLES FREMONT HULL, called "MONTY", and CORA DELL HULL, called "MONTY", all of whom were intimately known to affiant, though the children were some of them very young, at the time. That, the said MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE was the son of ABRAHAM MONNETT, and wife, CATHERINE BRAUCHER, of the Plains of Marion and Crawford Counties, Ohio, old and long-time respected families of that section. American born and honest Branch Branc section, American born and honest American citizens, all to the knowledge of affiant.

That, in 1873-75, affiant went to Morrow County, Ohio, and was employed by said GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL on the farm of the latter, in Cardington Township, Morrow County, Ohio, as a farm hand and agriculturist, and he remained there and in the family of said HULL, with his wife, for a period of time.

That, just previously the oldest son of said HULL, Jasper Girard Hull, or "JAY" HULL, as he was called, had removed from the old farm as he was called, had removed from the old farm as he was called, had removed from the old farm to Crawford County, Ohio, where he purchased and was then operating a farm in that County.

That, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, owned a farm on Old SHAW CREEK, of an entire Section of land, that is, 640 acres; that, his oldest daughter had married and removed to Dallas Township, Crawford County, Ohio, where their son, ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, of MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE and OLIVE ADELAIDE HULL, was born, April 12, 1873, and which was known to affiant, and affiant visited the home of his parents, after his birth and saw him, and knew him as a baby boy, as early as 1874, and onwards for many years; that this baby was brought to his grandfather HULL'S in Morrow County, on occasions, and is now recognized by me and is the same ORRA EUGENE MONETTE, as I then knew to have been so born, although many years have passed in between, concerning the identification of whom there is not and can not be the slightest doubt, whatsoever. That, affiant, even recalls incidents of fun-making over the crying of the "new baby", which are vivid in his mind to this day.

That, said GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL

That, said GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL was a well known, prominent and highly respected citizen of Morrow County, Ohio, having been a justice of the peace, there, for many years, on which account he was known as "Squire HULL." That, said HULL had conducted during the Civil War a section of the famous "Underground Railway", the route by which negroes, coming up from the South were assisted to freedom, in Canada, and was wont, on several occasions to tell of his experiences, dangerous and thrilling, and to point out on the old Shaw Creek Farm, the places where the negroes were concealed, in transit, and particularly how seven of them were one time hidden, when the officers came to arrest Squire Hull and threaten to hand him as a "rank, traitorous Abolitionist", etc., and how he stood his ground and bluffed them out; as he was a tall, powerful man, six feet in his stockings, large of frame, and masterful of miem and voice, wise and brainy, a good citizen, but one of his own mind and decision.

That, the wife of said HULL was Artemissa of CRIENER wife of character and mothers of That, said GEORGE WASHINGTON HULI mind and decision.

That, the wife of said HULL was Artemissa SCRIBNER, wife of character and mother of ability, an intellectual woman, poetess, taking her relative, Lydia Huntley Sigourney as her example, and reminiscent of her New Hampshire origin, and ancestral relationship to the famous DANIEL WEBSTER, of both of whom she was wont to regale this affiant with accounts, and that she was always helpful in an educative way to those always helpful in an educative way to those around her and urging them to read, even furnishing to affiant books and papers for that purpose. That, said Artemissa SCRIBNER was the daughter of Samuel SCRIBNER and Almira Clark.

That, affiant knew "MERVE" MONNETTE, as he was called, very well, and the farm he owned and operated in Dallas Township, Crawford County, Ohio, about 1869 and afterwards, and that his wife OLIVE ADELAIDE HULL was competent, capable and educated, a famous needle-woman of her day, making the clothes for her family, in the accepted style, with much skill, and followed in the foot-steps of her mother, ARTEMISSA SCRIBNER-HULL, in an educational way, instructing her son, the same as a tutor would have done.

That, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL had a way of talking the Southern brogue, and would say to affiant, on occasions, "Well, Jeremiah, how are you ALL this morning?", and affiant was wont to reply, "Mighty fine, Uncle George". That, he was held up as a model man to affiant, on the rule that "Don't cost nothing to be good and to be a gentleman". That he was a man of great energy, and kept his word, that when he said he would do anything, HE DID IT.

That one enjoyed is still fresh in his mind, that would do anything, HE DID IT.

That, one episode is still fresh in his mind, that they had a young lady living in the home, who crawled up on the portico, in front of the Shaw Creek house, and asked LEWIS WESLEY HULL, what he would offer if she would jump down—not thinking she would, he said, "25 cents," and she foolishly jumped and broke her leg, and was laid up for a long time. That Ollie, Jay and Lewis Hull were all three school teachers, and well respected in their work, in country and meighboring district schools.

That, affiant saved up his money, when with said HULL, and finally returned with his wife to Hancock County, bought a farm, where they lived until 1894, when he removed to Julesburg, Colorado, and then, finally to California.

That, about 1877, said GEORGE WASHING-

That, about 1877, said GEORGE WASHING-TON HULL REMOVED from Morrow County, to southern part of Crawford County, bought some land there, did not remain long, but finally settled at Bucyrus, the county-seat, where he lived till his death, in 1891, and whose funeral at the old Methodist Church there, affiant attended and saw many of the relatives, whom he had known in earlier years.

That, he was a partner in the first MONNETT Bank at Bucyrus, and, then, organized the Crawford County Bank, naming his son, LEWIS W. HULL, its Cashier, later becoming the Second National Bank, of that place.

That, he also organized the Farmer's National Bank of Findlay, Ohio, where his other son, JASPER G. HULL, became Cashier, with Peter Hosler, and John A. Scott, et al., the latter now living in Los Angeles, California. That, nearly all the relatives of the HULL and MONNETT families were known by name to affiant, who circulated in that section for many years, before removing to the West, so that the statements made herein and the facts recited are clear and definite in the mind and memory of affiant.

That, through his own wife's relationship to the HULL families via, her own Chase ancestry, affiant has acquired several pictures of the HULL Family, which he has retained to this day, as prized possessions, namely, one of said GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, one of LEWIS WESLEY HULL, now of the latter's daughter, CORA DELL HULL, now living at Upper Sandusky, Ohio, and one of WILLIAM CHASE, as first a prominent substantial citizen of Los Angeles a prominent substantial citizen of Los Angeles.

That, said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE is a prominent, substantial citizen of Los Angeles, a public speaker, of wide renown, and the attention of this affiant was drawn to him, in connection with certain public meetings, held in the City of Santa Monica, California, where a forum is being conducted in the interest of good citizenship, and for the discussion of public, national, state and local problems, and said MONNETTE is wont to appear before this group and address them upon lively topics of the day. lively topics of the day.

That, affiant was also acquainted with some of the SCRIBNER Family while back in early Ohio days, and they were a clean lot of people, thrifty and honest, resided largely in Marion County, Ohio, one of whom "Uncle Billie" Scribner, was a brother of the said Artemissa Scribner, first above, and others well known to affiant, and in that neighborhood, since Morrow County bordered on both Marion and Crawford Counties, geographically. cally.

both Marion and Crawford Counties, geographically.

That, of the Chase family, Judah Chase had another son, Abraham Chase, who raised a family in that section, was in Hancock County, for a while, left some descendants, who have scattered to the four winds, and there are none left to the knowledge of affiant, and, that all the HULLS of the generation covered by affiant are gone, but the older CORA DELL HULL, whom affiant has not seen for years, being advised she is a widow, KELLOGG, at this date.

AFFIANT further states that the foregoing affidavit was made by him, for historical and genealogical purposes, only, and for the specific purpose of showing the Ohio origin, ancestry and birth date and place of ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, of Los Angeles, California, still living at this date, and present at the taking down of this statement, in the presence of his wife, Mrs. Helen Hull Monnette, at the residence of the said affiant, this date, living with his son-in-law, in Santa Monica, California, Sunday afternoon, July 7th, 1933.

That to the heeft browledge and heliof of this

That, to the best knowledge and belief of this affiant, the facts and recitals made in the foregoing affidavit are true and exact, and that the going affidavit are true and exact, and that the said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE was born in Dallas Township, Crawford County, Ohio, April 12, 1873, of American parents, and is an AMERI-CAN CITIZEN, by right of birth.

And further affiant saith not.

HULL-SCRIBNER-MONNETT-CLARK HILTON EVIDENCES

It has happened that the author was able to secure an important genealogical affidavit from his brilliant and charming aunt, still living, who has been a world traveler and writer, which so succinctly covers certain genealogical facts, as relating to the origins and history of certain Ohio families, leading back to New Hampshire and New Jersey, that said affidavit is included herein for the genealogical data and facts therein set forth: forth:

ORIGINAL AFFIDAVIT OF MRS. ADELE HULL-KELLOGG. MADE JULY 30, 1933

ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE

AFFIDAVIT OF

MRS. ADELE HULL-KELLOGG
STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, s.

AFFIANT being first duly sworn, makes statement, and upon he cotte, say, as follows, to with the county of the Jeremiah Drake, age 85—Mrs. Lois Schoenberger, age 45—Evelyn Lois Johnson, age 23—James Paul Johnson, age 3. Taken Feb. 1, 1933—Four Generations.

AFFIDAVIT OF LOIS DRAKE SCHOENBERGER
STATE OF CALIFORNIA

COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES ss

Affiant, LOIS DRAKE SCHOEN-BERGER, being first duly sworn, deposes as follows:

That she was born, March 23rd, 1888, at or near Mt. Blanchard, Hancock County, Ohio, and was married October 2, 1907, to H. A. Schoenberger, by whom she has one daughter, Evelyn Lois Schoenberger, born March 23, 1910, married June 2nd 1929, Fred J. Johnson, now living at Lamars, Iowa, with one child, James Paul Johnson, born June 2nd, 1930.

That, affiant makes this affidavit for historical and genealogical purposes only and to show her lineal descent from the Hull Family early in Ohio.

That, the father of affiant is Jeremiah Drake, of senior years, and deceased Oct. 8-33, in the City of Santa Monica, California, and whose wife was Tamsin Harris, in turn the daughter of Jacob Harris, and wife, Susan Chase; that the said Susan Chase was the daughter of Judah Chase and wife, Susan Hull of the Hull Genealogy in that generation.

That, in previous years, at Findley, Ohio, affiant knew Jasper Girard Hull, banker, of the old Farmer's National Bank at that place and his family, who lived on West Sandusky Street, long prior to 1900.

That, affiant is familiar with the following book "History of Hancock County, Ohio, Illustrated, 1886", published in Chicago, and at page 700 of said volume is a biographical account, in brief, of the father of this affiant, then known as Jeremiah Drake, Jr., a further account of him in his relationship to parties herein named and to the Hull Family, was set forth in an affidavit of Jeremiah Drake, made July 11th, 1933, and supplied to Mr. Orra Eugene Monnette, of Los Angeles, and published by him as part of the advance sheets for PART SIX of a publication entitled "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway & Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey", as appears;

That, said biographical sketch, as above, is, though brief, a true account of her said father, the said Jeremiah Drake; and that, on page 704 of said volume, is likewise a biographical sketch of Jacob Harris, Esquire, who was the grand-father of affiant, though her own birth does not appear in said account.

That, upon date of October 5th, 1933, said affiant furnished the foregoing facts to Mr. Orra Eugene Monnette, to be incorporated in this affidavit, upon the ocasion of his call at the home of affiant in Santa Monica, California, for an interview, at which interview there were present the husband of affiant, H. A. Schoenberger and cousin, Mrs. Frank Adamson, whose post office address is Fillmore, Calif., who is likewise, a Harris descendant; that affiant has, in her possession, a photograph giving four generations of the Drake family, namely; (1) her father, Jeremiah Drake; (2) herself; (3) her daughter, and (4) her grandson, as hereinbefore set forth.

And, further, affiant saith not.

That AFFIANT would state, of her own motion, that the said MONNETT or MONNETTE Family were honest, up-right, God-fearing, religious people, of ability, of integrity, good citizens, thrifty and achieving to a high degree, with a prominence throughout the State of Ohio, rarely achieved by a single family, with so many representatives, engaging in banking, business, politics and the professions, in which none excelled them.

That, AFFIANT was married (1) December 23, 1885, at Bucyrus, Ohio, at the home of her parents, the ceremony being really performed at the old Methodist Episcopal Church, on East Mansfield street thereof, by Rev. Dr. C. C. McCabe of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, and Dr. Mather, pastor of said church; said marriage being to WILLIAM EDGAR HACKEDORN, of Lima, Ohio, (son of George Hackedorn and wife, Lucinda Shurr), and to them were born two children, namely, (1), Leslie George Hackedorn, b. Feb. 7, 1887, d. April 4, 1887, and (2), Pauline Hackedorn, b. Nov. 13, 1888, (who though having been married three times), is now a single woman, with her maiden name restored, living at Chicago, Illinois; that said WILLIAM EDGAR HACKEDORN was deceased shortly after 1900; then a well-known railroad attorney of Indianapolis, Indiana.

That, AFFIANT was married (2) March 8, 1899, San Antonio, Texas, to Ernest Daniel Wolfe, who was thereafter deceased.

That, AFFIANT was married (3), June 25, 1909, Los Angeles, California, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Monnette and of Mr. and Mrs. Orra E. Monnette, 951 Western Avenue, Los Angeles, California, to LEONARD G. KELLOGG, who d. in Long Beach, California, June 29, 1932; and by the latter two of said marriages, AFFIANT was not the mother of any more children, the Hackedorn births (supra) being her sole and only issue.

That, in said FIRST SETTLERS, etc., (hereimbefore referred to), at page 880-a is reproduced, under the title, "Odes of 1886", with superscription, and main heading "THE HULL CLUB", a famous reprinted document in the memorabilia of that Family, referring to a noted trip, taken down the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, by the steamboat, U. P. SCHENCK, as recited in said reproduction, on which AFFIANT was a passenger and a party to said group, and also present at the later re-union in Brookville, Pennsylvania, she having been married shortly thertofore to said WILLIAM EDGAR HACKEDORN, to which reference is made therein, and the said "MASTER ORRA MONNETT, of Bucyrus, Ohio", was the same as hereinbefore mentioned herein; and said poems and other writings were the compositions of the mother of AFFIANT, ARTIMISSA SCRIBNER-HULL, who had as her guide and monitor in that field, the poetess, LYDIA HUNT-LEY SIGOURNEY, (with whom she conducted a regular correspondence, in her life-time), and who was ancestrally related, through the Clark Pedigree, via Wentworth, back in Connecticut, as that family, through her mother, ALMIRA CLARK, had lived in Windham County, at Ashford, etc., in that Colony, being descendants of the first, Hon. Daniel Clark, first Secretary to Connecticut Colony, all of which facts were commonly known in and about the said HULL FAMILY and the said CLARK FAMILY, in Ohio, compiled and printed to the full approval of said family.

That AFFIANT has read and is familiar with the (title) "Statement of Mrs. M. I. Monnette.

That AFFIANT has read and is familiar with the (title) "Statement of Mrs. M. J. as authoritative for all historical and genealogical

That, AFFIANT, at the date of this affidavit, has before her that certain affidavit of one JERE-MIAH DRAKE, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 932), given by him in the Town of Santa Monica, California, on the 11th of July, 1933, relative to his early relationship to the family of GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, father of this AFFI-ANT, and that the recitals and facts of said affidavit concerning the persons mentioned by the name of HULL, CHASE, MONNETTE, and other particulars are true and correct, in every particular, and quite fresh and clear in the mind and memory of this AFFIANT, as she remembers the said JEREMIAH DRAKE, in connection with her said father, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, in old Morrow County, Ohio, on the Hull or Shaw Creek farm, in Cardington Township.

That, AFFIANT knows definitely of the HULL

or Shaw Creek tarm, in Cardington Townsnip.

That, AFFIANT knows definitely of the HULL
NEW JERSEY origins, of common and definite repute and well known in the family relationship, and has, in particular, been told many times of them by her said father, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, particularly of his great-grandparents, ISSAC HULL, known as "SHERIFF" and his wife, ANNE DUNHAM, and his great-great-grandfather, Judge Joseph Hull, who was constantly referred to, in the family, as having been on the "King's Bench," (as by commission of the king, now known in original and printed record), concerning the ferred to, in the family, as having been on the "King's Bench," (as by commission of the king, now known in original and printed record), concerning the descent from whom, there is not the slightest doubt in the world, whatever; and, that the HULL LINEAGE or Pedigree, as published in THE COLONIAL FAMILIES OF AMERICA, by George Norbury Mackenzie, (Vol. III, pp. 256 et seq., 1912), was predicated upon the lineage of the brother of AFFIANT, JOHN CHARLES FREMONT HULL, who collaborated with the said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, in its preparation, submission, and editorship and checking said ORRA EUGELIE MONNETTE, in its preparation, submission, and editorship and checking thereof by said Mackenzie, and in all essential and important particulars, the same is correct as to genealogy and pedigrees, (excepting wherein in the earlier generations, beyond the knowledge of AFFIANT), and which were based upon source records the account of the content of

That, AFFIANT knew definitely of her great uncle, Major JOHN HULL of "Log Gaol" or "Jail", Montague Township, Sussex County, New York, and who is referred to and biographed in the several genealogies hereinbefore and above referred to, so that the facts given are well known to this AFFIANT, and easily identificable to her mind and memory, as there were exchanges between those families, and when the estate of the said MAJOR JOHN HULL was settled in the New York and Canada courts, the family of brothers and sisters of AFFIANT were heirs, through the father, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, to said estate, and of that family one ADELAIDE HULL, of the same name as the sister of AFFIANT, and one CROWELL RILEY, still living, and very old, were known as the cousins of AFFIANT, and one CROWELL RILEY, still living, and very old, were known as the cousins of AFFIANT, and many other particulars of identification, not necessary to be recited here. That, ultimately a settlement was secured from the said estate.

EDWARD FULLER, via, the said ANNE DUNHAM, above referred to, and which said descent is shown to the said GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, correctly and beyond question, as set forth in said FIRST SETTLERS, etc., hereinbefore referred to, as in PART TWO, (p. 218), which said pedigree has been checked and rechecked by other applicants, claiming under the same lineage, who have been duly elected and accepted in the General Society of Mayflower Descendants.

That, AFFIANT is also eligible to file a supplemental record, in the same Society, under the lineage, as published in said FIRST SETTLERS, etc., as in PART TWO, (p. 217), in descent from GEORGE SOULE, of the Mayflower, but she has never so filed, in his right.

That, coming to a consideration of the New Hampshire ancestry of this AFFIANT, concerning which this affidavit is specifically made, AFFIANT further states, that her mother, ARTIMISSA SCRIBNER, was the daughter of SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, who was b. in Salisbury, New Hampshire, 6th of February, 1784, who d. in Ohio, 9th of January, 1880, and his wife, ALMIRA CLARK, b. in Ashford, Connecticut, 30th of September, 1791, who d. in Ohio, 29th of November, 1872, when this AFFIANT was nine years of age; that said SCRIBNER ANCESTRY, as well as biography, were published in COLONIAL FAMILIES OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, Vol. IV, (1914, pp. 446 et seq.), by George Norbury Mackenzie, which biography on pages 446 and 447, particularly, are true and correct, (all misprinting and typographical errors, excepted), and said SCRIBNER origin and lineage in New Hampshire as given in said compilation was upon data furnished by members of the Scribner Family of Ohio, old records and bible data, particularly of the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, the latter of which Bible is still in existence, and a photographic copy of which, the Bible, with its entries as given therein, is in the possession of the said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, being the family record of the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, concerning which there can be no reasonable doubt, and said lineage was duly researched, verified and checked, by said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, AND OTHERS, relatives of the Family on the same search, furnished to said publication, and duly edited, checked and published by said Mackenzie.

However, on certain points of said SCRIBNER, NEW HAMPSHIRE LINEAGE, AFFIANT is able of her own knowledge, mind and memory, to give certain salient evidences, relative to descent from the first JOHN SCRIUEN, (SCREVEN, SCRIBNER), to Dover. N. H., 1662, data rela-

WARD SCRIBNER), and other items, see the as follows, to wit:

In said Mackenzie publication, (supra), referring to the first JOHN SCRIBNER, it is printed, (p. 448), "It is claimed that his wife was MARY HILTON, dau. of EDWARD HILTON, one of the historic founders of New Hampshire, 1623, etc.," which has been a collaborated genealogical claim made and recognized for years.

father, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, to said estate, and of that family one ADELAIDE HULL, of the same name as the sister of AFFI. ANT, and one CROWELL RILEY, still living, and very old, were known as the cousins of AFFI. ANT, and many other particulars of identification, not necessary to be recited here. That, ultimately a settlement was secured from the said estate. That, AFFIANT, and her daughter, PAULINE HACKEDORN, are members in good and regular standing of the SOCIETY OF MAYFLOWER DESCENDANTS, IN THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, having qualified and been accepted on a pedigree of descent from Mayflower passenger, knowledge and memory, to wit;

That said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, and his wife, ALMIRA CLARK, first lived in Delaware County, Ohio, removed to Marion County, Ohio, and about the Civil War, or before, removed to Morrow County, Ohio, and lived there, until the deaths of each, in said county, as aforesaid;
That, AFFIANT was taken while a small child by her parents to the home of her said grandarents.

That, AFFIANT was taken while a small child by her parents to the home of her said grandparents, in Morrow County, and knew them and remembers them and the domestic and other incidents of their home life of that day.

That, she remembers quite well the episode of the death of said ALMIRA CLARK-SCRIBNER in 1872, as aforesaid, being present at the death scene, together with the other members of the family, her grandfather, SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, and children and grandchildren, many in number, who were so present, at the passing of their III, and children and grandchildren, many in number, who were so present, at the passing of their grandmother; that, this took place at the old Scribner homestead in Cardington Township, Morrow County, Ohio, in a little frame house, afterwards moved to the rear of a newly constructed frame house, erected in front, near the road by one Harvey Scribner, son of said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, and brother of Artimissa Scribner, mother of AFFIANT.

That, immediately thereafter, on the death of his said wife, the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, removed from the old home and became an immate of and resident of the family and of the home of GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, a few miles away, in said township, and remained there, continuously, except for temporary visits to other relatinuously, except for temporary visits to other relatives, until the day and date when the said GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, removed with his family, in the year 1877, to Bucyrus, Ohio, as set forth in the affidavit of JEREMIAH DRAKE, set forth in the affidavit of JEREMIAH DRAKE, hereinbefore referred to.

That, said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, had been a soldier in the War of 1812 and in the later years of his life lived upon a pension granted by the United States, having been a surgeon, in part, in said service, and his musket carried in that war is still in existence in the family, and his watch, in the possession of said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE.

That said SAMUEL CONTRACES

That, said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, died in 1880, on a little farm, near Cardington, Ohio, at the age of 96 years, of clear, sound and disposing mind and memory to the very hour of his death. That, this AFFIANT was a favorite of her grandfather, his constant companion and to whom he related the incidents of his ancestry and life with remarkable force and clearness, and they are vividly impressed upon the memory and recollection of this AFFIANT.

with temarkable force and clearness, and they are vividly impressed upon the memory and recollection of this AFFIANT.

That, he frequently told her of his descent from the first SCREVEN or SCRIBNER of New Hampshire, very definitely giving his name as "JOHN SCRIBNER", and he frequently referred to a son of the latter or a close generation, of "EDWARD SCRIBNER"; that, the name "MARY HILTON" was frequently referred to by him, as well as "EDWARD HILTON", and always with a definite recital, belief and claim on his part that this HILTON family was the ancestry of the SCRIBNERS of New Hampshire, and the combination of HILTON and SCRIBNER was commonly and frequently used and employed, in the family relationship.

That, the interviews and references, as above, were frequent between AFFIANT and her said grandfather, and were and have been always taken

"NEW ENGLAND CAPTIVES CARRIED TO CANADA" between 1677 and 1760, during the French and Indian wars, by Emma Lewis Coleman, Vol. II, (pp. 291, 298-301-307), giving an account of an Indian raid upon the Bishop, Barber and SAMUEL SCRIBNER families, at Salisbury, New Hampshire, in 1756, in which the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER was seized and carried away in captivity to Canada, which said account is repeated in the history of Salisbury, N. H. by John J. Dearborn, 1890, in many references; and, AFFIANT has no difficulty whatever in identifying these events and recitals as being one and the same, which her said grandfather, told of his grandfather, SAMUEL SCRIBNER I, as being the subject of that Indian raid, massacre, scourge and captivity, stories thereof being of common knowledge in the Morrow County, Ohio, SCRIB-NER and HULL households; that AFFIANT remembers, specifically, of the little children involved in the Indian raid and of one baby being tossed out of the window to save it, who was caught on a pitchfork, either killed or desperately wounded, as the story was told to her by her said grandfather, at his knee.

That, said SCRIBNER families in New Hampshire, were intermarried with other families, as RAYNO or RANO, SEVERANCE and WEB-STER, living at Andover and Salisbury, N. H., as given by said genealogies, and that they had originally come to that place or neighborhood from Kingston, N. H.

That, said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, told AFFIANT in his lifetime that when the family removed from New Hampshire, they sojourned at other places on their way to Ohio, before 1800, were temporarily at Poultney, Vermont, and for a period, prior to their final removal to Ohio, were located in the vicinity of Schroon Lake, in Essex County, New York, 1797, and before, as by the printed history of that County, they sojourned the SCHROON LAKE experiences, quite vividly, and retold them to AFFIANT, and that from that point, the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, II, bie father of SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, joined in a caravan, headed West, finally settling, by instrument.

That, said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III was, in the terms of the neighborhood, a walking encyclopaedia of knowledge and information, possessed of intellectual qualities, above the average individual, and with a remarkable mind and memory possessed of peculiar executive ability, always directing and controlling every enterprise or effort in which he engaged himself, and being sought after throughout the countryside, for help, counsel and advice.

cestry of the SCRIBNERS of New Hampshire, and the combination of HILTON and SCRIBNER was commonly and frequently used and employed, in the family relationship.

That, the interviews and references, as above, were frequent between AFFIANT and her said grandfather, and were and have been always taken as being of the pedigree of this AFFIANT, back in the earlier days of New Hampshire.

Further, her said grandfather, SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, frequently referred to the stories and carrying away of the settlers into bondage, while living in New Hampshire; and, that AFFIANT has read the accounts given in Bucyrus, Ohio, revered and beloved, Sept. 12, That, the family and its members were numerous 1893, at the home of her daughter, OLIVE ADELAIDE HULL-MONNETTE; that the reproductions of the pictures of the latter, and her hushand, MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE, as presented in FIRST SETTLERS, etc., in PART TWO, (p. 286), are true and correct likenesses of them, the sister- and brother-in-law of this AFFI-ANT, the former being deceased at Los Angeles, California, March 30, 1912, and the latter dying at the same place, March 29, 1931, and both being buried in Inglewood Cemetery, contiguous thereto. That, AFFIANT was quite familiar with the intellectual abilities and writing talents of her mother, ARTIMISSA SCRIBNER, and well knew her extensive, poetical and other literary compositions; that she was the so-called family historian, collecting material from far and wide, researching and corresponding with distant relatives, back in New Hampshire, Vermont and New York and Connecticut, and that she compiled, in manuscript form, during the years, 1880 to 1890, a genealogy of the SCRIBNER FAMILY, showing the New Hampshire origins, and reciting the generally accepted facts and episodes, to a greater length and exactness, and others, as those incidents and data, particularly referred to in this affidavit, so that the household knowledge upon the subjects of family history was clear, definite and thus carefully recorded; that, subsequent to her death, in 1893, the said SCRIBNER MSS. fell into the hands of a brother of AFFIANT, by whom, not realizing its value and importance, it was thoughtal brother, namely, JOHN CHARLES FREMONT HULL, had read the same carefully, talked about it, afterwards, and became and was quite familiar, himself, with the facts herein recited, and with said SCRIBNER GENEALOGY, as given.

That, when the SCRIBNER FAMILY came to Ohio, two other sons of said SAMUEL SCRIB.

That, when the SCRIBNER FAMILY came to Ohio, two other sons of said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, NER, II, namely, JOHN SCRIBNER and ELIAS SCRIBNER, came also, settling in the same vicinity, rearing families of children, whose descendants, are to be found in that section, to this day, relatives of AFFIANT, the latter of whom, by the records of Delaware County, Ohio, in a certain equity proceeding therein, indicated that his father, SAMUEL SCRIBNER, II, had been married to one, (later discovered to be HANNAH), RAYNO, or RANO, proven to have been a daughter of ELIAS RANO or RAYNO, of Salisbury, N. H., a Revolutionary Soldier, always taken and understood by the members of the SCRIBNER Family, as the source of his own name, ELIAS SCRIBNER, and that said two brothers, JOHN and a Revolutionary Soldier, always taken and understood by the members of the SCRIBNER Family, as the source of his own name, ELIAS SCRIBNER, as the source of his own name, ELIAS SCRIBNER, NER, and that said two brothers, JOHN and ELIAS SCRIBNER, served in the War of 1812, with their brother, SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III; and, that the biographical account and statements of his family, of the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, as given in the Mackenzie publication, hereinbefore referred to, (pp. 451-2), as within the knowledge of AFFIANT are true and correct, and in accord with the SCRIBNER genealogy.

That, as given in the affidavit of JEREMIAH DRAKE, hereinbefore referred to, it was a matter of common knowledge, understanding and acceptance, that SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, was a grandson of the WEBSTER clan in New Hampshire, to which the Hon. DANIEL WEBSTER, famous American statesman belonged, and that he was a SCRIBNER kinsman, the relationship being certain, and not far removed, as the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, and her mother, ARTIMISSA SCRIBNER, III, and her mother, ARTIMISSA SCRIBNER, III, and her mother, a disputed, but always accepted fact of ancestral relationship, and when said SCRIBNER GENE-ALOGY was compiled the same was fully confirmed by the facts of record, as presented.

That, AFFIANT, being wholly cognizant of the long period of time, which had elapsed, since they were in being, at the time of the statements, which were made to AFFIANT by said grandfather, SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, concerning the persons, EDWARD HILTON and MARY HILTON, and JOHN SCRIBNER and EDWARD SCRIBNER, (latterly shown to have been of the first and second generations, in America), as hereinbefore set forth, and fully realizing the importance of accuracy in matters of genealogy, wishes to reinforce the statements, under consideration, by making it clear and definite, that the said statements were of a character and value, as evidence, greater than merely an uncertain family tradition, but said statements were the plain, true and certain statements, as given him by his forebears, of the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, and definite and positive in his own mind and memory, as a part of the SCRIBNER family history and genealogy. genealogy.

That, AFFIANT remembers clearly and distinctly the many other persons, relatives and events of her girlhood in Morrow and Crawford Counties, of her girlhood in Morrow and Crawford Counties, Ohio, and as related to the family and relations covered herein, which are not pertinent in this reference, but which stand out vividly, as experienced in those earlier years of country and village life and associations, particularly for the decade from 1870 and 1880, during the last years of the said SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, and AFFIANT is planning to place the same in the form of her autobiographical memoirs, for use of the surviving members of the SCRIBNER Family, and any others, who may be interested.

autobiographical memoirs, for use of the surviving members of the SCRIBNER Family, and any others, who may be interested.

That, AFFIANT was present at the marriage of her sister, OLIVE ADELAIDE HULL, and MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE, at the home of her father, GEORGE WASHINGTON HULL, at the Hull Home, on old Shaw Creek farm, in Cardington Township, Morrow County, Ohio, January 5, 1869, at which all of the Hull and Monnett relatives were gathered, the incidents of which AFFIANT remembers quite well; that her nephew, ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE was born in Dallas Township, Crawford County, Ohio, April 12, 1873, in a small frame dwelling house, known as the "old House", upon the 600-acre farm of his father, very soon replaced by a pretentious, new country mansion, builded about 1873, in which he spent the earlier days of his youth, but which house was recently in 1933 burned completely to the ground; that, affiant has spent many hours of visitation in that older and newer home, as the distance from Morrow County, Ohio, where she first lived, and from Bucyrus, Ohio, where she first lived, and from Bucyrus, Ohio, where she later lived, in those earlier days, was not too great for family inter-social exchange, and that the said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE was her favorite nephew, and for whom she has always had the greatest and most sincere affection, throughout all of the intervening years.

That, especially does she remember the year of the Centennial Exhibition, A World's Fair, held in Philadelphia, Pa., from 10 May, 1876 to 10 Nov. of the same year, celebrating the 100th anniversary of American independence, which was attended by the parents of the said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, during their absence and the period of which, as a small boy was spent by him, in the home of the father and mother of AFFIANT, then in Morrow County, Ohio, of which, as a small boy was spent by him, in the home of the father and mother of AFFIANT; that, at the same period, the grandfather of AFFIANT; that, at the same period, the grandfather of AFFIANT; that EUGENE MONNETTE are personally known to this AFFIANT, and that he was a university graduate, with scholastic honors, completed a special course in law, and was admitted to the bar of the State of Ohio, in 1896, immediately engaging in the practice of law, at Bucyrus, Ohio, and later in the same practice, at Toledo, Ohio, and, till, 1912, in Los Angeles, California, whereupon and since he has engaged in the business or profession of banking; that, said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, has always been a man of honor, integrity and of popular reputation, for his civic standing and achievements, in every community, in which he has lived; that he has had an experience of thirty-five years, as a genealogist, and writer, literary and historical, publishing several volumes.

AFFIANT further states that the foregoing affidavit was made by her for historical and genealogical purposes, only, and for the specific purpose of showing the Ohio relationships of the HULL, MONNETTE, SCRIBNER, CLARK, et al families, and, particularly, for the items relative to early New Jersey and early New Hampshire origins, as communicated to her, by her said forebears, as stated herein and to furnish confirmation of and evidence in support of the genealogies and pedigrees, heretofore compiled and printed, relative to the persons named herein; that, there were present at the taking down of this statement, said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, his wife, Mrs. Helen Marie Kull-Monnette, and their daughter, Miss Helen Hull Monnette, at the residence of the said ORRA E. MONNETTE, 350 South Oxford Avenue, Los Angeles, California, Sunday afternoon, July 30, 1933.

That, AFFIANT, has no pecuniary, advantageous, selfish, mercenary, or other motives, in giving this affidavit than in good faith and for the facts, of which she has personal knowledge and remembers most distinctly; that, AFFIANT, though now nearly seventy years of age, is in possession of all her faculties, and while the years have naturally left their imprint upon her, she is in reasonable physical condition and with a keenness of mind and memory, which she proudly boasts, as not belonging to many people of her age, she having been well-educated, much-traveled, and of high social distinction, all of which is modestly stated, and further affiant saith not.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Acknowledgments to the fine old man of Santa Monica and that gracious kinswoman, who spoke so helpfully and genuinely, in the foregoing affidavits. They are timely and illuminative—possessed of much human interest, almost intimacy, which all the more make their propriety certain, in this SERIES. The years will dissolve the fetters of lawyer-like form and language, and permit their naturalness to shine forth as the sun.

They bespeak CAREFUL GENEALOGY and CONSCIENTIOUS WORK, and, rather illustrate that rare conceit, that Western plains produce strong women, as well as men, not DEPENDENT upon circumscribed and self-centered environments, but upon the "wide, open spaces", which call for virile activities and strong hearts.

Modestly, the writer states that in all his compilations, not a single statement has been made, nor a genealogical conclusion has been reached, without some source reference or authoritative record, fully justifying, saving and except always the errors, arising typographically or from misprinting, or from the lack of genealogical technique of copyists and transcribers.

ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE.

MEMORABILIA

The foregoing personal MEMORABILIA are included within the textual presentation of this PART SIX, for the definite objectives of the points made. It is true that some of the material thus disclosed is not within the immediate scope or purport of this New Jersey COLONIZATION CENTER, but is within the larger purview of this REFERENCE SERIES, and is entirely proper to be included herein, provided that such inclusion does not force out of place both history and genealogy, which may be more important to the reader at hand. At the same time, as already said, in many places, the writer is well aware of the inclusion of much biographical data and personal reference, which have been presented with every modesty of expression, and not with the slightest vanity, but in order that the background of his mental attitude and conscientious spirit may be revealed; and, that all of this personal MEMORABILIA may be preserved for future generations, from a biographical angle, and for the use and benefit of his daughter, HELEN HULL MONNETTE, to whom these volumes are dedicated.—O. E. M.

IMPORTANT NOTATION

NOTE:—THIS SERIES INCLUDES SOURCE RECORDS AND GENEA-LOGICAL FOUNDATIONS IN NEW ENGLAND, PARTICULAR-LY, PISCATAQUA REGION, NEW HAMPSHIRE, AND MASSA-CHUSETTS; ENGLAND and SCOTLAND PROGENITORS, WITH WEST INDIAN MIGRATIONS, AS APPLIED TO LINEAGES, AND ESPECIALLY, THE HUGUENOTS, FRENCH PROTEST-ANT EMIGRES FROM FRANCE, BEFORE 1700.

General Outline

N lieu of a Table of Contents, the following General Outline of this work will exhibit the standard divisions or separate allocations into which it is proposed to arbitrarily divide this presentation of The First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, with a golden thread of connection running through each part, all made necessary by the voluminous records and history sources covered.

It is planned to complete this compilation in from eight to ten Parts, of which the latter half will comprise genealogical material and the assembling thereof, with reference to the Period of New Jersey Colonial History, from the year 1664 to 1714, a duration of Fifty Years, in the appearance of the First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey.

Part One as presented contains the preliminary and introductory matter, spokes of the wheel, or foundation stones, so to speak—certain historical references and surname lists, all of which are inductive of further elucidation in the later Part Numbers.

- A. Part One: Introductory and Historical: New Jersey, New York, and New England Sources. Surname Lists. First Settlers, Staten Island, Maps, Etc. THIS IS AN ESSENTIAL FOUNDATION TO THE WHOLE SERIES.
- B. Part Two: Vital Records of Piscataway and Woodbridge, although in part published elsewhere, many unfortunate errors are corrected, and other statistics included, which have been gathered from miscellaneous origins.
- C. Part Three: Gleanings from early New Jersey Records, Archives and printed sources, indicating surname reference and identification of the First Settlers by date, place and activities in community life for the Period.
- D. Part Four: Miscellaneous data concerning the First Settlers, with historical connotations and genealogical interpretations as may lend interest and historical development.
- E. Part Five: Articles by "GERER," first appearing in the department of "Jersey Genealogy," published by The Newark Evening News of Newark, New Jersey, with revisions, corrections and amendments, as may be necessary.

F. Part Six, and following Parts: Genealogical, in modern form, of the First Settlers, with as complete data, as discoverable, of the first three or more generations in America of each surname in New Jersey.

Notes: Because each PART shall in itself be valuable and susceptible of use, within its scope, the right is reserved to discontinue or modify the presentation of the First Settlers, at the completion of any PART, or to modify or change the foregoing plan, as may seem to be advisable in the progress of compilation and printing. (Also, this plan is subject to the financial support received.)

Each section comprising quotations, which are purposely made liberal, for reference uses, and taken from other printed authorities, are reproduced in the particular case by and with the express consent of author or publisher, with full credit to him, and are employed herein as a general basis for discussion, amendment, correction or illumination, but so that the student of this work, will not be compelled to seek the original reference for the completion of his research.

Genealogies All source references re New Jersey Families

In PART THREE is printed a major list of the published genealogical compilations, books and magazine articles, relating to these families, so that other constructive genealogy can be consulted by reference, and recourse had thereto, either to support, confirm or to elucidate any conclusions presented. Likewise, in each succeeding PART.

Bibliography Nomenclature in abbreviated references:

This includes practically every worthwhile and printed authority upon New Jersey genealogy, archives and records, and concerning colonial history, where referable to genealogical evidences.

In addition, other books, town histories, genealogies and printed authorities in the general field of genealogy, are employed because of their frequent use in this compilation. However, the succeeding bibliography is not at all inclusive and is given here solely to shorten volume and page reference to the source adopted in the succeeding tabulation and compilation. In the event of book or record reference being made, not susceptible of frequent repetition, no attempt is made to give these in abbreviated form, which will account for their appearance in full in the context and omission from the appended list.

lages and towns appearing in the subject matter.

No list of abbreviations is specifically provided, since only those of general use in genealogical works and of common understanding will be employed.

FAMILIES AND SURNAMES

Receiving, in previous PARTS, more than casual reference, were first carefully listed in PART FOUR, (pp. 456-7), and included those by name so presented in PARTS ONE, TWO and THREE. This was carefully set forth in PART FIVE. (p. 658). Relative to the same kind of treatment, more exhaustively presented in PART FOUR, it seems unnecessary to relist these names here, since the TABLE OF CONTENTS, given in PART FIVE, (vide, ante, pp. 654 et seq.), and the same set forth in this PART SIX, (vide, ante, p. 897), reveal the families, thus especially discussed. Likewise, the genealogical deductions, primary references and quoted genealogy, by alphabetical arrangement, as presented in each PART, before its conclusion, will, when understood, make this SERIES, both practical and usable, by that one who studies and understands the plan, being a place-book, in its larger sense, as place-names provide the key to surnames, and the genealogical items are related with great care, in exact textual statement; and all FIRST FAMILIES are covered in this REFERENCE SERIES, properly, and without the loss of a single name, so far discoverable. A new source group of records are purposely included in this PART SIX, (post), to emphasize these surnames, though affording some duplication, but thereby the more confirmed by document and record.

SPECIAL GENEALOGICAL TREATMENT

To the mind of the writer, in his conception of this standard, it is the first to be attempted in a genealogical compilation, in America, interspersed as it is with quotation and reference, and offering every source record of any value, which can be ascertained, so that the student will be enabled to get the WHOLE VIEW-POINT of the genealogical family, under his special search, and, whether or not he agrees with the conclusion, he is MADE AWARE of all SOURCES, and, together with the BIBLIOGRAPHY, it has made easily available the lines and breadth of development, (complete, tho in a few cases, most keen for dispute among those who like to wrangle over genealogical opinion, rather than TRUTH—and, gives to such student the most acceptible digest, relative to N. J. F. S., ever before published.

This editor, and author, has taken, in each case full responsibility for his own deductions and statements, with very positive assertions, purposely made, but he does not assume any responsibility for quoted or referred sources, not examined by him, in the original form of record, or authority.

His great ambition is to finally assemble in alphabetical form and substance a completed, and as nearly perfect, a GENEALOGY OF THE FIRST SETTLERS, based upon his own conclusions, as possible to be done, and for which PARTS SEVEN and EIGHT are reserved, only too far and too long postponed, (as his health is now impaired, and genealogical problems and further study, with correspondents, continuously multiply the material).

NOT A SINGLE STATEMENT IN THIS REFERENCE SERIES HAS BEEN MADE, (SAVE AND EXCEPT BY TYPOGRAPHICAL ERRORS OR MIS-PRINTING, OR BY INEXACT PROOF-READING), WHICH IS NOT FOUNDED UPON ORIGINAL RECORDS, DEPENDABLE SOURCES, OR REPUTABLE AUTHORITY, as most will agree when the matter is discussed. THERE IS NO ACCEPTANCE IN THIS SERIES OF IPSE DIXIT OPINION, AS TENDERED, WITHOUT AUTHORITY, BY (so-called) EXPERTS.

The final index is being compiled, and THREE PARTS are, at this date, in form to be published. This will go forth as rapidly as time and money can provide.

—ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE.

A PROLEGOMENON

HIS is, of course, an introductory remark; especially the plural, (which applies here), i. e. introductory remarks—really, a preface. And, the dictionary scholar, in his compilation, wishing to be facetious, illustrated by example of "prolegomenous babbling". Not that this editor likes the thought nor is at all fond of unusual and ponderous words, but they do have the point of marking with special emphasis, to be ever remembered, in sending forth those ideas, which are both worthy and necessary to be so remembered.

PART FIVE

PART FIVE went forth to subscribers upon the author's birthday, April 12, 1933. It was more enthusiastically received, if comparisons justify, than its predecessors. It contained more pages of genealogical data and source material than the previous PARTS, with a larger number of illustrations to embellish the text.

Not from any over-proud purpose or immodest reference, the reviews, comments, and even critiques were again published. This is not in accord with modern stilted, genealogical standards, but it has seemed to the writer that, contemporary judgment would illumine the consensus of opinion as to the importance of this REFERENCE WORK. The welcoming reception and the support of loyal friends have largely demonstrated themselves since PART FIVE was issued. It has supplemented the plan and scope of presentation in a forceful way.

However, the provocative, but humorous, aspects of the author's emphases upon some modern genealogical tendencies seem to have reached lodgment with two or three who found some shoes, in the generalizations, to fit them, uncomfortably.

In the provocative field of genealogy, so pervaded by efforts, neither wisely nor skillfully directed, and so imposed upon by selfish influences, wrong standards and scholarship assumption, prefatory remarks, at this juncture of the introduction of newer, more forceful propositions, seem to be fitting, helpful and illuminative. Those who have noted the arguments, pro and con, concerning "ACCURATE GENEALOGY", need not become alarmed, over errors committed and to be committed, as far as GENEALOGY is concerned. The noble professors in this realm and certain sequestered spheroids, who substitute prestige of position, organization influence, critical or alleged scholarship, will always lament over the publication mistakes of others, than themselves; as is true of one or two editors desiring much more to exalt their own positions and assumed prestige, than any credit under which to write and speak of others.

INTRODUCTORY

Introducing PART SIX a personal comment is forced to the front:-

The writer transmitted, under date of April 12, 1933, PART FIVE, then just issued from the printers. The printed letter, accompanying, states, among other matters, (quoting);

"TO FRIENDS and SUBSCRIBERS:

It is with pardonable pride, and certainly, with real pleasure, that I am transmitting to you, herewith, YOUR COPY of PART FIVE, of my SERIES, as entitled, above.

Its greater paging, more illustrations and genealogic content, make it the DESIDERATUM of my Conscientious Undertaking, for the purposes so frequently outlined—the sole, REFERENCE SERIES, relative to New Jersey History and Genealogy, with specific migratory origins and settlements, at PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE.

Although the writer is against the FALSE TEACHINGS, he is sincerely trying to help others, without profit to himself, or commercial advantage, and, entirely good-humored, so WRITE HIM, considerately.

(Signing), YOURS, IN THE GENEALOGICAL FAITH," etc.

This PART FIVE was received joyously by all subscribers, supporters and friends, as voluminously expressed in letters of acknowledgment, with the exception of one editorial criticism, (discussed elsewhere herein), and by an unhappy discontented, envious soul, (who writes venal, disagreeable letters to this editor about HILTON and RAYNES). This mars the harmony with which this unselfish undertaking has gone forth and which should remain, unnoticed and ignored, were not the criticisms consigned to the printed page by one or two of the genealogical doctrinaires themselves.

Not a single statement has been phrased in this SERIES, involving either personality or unkindness. If any language has been so understood, it was certainly used without such unkind intent, for the heart of the writer is pure and undefiled in purpose, and his spiritual application is reflected in the poetic expressions presented in PART ONE, p. VII, "A CREED". Why honest difference of genealogical opinion should produce rancor or harsh feeling is beyond comprehension. If the generalizations, wholly impersonal, and discussions, simply intended to help, altruistically, have provided some narrow, tight shoes, seemingly to fit or some harsh, wooden boots, roughing the wearer, it may be that some TRUTH has presented itself, but those made unhappy have not been in the least in the objective mind of the writer at any time. He has not been writing to or about PERSONS, in his editorial opinions, but positively for the PRESENT AMERICAN RACE, being eager and anxious for the aid of and benefit to others, without the slightest mark of ill humor or reproach toward any living being in this world. Purposely, made provocative, to serve as a definite challenge to those dwelling in the fancied security of self-complacency, exclusiveness of authority, aristocratic without right, provincial in outlook and narrow in viewpoint, it has aroused no one's innocence to beguile, nor his impeccability to become error; if they, the pure, are truly all they claim for themselves, why any offense? Where they are right and the writer is wrong, their personifications of their own selfish stations do not carry the weight of their own strength of force and accuracy. Rather, personal reflections upon any unselfish worker in the field rise no higher than the futile challenges of undeserving causes. All of which is very much out of tune, with the kind thoughts of this writer towards all. This writer has no quarrel with any one in this engrossing work, but feels that neither trite professionalism nor official sequestration can avail against honest, ear

THE APPROACH

While this SERIES is addressed to the public, (largely genealogical), it is more intimate, frank and not developed in stilted, formal language, as with other dry-asdust genealogical publications. The presentation has allowed direct approach, biographical statement and unclouded opinion for the general good, unselfishly. It is not founded in the slightest immodesty, and is with address intentionally employed, to preserve the writer's view-point on genealogical data and problems with a newer, challenging approach, backed by sufficient experience and certain knowledge of his own, constantly kept before the reader and student, to support both the right and authority to express the provocative challenges, in behalf of genealogical truth, which is so much needed in this broad, NON-SECTIONAL American field, today. It is high time that all exclusive areas of dictation and authority be called from their childish, inept, criticisms of western culture, abilities and knowledge. Being of this character of thought and form of presentation, this editor has introduced much of his own status, judgment, opinion and conclusion, which will be helpful, always in their fair use, and will withstand any untoward refrains. No shoe fits any person, unless the challenge be sound, true and just, and certainly not if he puts on the leather covering, with resentment.

As Great as were New England Beginnings—as Mighty as were the original Thirteen Colonies within the borders set by the War of the Revolution, there arose, after 1787, a Race, equally Strong, Intelligent and American, beyond the original Colonial outposts, and from the loins of whose people, proud of ancestry, came descendants to reflect honor, credit and glory upon their Atlantic forbears. THESE ARE THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

Attention is again called to the admonition in PART FIVE, (pp. 881 and 883).

PART SIX.

Then, with joyous heart over a New Year, 1934, and conscious psychology of goodwill and happiness, in serving MEN, who live to serve others, this PART SIX goes forth as a messenger of kindness and helpfulness to professional, amateur, provocative, student, searcher, without priority of assumption or merit of preferment, just honesty of effort and sincerity of purpose.

NOW ROUSE, AMERICA By Ben Field.

Stand straight along the atrophied Atlantic, Throw back the shoulders of the Middle West, Where the Rocky Mountains tower let their summits click Against the winking stars—time to break our rest! The ladders under the orange trees of California Are hidden in the weeds. Mount Wilson scans the skies And peers a million miles, but California Calls loudly on her industries to arise. Stand straight and grasp the Golden Rule, a song! Mix with our common clay a love of man, Breathe in so much of good there'll be no wrong— Now Rouse, America, Prosperity is God's plan!

GENERAL BIBLIOGRAPHY OF HISTORY AND FIRST SETTLER FAMILIES

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 671 et seq.)

The lists of reference authorities, some of which are more reliable than others, but most of which where covering original records and vital statistics are generally regarded as authentic genealogical sources, grow with each new publication and genealogical extension. They must be added to here. As in the introduction to the title reference, as above, set forth, this list is to be construed in the same manner, and the entire FIVE LISTS, inc., exhibit a nearly complete New Jersey historical and genealogical reference library.

Of course the recordal adherent and the consistent antiquarian does not wander, as he thinks, far from the original record, document and entry, but his interpretations, even under glass and by narrow limitation of page and volume, no correlation with or coordination to other records and analyses, leave him helpless and subject to many worthy for what they contain, lamentable for what they omit.

There is no hope for the narrow, restricted, pedigreed view-point to ever attain perfection in family history compilation. Likewise the mere abstractor of records cannot attain any genealogical goal successfully. The iconoclast and doubter belong to the ipse dixit and professional dictator class.

Residence of MERVIN J. MONNETT, Dallas Tp., Crawford Co., O.

The above is an accurate drawing of the farm residence, as indicated; the writer was born April 12, 1873, in the old house, removed and this house builded during the summer of that year. His father told, in his lifetime, of the artist making the drawing, from the field in front, across the road, and the figures represent the family, the mother, with the writer in the baby buggy, which was in the family for many years. (Taken from "Illustrated Atlas Of Crawford County, Ohio," published at Bucyrus, Ohio, by Gould & Starr, 1873, p. 37, with title, as supra? (Ref. THE FARM, opp. p. 952; similar in touch) Another view of the residence, as originally built, of Mervin Jeremiah Monnette, in Dallas Township, Crawford County, Ohio, taken in the year 1903, years after he had sold the farm place, and removed to the county seat, at Bucyurs, Ohio, during the Christmas season of 1882. The owners at the time the above picture was taken were William Abraham Monnette, (his nephews son of Ephraim Braucher Monnette), and his wife, nee Carrie A. Craner, who sits on the front porch, her friends and guests to her right, standing: W. A. M., standing at the corner of the house, to the left; and to his right, his older sister, Nettie Monnette then the wife of James D. Gregory, standing to her right. (Monnet, p. 1050). (Ref. will some enlightened genealogist give in a formidable way the exact list of passengers of the ARK and DOVE, — did CALVERT alone come, and did HE ONLY FOUND MARY-LAND(?). Even the MARY-LAND ARCHIVES omit, usually, some of the signatories to historical papers, but never a CALVERT, like the PURITANS, who always have a BRADFORD or BREWSTER present to illustrate the leadership, etc. However, it is fine, philosophically and literaryally.

Its value here rests in its careful designation of PAS-CATTOWAY, EMPEROR, (vide, ante, PART, post). Index Of Maryland Colonial Wills; Annapolis, Maryland, 1634-1777; compiled and edited by James M. Magruder, Ir., (in three volumes, mimeographed).

UNDERHILL

U

John Underhill, Captain of New England and New Netherland. By Henry C. Shelley, published by D. Appleton and Co., New York and London; pp. xii, 473. No price, only 500 copies printed. This book is an extremely well written and entertaining history of the famous John Underhill, who after some service in the Netherlands was in the year 1630 appointed Captain of the forces of the infant colony of Massachusetts. There is a good chapter on the early ancestors of the Captain tracing his line from one Nicholas who flourished c. 1450, to which is somewhat tantalizingly added "records exist of pedigrees which carry the line back into the thirteenth century," No doubt the author would reply that he was writing a biography and not a genealogical history. Neverless even the general reader often likes to see from what families the hero of the biography claims descent. Less excusable is the omission of any mention of his descendraphy claims descent. Less excusable is the omission of any mention of his descendants. One would have liked to have known if any descendants of that valiant Captain are to be found in the United States today, or whether as so often happens the male line became extinct. There is a good index.—T. C. D."

PATRONYMICS DISTINGUISHED

What is? (Vide, ante, PART FOUR ,pp. 479-80 and 485-6). Greek, PATYR, i.e. pater or father.

ONO MA, i.e. name, French patronymique. Derived from ancestors, as a name: expressing the name of ancestors; as a patronymic denomination, (Dict.) (For the benefit of that editor who wrote churlishly about "affected erudition"). A PATRONYMIC is not the same as a SURNAME, and ETYMON has a definite scientific connotation, which EWEN (p. 352 gives so perfectly that he who wants to learn, can read with profit.

"THE ETYMON AND ITS SIGNIFICATION"

"Etymological Considerations. Having traced out step by step the evolution of the surname from the personal description or address, examined the various processes of derivation, and gained an insight into the deceptive results of orthographic corruption, a possibly rash essay will now be made to reverse the operation, and taking a modern name, to attempt the exemplification of a method of working, whereby the geographical distribution, language, etymon, and original signification is discovered. By etymon is here meant the "true or original form", that is the primary word. At some more or less remote period all surnames have been words; of the four classes—characteristic and occupational were adopted words; local surnames were formerly words or place-names, themselves once either words or personal names + words; and genealogical surnames, with few exceptions, were personal names, also originally current words, sometimes of a bygone age." (EWEN: SURNAMES, p. 352).

THE STORY OF SURNAMES INTRODUCTORY

"It was fashionable for the Clergy (especially if Regulars, Monks, or Friars) to have their Surnames (for Syr-names they were not) or upper names; because superadded to those given at the Font, from the places of their Nativity. . . . Hence it is that in such cases we seldome charge our margin with other Authors, their Sirname being Author enough to avow their births therein.—T. Fuller, Worthies of England". (BOWMAN, p. I).

DOMESDAY BOOK.

"Domesday Book. William I must have had a kindly thought for the philologists of later centuries, when he caused this record to be prepared in 1086, for it has been a gold mine to investigators, and enabled them to solve many knotty problems that otherwise would have defied solution. It contains the names of thousands of persons, and the places where they lived, written phonetically in Norman French." (Idem, p. 13).

CHEVY CHASE 1388.

"If we turn to literature we find surnames treated in careless fashion. In the oldest version of Chevy Chase, copied out by Richard Sheale, the names of the leaders who fought in that battle are given as "the perse out off northombarlande", and Douglas whose name in the space of forty lines is indifferently spelt as doglas, duglas, dogglas. How the supporters of these doughty warriors fared we learn in the following lines:

thear was slayne withe the lard perse ser John of agerstone; Ser Rogar the hinde hartly, ser William the bolde hearone; Ser Jorg the worthe loumle, a knyghte of great Renowen; Ser Raff the Ryche Rugbe, with dyntes wear beaten dowene; for Wetharryngton my harte was wo, that ever he slayne shulde be; for when both his leggis wear hewyne in to, yet he knyled and fought on his kny, there was slayne, with the dougheti duglas, ser herve the monggombyrry; Sir dauy lwdale, that worthe was, his sister's son was he; Sir charls a murry in that place, that neuer a foot wollde fle; sir hewe maxwelle, a larde he was, with the doglas dyd he dey."

In the later version of the peom Monggombyrry is given as Mountgomerye, of which the modern form is Montgomery." (Idem, p. 15).

"We could scarcely have a single lesson on the growth of our English tongue, we could scarcely follow up one of its significant words without having unawares a lesson in English history as well, without not merely falling on some curious fact illustrative of our national life.—Trench, The Study of Words.

Words.

The Baron or Franklin who held his hand in fee took his surname from his estate. The villager took his from some landmark or feature of the country-side. The stranger was identified by his place of origin. Others received nicknames or were known by their trade or craft. Still another class, and amongst these must have been some with pride of ancestry, took the personal name of the father or other relative. It is with this class we have now to deal.

Family names formed in this way are among the most widely distributed of our surnames. After all, it was perfectly natural that a man whose name had been formally entered in an early Roll as John, filius William should take the surname Williamson, or that Robert the son of Dick should become Dickson or Dixon. Many examples of family names formed in this way could be given, for these are taken not only from the names themselves but from their shortened and pet forms as well. Thus from David alone there are Davidson, Davison, (Davyson), Dawson (Daw's son). Some take the genitive form with the added "s" and have the same meaning, as in Davis, Davies, and Dawes. Thus in addition to Richardson, Philipson, Johnson and Jonson, we have also Richards, Phillips and Jones expressing the same relationship. The Welsh "ap" preceding a font name also means "son of" as in ap Madoc, the son of Madoc, and ap Evan, the son of Evan.

The Normans also used the prefix Fitz, the old French form of fils to denote the same relationship, of which the names Fitzgerald, the son of Gerald, and Fitzclarence, the son of Clarence, are typical examples.

Baptismal names provide an unmistakable index of poularity today, as they did centuries ago. The name of a king who has won the allegiance of his subjects as well as those of his family, is faithfully copied and transmitted to the next generation of his people. A great feat of arms by land or sea, the triumph of some statesman, the prowess of a mighty cricketer, and the skill and courage of heroes of the prize-ring are all commemorated at the baptismal font". (BOWMAN, pp. 63 et seq.).

EDITORIAL EXCURSUS

(A Department of Genealogical Opinion)
There is a vast difference in CRITICISM. When one uses the PERSONAL approach, he is not criticising THINGS, he is trying, consciously or unconsciously, to criticize PERSONS, either to demean them or to exalt his own position, selfishly, or by comparison. Since GENEALOGY is largely PERSONAL, the personal equation really destroys the merits of the discussions. Yet, one cannot, for the sake of posterity, let unmerited attack, even though editorial, go unchallenged:

Therefore, a post-card reply:

Concerning excellent article, Randolph, Editor's Note, N. Y. GEN. & BIOG. REC., July, 1933 issue, that editor denies any intended suggestion, as to my lack of experience, etc. However, the records submitted by him are not new—had been covered in FIRST SETTLERS. He proves that POPINGA was POPINGA and that THOMAS I ALIENSZED was so used—nothing that POPINGA was POPINGA and that THOMAS LAURENSZEN was so used—nothing new. POPINGA was not a Dutch surname, only POPPE and POPPEN, as latest book, 1933, Van Beresteyn, Dutch "Genealogische" clearly shows. Beresteyn, Dutch "Genealogische" clearly shows.
Not a POPINGA, nor parrot in it. It was "descriptio personae", and so and so. BUT, JOHN LAWRENCE WAS AN ACCEPTED ENGLISHMAN, and in GEN. INDEX., DOCS.
REL. to COL. HIST., N. Y., he is indexed under FIVE variations, LOURENS to LAURENTSENS,—Dutch recordal simplicity!

Los Angeles, July 18, 1933.

The "Editor's Note" above referred to was entirely uncalled for by any publication of this EDITOR, and, being PERSONAL, lost its force, as genealogical argument. It is completely answered in this PART, (post); also, (ante, p. 926).

GENEALOGICAL OPINION

This is no different than any other OPINION. Its cheaper expressions are prejudiced, largely exparte, selfish, usually personal: the antagonist disliking his protagonist, largely because he refuses to agree with him. Human beings hate one another because they do not agree in thought, method and action.
OPINION posses

OPINION possesses two outstanding factors, one, as the wit has said, "a lack of knowledge of the facts"; and, the other, envy over priority of expression or displeasure over an impairment of the validitiy of the conclusions of the opinionate.

THIS SERIES, AT EVERY POINT, HAS INSISTED THAT ITS APPROACH HAS ALWAYS BEEN IMPERSONAL, for the opening standard of the entire SERIES, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. VII), shows the inner heart and kind thought, always, of this writer and editor.

The sincere purpose and helpful intent of one of the ardent supporters of this SERIES are acknowledged, and gratefully quoted, (in part);

A MAGAZINE'S SUBSCRIBER'S COMMENTS "July 12, 1933.

r. Orra Eugene Monnette, 350 South Oxford Avenue, Los Angeles, California.

Dear Sir:

Two or three years ago, you and I exchanged a letter or two in regard to the LAWRENCE family, (I came from THOMAS2, THOMAS1).

Just lately I read in the "Boston Transcript" of Friday June 9th, under "Notes", No. 2586 that the old controversy to discount the descent of THOMAS LAWRENCE, has again cropped

And, yesterday, when I opened the July number of the N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, (of which I am a subscriber only)— and saw under the Editor's Notes, the unkind things said in trying to discredit your statement concerning the identity of THOMAS2 LAWRENCE, my indignation had increased by leaps and bounds.

It would seem to me, that anyone, who has read any of the old New York statistics, would know, how many of the English names were "Hollandized", (if I may express it so), by the Dutch recorders.

Do you know the name of the first wife of THOMAS LAWRENCE, the immigrant? If not, I can tell you—as it was given to me.

(They) had THOMAS2, WILLIAM2 ,JOHN2, DAVID2, JONATHAN2, et al. * * * * * * This History of Long Island, by Thompson, gives the names of the three brothers, WILLIAM, JOHN and THOMAS LAWRENCE.

Compare the descendants of THOMAS1 (including THOMAS2), with those of his brother, WILLIAM, for example—as given in the LAW-RENCE GENEALOGY—

I'll not bother you any further—will say that in closing I hope that you will prove beyond the shadow of a doubt, that THOMAS2 LAW-RENCE was the son of THOMAS1 LAW-RENCE, as we have always believed.

Sincerely yours,

X. Y. Z.

THIS PART SIX is dedicated to LAWRENCE, et al, and full reference, record presentations and other fundamentals are given with indicated genealogy, the refinements of which cannot be easily taken away now from the long aggravated list of disputants,—too much acute.—O. E. M.

ACCURATE GENEALOGY

(Discussion in the Boston Transcript, Genealogical Department, 1933).

Perchance, these may be listed among some of the "Follies", (vide, ante, this PART, p. 890). Note 2574, Feb. 24, 1933, (never seen by the

No. 2574, April 6, 1933. No. 2574, May 11, 1933, by a very able writer. To which this editor replied, as follows, under date of June 29, 1933:

date of June 29, 1933:

"Comment on Note 2574. ACCURATE GENE-ALOGY, F. C. C. B. Feb. 24, 1933. I find, with interest, the proposal of F. C. C. B. and note that 'other partisans of accurate genealogy' are invited to comment frankly upon it. The Transcript is a fine forum for this discussion, and the writer of the article is rendering a more helpful service than, perhaps, he realizes. I have had the same feeling of 'despair' over erroneous work and presentation, but, unfortunately, F. C. C. B.

only partially covers the defects of modern Genealogy, and his remedy, largely impracticable, would not be accepted by the worst offenders and those basking in the sequestered spheres, where their 'ipse dixits' and 'official pronouncements,' are un-

Will correspondents agree that the most trouble is caused by the fact that membership in patriotic societies emphasizes all the differences of genealogical opinion? The wish to stay in, with pedigree unimpaired, and the desire to get in, on a new line are among the reasons for this; then new line' are among the reasons for this; then certain lineages, which are weather-beaten, but badly bent, survive, in the face of correction, and members of societies persist in keeping their membership under wrong and uncertain pedigrees. In order to secure accurate Genealogy, one must displace the arbiters of both present and by-gone days, and brave the displeasure of those who have tried to keep sacred their findings and opinions, who scorn such open discussion as the Transcript offers, and who are not amenable to correction of errors. tion of errors.

As to the supposed capable genealogists, there are many such, splendid, conscientious workers, who are developing the program of historical truth, but they have no forum, except their own publications, in which to discuss the prevailing forms, uncertainties and official discriminations. forms, uncertainties and official discriminations. If they were to organize, as proposed, no ear would be given to their protestations or wise dissertations. One cannot put over accuracy by boards of review, committee findings and arbitrary decisions. Concerning a sort of 'close corporation' in genealogy; that would be impracticable and not helpful. Historical fact and truthful research cannot be purified by official sanction. It would be in the interest of a select few, fortunate enough to be on the 'inside,' and result in a genealogical trust, abhorrent to those who really want to help and serve.

In genealogy, previous findings and opinions are valuable, unless self-serving or dishonest. Would it not be a finer approach to assume that all devotees are trying to help and to do careful work? If Savage made errors (nearly every page); if the Magazine of 1847 can preserve so many errors; and even if the recent, mournful lament of the authors of the New Dictionary, tells us that they only are perfect, though upon the opposite page are catalogued their own errors—why worry about the errors, which will correct themselves, and never reflect upon the integrity of any one who unselfishly spends time, money and energy, in serving a fine cause? My FIRST SETTLERS is the outcome of an unselfish purpose. It may have mistakes and errors; if correspondents have found such, I hope they will write me, personally, about them. I should wish to correct any wrong statement or conclusion appearing in it. In fact, I will pay reasonably for any record or real data, controverting and changing, but I cannot accept mere censorious criticism.

NO ACCURATE GENEALOGY

The foregoing suggestions were succinctly commented upon in the following:

"Comment on Note 2574. ACCURATE GENE-ALOGY. "GERER". June 29, 1933. The criticism of "Gerer" on the proposal to have some sort of a court of final jurisdiction to pass on accuracy of volumes that deal with genealogy, is to the

To begin with, there is no accurate genealogy. Even some official records are in error; hence one who accepts them merely repeats an error. Deeds and probates sometimes prove a Bible record in error or that it has been read wrongly. Queer old writing may be misread and yet look far more like what was copied from it than like what it was meant for. In other words, new found records may explain and correct what had previ-ously been accepted as correct.

In covering such broad subjects as early colonists, the genealogist cannot well verify every item, but takes records as he finds them, or builds in part on the work of others", (in part, E. F. A., July 19, 1933).

THE REAL GENEALOGIST

Is the ONE WHO MAKES MISTAKES. He has no working theory or self-serving objective to show—he is not merely seeking membership in an honorary society, (which could not be honorable, to or for, him, if his pedigree were erroneous)—he is SEEKING GENEALOGICAL TRUTH.If he errs, he is entirely willing to back track and to revise, and to persevere, unselfishly, to secure the historical fact, rather than the professorial dicta or opinions, by which he hopes to impress the genealogical world. He is not seeking to displace another to his own advantage.

It must he a terribly depressive self-examina-

It must be a terribly depressive self-examination, to work oneself, "by the boot-straps", up to a pedestal of PERFECTION, with all the egotistic accompaniments, and like Alexander, "weeping for more worlds to conquer", wailing over the "wrongs of amateurs", lamenting over the imperfections of others, and pessimistically viewing the outlook for the future. THAT MAN IS GROWING THIN, TENUOUS—and VERY VAIN.—O. E. M.

While this editor has made a distinction between AMATEUR, AVOCATIVE and PROFESSIONAL, (vide, ante, PART THREE, (pp. 310 et seq.), giving a little "edge" to the PROFESSIONAL, (as believing he might (?) have more experience).—Yet any dictionary will show, that the sole difference is, that the AMATEUR does, for "love of his work" and the PROFESSIONAL, "for pay"—that is the true distinction, and, hence, rather than drift into the purely mercenary designation, which is more likely to lead into inexactitude, because of working theories, and other divergements, those who seek reputations as the "New Experts" are talking about "experienced" and "inexperienced" genealogists, in an effort to create an aristocracy of scholarship in the game. THIS IS PURE ASSUMPTION.

When the PROFESSIONAL sneers at the AMATEUR he only discredits himself. (Vide, ante this PART, p. 890).

THE CASE AGAINST TOWN AND COUNTY HISTORIES

Referring to Editorial Iconoclastiana, (Totten, N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, Vol. LXV, Jan. 1934, pp. 12 et seq.), the following is the indictment.

"Probably the most fruitful breeding places of erroneous genealogical statements are the other-wise most useful and dependable Town and County Wise most useful and dependable Town and County Histories, wherein are perpetuated by the printed word sadly inaccurate statements as to fact. These statements, while not incorporated therein by premeditated purpose to mislead, are so introduced as the result of what may be recognized as an irresistible impulse on the part of the compilors to record undigested beliefs, which beliefs of that moment would, after a more complete study of the facts, never have been endorsed by such facts.

The column record that this writer refers to this

Will correspondents agree that the most trouble is caused by the fact that membership in patriotic societies emphasizes all the differences of genealogical opinion? The wish to stay in, with pedigree unimpaired, and the desire to get in, on a new line' are among the reasons for this; then certain lineages, which are weather-beaten, but badly bent, survive, in the face of correction, and members of societies persist in keeping their membership under wrong and uncertain pedigrees. In order to secure accurate Genealogy, one must displace the arbiters of both present and by-gone days, and brave the displeasure of those who have tried to keep sacred their findings and opinions, who scorn such open discussion as the Transcript offers, and who are not amenable to correction of errors. tion of errors.

As to the supposed capable genealogists, there are many such, splendid, conscientious workers, who are developing the program of historical truth, but they have no forum, except their own publications, in which to discuss the prevailing forms, uncertainties and official discriminations. If they were to organize, as proposed, no ear would be given to their protestations or wise dissertations. One cannot put over accuracy by boards of review, committee findings and arbitrary desertations. One cannot put over accuracy by boards of review, committee findings and arbitrary decisions. Concerning a sort of 'close corporation' in genealogy; that would be impracticable and not helpful. Historical fact and truthful research cannot be purified by official sanction. It would be in the interest of a select few, fortunate enough to be on the 'inside,' and result in a genealogical trust, abhorrent to those who really want to help and serve.

In genealogy, previous findings and opinions are valuable, unless self-serving or dishonest. Would it not be a finer approach to assume that all devotees are trying to help and to do careful work? If Savage made errors (nearly every page); if the Magazine of 1847 can preserve so many errors; and even if the recent, mournful lament of the authors of the New Dictionary, tells us that they only are perfect, though upon the opposite page are catalogued their own errors—why worry about the errors, which will correct themselves, and never reflect upon the integrity of any one who unselfishly spends time, money and energy, in serving a fine cause? My FIRST SETTLERS is the outcome of an unselfish purpose. It may have mistakes and errors; if correspondents have found such, I hope they will write me, personally, about them. I should wish to correct any wrong statement or conclusion appearing in it. In fact, I will pay reasonably for any record or real data, controverting and changing, but I cannot accept mere censorious criticism.

NO ACCURATE GENEALOGY

The foregoing suggestions were succinctly commented upon in the following:

"Comment on Note 2574, ACCURATE GENE-ALOGY. "GERER". June 29, 1933, The criticism of "Gerer" on the proposal to have some sort of a court of final jurisdiction to pass on accuracy of volumes that deal with genealogy, is to the point.

To begin with, there is no accurate genealogy. Even some official records are in error; hence one who accepts them merely repeats an error. Deeds and probates sometimes prove a Bible record in error or that it has been read wrongly. Queer old writing may be misread and yet look far more like what was copied from it than like what it was meant for. In other words, new found records may explain and correct what had previously been accepted as correct.

In covering such broad subjects as early colonists, the genealogist cannot well verify every item, but takes records as he finds them, or builds in part on the work of others", (in part, E. F. A., July 19, 1933).

THE REAL GENEALOGIST

Is the ONE WHO MAKES MISTAKES. He has no working theory or self-serving objective to show—he is not merely seeking membership in an honorary society, (which could not be honorable, to or for, him, if his pedigree were erroneous)—he is SEEKING GENEALOGICAL TRUTH.If he errs, he is entirely willing to back track and to revise, and to persevere, unselfishly, to secure the historical fact, rather than the professorial dicta or opinions, by which he hopes to impress the genealogical world. He is not seeking to displace another to his own advantage.

It must be a terribly depressive self-examination, to work oneself, "by the boot-straps", up to a pedestal of PERFECTION, with all the egotistic accompaniments, and like Alexander, "weeping for more worlds to conquer", wailing over the "wrongs of amateurs", lamenting over the imperfections of others, and pessimistically viewing the outlook for the future. While this editor has made a distinction between AMATEUR, AVOCATIVE and PROFESSIONAL, (vide, ante, PART THREE, (pp. 310 et seq.), giving a little "edge" to the PROFESSIONAL, (as believing he might (?) have more experience).—Yet any dictionary will show, that the sole difference is, that the AMATEUR does, for "love of his work" and the PROFESSIONAL, "for pay"—that is the true distinction, and, hence, rather than drift into the purely mercenary designation, which is more likely to lead into inexactitude, because of working theories, and other divergements, those who seek reputations as the "New Experts" are talking about "experienced" and "inexperienced" genealogists, in an effort to create an aristocracy of scholarship in the game. THIS IS PURE ASSUMPTION.

When the PROFESSIONAL sneers at the AMATEUR he only discredits himself. (Vide, ante this PART, p. 890).

THE CASE AGAINST TOWN AND COUNTY HISTORIES

Referring to Editorial Iconoclastiana, (Totten, N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Record, Vol. LXV, Jan. 1934, pp. 12 et seq.), the following is the indict-

These statements, while not incorporated therein by premeditated purpose to mislead, are so introduced as the result of what may be recognized as an irresistible impulse on the part of the compilors to record undigested beliefs, which beliefs of that moment would, after a more complete study of the facts, never have been endorsed by such facts.

The only reason that this writer refers to this very illuminative, discursive and thoughtful presentation by the excellent editor is that it provides in its content the entering wedge for a new standard of genealogical expertness and higher

FORGERIES IN OLD RECORDS

To an antiquarian, who loves to delve in old records and speculate about the personages of the ancient days, and muck-rake, after modern fashion, about their acts and formal documents, it is a weirs sort of fancy that leads him to pronounce, after three hundred years have passed, that this or that instrument, or record is a forgery. There is an intriguing pastime about it, which does appeal. But, to a lawyer, it is manifest that, since all courts and judges must take judicial cognizance of all court records and formal documents, as to their verity, within their jurisdictions, no scholar, however profound, can adequately fortify an interpretation of forgery or do more than display his especial style of learning upon the subject. It is doubtful if it serve any useful purpose, and only tends to show possible human frailties and record uncertainty, if anything at all, which are correspondingly used by the same investigator to establish some other historical premise and conclusion. The latter would be out of luck, if some other Professor were to pull that conclusion upon his peculiar kind of historical and genealogical presentation. presentation.

"My book, "Some Feudal Coats of Arms," published in the autumn of 1901, was at least a disinterested attempt to revive some of the ancient charm of Heraldry. Fatuous to the bitter end, the Hope, heraldic springs eternal in the Barron's 2 breast."

BALANCING ADMINISTRATIVE RECORDS WITH GENEALOGICAL TABLES "PEDIGREES OF VILLEINS AND FREEMEN IN THE 13th CENTURY"

Being a Lecture delivered to the Society by Miss Hellen Cam, on Saturday, January 21st, 1933.

IT MIGHT BE SUPPOSED THAT NO TWO ASPECTS OF HISTORY WERE MORE DIA. METRICALLY OPPOSED TO EACH OTHER THAN THE GENEALOGICAL AND THE ADDINISTRATIVE, THE ONE CONCERNED WITH PRIVATE, PERSONAL, PARTICULAR AFFAIRS, THE OTHER WITH PUBLIC IMPERSONAL, STANDARDIZED ARRANGEMENTS. The student of administration often has reason to lament the extent to which genealogical considerations influenced the editors of the earlier volumes of the government's record publications, whose indexes dealt at first solely with personal and local proper names, and only by slow degrees came to include legal, administrative, social and economic categories and reached the perfection of Mr. Flower's indexes to the CURIA REGIS ROLLS, but for which this article could never have been written.

"The enclosed slip will give you my final decision, and plans. It will be a great physical effort, as being under the doctor's care so long, I am compelled to come home every afternoon at 3 or 4, and go to bed, to rest a "tired heart", but my blood pressure has gone down, very much, and I am getting back to myself again.

I shall, as always, make acknowledgment of my indebtedness to friends and helpers:—

I should like to hold personal friendships, and pleasing, but I have my genealogical reputation and honor, at stake, and those who know me, best, do not try to make capital out of my intended, unselfish, serviceable efforts.

I REMEMBER, I REMEMBER

The house where, I was born,
It was lit by tallow candles,
But I was less forlorn
Than now with bright electrics
That gleam light summer morn.
Gay chromos decked the parlor,
There were whatmots in the corners,
Big maps and Rogers' statues
Sufficed for hall adorners.

I remember, I remember, When girls' hair hung in nets, When necks were never shaven, And the blessed little pets Dreamed not of using lipsticks Nor smoking cigarettes;
When hoopskirts were the fashion
And legs were never seen,
Sidesaddles were the custom
And long habits of dark green.

I remember, I remember,

That in those days so quiet That in those days so quiet There was no jazz nor honking, And no one on a diet.
Nobody was "contacted," There were no movie comics, And we were never pestered By talks on economics.
My spirits flew in feathers then, But they have had a fall; The trouble is, if you must quiz, I'm fed up with it all.

PERSONAL CRITICISM OF OTHERS

Genealogical compilations are not sacred or in-plable, in any sense of the word. Whenever, a compiler or writer commits to the word. Whenever, a compiler or writer commits to the printed page any genealogical statement, he gives to any high-minded reviewer, constructive critic or other honorable person, the privilege of a proper, appropriate and gentlemanly examination and review of his presentations.

No person should be sacred as against that decent approach.

The complaints re the supercilious and censorious critics is their injection, almost without a single exceptional instance, of personal venom and abuse, exceptional instance, of personal venom and abuse, in every contrariwise suggestion or criticism. This has been the standard of genealogical criticism in many sequestered fields of genealogical investigation, for years, and the animus comes to the front, in many queries and answers in the Boston Transcript, where the correspondents sometimes think, that, as a covered approach, their aliases are undiscoverable, being surreptitious.

A notable PREFACE was discussed at the Annual Meeting of the here, and while not formally considered, it was the consensus that the otherwise valuable compilation, was greatly impaired by this attitude of reproach upon the honest work of others.

A very few editors assume a direction in GENE-ALOGY and a sanctified position, as with committees and experts, which they do not possess, but this is not at all universal, and only apparent when it is thought to create a new genealogical adventure, by purely destructive and not constructive methods. This is the easiest way to start the building of genealogical reputation for supposed exactness and impeccability.

One cannot but admire the long courses of dignity, marvelous performance and wide popularity of the William & Mary College Quarterly and Virginia Magazine of History and Biography, which are most outstanding in the Field of Gen. and neither has ever trespassed upon the rights of others, by editorial criticism or review, and they use not the handle of biting sarcasm, blistering reproach, and impugment of the motives of others, in reference to other productions.

This is quite different from some other older.

This is quite different from some other, older and newer individual exponents, entitled to some respect, but who live largely by the deprecation of other worthy efforts.

NEW YORK COLONIALS

Much has been presented in this REFER-ENCE SERIES concerning those origins, definitely connected with the discovery, settlement and personages of COLON-IAL NEW YORK. Its attachment to NEW JERSEY, geographically, and connection with, historically, make the records almost inseparable: (Vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 107-109, pp. 118 et seq.; PART TWO, pp. 151 et seq.; PART FOUR, pp. 568, et seq.; PART FIVE, pp. 777 et seq.). A SECOND MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 845 et seq.)

In the above reference was presented a formal MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE, which consisted of a genealogical tour of ancient shrines and place locations in England, France and Germany, during the summer of 1928.

Because many years had elapsed since (1895-1912), the original researches, upon which the MONNET FAMILY GENE-ALOGY, of 1911 had been based, and the HULL FAMILY IN AMERICA—NEW JERSEY BRANCH, compiled by the writer and published in the Old Northwest Genealogical Quarterly, (NORTHWEST, 1907-1912), together with various articles on the SCRIBNER FAMILY in New Hampshire; descendants of DANIEL CLARK, the first, of Connecticut, as well as the KENDALL, RUSSELL and LINCOLN families of the same, the writer concluded that, it would be enjoyable to retrace his earlier steps as a matter of travel interest, but more particularly to visit again county seats, towns and courthouses for a revived glimpse into official records again; so that the definite idea developed, in the summer of 1933, for a SECOND MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE, which was conceived and carried out as an American tour and a homeland itinerary, altogether.

Leaving Los Angeles, Friday afternoon, August 11th, by automobile, with the wife of the writer, Mrs. Helen K. Monnette, and their daughter, Miss Helen Hull Monnette, to whom this Series is dedicated, "THE MONNETTES THREE," (ill., p. opp.), in a Pierce-Arrow car, (S-88-03), driven by chauffeur, Emil Karl Diederich, a cross-country trip of a total of 11,300 miles was accomplished in the next nearly six weeks, the home return date having been Thursday afternoon, September 21st, 1933. During this itinerary, which included the main state and national highways throughout the South, across the Mississippi River, into Tennessee, Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, and Atlantic Coast states, as well as all New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Middle West, Western, and Pacific Coast states, thirty states in all being visited; and while all major cities therein were passed thru, the trip was headed, without delay, to back country and older out-of-the-way places, in search of genealogical and record data, inclusive of the visitation and copying of gravestones of, many of the ancient burial places of Colonial America.

Every MONNETT, HULL and SCRIBNER, CLARK and KENDALL trail was followed, with the same eagerness as 25 years previously; and not only was the genealogical path, as first made, fully exemplified and verified, but additional history and supplementing genealogy were procured at nearly every point along the way. In due course, these will be developed in the publications of this author, with many pictorial illustrations of persons and places gathered along the route.

The primary objectives for two happy destinations of this tour were, (1), the annual meeting of the PISCATAQUA PIONEERS, Newfields, New Hampshire. (vide, ante, this PART, p. 785), where a most appropriate and successful meeting was held, with HILTON, as the outstanding family lineage to be celebrated, a happy group of keenly interested genealogists and family representatives, over which the writer presided, as he had been given the great honor of Presidency of this organization, the year before. dedication of the newly excavated site of the old EDWARD HILTON house at Newfields was the outstanding feature of the meeting and the dedicatory exercises, extolling this ancestor and revealing the fine work of Judge Charles I. Pettingell, Amesbury, Massachusetts, drew a large crowd of enthusiastic auditors and family devotees.

This took place August 31st, 1933.

The second (2) objective was the Thirteenth Congress of the General Society of Mayflower Descendants, held at Plymouth. September 4-7th, 1933, (preceded by a Cape Cod tour to Provincetown), as noted in a separate column under that title in this Series, which this editor attended in the capacity of a delegate from the California State Society, Regent of the Los Angeles Chapter, and as an Assistant General of the Official Board of that Society. It was a most enjoyable and illuminative visit; and the spirit of the Pilgrim fathers hovered over the meeting in peace, joy and gladness.

Middle West, Western, and Pacific Coast states, thirty states in all being visited; and while all major cities therein were passed thru, the trip was headed, without delay, to back country and older out-of-the-way places, in search of genealogical and record data, inclusive of the visitation,

Most remunerative from a genealogical viewpoint was an examination of the records at Dover and Wilmington, where additional proof was discovered of this early migration of New Jersey people to become first settlers of Delaware colony. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 725 et seq.).

Naturally, the sites and official record places of New Jersey were visited again, as they have been sought many times before, and certain reinforcements to the genealogical collections of the writer were made as a result of this trip.

In Virginia, Maryland, and New Jersey, certain new and definite trails were marked with respect to the MONNET FAMILY, as well as old lines and bypaths re-examined, relating to surname variations, as MONEY and MONAY, etc.

The visits to many old towns and cities of New England brought not only the evidence of the original settlements there of P. and W. families but, except for what has been preserved in various ways, sadly it must be written that the ancient landmarks exist now, with very little of the older evidences apparent to eye and vision. With many old houses and scenes of former days to stir the imagination and invite deep sentiment, there is a strange lack of both the memorialization and revival of foundation stones and sites, which became the heads and markers of the corners of American civilization.

In New Hampshire, the SCRIBNER and RAYNES, (RAYNO), et al, traces at Yorke, Kingston, Salisbury and Andover, leading via Poultney, Vermont, to Schroon Lake, New York, and further to the Unadilla River, to be re-assembled by 1805 in Radnor township, Delaware County, Ohio, as shown in this Series, where the meeting was with HULL and other descendants of New Hampshire origins, by the way of New Jersey, and in the same general westward direction to the State of Ohio.

It was a delight to visit in Cynthiana, Kentucky, in the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wiglesworth, (Mrs. Anabel), descendants of the MONNET fam., who wended their way 1797-1802, via WILDERNESS ROAD, through Cumberland Gap, northward via Boone's Trail, into Ohio, from Maryland and Virginia. (MONNET, pp. 479 and 590).

Fortunate it was to find a descendant, PAUL GIBSON MONNETT, at Ridgeley, West Virginia, of the original ABRA-HAM MONNETT (1748-1810), who sight of "Knobley Mountain", (old Hampshire County, Virginia), and together with him, the visitors stood on the site of the old house, 1790, looking away across the Potomac River where was, at the mouth of the Patterson Creek, the old JACOB SLAGLE mansion, in which GEORGE WASHINGTON danced with the daughters, still standing to this day. (He made the original survey of this land, as per record). (MONNET, p. 484).

Better than all, was the coursing of the old, clear trails of ISAAC MONNET, (from Staten Island), in Calvert County, Maryland, where his descendant now lives, JOHN ABRAHAM MONNETT, (son of ABRAHAM MONNETT), of Wallville, P. O., physiognomatically the image of the family representatives of that ABRA-HAM MONNETT, (1811-1881), grand-father of the writer, and altogether the ancient land marks were visited. (MON-NET, p. 291).

And still more significant the quaint, old PISCATAWAY VILLAGE, in Prince George County, so reflective of PISCATAWAY in New Jersey (vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 364 et seq.), where the paths have seen the silent tread of Indian and pioneer in the 17th Century, and since. The buildings are quaint, old and the gravestones in the cemetery tell the ancient story. Two views of the oldest houses, 150 or more years, are given here, (opp. p. foll.), at PISCATAWAY, Maryland).

STATEN ISLAND AND HUGUENOT MEMORIALS

Beyond question, the most enthusiastic Beyond question, the most enthusiastic visitation was to the old places and ancient shrines of the Huguenots on Staten Island, Richmond County, New York, where MONNET or (MONET), PIERRE, first settled, in 1681, and left definite traces of his name and family there; although in the transmigration into Colonial New York and New Jersey, the sur-name variation is frequently referred to in this SERIES; as with other French to groupens exampled less frequently the cognomens exampled less frequently, the Colonial name changes ever arise to confuse the genealogist.

The sites of the old French Huguenot church of the 17th Century and its burial place were visited, the outlines of the old streets bearing Huguenot names recall to this day, including "Pierre Street" as a reminder of PIERRE MONNET, and HAM MONNETT (1748-1810), who the little inlet on the eastern shore of lived there on "Swan Pond Tract", in "MONEE'S POINT", which marked the point of land patented to PIERRE MON-NET and ANTHONY TYCE.

The Huguenot Park Memorial Church, now centralized in the Huguenot Memorial Association, at the present town of Huguenot Park, on Amboy Road, is the focal point of this research, for memorialization of this great French migration by which to mark their tours. The MON-NET MEMORIAL has been presented in this SERIES (vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 397-401).

In this SECOND MONNETTE PIL-GRIMAGE, many professional and amateur genealogists were sought out, in order to be considerate of and to cement friendly and fraternal correspondence, and all the well-known historic and genealogical societies were called upon and old official and membership acquaintances were renewed. The hospitality was generous, the welcome was cordial and the centers of Atlantic Seaboard activities in this field were filled with many inspiring ideals and achievements, which were reflected to the visitors in every call.

It would be difficult to compare one section with another, as the courtesies and graciousness were uniform, but the welcome of Governor John G. Winant, of the State of New Hampshire, in his private office at the state house in Concord, was merely an epitome of that zenith of hospitality extended by many others in homes, at the club and in social recognition. The writer had been on the official Angeles reception comittee, when California entertained this and other Governors, particularly Governor George White, of Ohio (this editor's mother State) upon their western tour and meetings of these governors.

This SECOND MONNETTE PIL-GRIMAGE was intended to create a treasure house of real values and happy memories, not only from the historical lore gathered, but also from the friendly burnishments of the kinship associations retouched, as well as the fine, sterling family memorials, which were brought close to the knowledge of the "Daughter of the House", who will possess definite inspirations to carry on this work, when the efforts of her father have vanished away, (vide, ante, PART FIVE,

p. 882).

May the pride of ancestry, in her life, be never eradicated and the spirit of the fathers, ever pioneering and enterprising, faithful and honest, be the guide of her life, as she represents in posterity, another generation of this MONNET INHERI- 1781.

(As first published in Humphrey's Historical Account of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel, London, 1730).

The above presentation has rejoiced this editor more than almost any other illustration, because of the rarity of the map, the history in which it was first published and the very clear place names and locations, within the scope of this Series.

Attention should be specifically called to the designation of "Piscataway", (N. H.), at the top of the map, upon which spelling, Piscataway, N. J. was predicated, and the other towns on Revitan River, with geography of that day.—O. E. M.

THE BEGINNINGS OF NEW JERSEY HISTORY

THIS SERIES was opened with this title and the first episodes of history of exploration and settlement, with related records. (Vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 42, et seq.), to which were subsequently added other primary and fundamental facts, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 689), almost to the disarrangement of material and interruption of both chronology and continuity, but it has been the purpose to refresh the reader's mind in each PART, with history, as well as genealogy, and to revive interest in the attachments of the FIRST SETTLERS to place and action.

Likewise it has made a more or less unit out

Likewise it has made a more or less unit out of each PART, so that the dates 1664-1714 would hold, throughout, their important significance.

The editorial suggestion that it is not upon modernly accepted lines has no application, as such was neither intended nor promoted, tor this editor has a different conception of his purpose than that of the "flamboyant critic", who tries to set form and fashion for others, as evidence of his original genius.

The writer has clung to SMITH'S HISTORY of NEW JERSEY, as the fountain-head of all historic fact in that Colony. No modern genius has yet arisen to write a new, authentic history of New Jersey, tho some feeble attempts have been made.

THOMAS F. GORDON

THOMAS F. GORDON

This old volume has been neglected. It made its appearance in 1834, "History of New Jersey, From Its Discovery By Europeans to The Adoption of the Federal Constitution, by THOMAS F. GORDON", ("Trenton: Published by Daniel Fenton. John C. Clark, Printer, Phila., 1834"). "Advertisement: The author of the following work has sought to present to the public, a full and correct portraiture of the State in the year 1833. To this end, he has, personally visited almost every portion of it; communed with many of its most distinguished and enlightened citizens, and collected, from numerous but scattered sources, a mass of useful and curious information, which must prove alike grateful to the present and succeeding generations. Errors will undoubtedly be discovered in the work; for such a work is peculiarly liable to them; being exposed, not only to the misconceptions of the author, but, to those of his informants." (A noble, self-abnegative introduction, which only brought upon him the rancor of editorialism with its spleen of hate, in its most vicious form).

For, in 1849, Richard S. Field, issued his valuable "The Provincial Court of New Jersey, With Sketches Of The Bench And Bar," (N. J. Hist. Soc., Coll., No. 3), which contains, under an account of THOMAS FARMAR, (p. 127), an altogether unnecessary and scathing denunciation of THOMAS F. GORDON, which by its very language, reveals the venom of the critic and the selfishness of the editor, as he wrote, "This, however, is but one of the many glaring inaccuracies of that work—a work, in which ignorance of facts is equalled only by unskilfulness of narrative. In this instance, his facts and his inferences are alike unfounded. So jealous," etc. As excellent a preachment as Field did, THOMAS F. GORDON did a greater thing, and the attempt of one to dim the luster of the integrity of the other only portrays the human frailties, which proceeds to modern times.

The interesting feature of Nelson's preliminary list is that SAMUEL SMITH'S HISTORY, published in 1765, but bringing the narrative down only to 1720, heads the entire compilation.

All of the books discoverable, relating to State, County and local history of New Jersey are to be found, with keyword, as employed in this SERIES, in the several Bibliographies, in PARTS hereinin the several before listed.

They are so listed here as representing the leading historical authorities. (Supra).

They complete this REFERENCE SERIES, to which maybe added the many scholarly works, now under way, which will 'glorify the errors' of the PAST by correcting them, dignifiedly.

NOVA CAESARIA

The original designation of New Jersey is historically interesting and dates a Period, when discovery, exploration and colonization were rife. They were the competitive and extrajurisdictional efforts of European Nations, expressed in the terms of territorial aggrandizement. The right of discovery was a principle of the new international law.

a greater thing, and the attempt of one to dim the luster of the integrity of the other only portrays the human frailties, which proceeds to modern times.

HISTORIES OF NEW JERSEY
This is an incomplete, and not a modern list, But, in 1914, the N. J. Hist. Soc., (PROC. (3), vol. ix, p. 10), a gentleman made inquiry: "Were there any books about New Jersey History?" And, the notable William Nelson was thus interrogated, who replied, as dumfounded at the question, and was the sole, colonial province to set forth religious toleration in unmistakable terms and practices, to the eternal shame of Puritan New England, whose bitter persecution of the gentle Quakers and, whose Salem witchcraft delusive murderings will forever blacken the escutcheon of Christianity and Tolerance. In New Jersey, while not so clearly tolerant by statement and official pronouncement, as by Maryland, the spirit of welcome and toleration was really deep, broad and sincere. All races and religions were made hospitably free and religious freedom was a fact not one of symbolism. The New England Puritan ran away to New Jersey from the irksome intoleration of his town and community, even of his own family; the New Hampshire adventurer left the fireside of his forefathers to seek the romance of a newer, freer environmnt. The emigrant from Old England, with almost no factor of prison exodus or penal servitude to mark his going, emigrated to New Jersey, voluntarily, and seeking his chance for betterment; soldier, merchant, noble and peasant; the Scotch, strict Presbyterians, but not intolerant; the Baptists, a little more so, the Quakers that docile but conscientious sect of peacefully consistent aims; the Huguenots and Walloons of high craftsmanship, gentle piety and noble attributes; the imponderable and imperturbable Dutchman, who persisted and who achieved; the Irish in hunted numbers with all characteristics of wit, gaiety and unbeaten hardihood; and the Germans, who presented their ancient habiliments of force, determination and honesty, making of Pennsylvania a great representation of German culture and civilization, (more coats-of-arms here than in any other Colony). Some of the Nordic and Scandanavian home-loving, but nomadic spirits of the ages—lovers of the sea and adventure, with thousands of mixtures of blood, but no contents the search of the sea but nomadic spirits of the ages—lovers of the sea and adventure, with thousands of mixtures of blood, race and nation (English predominent), these were the New Jersey Composite, 1664-1714.

It was neither fulsome praise, rhetorical statement, nor bombastic sentiment, which were reflected in the apostrophe to THE NEW JERSEYMAN: THE COMPLEAT MAN, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 668).—O. E. M.

The province of East Jersey has in it Ten Towns (vizt) Middletown, Freehold, Amboy, PISCATA, WAY, and WOODBRIDGE, Elizabeth Town, Newark, Aqueckenock and Bergen, and I judge in the whole Province there may be about Eight thousand souls. These Towns are not like the Towns in England, the houses built close together on a small spot of ground, but they include large portions of the County of 4, 5, 8, 10, 12, 15 miles in length, and as much in breadth, and all the Settlements within such State and bounds is said to be within such a Township, but in most of those townships there is some place where a part of the Inhabitants sat down nearer together than the rest, and confined themselves to smaller portions of ground, and the town is more peculiarly designed by that Settlement. Those towns and the whole province was peopl'd mostly from the adjacent colonies of New York and New England, and generally by Sons of very narrow fortunes, and such as could not well subsist in the places they left. And if such people could bring any religion with them, it was that of the country they came from and the State of them is as follows:—

PERTH AMBOY the Capital City was settled from Europe, and we have made a shift to patch up the old ruinous house, and make a church of it, and when all the Churchmen in the Province are got together, we make up about twelve Communicants; the People of that town, are a mixture of all Perswasion.

of all Perswasion.

FREEHOLD was settled from Scotland (Mr. Keith began the first settlement there, and made a fine Plantation which he afterwards Sold, and went into Pensilvania) and about the one half of it are Scotch Presbiterians, and a sober people; the other part of it was settled by People (some from New England, some from New York, and some from the forementioned towns) who are generally speaking of no religion. There is in this some from the forementioned towns) who are generally speaking of no religion. There is in this Town a Quaker Meeting house, but most of the Quakers who built it are come off, with Mr. Keith; they have not fixt yet on any religion, but are most inclinable to the Church, and could Mr. Keith be perswaded to go into those Countrys, he would (with the blessing of God) not only bring to the Church the Quakers that come off with him in East and West Jersey, which are very numerous, but make many Converts in that Country.

MIDDLETOWN was settled from New York MIDDLETOWN was settled from New York and New England; it is a large Township; there is no such thing as Church or Religion amongst them; they are p'haps the most ignorant and wicked People in the world; their Meetings on Sundays is at the Publick house, where they get their fill of Rum, and go to fighting and running of races which are Practices much in use that day all the Province over. Province over.

SHREWSBURY Settled from New England, Rhode Island and New York, there is in it abt thirty Quakers of both Sexes, and they have a Meeting house; the rest of the People are generally of no Religion; the Youth of the whole Province are very debauch'd & very ignorant, and the Sabbath day seems there to be set apart for Rioting and Drunkenness. In a word a general Ignorance & immortality runs through the Youth of the whole Province.

of the whole Province.

There was in the year One thousand six hundred ninety seaven some endeavours to settle a maintenance in that Country for Ministers, and the greatest part of the house of Commons there were for it, but one Richard Hartshorne a Quaker, and Andrew Brown* an Anabaptist found means to defeat it that Session, & before the Assembly could sit again, arriv'd one Jeremiah Bass an Anabaptist Preacher with a Commission from the Proprietors of East Jersey to be their Governour, & with Instructions & Orders from them not to Consent to any Act to raise a Maintenance for any Minister of what Perswasion soever, so that there is no hope of doing any thing of that kind till that Governmt is in other hands.

In West Jersey in the year 1699 there were 832 In West Jersey in the year 1699 there were 832 freeholders of wch there were 266 Quakers, whose number are much decreased since Mr. Keith left them. The Quakers in yt Province are ye Men of the best Rank and Estates (the rest of that Province (generally speaking) are a hotch Potch of all Religions; the Quakers have several meeting houses disperst up and down that Province & L believe none of the other perswasions have any. They have a very Debaucht Youth in that Province & very ignorant.

PENSILVANIA is settled by People of all langers.

PENSILVANIA is settled by People of all languages and Religions in Europe, but the People called Quakers are the most numerous of any one perswasion, & in Philadelphia the Capital City of perswasion, & in Philadelphia the Capital City of that Province, there is an Episcopal Church, a Quaker Meeting House, a Presbiterian Meeting house, an Anabaptist Meeting house, & I think an Independent Meeting house, & a little with out ye Town a Sweeds Church; the Church of England gains ground in that Country, & most of the Quakers that came off with Mr. Keith are come over to it; The Youth of that Country are like those in the neighbouring Provinces very Debught and ignorant. baucht and ignorant.

I shall not suggest some measures wch may conduce to ye bringing over to the Church the People in those Countrys.

*(Andrew Bowne.)

First: That no man be sent a Governor into any of those Plantations but a firm Churchman, & if posible none but Churchmen be in his Counsel & in the Magistracy.

2dly. That Churchmen may have some peculiar privileges above others. This (if practicable) must be done by Act of Parliament.

3dly. That there may be some measures fallen upon to get Ministers to preach gratis in America for some time till there be sufficient numbers of Converts to bear the Charge & I presume that may be accomplish'd this way.

may be accomplish'd this way.

Let the King, the A:Bishop,* ye Bishops & great Men admit no Man for so many years to any great Benefice, but such as shall oblige themselves to preach three years gratis in America; with part of the living let him maintain a Curate, & the other part let him apply to his own use. By this means we shall have the greatest & best men & in human probability such men must in a short time make a wonderful progress in the Convertien of those Countries, especially when its p'ceived the good of Souls is the only Motive to this undertaking."

THE GLORIFICATION OF NEW JERSEY
This was WILLIAM NELSON'S GREAT TRIBUTE. It is worthy of reading, study and exemplification.—O. E. M.

"New Jersey was one of the first of the colonies to assert itself as an independent commonwealth, and in the formation of the Union she bore a wonderfully important part. In one scene she occupied a grand position of her own—she was the core State alone among all her sisters to adopt cupied a grand position of her own—she was the one State alone among all her sisters to adopt the Constitution of the New Nation unanimously and without amendment. There were those of her sons whose names are imperishable in national history—those signers of the Declaration of Independence, Richard Stockton, the eminent lawyer of Princeton, the revered John Witherspoon, President of the College of New Jersey, now Princeton University, Francis Hopkinson, whose pen inspired statesmen and soldiers; John Hart and Abraham Clark, men of piety and learning; and those who affixed their signatures to the Federal Constitution—William Livingston, the Revolutionary War Governor, and his successor in office, William Paterson; David Brearley, Chief Justice of New Jersey, and Jonathan Dayton, an eminent patriot. Illustrious, too, were the soldierly achievements of the men of New Jersey, who, by their effort and with their lives, supported the infant Nation, and brought it to a place among the great governments of the world." "But a degree of sympathy goes out to the Indian in his extinguishment as an individual. One of the last members of the Navesink tribe, perhaps the very last, who lived in Monmouth county, was 'Indian Peter', who had become so susceptible to civilization that he built a cabin near Imlaystown. His squaw died soon afterward, and he lived alone thereafter until his death. He made his living by selling fish to the whites, a large share of bis earnings being spent for 'fire-water'. Notwithstanding his intemperate habits, he was well disposed and peaceable."

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 736).

"The district inhabited by a nation called RARI-TANGS, is situate on a fresh water river, that flows through the centre of the low land which the Indians cultivated. This vacant territory lies between two high mountains, far distant the one from the other. It is the handsomest and pleasant-est country that man can behold, and furnished the Indians with abundance of maize, beans, pumpkins, and other fruits. This district was abandoned by the natives for two reasons; the first and principal is, that finding themselves unable to resist the Southern Indians, they migrated further inland; the second, because this country was flooded every spring like Renselaer's colonie, frequently spoiling and destroying their supplies of maize which were stored in holes under ground.

Through this valley pass large numbers of all sorts of tribes, on their way north and east; this land is therefore not only adapted for raising grain and rearing all description of cattle, but also very convenient for trade with the Indians."

SHINGLE HILL, IN PISCATAWAY

This was a topographical place name of some consequence in early Piscataway, Very prob., it was the home-site of HOPEWELL HULL, for in nearly all descriptions, his name is mentioned.

In the will of JEFFREY MANNING, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 616), 1692, there was a devise of "Land at SHINGLE HILL", (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 303). Likewise, when HOPE-WELL HULL wrote his will, 1693, he devised "land, at SHINGLE HILL", (idem, p. 247), and both were referable to P.

In 1695-6-7, another reference to "73 acres near SHINGLE HILL in Piscataway", conveyed by THOMAS HIGGINS TO JOHN STEWART, "late of Raway", and by him conveyed to THOMAS MARTIN of W. Adjoining and contiguous boundaries were HOPEWELL HULL, CHARLES GILMAN and ALEXANDER ADAMS, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 260).

STRAWBERRY HILL, IN WOODBRIDGE

This must have been a conspicuous topographical elevation as it has frequent reference in the records, and early. It was synonymous with THE SHEEP COMMON, representing a centrally contiguous section of the village, proper. DALLY has many references, as to it's prominence. (Index).

In 1669, John Pike had a patent for land in and about W., vizt.: "a house lot of 10 acres at the foot of STRAWBERRY HILL, alias the SHEEP COMMON, adjoining Richard Worth," etc., (ARCH., VOL. xxi, p. 9), and other refs. (Index

In 1725, the name still persisted, in the will of Samuel Parker of W., who devised land, "on Strawberry Hill", (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p.

In 1873, DALLY referred to the same place name, as the then existant, (p. 293). It can be located and seen, today, like the old WOOD-BRIDGE RUN, and the site of JONATHAN DUNHAM'S MILL, (vide, post, this PART, p. iodia).

NEW JERSEY IRON WORKERS

NEW JERSEY IRON WORKERS

"The iron industry in Monmouth County had its beginning soon after 1666, with James Grover, one of the original Monmouth patentees. He soon learned of the existence of iron ore in his lands, near what is now Tinton Falls, then known as the Falls of Shrewsbury, and he brought thither JAMES and HENRY LEONARD, who had been iron workers in the Plymouth colony, and began the first iron mining in New Jersey, and set up a furnace, and from these mines and this furnace was produced much of the material for iron work in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania during the early colonial period. In 1667 these lands and works were purchased by LEWIS MORRIS, who was the proprietor during his active life, and who devised them to his namesake nephew, LEWIS MORRIS, during whose time the iron industry apears to have been abandoned. At the beginning, the early iron industries were of so great public importance that for seven years (1676-1683) they were exempted from taxation, "excepting in extraordinary cases, as war or the like," by a vote of the provincial assembly. It is recorded that in 1680 seventy negroes and many white servants were employed by Mr. Morris."

FAMOUS MICHELL FENCE CASE, 1671.

Elizabethtown annals. (HATFIELD pp. 137 et seq.). Perhaps, no local controversy or community dispute ever had so far reaching effects as this CAUSE CELEBRE. It involved authority, land title and family feud—and, while without bloodshed, as far as known, was as inimical in results as the similar Kentucky episodes of the last Century. It is not within the compass of this book to detail or to elaborate these consequential effects, but P. and W. were vitally affected, as no doubt the family differences entered into the social life, political and economical influences of each Without magnifying its importance, unduly, no doubt the FAMOUS MICHELL FENCE CASE of E. wrote history and episode in the annals of early EAST NEW JERSEY, in an extraordinary way, and its influence, like the masterly poem of eaglar Lee Masters, "THE D O O M S D A Y BOOK", with its compelling theme, was the root of many differentiations to be found in old N. NOTORIOUS JERSEY PRISON SHIP (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 776). Searchers need have no compunctions about name Searchers need have no compunctions about name identifications, familiar under tabulations, for the reason that Jerseymen, taken in the Rev. War, and there confined were the most certain of the prisoners, since the Tory marauders kid-napped many men, during the War, from their Jersey homes, and the stories of their confinement were transmitted by them and their descendants.

TIMOTHY BLOOMFIELD is an important example, DALLY (pp. 256 and 293), where the description of this foul British prison boat is realistically presented.

A DESCRIPTION OF NEW JERSEY

"The State of New Jersey is probably at its best where it ceases to be. Which is to say that its sea beach is its most attractive feature.

Not at all like the stern and rockbound coast, where the breaking waves dash'd high, it is softly curving and undulating, and made of amenable and tractable brown sand. It is full of little inlets and outlets, little baylets and capelets, and it has a reliability that greatly endears it to those who know it well.

Fleming Stone came down the Clubhouse steps. He walked slowly, looking about him with a genuine appreciation of the scene. He reveled in color, and here, spread out before him, was perhaps the brightest, gaudiest coloring to be found in these United States. Other and more tropical countries could show greener foliage, bluer skies, more exotic humanity, but here was enough brighthued, sunlit landscape to make the place look like a picture post-card. a picture post-card.

The Atlantic coast, especially in the cove known as Yellow Sands, was usually of a gentle, serene temperament, with just enough rollicking waves and boisterous breakers to make the surf exciting for the bathers.

But often at night, as if knowing that there was no reason for restraint, the sea broke bounds and lashed and roared with real fury."

By Carolyn Wells,

COMPLAINTS AGAINST NEW JERSEY LAWYERS

In PART FIVE, jocularly, a quotation was made, over the first community difficulty, in New Jersey, relative to lawyers' fees. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 786).

Litigation started immediately upon the coming of the FIRST SETTLERS and the court records, of the FIRST SETTLERS and the court records, a part of which have been presented, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 536), reveal the social conditions, fashions and customs of the Colonial period, in a most intriguing way.

Likewsie, outside of political quarrels, which represented the rise and fall of authority, land titles were the most prolific sources of pioneer and community quarrels. New Jersey as a colony had the most famous lawsuit, in this regard, as shown by the notable Elizabethtown Bill In Chancery, (vide, ante, PART THREE), which represented leading citizens, as complainants and defendants, with lawyers in abundance.

Also, the RICHARD MITCHELL LITIGATION, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 984), represented a controversy, which divided the citizenship, and ostracized some of the citizenry, from E.

However, the most famous professional disagreement and argument, in relation to the public, as against the lawyers was that represented in the series of public complaints, serious in nature as to charges of exorbitant fee practice and unethical procedure, made in the years 1769-70, and is only referred to here, because of the names of descendants of FIRST SETTLERS involved and the results, in complete vindication of both bench and bar, under formidable attack. To any lawyer this makes most interesting reading. (Courts, Prov., pp. 164 et seq.). pp. 164 et seq.).

pp. 164 et seq.).

Chief Justice Frederick Smyth was on the bench, and Bernardus LeGrange, Justice Charles Read, Samuel Allison, "and three of the most distinguished members of the Bar, Richard Stockton, James Kinsey, and JOHN LAWRENCE," (who resided in the city of Burlington, and was the father of the gallant CAPTAIN JAMES LAWRENCE of the Navy), and the lead in the defense was Joseph Read, "a native of New Jersey, and then a lawyer, in full practice, at Trenton where he was born on the 27th of August, 1741."

UN FRANCAIS EN VIRGINIE

This noteworthy book has been referenced in BIB., (vide, ante, this PART, VIRGINIA, p. 963), and encompasses in its title that most remarkable movement of The Huguenots to Virginia, even more important than to N. E. Because of the French Protestants locating in such great numbers at Long Island towns, New Rochelle, Staten Island, and in New Jersey, before 1700, frequently noted in this SERIES, it has seemed proper and helpful to include this reference to the distinctive Virginia movement of even earlier years. Virginia movement of even earlier years.

Of course, Virginia historical and genealogical publications have given much material concerning the Manikin-town settlement. In VIRGINIA HIST. SOC. COLLS. (Vol. V., N. S., by R. A. Brock, 1886), are well presented the phases of "Huguenot Emigration to Virginia", with factual data and record disclosures; and partic. should be noted the earlier variation of MONNET, in this

THE FRENCH TRAVELER IN VIRGINIA He had something, pointed, to say, in comparison with N. E.

III. The French traveller gives as the reasons why he prefers Virginia to other English Colonies:

1. That Carolina is too hot for the growth of wheat.

That sheep do not thrive there for the same reason, and that wool is more necessary than mutton.

That they lack the Virginia tobacco.

The difference on the charge in vessels; Virginia having a fixed charge, etc.

Because of health—that country is too flat for good waters.

preference for Virginia over the Northern Colonies is due:

To Virginia's having tobacco.
 To her wine.
 That in Virginia one does not have to lay in supply of provisions for the winter.

That in Virginia one's slaves and servants are able to work all winter without losing a day, while in the North they spend three or four months doing nothing because of snow and ice.

He also says; if Virginia houses are not very beautiful they are at least very comfort-able. He refers to the healthy looks of the people: "Un teint vif et anime".

V. Although the book is written in Seventeenth Century French, the style is simple and clear, and though technical words are used at times, the simplicity and directness of the narrative recall the writings of Defoe, or of La Fontaine.

As one lays the book down, he thinks of the French who came to stay; but no less of that great company who, nearly a hundred years later, came to help our country, and went away: Latayette, De Grasse, Rochambeau, De Luzon, Chastellux, de Beaurepaire, and their conferers, to whom we are so much indebted; as we are to the Institute Francais for the republication of this so valuable and beautiful volume, containing the Idyllic pictures of Virginia in the latter part of the Seventeenth Century.

DEDICATORY PERSONIFICATIONS

In all previous biographical settings of the stalwart, exponential figures of early PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE history, it was the object of the writer to select from among the numerous FIRST SETTLERS and their kinsmen and affiliates, those personages and citizens, who not only achieved individually and successfully, but were also prominent and influential in the annals of this Colonial Center, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 893). Likewise, it was desired to assemble those men, in particular form and special presentation, who were distinctive in character, personality and activity, as indicated and revealed by the old records and Colonial evidences; those, who would more especially tend to brilliantly illuminate and to ornately embellish the manners and customs of the day, and to mark the ardent spirit of the migratory movement and Colonial settlement; that is, those who were definitely related to the historic factors, believed by this writer to be peculiarly conjoined and focalized in these two Colonial communities, in a manner and force, almost without a parallel in the historic colonization of America, during the Seventeenth Century. At least, from close, recordal association and long, personified study, these elements have seemed to stand forth, so clearly and so forcibly, as to draw attention to this focalized centralization, in both historic and genealogic expression, quite different from the hackneyed and common-place references, made to New England Puritanical history; for instance, to those shelf-worn figures, which have been clothed by their descendants with foolish aristocratic notions and quite later with more modern, but solemn, religious pronouncements concerning them, both unwarranted and excessive, in comparison with their contemporary Colonials, in other sections of North America, outside of N. E. Most of the artificial aura and halo of the Puritan were thus misplaced and have disappeared with the disemblement of Time. The descendants of the latter invited this by their historic intolerance.

Concerning this feature of New Jersey history, many names have received noble accentuation in this REFERENCE SERIES, and the lists have grown in statement and enumeration to too great lengths to justify any relistment here. Each person representing in himself and his family a definite expression of this Colonial influence and grandeur has stood out in relief against a back ground of courage, adventure and pioneering, unequalled in the annals of America. None of the names which have been emphasized heretofore in this narrative and recordal compilation, were of those personages, whose character and probity as men and citizens, were ever challenged in any of the records. Perhaps, some of the notable families had weak, imperfect members among them, but beyond the real importance of their surnames, unless otherwise worthy, such have been passed over in silence. The great unfairness in most historical reviews is that which springs from the lack of notice,—a want of mark, let alone, of celebration, of the many other men and women of the Colonial period, whose names are lost in the records and whose achievements remain unknown and unveiled to the inquirer and searcher, at this late date of nearly 300 years. Perchance, by comparison, those who are thus lost in obscurity, unnoted and unannounced, except an occasional record by name alone, were even better and truer examples, than their associates who secured that notice and that record upon the pages of history. It is unfortunate that limits of printed page and textual extension prevent a full and complete biography of each of these FIRST SETTLERS, being set forth, with adequate picturization. These cannot now be written and want of space, time and effort has prevented their accomplishment. The lists originally conceived were to have been limited to practically 200 surheads of families of FIRST SETTLERS, but the tabulation has grown to more than 500 typical representatives, and the whole list extends, day by day, from newer researches of the records and in the revelation of additional, later episodes and particulars, as disclosed biographically.

Always, it should be noted, in any historic recital of the careers and achievements of American settlers in their American progression, as of civilization, that, likened unto that of other nations, the military chieftain, the obvious administrator, the evident statesman, the civic leader and the governmental official have always obtained first mention, praise and glory, while the thousands, without any publicity or means of personal reference, always themselves composing the really great hard underground, always the great fundamental factors of actual social advancement, have received no recognition and reward for their zealous ideals and patriotic endeavors, which created a new American racial composite—a new civilization, upon a new continent, commencing more than 300 years ago. The Composite American, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 409), is delineated.

In the previous pages of this REFERENCE SERIES, certain distinguished and representative families were emphasized for the reasons indicated in these dedicatory paragraphs.

They are relisted, with page reference, here:

And, now, this SPECIAL DEDICATION, for PART SIX:

I. LAWRENCE, THE RESPLENDENT

I. LAWRENCE, THE RESPLENDENT
In this PART SIX, then, appears, in emphasis, one of the most distinguished Colonial families, by origin, surname and antecedents, which sent its representatives into PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE and allied regions—it comprised the sprigs of that notable LAWRENCE FAMILY from England. ST. ALBANS, HERTFORD SHIRE, was the original birth place of these progenitors and emigrants, and there the family was of the nobility, fully reflected in the records and with insignia of shield and coat-of-arms. A group came in 1635, to Ipswitch, Massachusetts, together with JOHN TUTTLE and LIEUTENANT THOMAS BURNHAM, who married MARIE LAWRENCE, all of which will have been developed in the subsequent pages of this PART SIX, veloped in the subsequent pages of this PART SIX, before its conclusion.

There were three brothers, (almost a standardized statement, genealogically, but true here), JOHN, WILLIAM and THOMAS LAWRENCE, who removed from Ipswich, Massachusetts to Long Island, soon after 1635, and are easily found in the records; but, as will be disclosed in the latter pages of this PART, they have provoked more genealogical discussions than almost any group coming to America—much of which has been supercilious criticism, and purposeful dispute over what the records and Colonial evidences fully indicate as genealogical truth. These three LAWRENCE brothers rose to the heights of Colonial achievement on Long Island and in New York City, and then or thereafter sent their representatives into New Jersey. They dispersed throughout Bergen, MIDDLESEX and Monmouth Counties, with kin at PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 613).

WILLIAM LAWRENCE was, however, the outstanding and glorious figure in Monmouth County, a full, first cousin of the other three first LAWRENCE brothers, first above named, and he must stand, forever, as the magnificent head of a fortunate race, whose descendants came, settled and thronged, vividly, throughout subsequent New Jersey history. (Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 420). Therefore, the first dedication of this PART SIX must be to THE LAWRENCE FAMILY, in general terms, its first immigrants to America, and to Long Island and to New York; to those FIRST SETTLERS, who bore the name, such as WILLIAM LAWRENCE of Monmouth County, RICHARD LAWRENCE, of WOODDBRIDGE, and THOMAS LAWRENCE, YE BAKER, of PISCATAWAY, with others who bore distinguished renown to and left their proud impress upon this colonization.

impress upon this colonization.

II. RICHARD HIGGINS, THE PIONEER IMMIGRANT

The second family, at Piscataway, which has received much notice in print and concerning him, the certain pioneer, RICHARD HIGGINS, most thoroughly researched and compiled, (originally and particularly by this author), and whose known facts and history, except for his parentage, are easily discoverable in the books and compilations relating to him. (Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 220) 320).

It is true that he removed from Eastham, Massa-It is true that he removed from Eastham, Massachusets, to live and die at Piscataway, and, to establish there a fine citizenship; therefore, to RICHARD HIGGINS, his second wife, MARY YATES, and their sons, and daughters, who became FIRST SETTLERS, must be given a promiment place, for memorialization, in the annals of Piscataway and in the records of the FIRST SETTLERS in the Colonization Center, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 893).

ante, THIS PART, p. 893).

NOTE: This writer felt aggrieved after the death of Mrs. Katherine Chapin Higgins of Worcester, Massachusetss, because in her supplemental Higgins Genealogy she unthoughtedly referred to the Gustave Anjou compilation, as being identical with that of the writer, WHICH WAS NOT CORRECT. The supposed English origin of RICHARD HIGGINS was never investigated by this writer and was furnished to him by Mrs. Frank Sullivan Smith, New York City, a sister of Governor Benjamin Higgins, of New York, (a descendant of RICHARD HIGGINS), as the various references clearly show: (Vide, N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record, Vol. XLVI, 1915, p. 387; idem, Vol. XLVII, 1916, p. 20 and idem, Vol. LVII 1926, p. 298, together with (vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 687 and 828-9).

However, separately from that unhappy dispute, it is now known certainly that RICHARD HIGGINS died at Piscataway and he, with his wife, were noble examples of the lofty ideals and episodes of citizenship, which did honor to the HIGGINS name and to the glory of New Jersey History. Therefore, the second ascription of praise, as a dedicatory reference, is to RICHARD HIGGINS of PISCATAWAY.

III. THE QUAKERS AND WILLIAM PENN: THE LIPPINCOTT FAMILY

THE LIPPINCOTT FAMILY

Third: The Quaker Movement in America following after the absurdity and bitterness of the Puritanical attack in New England upon those of the Quaker faith, where they were both killed and exiled, as evidence of Puritan intolerance, developed rapidly and in intensity. Its famous assemblages by noted persons on Long Island, devotees of the faith, with their Monthly Meetings, in close church relationship, and the various groups similarly attended in Colonial New Jersey attract attention to the spirit of kind benignity, as shown by the fullness of the old Quaker records and their historic significance, to say nothing of the leadership of this great Friends movement, as related to William Penn, largely expanded in Pennsylvania, but contemporaneously in New Jersey. Hence, WILLIAM PENN should be looked upon almost the same as a GREAT FOUNDER OF NEW JERSEY. The history of West Jersey and Burlington cannot be written without his glorious biography. biography.

Burlington cannot be written without his glorious biography.

The writer has chosen one family, for this PART SIX, as peculiarly distinctive and representative of this Quaker Order. Of course, GEORGE KEITH, was the Surveyor General and exponent of this faith in early New Jersey, and was one of its leaders, together, with the great primate, GEORGE FOX; nevertheless, to the LIPPIN-COTT FAMILY belongs the high credit and fame of the QUAKER MOVEMENT, in large numerical representation, in Monmouth County and other neighboring regions of New Jersey. These families spread northwest and by inter-marriage conveyed their affiliation and influence to PISCA-TAWAY and WOODBRIDGE. As a matter of fact, Woodbridge Monthly Meetings, headed as it was, by the NATHANIAL FITZRANDOLPH, JOHN SHOTWELL and JOHN LAING and other families, had, in part, its impetus, direction and generalization from the LIPPINCOTT by FAMILY; on which account, in this third reference, PART SIX is specifically dedicated to this notable group, QUAKERISM IN AMERICA, and to these generous souls, LIPPINCOTT by surname, who made contribution of sense, character, peace, sobriety and gentleness, taught by their religion, to the foundation and upbuilding of a great commonwealth. great commonwealth.

IV. ALEXANDER ALLAIRE, HUGUENOT, of NEW ROCHELLE

of NEW ROCHELLE

It has remained for this PART SIX to celebrate another family, in a dedicatory emphasis, whose praises have not been greatly sung, and whose activities, principally private and civil, reflect in a definite way the progress of New Jersey settlement and the humanitarian side of that Colonial movement. This was reflected, as with the other numerous Huguenot and Walloon contingents, in their rational homogeneity, largely benevolent tendencies and differentiated practically from the others, with longer emergents into the unified people, not as the masterly English, who dominated in all things, nor even as the German, who was emphasized in PART FIVE, (vide, ante, pages 780-1), nor the stolid Dutchman whose picture is not to be obliterated—nor as the many other migratory represtolid Dutchman whose picture is not to be obliterated—nor as the many other migratory representatives, for causal reasons, adventuring into the original settlements of New Jersey, this family of ALLAIRE represented a more definite product of race, French origin and antecedents, which made a larger contribution to the history and unfoldment of the great State of New Jersey.

V. HARRISON, THE MILITARY CHIEFTAIN

CHIEFTAIN

CAPTAIN JOHN HARRISON, (as better revealed in the records), but, really MAJOR JOHN HARRISON, who was the redoubtable Indian fighter, and led the colonial forces to Canada obtained and cleared with his associates that large acreage of land, and became the merchant of Piscataway, and, finally at Philadelphia. He, with his father of the same name, came from Connecticut and Long Island, were GREAT FIRST SETTLERS, and, though his genealogy was long confused, this descendant writer KNOWS definitely of his descent from the first RICHARD HARRISON of Branford, Conn., and his relationship to the Newark, N. J. contingent. He should be celevated as one of the GREAT MEN of N. J. Colonial History, with many refs., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 608, and PART FIVE, p. 827).

VI. JOHN SMITH, SCOTCHMAN

As it were, a rejuvenation of that ancient surname, like SMITH of Ragenbach, of the poem,

"When a cry rang through the welkin. And appeared upon the scene And appeared upon the scene
A panting dog with crest erect,
Foaming mouth and savage mien;
He is mad, was shrieked in chorus,
In dismay they all fell back—
All except one towering figure,
"Twas the SMITH—of Ragenbach."

(One Hundred Choice Selections, Penn. Pub. Co.,

(*May the writer say, facetiously, that there is nothing PERSONAL here, vide, ante, this PART, p. 971.—O. E. M.).

In the earlier pages of this REFERENCE SERIES, the writer was not so impressed by the antecedents of Smiths, Jones and other common names. They are difficult of identification and easily confused, but long study has brought them out of the distant reaches of the past, and they are revealed with more discoverable fact and greater individuality. individuality.

The Scotch settlement at Perth Amboy was elaborated in the earlier pages of PART THREE, (vide, ante, p. 335 et seq.). An example at W, was JOHN SMITH, SCOTCHMAN. This was the Perth Amboy intended to be the first capitol and great city of New Jersey and the Scotch migration of 1685 was an entering wedge for many sturdy characters whose influence permeated to the farthermost limits of the colony, and some day. farthermost limits of the colony, and some day, a great history will be written of this Scotch contribution to the history of the State.

VII. A MARTIN IDENTIFICATION

However, the compelling surname, to which this dedication is specifically carried, is to that name of the first JOHN MARTIN, who came into New Jersey as one of the first associates at Piscataway, 1663-1664, (vide, ante, PART ON E, p. 69), and something of whose New Hampshire antecedents, sons and daughters, and their inter-relations, have been spread throughout the various pages of this SERIES. He must have been a vigorous, bold, sturdy, adventurous character and out of a common surname, he shines forth brilliantly as being, next to HULL (as I shall partisanly write), the noble leader of all the group of the New Hampshire pioneers who removed to settle and to create Piscataway, New Jersey, in those first days. He did not need a great lawyer and statesman, among his descendants, such as the stands alone, almost without a peer, in Piscataway annals. Much has been written about the Martin Family, some diffusive and some uncertain, but the writer is persuaded as to the origin, as given, and the Martins of Piscataway and Woodbridge, all belong to his family. The inquiry, rather interestingly queried, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 864), was thrown out as a bait to draw in the records and data to support the proposition. This editor believes that JOHN MARTIN went Piscataway in 1664, with a brother, JAMES MARTIN, who hastened on to Calvert, County, Maryland, and that, with many ear marks to point the way and to distinguish them, they and other families were related and intermarried in the great concourse of this migratory movement. this migratory movement.

Therefore, in dedicatory praise, JOHN MARTIN stands forth as one of the glorified characters of New Jersey history. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 842-3).

I. LAWRENCE EVIDENCES (LAWRENCE, (much confused)

Almost the same identical language, as unartfully used, by the writer, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 880).

FIVE, p. 880).

"The early history of the LAWRENCE FAM-ILY in this country ABOUNDS IN CONFUSION, largely resulting from the efforts of genealogists to connect all of the name. (The writer differs—it was the eager desire to possess the fabulous TOWNLEY ESTATES, which caused this fervid desire to bring all LAW-RENCES under one pedigree.—O. E. M.). In truth there are several distinct families unallied so far as is known." (STILLWELL, VOL. III, p. 393). This has already been commented on very positively in this PART, (vide, ante, p. 926).

Much has been presented, in times past, and written about these origins, both in these columns and elsewhere. It requires both frankness and courage to challenge long accepted statements, since they impair pedigrees already invoked for patriotic society membership, and that is why the truth is not easily established. The whole LAWRENCE GENEALOGY is steeped in confusion. A provocative discussion and review of all the evidences will be widely helpful. The writer is undertaking a new presentation in PART SIX of his FIRST SETTLERS, and will gladly welcome any controversial arguments or later records and authorities, which will clarify the prevailing discrepancies and editorial ipse dixits. It cannot be achieved, unless correspondents will approach the subject, with absolute frankness and fairness, with unbiased opinion. solute frankness and fairness, with unbiased opinion.

The first difficulty is the clearly ipse dixit statement of Mr. Charles H. Browning, in his MAGNA CHARTA BARONS, (ed. of 1915, p. 243, footnote).

"It has been frequently printed that the brothers JOHN, WILLIAM and THOMAS LAWRENCE, of Long Island, were the sons of THOMAS LAWRENCE, of Long Island, were the sons of THOMAS LAWRENCE, of St. Alban's, and his wife JOAN ANTROBUS, m. at the Abbey Church, 23 Oct. 1609.

Mr. Lawrence d. 20 March, 1625, age 36, and his widow m. John Tuttell, and with the surviving issue by both husbands removed from St. Albans, in April, 1635, to Mass. It is true that Thomas and Joan Lawrence had sons named John, (b.

1618), Thomas, (b. 1620), and William, (b. 1622) (all of which is absolutely correct, to this point.

—O. E. M.), but Thomas d. before 1635, and William d. before 1640-1, and John, after coming over, lived and died at Muddy River, Suffolk Co., near Boston. (Which statements are as absolutely untrue—O. E. M.). See Boston Evening Transcript, (Genealogical Dept.), 6 July, 19 Oct. and 30 Dec., 1908, and 10 Oct., 1910."

The sentences which are unfounded in fact in 1908, and 10 Oct., 1910."

The sentences which are unfounded in fact, in this article, are indicated, and neither Mr. Browning nor any one else has furnished any record proof that there were duplicated and contemporary three brothers, LAWRENCE, to set aside the other known facts about them, and that they were the LONG ISLAND PROGENITORS. If such proof exists, the long intervening years have failed to produce it. Without questioning the good faith of that eminent genealogist, he may have been perproduce it. Without questioning the good faith of that eminent genealogist, he may have been persuaded to sustain the lineages, of which the footnote related to the pedigrees in the text, since the Society had already admitted the propositus, but had before done so on the original single LAW-RENCE brotherhood, of Long Island, and reversing Mr. Browning has since reaffirmed its former position, as this proponent particularly knows. His was Genealogy by ipse dixit?

Further, the older LAWRENCE genealogies of seventy five years ago are somewhat erroneous and incomplete. There is doubt of the fatherhood of ELIZABETH SMITH, who became the first wife of WILLIAM LAWRENCE of L. I. This is an old error, under which many patriotic memberships of WILLIAM LAWRENCE of L. I. This is an old error, under which many patriotic memberships have been sustained. It will be heresy to disturb these. Further, THOMAS LAWRENCE, the Baker, of New York City, 1681, and later New Jersey. Here is an acute contention, since he also belonged to the Long Island families, unless further researches conclusively show his Dutch LAUR-ENTZEN origin, and, even then, he may have gone to the Netherlands via routes not so Dutch, as there is nothing conclusive about the Dutch transcriptions, and they have fooled more than one searcher. Always willing to change my opinions, when reasonably shown.

It will be necessary to debunk (harsh word but fully applicable), that reversal decree of his own sure findings, prior thereto, of Charles H. Browning, in Magna Charta Barons, (1915, footnote, p. 243), an "ipse dixit", of the most arbitrary, thoughtless and prejudicial character. There were not on Long Island a double set of THOMAS, WILLIAM and JOHN LAWRENCE, to confuse anybody, but simply two generations, carelessly mixed. (Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 313).

SCHOUT WILLEM LAWRENCE

(DOC. COL. HIST. N. Y., HOLL. Vol. 2, p. 712). At a Council in Fort Willem Hendrick, 19th May, 1674.

PRESENT-

Governor-General Anthony Colve. Councillor Cornelis Steenwyck, and Secretary Nicolaes Bayard, assumed Councillor.

Nicolaes Bayard, assumed Councillor.

Read and considered in council the petition of RICHARD SMITH, setting forth that JOSEPH SMITH, of Jamaico, did in the year 1670, to the Petitioner's prejudice, make an affidavit in the case between the Petitioner and the Town of Huntington, of the right meaning of which affidavit the Petitioner hath at divers times sought for further explanation from said Smith, but the same has each time been concealed; therefore the Petitioner requests that the aforesaid JOSEPH SMITH may be ordered to make further legal declaration in the premises; complains, moreover, that a certain person residing about the Town of Huntington is committing great damage daily on Petitioner's cattle, and therefore requests an order may be made to prevent him. may be made to prevent him.

Ordered:

The Petitioner in the case of JOSEPH SMITH is referred to the next Court of deputed Councillors, which will be held for the Towns of Flushing, Hemstede, Rustdorp, Middeburgh and Oysterbay, which Court is hereby recommended, after examination of the case, to make such order therein as it will find agreeable fo equity. Regarding Petitioner's complaint of the loss of his cattle, he may institute his complaint before the officer of the place where the person he complains of resides.

place where the person he complains of resides.

JEREMY WOOD, complaining by petition that RICHARD SMITH, of Nessequack, hath obtained judgment at the last Court of the deputed Councillors, holden at Jamaico, against the Petitioner, whereby the latter finds himself aggrieved, complaining further that said Court was no wise conducted according to law or the order of the government, but that said RICHARD SMITH, with the aid of his SON-IN-LAW, SCHOUT WILLEM LAWRENCE, had chosen such judges (jury) as were favorable to him, &c; requests that the case be reviewed or else taken up in appeal.

Ordered:

The next Court of deputed Councillors of the Towns of Flushing, Hemstede, Rustdorp, Middelburgh and Oysterbay are recommended and commanded to examine the Petitioner's complaint herein, and on finding that the last Court was not conducted according to the order of government, then to grant Petitioner a rehearing and revision.

PERTINENT LAWRENCE RECORDS IN THE MANNER OF VITAL EVIDENCES FROM ORIGINAL ENGLISH SOURCES

These in themselves show, by dates, names and generations, the English LAWRENCE ORIGINS, and prove beyond question the ancestry of the Ipswich, Mass., and Long Island LAWRENCES, brothers and sisters, inseparable, as always, from both TUTTLE and ARNOLD, with ANTROBUS, in New Jersey, in so far incontrovertible, as an antithesis of Mr. Charles H. Browning, scholar, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 993).

LAWRENCE COAT-OF-ARMS

Of course, there is certain, legitimate and patriotic, sentiment in the jointure of the above two coats-of-arms, making a beautiful ensemble. As a LAWRENCE descendant the writer so feels.—O. E. M (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 993).

ST. ALBANS ABBEY from the old Roman side of Veroladum, ca. 1820, (from original beautiful color sketch, by a famous London artist, now in possession of O. E. M.).

It has never been published before, and will lend intimate interest in connection with the LAWRENCE EVIDENCES, presented in this PART SIX, (p. 993).

It is appropriately placed on the obverse of the beautiful LAWRENCE-WASHINGTON COAT-OF-ARMS, (p. 995).

The following birth, marriage and death records, are in printed form, easily available, in a volume of which the title page, and prefatory note, follow: THE PARISH REGISTERS of ST. SAINT ALBANS, HERTFORDSHIRE, ENGLAND

"SAINT ALBANS, HERIFORDSHIRE, ENGLAND
"SAINT ALBANS, a city and municipal borough of England in Hertfordshire, 20 miles NW. of London. It is on the site of the Roman Verulamium, one of the oldest towns in Britain. The modern town grew up about the Benedictine abbey founded at the close of the eighth century, which rose to be one of the most important in the kingdom. The abbey church, a fine cruciform structure, recently restored and raised to the rank of a cathedral, is 550 feet in length, having the longest Gothic nave in the world. It has a fine Norman tower and some beautiful stained glass. Of the conventional buildings of the abbey the gate alone remains. St. Michael's church contains the tomb of Lord Bacon, who was Baron Verulam and Viscount St. Albans. The town has been the seat of a bishop since 1877. Strawplaiting and the manufacture of silk are carried on. At St. Albans, in 1455, was fought the first battle of the War of the Roses, resulting in a Yorkist victory. The Lancastrians were victorious here in 1461. Pop. in 1891, 12,895; in 1901, 16,019."

(Pedigree of Lawrence: Somerby)

SIR ROBERT LAWRENCE: had arms (a cross raguly, gules) conferred upon him by Richard Coeur de Lion, for his bravery in scaling the walls of Acre, A. D. 1191,, and lineage of descent from him, to JOHN LAWRENCE of Watertown, Mass., 1630, whose father, HENRY LAWRENCE, was said to have also come to N. E., and settled at Charlestown, Mass., wife, Mary. They were b. at Wisset, in Suffolk, Eng. (SAVAGE, Vol. 111, p. 61).

This need not be elaborated but it furnishes the strongest evidence of origin, which coats-of-arms, ordinarily differentiate in identification.

strongest evidence of origin, which coats-of-arms, ordinarily differentiate in identification.

For "the first ancestors of this family, of which we have any knowledge, was SIR ROBERT LAW-RENCE, of Ashton Hall, in Lancastershire, England. It may perhaps be interesting to this family to know that there is a marriage between a grandson of this gentleman and the Washington family. Sir James Lawrence and Matilda Washington, in the reign of Henry III. Lawrence Washington purchased the property at Mount Vernon about 1743, after his return from the expedition to Carthagena, where he had served under the celebrated Admiral Vernon, and in honor of whom he named his country seat. General Washington inherited Mount Vernon from his half-brother, Lawrence Washington died at the early age of 34 years, and was interred in the old vault of his estate. Sir Robert Lawrence accompanied Richard Coeur de Leon in his famous expedition to Palestine, where he signalized himself in the memorable siege of St. Jean d'Acre in 1191, by being the first to plant the banner of the cross on the battlements of that town, for which he received the honors of knight-hood from King Richard, and also a coat of arms (this coat of arms is still preserved, impressed on the seal appended to a document of William Lawrence, 1680, and also Richard Lawrence, 1711, preserved in the Surrogate's Office, New York City,) at the same time." (supra, pp. 17-18) 18).

Again,

Again,

"In a curious old pamphlet printed in the returned as a member of parliament for Hertfordshire, in 1653 and 1654; and once for Colchester berough in Essex, in 1656; his son Henry representing Caernarvonshire the same year. He was President of the Council in 1656, and gazetted as "lord of the other house" in December, 1657. He proclaimed, after the death of Cromwell, his son Richard, as his successor. In a Harlaem manuscript, No. 1460, there is a drawing of all the ensigns and trophies won in battle by Oliver, which is dedicated to his councillors, and ornamented with their arms; amongst these are those of Henry Lawrence, the Lord President. The motto "Nil Admirari," appears to have been assumed by the president during the revolutionary troubles, probably on his being made a councillor. A picture of the president is inserted in Clarendon's history of the rebellion. His gravestone, not yet effaced, is in the chapel of St. Margaret's, alias Thele, in Hertfordshire. There may be clearly traced on it the arms, viz.: a cross, raguly gules, the crest, a fish's tail, or demidolphin. A letter directed by him to Sir Simon d'Ewes, is sealed with a small red seal, cross, raguly gules, the same crest, and a Lion in the Chief, as borne by the St. Ives family.

While the Dutch were prosecuting their settle. by the St. Ives family.

While the Dutch were prosecuting their settlements on Long Island and in New York, the English settlers slowly infused themselves among the Dutch population of the Island; among which were three brothers, John, William, and Thomas Lawrence, ancestors of a numerous and enterprising family in this country. These three brothers, so well as the above Henry Lawrence, were all ing family in this country. These three brothers, as well as the above Henry Lawrence, were all descended from John Lawrence, who died in 1538, and was buried in the Abbey of Ramsay. In corroboration of the relationship between Henry Lawrence and the above named brothers, we find on the seals appended to their wills, now on file at New York, and on old plate still possessed by their descendants, the same crest and arms as those upon the tomb of the lord president." AN ORIGINAL REVIEW BY LETTER OF H. G. SOMERBY the Historical Genealogist of the Lawrence Family from their first landing in this county, A. D. 1635 to the present date July 4th, 1858. By Thomas Lawrence of Providence, R. I., Pub. 1868. Page 1569. 1858, Page 156.

London, 41 Upper Charlotte St. Fitzroy Square, Aprile 9th, 1852.

Dear Sir-

In your letter just received you say you want something definite as to whether your John Lawrence, the husband of Mary Townley, is actually the person to whose descendants a portion of the Townley estate belongs.

This investigation would be attended with time and expense, as the preliminary information you require can only be obtained by searching records and perhaps making a special journey into that part of England where Mary Townley was to be proved.

I am surprised that the American claimants have not before now caused this matter to be thoroughly inquired into. It is a well known fact that there are such estates as you mention and that the right him has not yet made his appearance, but whether that person is to be found on this or the other side of the Atlantic remains to be proved. to be proved.

I think you are mistaken about who Mary Townley married. John Lawrence who settled at Long Island was but 17 years of age when he went to America. His wife was Susannah. His brother William, who accompanied him was but 12, and it was his son who married Mary Townley and English lady of birth and fortune, and it is not unlikely that her descendants are entitled to property in this country, but I have no time to investigate it as a matter of speculation. My literary inquiries into the family histories of the first settlers of New England, take me to all parts of Great Britain and I am perfectly familiar with all records likely to contain the information you require, but it cannot be supposed that I could attend to your kind of investigation at my own attend to your kind of investigation at my own expense. I will add that the family of the Hon. Abbott Lawrence is in no way connected with John Lawrence who sailed from Gravesend for New Eng. in 1635 and settled at Long Island.

I remain, very truly, Your obt. servt.

Thomas Lawrence, Esqr. H. G. Somerby"

LAURENCE as LAWRENCE

Two early records suffice, incontrovertibly, to demonstrate this Dutch official change of surname, and with respect to the first THOMAS LAWRENCE, of Flushing, Long Island, (vide, LAWRENCE, of Flushing, Long Island, (vide, post, this PART, p. 1024).

"1654, Dec. 21. Notice. That TOBIAS FEAKE entered an appeal for Peter Taelman, from a judgment of the court at Flushing, in favor of THOMAS LAURENCE," (sic.).

(Note: TOBIAS FEAKE was a F. S. of Flushing, vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 162—O. E. M.)

E. M.).

"1651, Aug. 24. Letter. Sheriff Underhill, (John) to director Stuyvesant, respecting an attachment of money belonging to Jonas Wood in the hands of THOMAS LAURENCE, (sic.) (CAL. OF N. Y. HIST. MSS, DUTCH, 1630-1664, pp. 144 and 274).

In the Index to the foregoing authority, LAU-RENS, LAURENTSEN, LAWRENCE, LAU-RENCE, LOURENS, idem, and other variants, appear, but ONLY THOMAS LAURENCE, as above. This proves just what it proves, and no more.

THAT THOMAS LAURENCE of Flushing was THOMAS LAWRENCE,—O. E. M. John and his brother, WILLIAM LAWRENCE, were also in Flushing, contemporaneously.

This is definitely and uncontrovertibly sustained by Early Settlers of Kings County, by Teunis B. Bergen, 1881, (the greatest authority concerning these Dutch settlers and their surname variations, ever yet in print, Vide, pp. 183 and variations, ever yet in print. Vi 193 and 106, under DUYTS.).

This eminent authority refers to "LAURENSE or LAURENTZ, see LOUWERENSE", and, esp. to "LAURENS, CHRISTOFFEL, (Dutch, eh?), see LAWRENCE."

Concerning the latter personage, an orig. first settler of N. U. the CALENDER (first above), shows him as "CHRISTOFFEL LAURENS", "1639, Nov. 3. Contract. CHRISTOFFEL LAURENS, (sic.) and Ralph Cardall, to make a plantation adjoining that of William Adriaensen, and to build a tobacco house thereon." (Idem, p. 11).

That the Dutch in adding the suffix, "sen", or "cn", or "zen", meant to indicate "son of" is certainly correct, BUT in BERGEN, (supra, pp. 182 and 106).

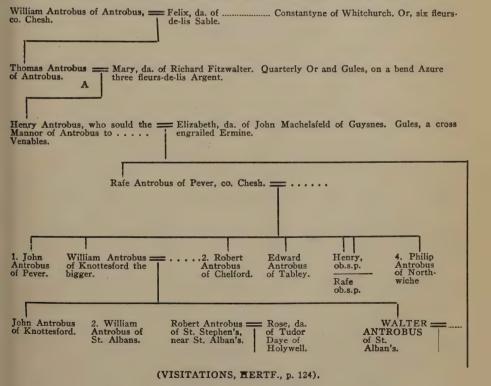

LAURENSEN was used as a surname Graves-end, 1688-9, and was referable to JANS LAU-RENSE or LAURENTZEN, alias DUYTS, at New Utrecht, 1642.

Strange as it may seem, this JAN LAURENS (last above) was in N. Y. 1643 (CAL., supra, p. 23 and other refs.) Q. E. D.

All were Dutch official recordations, during the DUTCH regime, and not in the slightest degree indicating true surname or patronymic origin tor genealogic foundations.—O. E. M.

THE MEN OF FLUSHING

This study is largely taken from WALLER, (vide, ante, BIB., this PART, p. 964). Because of the LAWRENCE reviews herein, THOMAS APPLEGATE, WILLIAM THORNE, and the origins of other N. J. people in this historic town of Long Island, even a more definite account and history of its first settlers must be presented. Certain lists have already been covered, (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 162-3).

1614, Adrian Block "the first European to enter Flushing Bay;" formerly sailed with Hendrick Christiaensen, (pp. 4-5).

ante, PART FIVE, p. 774; and p. 8 ici).

1627, "It is somewhat strange, to say the least, (no—very natural, for N. E. intolerance—O. E. M.), that the New England Puritans protested strongly against the Hollanders' right to settle in New Netherlands. It is well known that the Puritans had been treated with great kindness by the Dutch, in Holland," etc. (Perfectly natural that the recipient of favors should revile the benefactor—O. E. M., even in this late day). (p. 9).

1635, One of the last acts of the Plymouth Company was to convey to William Earl of Stirling, "part of New England, and an island adjacent, called Long Island" (p. 10).

1638, Power of Attorney to James Farret, who "selected for his own use Shelter Island and Robins Island in Peconic Bay, confirmed Lyon Gardiners title to the island that still bears his name, and induced a colony from Lynn, Mass., to settle Cou Bay," (p. 11).

1639, Andrew Forrester, (p. 25). 1643, Indian uprising. "One of the sufferers in this war, was the Rev. Francis Doughty, who had settled at Mespat." (p. 12).

"In Massachusetts" says Judge Story, "the arm of the civil government was constantly employed in support in denunciations of the Church; "In ployed in support in denunciations of the Church; and, without its forms, the Inquisition existed in substance, with a full share of its terrors and its violence. The Hollanders, in New Netherland were not always so tolerant in fact, as their laws required; still they offered a brilliant contrast to their Puritan neighbors." (p. 15).

"Among the many other English colonists who sought the protection of the Dutch colony of New Netherland, were the incorporators of the town of VLISSIGEN, (i. e. FLUSHING).

* * The creek was evidently called FLUSHING CREEK, before the arrival of the English settlers," etc. (p. 15). This was "at the Mouth of a Creeke upon the East River," etc.

"WILLIAM THORNE had come to FLUSH-ING—or rather to the region that now became FLUSHING—three years before, and had settled at Thorne's Neck. JOHN LAWRENCE was one of the incorporators of Hempstead, in 1644. He now joined his brother, WILLIAM (LAWRENCE), as an incorporator of FLUSHING. JOHN LAWRENCE repeatedly held important offices under both the Dutch and the English. He was several times Mayor of New Amsterdam, and, at the time of his death, in 1699, was Judge of the Supreme Court. WILLIAM LAWRENCE was a magistrate of FLUSHING, under both the Dutch and the English and held other offices of importance—civil and military. He died in 1680, (Thompson's Long Island, II, p. 362), (p. 16). "WILLIAM THORNE had come to FLUSH-1680, (p. 16).

LAWRENCE, IN CONCLUSION

The foregoing are the source records, which, conclusively and irrevocably identify the St. Albans, Herts., branch of the family, as the origin of the LAWRENCE brothers, three; the cousin, WILLIAM LAWRENCE, of Monmouth County, all first coming to Ipswich, Mass., then to Long Island, with sprigs, senior and junior, removing to New Jersey. New Jersey.

True, there are published errors, and one must go carefully, in his research and compilation. That young lady of the fastnesses of New York, who is to bring forth the perfect LAWRENCE GENE-ALOGY, (and by the way, who will not answer helpful letters), has her difficult task, NOW WELL LAID OUT.—O. E. M.

II. RICHARD HIGGINS OF PLYMOUTH AND EASTHAM, MASS., AND PISCATAWAY, N. J.
Originally, (before HIGGINS GEN. of 1918), compiled by Orra Eugene Monnette, 1915, and published (with every fine spirit of co-operation on the part of the Editors, acknowledged many times by this compiler), in the N. Y. GEN. and BIOG, REC., (Vol. XLVI, 1915, pp. 387-394, and Vol.
XLVII, 1916, pp. 20-32).
This was the first prior publication, and on the page, (supra, this FART), p. 991), has had severels, in this SERIES.

This was the first prior publication, and as on page, (supra, this PART, p. 991), has had sev. refs. in this SERIES.

Followed in 1918, by the HIGGINS GENE-ALOGY, (for which the work of this author furnished the foundation stones), the only formidable variation was the alleged English ancestry of RICHARD HIGGINS, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 608). This difference of opinion was non-important, as this writer had never claimed any English research. However, that author, Mrs. Katharine Chapin Higgins, seemed peeved over the prior publication, (as editors sometimes are so afficted), and broke forth with her supplement in 1924, with statements, whether intentional or not, or whether their interpretations were not consciously understood by her, (p. 5), referring to HIG. GEN, (pp. 15-17), which were wholly false and unfair. The ANJOU compilation supplied by Mrs. Frank Sullivan Smith to this author, and her own family records, were not his, (O. E. M.), origination, whatever, and never so claimed by him, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 991). This was a poor, selfish return for the last kind words of his presentation concluding his first, prior articles, (supra), by this language, in a foot-note, (p. 32).

"This concludes the work contemplated by the compiler in thus presenting three generations of this lineage, but a complete "Higgins Genealogy" this in leage, but a complete Figgins Genealogy is in preparation under the supervision of Mrs. Katharine Chapin Higgins of Worcester, Mass., to whom any interested in the family are respectfully referred." O. E. M. (Noblesse oblige!).

Calling attention, of this pernicious attack, to that fine gentleman, Mr. John Reynolds Totten, Editor of the N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Rec. (vide, that Mag., Vol. LVII, 1926, pp. 298-9), he immediately condemned the statement of Mrs. Katharine C. Higgins most forcibly and justly. (My continuous gratitude to him.—O. E. M.)

She d. soon after and never took or had op-portunity to make reparation for her false state-

Recently some correspondence has developed with her daughter, who feels that her mother did not really intend her language as appears, and wrote to this author, within the last few months, as fol-lowing acknowledgment shows:

October 23, 1933.

Mrs. R. Sanford Riley, 228 West Street, Worcester, Mass.

Dear Mrs. Riley:

Your letter breathes a fine desire to right a wrong, which the utterance of your mother caused me—and it makes me very happy, * * * * *

Very sincerely yours,

O. E. M."

The whole reference notations are set forth under HIGGINS, (vide, ante, PART THREE, BIB., p. 320), which gives the complete relation and sequence of these episodes.

Now, as to RICHARD HIGGINS, himself, a F. S. by 1672, nothing new has since been revealed as to his English origin, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 828-9). The suggestions of this writer may yet bear fruit. Attention is called to the HIGGINS families in the ST. ALBANS registers, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 999, under LAWRENCE), and the major fact of the general origin in that English section.

No new, if any, facts of consequence were developed concerning the colonial RICHARD HIGGINS, additional to those first published by this author in 1915 and 1916, (supra), and they need not be repeated here. His biography is well portrayed in those first articles as to the biographic details of his career. The HIGGINS GEN. was unable to add anything of material value. The ground had been gone over minutely and carefully by O. E. M., long before.

Those first articles recite the known facts (supra). They are not repeated here purposely, although since that date, the writer has discovered other new Jersey records, concerning RICHARD HIGGINS, and, certainly, a dau., ANNE HIGGINS, heretofore undiscovered.

The children of the first generation should be restated here, and changes in statement, in amplification in order to show more definitely the personnel of this HIGGINS FAM., at P. and vicinity. (N. Y. (pp. 393-4). GEN. and BIOG. REC., Vol. XLVI,

RICHARD HIGGINS

She had been the widow of JOHN YATES, and had a son, JOHN YATES, who rem. to N. J., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 879). After the death of her husband, RICHARD HIGGINS, in 1677, she figured as "MARY HIGGINS", in sev. land, and other records, and finally married, ISAAC WHITEHEAD, SR., of ELIZ. (Vide, HATFIELD, p. 99 and ARCH., Vol. XXIII, pp. 227 and 508). She lived after 1691. (Idem, Vol. XXI, p. 184), poss. as late as 1704.—O. E. M.

III. BEGINNINGS OF OUAKERISM

Because of the prominence of this FRIENDS MOVEMENT as illustrated by genealogical refinements in this PART SIX, certain definite dissertations are made from the authorities on the subject; and with purpose to emphasize the importance of this religious development, so little illuminated outside of Pennsylvania history, but which was just as important as were relations in New England, where the persecution and cruelty to those of the Quaker faith made despicable the Colonial intolerance of that section and resplendent the cause of tolerance and beneficence in the colonial intolerance of that section and resplend-ent the cause of tolerance and beneficence in the history of Long Island and New Jersey, especially in Monmouth County of the latter, where the lines of Quaker settlement are interwoven definitely and forcibly in all the genealogical ensemble of the first fifty years of New Jersey History.

"Under the Commonwealth and Cromwell, toleration existed in some measure, and there was greater opportunity than formerly for the development of such sects as that of the Society of Friends, or so-called Quakers.

or so-called Quakers.

"The history of the early years of the Society of Friends is the history of its great leader and founder. George Fox (1624-1691) was born at Drayton-in-the-Cray, now known as Fenny Drayton, Leicestershire, England, in 1624. He says, "My father's name was Christopher Fox; he was by profession a weaver, an honest man. . . The neighbors called him 'Righteous Christer'! My mother was an honest woman; her maiden name was Mary Lago, one of the family of the Lagos and of the stock of the martyrs." At an early age, Fox had a "gravity and stayedness of mind not usual in children," and as he grew up, under good home influences he came to know "pureness and righteousness"; so truthful and so determined was he then that it was a saying among his associates, "If George says 'Verily' there's no altering him."

"In 1643, as a youth of nineteen, "graceful . . . in countenance," stalwart and "manly in personage", and with a bright piercing eye he left his home." (IRISH QUAKERS, pp. 3-4).

(In addition to multiplied BIB., consult THORP LETTERS, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 963).

WILLIAM PENN, FOUNDER OF PENNSYLVANIA

He was, likewise, a GREAT COLONIAL of New Jersey.

Three original records, documents still extant, in possession of the N. J. Hist, Soc. and covered in the ARCHIVES, exhibit his joint proprietorship and land ownership in this realm.

I. "Lease from Elizabeth, Widow of Sir George Carteret, and His Trustees, to the First Twelve Proprietors of East Jersey.

(ARCH., Vol. I, p. 370).

Concerning WILLIAM PENN, COLONIAL of NEW JERSEY, the bibliography is multitudinous.

Of the older accounts, that in SCHARF, (HIST, of DELAWARE, 1888, Vol. I, pp. 68 to 99), contains, succinctly and adequately, all the essentials of him and Delaware history.

N. J. ARCHIVES contain many references.

These will not be amplified.

Commemoration of the Two Hundred and Fif-tieth Anniversary of the First Arrival, October 24th, 1682, of WILLIAM PENN in America, 1682-1932, was the "Major Observance", exquisite, (Phila., 1932).

(Phila., 1932).

It remains for the great scholar, (real, and not self-exploited), ALBERT COOK MYERS, (The Hist, Soc. of Penn., 1300 Locust St., Phila.), to finish his "The Complete Works of William Penn, Founder of Pennsylvania", now in process, which under his capable direction and skillful editorship, will provide the truly magnificent history and biography of this GREAT COLONIST. It is awaited with eager expectation. (Dr. Myers has been gracious to this writer, as have all the splendid personages in the two Societies, at the above address, inc. QUAKER MEETING RECORDS

QUAKER MEETING RECORDS

Long Island and New Jersey are replete with the Records of the Adherents of this Faith, which as notably as Pennsylvania, in Colonial Days, preserved in their vital statistics, birth, marriages and deaths, with elaborate wedding ceremonies, the kinfolks and friends of the family, signing, as witnesses, declaratory of the facts, rendering them indispensable and invaluable in historical research. These have been published, by piece-meal, and in scattered reference, but have never been assembled in unified form.

A small Treatise,

Wherein is briefly declared some of those things which I have heard, & seen, and learn't of the Father.

With a Testimony against such as doe or shall invent forms of Doctrine or Worship, and by outward force compel people thereto.

WOODBRIDGE, N. J. had a definite Quaker center of migration and religious worship, and the records are well-substantiated. The "ANNALS of the SHOTWELL FAMILY" present much, and DALLY, as limitedly.

But, STILLWELL, (Vol. I, pp. 240, et seq.), has performed the major service, in this regard. The FRIEND'S RECORDS of SHREWSBURY, N. J., opens his presentation with an apt historical flavor.

"The preponderating religious element in the early days of Shrewsbury was QUAKER."

GEORGE FOX, in his JOURNAL of 27th of 6 mo., 1672, records his arrival with others, and stoppage at RICHARD HARTSHORN'S house, at Middletown Harbor, and then passing on to Shrewsbury, where they were then building a meeting-house, etc.

RICHARD LIPPINCOTT, and wife, ABI-GAIL, were among the early, if not the most distinguished, QUAKER progenitors, in this region.

tinguished, QUAKER progenitors, in this region. The early settlers of this FAITH at first did not scatter much, remove or intermarry with those not of the clan, but later they did so. Their peculiar habits isolated them, somewhat, and the settlers of neighboring towns, largely brought their New England intolerance and prejudice with them. But, a few removed to PISCATAWAY and WOOD-BRIDGE, married and settled there; while others secured their spouses there, and went back home to Monmouth County, or to Burlington, wedding, not the stranger religion, but the partner, socially, who left his own fealty, usually, in these cases, to become a QUAKER adherent.

LIPPINCOTT FAMILY

THE LIPPINCOTT STORY is told in a formal genealogy, (1892), and in "A Genealogical Tree", (vide, ante, this PART, p. 956).

A GENEALOGICAL TREE of the LIPPINCOTT FAMILY

This rare and unique chart was lithographed in 1880 and copyrighted by Charles Lippincott. It is the best known example of the original, rather pictorial, illustration of the "family tree," which was a prevalent genealogical form or method, a hundred years and more ago. The one under consideration is a huge roll or transcept, appx. 6 feet 6 inches tall and 3 feet 6 inches wide, with an immense tree trunk, vertically erect in the center; showing the descendants, as then (1880) known, of the first in America, RICHARD LIPPIN-

COTT, and wife, Abigail, (maiden name unknown). To the tree trunk are affixed eight major branches, representing their children; and ranging, in direction outward from the tree trunk are larger and smaller branches, representing the main sprigs or off-shoots of the children and grand-children; their children are represented by symbols in the form of tree leaves, portrayed in colors, to distinguish the generations, with Christian names and names of wives, so that a more or less complete chart of descendancy is presented.

The original chart, from which the information presented is taken, is the property of Mr. Charles H. Lippincott, of Los Angeles, a close, personal friend of the writer, who was deceased in 1932.

The chart contains the Lippincott coat-of-arms, a seven stanza poem, addressed to the "Sons of our Quaker Sires", and the following legend,"

Having been excommunicated from the "Church" at Boston for non-conformity in 1651, he returned with his family to England, and resided at Plymouth Devon. and early thereafter became a member of the Society of Friends then emerging from the various sects around them, and in consequence endured much persecution for the testimony of a good Conscience.

In 1663, he returned to New England and lived for several years in Rhode Island, and finally in 1669 established himself and family at Shrewsbury Monmouth Co., New Jersey where he died 25th of 9th Mo. (November, Old Style) 1683. His widow Abigail died in 1697 leaving a considerable estate Richard Lippincott was the largest proprietor among the Patentees of the New Colony.

The Name is one of the oldest of local origin in England and was derived from Lovecote which is described in the Doomsday Book or Census, made by order of William the Conqueror in 1086, of lands held by Edward the Confessor in 1041-1066. This Saxon name implies that a proprietor named Love held the house, Cote, and lands, hence called Lovecote, which name was probably already ancient. Surnames were not settled until about this date and hence Lovecote, Loughwyngcote, Lyvenscott, Luffingcott, Luppingcott, through which variations it has descended to become fixed in Lippincott during the last two centuries and is undoubtedly of great antiquity. edly of great antiquity.

This same record is given by STILLWELL, (Vol. 1, p. 241), together with many more, more interesting facts, beginning with 1674, an earlier date. The one of the subject has the names of GEORGE KEITH and JOHN BARCLAY, both important in P. and W. annals. The former was the "noted Quaker disputant who figures prominently in the history of the Society of Friends, towards the close of that century, and who was then in New Jersey. The latter, * * * * *, was brother of Robert Barclay, author of "An Apology for the Quakers."

IV ALEXANDER ALLAIRE, NOBLE HUGUENOT

HUGUENOT

His French Protestant origin, as with PIERRE MONNET, is easily established. In the "DENIZATIONS", (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 146), in London, for the years, 1699-1700, his name, as thus spelled, clearly appears, (HUG. SOC. of LONDON, VOL. XVIII, p. 314), with other familiar names. (His actual presence in London, at the precise date, is unimportant, as he may, already, have gone to America, as in other certain cases).

As to his brother, LOUIS, ALIABLE called.

As to his brother, LOUIS ALLAIRE, called "LEWES ALLAIRE", (idem, auth., p. 193), he had been similarly denizated, Dec. 16, 1687, together with James (Jacobo) Baillergeau, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 584+b), John Barberie, Peter Barberie, as with ISAAC MONNET (MONET, sic. in the record), PETER MONNET, (MONET, sic. in the record), CATHARINA, his wife, PETER, their son, (idem, auth., p. 207), in Mar. 25, 1688; and other New Jersey F. S., (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 424 et seq.), and other HUG. surnames.

The original spelling of the French name was either ALARY (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 678), or ALERI, and prob. ALLARD, as many of this HOUSE OF ALLAIRE, with coats-of-arms, appear in the old Huguenot and French records, (vide Hug. Soc. of London and books, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 682).

The name ALLAIRE has the same root, as HILLAIRE, Eng. as HILLIARY, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 482).

THE GREAT HUGUENOT FAMILY OF ALLAIRE

OF ALLAIRE

Of all the Huguenot refugee families of shortly before 1700, say migrations of 1681 to that date, who came to America to Boston, Staten Island, New Rochelle, etc., and finally had representatives in New Jersey, such as GABRIEL BERNON, ANDREW, BENJAMIN and PETER FANEUIL, ANDRE SIGOURNEY, JACOBO BAILLERGEAU, FRANCIS BRIDON and PIERRE MONNET, and son, ISAAC MONNET, et al., none were more significant than this great French Protestant Fam., of ALLAIRE. The notable examples were LOUIS ALLAIRE and ALEXANDER ALLAIRE, (supra).

This family was first asserted in 1902 by NEL-SON, (HIST. of New Jersey Coast, p. 213), to have been prominent in N. J.

The name suffered violent corruptions, with difficulty reclaimed, as ALLEE, ALLER, ALLANCE, ALLARD, and even ELLER, HELLER, which last two became more common later.

LOUIS ALLAIRE came to Boston, 1691, (HIST. and Antiq., Drake, p. 536). He was called a Huguenot by SAVAGE, (vol. I, p. 28), "adm. inhab. I Feb. 1692, but in 1695 not seen." He removed, to become with his brother, ALEX-ANDER ALLAIRE, one of the great group of Huguenot Founders of the Town of New Rochelle, Westchester County, New York, (visited on The SECOND MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE, vide, ante, this PART, p. 976).

MADAME ALLAIRE, THE BENEVOLENT

Of different style than the intolerant PURITAN. Her story is EPIC HISTORY. (N. E. HIST. GEN. REG., VOLS. III, p. 108 and IV, p. 348). Read it over,—she glorified, in her ministrations and tears for the Rev. Benjamin Colman.

"When the boats of the enemy approached the captured vessel, (war between France and England, 1695), Colman had in his hands a piece of gold, of the value of nineteen pounds. This was seen by an "ingenious FRENCH GENTLEWO-MAN", named Madame Allaire, who, with her four children, to whom Colman had endeared himself during the voyage, was on her way to join her husband at London," etc., and, without further details; "Colman continued to correspond with his former benefactress until his death; after which there was found in his Study a letter from her, dated at London, May, 1747, "wrote with her own hand, in the French tongue," although she was then upwards of eighty years of age."

She belonged to a French Huguenot Family, and aided a PURITAN, Does N. E. INTOLERANCE still prevail? Let the Professors and Scholars answer.—O. E. M.

TRAVEL ROUTES

Concerning the French Protestants—"larger numbers settled on the Island of St. Christopher. Here, as early as the year 1670 were the AL-LAIRES, the Pintards, the Marions, the Le Contes, the L'Hommedieus, and many others, whose names have become familiar to American ears, OR HAVE SUFFERED CHANGES THAT MAKE THEM DIFFICULT TO RECOGNIZE." (Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 307 and 402).

LA ROCHELLE, IN FRANCE

This account is illuminating, to that writer's credit, as lucid and pointed, (read, BOLTON, Vol. I, pp. 591-4).

First Settlers of New Rochelle, County of West-chester, N. Y. (Largely from NEW ROCHELLE and BOLTON).

April 17, 1695 Francis Le Conte, Feb. 6, 1695-6 David de Bonrepos, ALEXANDER ALLAIRE, David Bonnefoy, et al.

This is an extended list, compiled by the writer, and checked, as against N. Y. recs., (courtesy of Miss Edna L. Jacobsen, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 664; omitted here.—O. E. M.).

These, and many other names, appeared in the succeeding years; some removed to Staten Island and New Jersey, so that the Westchester history must be kept in mind.

THE GREAT FRENCH HUGUENOT EXODUS OF 1681

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 847).

The following data from an outstanding authority seems to justify the conclusions there offered by this writer, as showing the removal, return to France and return to England of the French Protestant Refugees, long before the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685—that of 1681 is particularly important, and may be the thorough explanation as to why PIERRE MONNET, and others, first appeared on Staten Island, in that year. (Vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 126).

A closer study of this decade before the Revocation, likewise, clearly shows the numerical strength which France lost, particularly in 1681.

It has also been interesting, in this connection, to connote the references showing the dispersion FROM PARIS to ANCIENNE POICTOU, after the Massacre of St. Bartholemew's Day, 1572, with final military centralization, as well as religious confluence, under the advance of hostility and persecution, in the city and fortresses of old LA ROCHELLE. Following this particular quotation, citations to BOLTON and quoted parts are employed, as giving the best picture, on the subject, apart from scholarship, ever presented in an American reference.

THE HUGUENOT REFUGEES

"Wearied with the incessant persecution, and despairing of repose around their native hearths, the Huguenots began to leave France for more secure regions. Their well-known industry and skill made them welcome in every Protestant country. No less than five hundred thousand thus escaped, and found homes in Germany, Holland, and England. King Charles II granted letters of denization in council, under the great seal, and assured the exiles that, at the next meeting of Parliament, he would introduce a bill by which they should be naturalized; relieved them at the moment from importation duties and passport fees, and encouraged voluntary contributions for their support". This order was issued on the 28th of July, 1681, the same year in which many of the Huguenots of New Rochelle had fled from France, conclusive evidence "Wearied with the incessant persecution, and deyear in which many of the Huguenots of New Rochelle had fled from France, conclusive evidence that they constituted a part of those exiles who accepted the royal offers, and afterward, under the patronage of the government, purchased and set-tled there in 1689. Some of the Huguenots must have been "aided in their escape from France by the English vessels that lay for some time off the Island of Rhe, opposite La Rochelle, in which they were conveyed to England." (From BOLTON, Vol. I, p. 594).

TWO IMPORTANT QUERIES.

I. DID THE FRENCH PROTESTANT FAITHFUL LEAVE PARIS, AFTER THE MASSACRE OF ST. BARTHOLEMEW'S DAY, 1572, AND SETTLE IN ANCIENNE POICTOU—NIORT, LA ROCHELLE, and elsewhere? Yes, as MONNET and ALLAIRE.

II. DID ANY OF THESE FLEE TO LONDON BEFORE THE REVOCATION OF THE EDICT, 1685, and RETURN TO FRANCE, AND AGAIN FLEE TO LONDON? Yes, as MONNET and ALLAIRE.

"(Note: "Between the accession of James I to the throne of England, and the death of Henry the throne of England, and the death of Henry IV of France, i. e., between 1603 and 1610, numbers of Huguenot refugees, or descendants of older to France from England. Some families emigrated and returned to France between 1572 and 1685, between the Massacre of St. Bartholemew and the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, as often as three or four times. Missing Genealogical links of that period often may be found in the records of Refugee Churches outside of France.")"

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 847).

THE HUGUENOTS

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 678).

This subject has been restated several times in this SERIES, but it is just pressing its way to the front in full force, genealogically, that many American SURNAMES are of this origin, not otherwise suspected.

A few readings from BOWMAN would give accentuation of this certain SURNAME origin, change and American evolution, etymologically. (BOWMAN, p. 23).

WALDENSES-HUGUENOTS-DUTCH IN NEW JERSEY

The references in this SERIES to historical facts, as well as genealogy, concerning these specific blood strains, as well as WALLOONS, should be recapitulated here, in the light of the succeeding quotation

THE HUGUENOTS OF STATEN ISLAND, (PART ONE, p. 126); IDEM, (PART TWO, p.

144); LA ROCHELLE, The stronghold of THE HUGUENOTS, (PART FOUR, p. 584-a); THE WALLOONS, (PART FIVE, p. 678).

"Upon Staten Island, near New Dorp, in 1658, a little band of Waldenses or Vaudois built a stone church. In his history of "Baptist Churches in the United States", A. H. Newman claims that at the beginning of the sixteenth century the Waldenses held some Baptist principles and numbered about one hundred thousand scattered throughout Europe. JOHN CROCHERON, JACQUES POST and MOILLART JOURNEAY were Vaudois refugees, who came to Staten Island prior to 1670. In 1658, the following names are also found among the records of the Waldensian Church at New Dorp: Bedell, Guyon, Corson, Fountain, Perrine, Van Pelt, Pollon, Seguine, etc. The first marriage recorded was that of Cornelis Britton and Charlotte Colon. * * * * *

To the chartered city of La Rochelle, France, fled the refugees from the Massacre of St. Bartholomew, (1572), where they were cared for and protected. After a long seige and most heroic defense the city was overcome by the wiles of Cardinal Richelieu, says Smedley. * * * * *

Many of the refugees from La Rochelle also set-tled upon Long Island and Staten Island. After-the unjust persecution and hanging of Leisler, many of his Dutch and Huguenot friends, especially of the younger generation, moved to New Jersey. Of the Huguenots from La Rochelle, France, we find the following representatives in New Jersey, viz.: The Bodines, Allairs, Pintards, Guyons, Scurmans, Mersereaus, Hilvers, Rezeaus, Apelbes, Wirkers, Micheure, Cana, Courte, Courte Scurmans, Mersereaus, Hilyers, Rezeaus, Apelbes, Nixons, Micheaus, Ganos (Gayneaus), STELLES,

For JOHN HARRISON, the First, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 827). The two records, seemingly not to be reconciled, may be examined by any searcher; HATFIELD, (pp. 260-1, which is not accurate on its face), and WHITEHEAD, (p. 86), which makes the conclusions there, a bit foggy. It may be that the first JOHN HARRISON, or father of the subject, was never in N. J., or else some rec., belonging to the son, was accredited to him.

THAT, this lineage, is the same as that of the first two RICHARD HARRISONS of Conn., is the same as that of the first two RICHARD HARRISONS of Conn., is first two RICHARD HARRISONS of Conn., is incontrovertible, by one of those facts, outside the records, which determines, beyond doubt. However, the records show the CAPTAIN, and MAJOR JOHN HARRISON was originally on LONG ISLAND, as (vide, ante, this PART, p. 974), and other records), as an official and Sheriff. Just when he came into N. J. is uncertain, but he was of Flushing, L. I., 1698, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 142), and the same year had "License to purchase Indian land at Cranberry Brook", (N. J., idem, p. 143). In the same authority, refs. show him, of Raritan river, 1702; of Middlesex, 1703; 1700, "of Pensilvania"; 1701, of E.; 1702, the same; and two other refs., to his having been in Queens Co., N. However, all these refs. are given under Rocky Hill, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 564), which, from sub. recs., was clearly his abiding place, and he may have d. at Perth Amboy, "merchant".

George, Edward, et al., (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 213).

His wife, Elizabeth, d. in 1730, will, dated, April 22, called of "Rocky Hill, Somerset co.", "widow of John, junior, Esq're", proved, January 21, 1730, naming children and kin, and two sons, Benjamin Higgins and Benjamin Harrison, as executors; proved Jan. 21, 1730. Witness, THOMAS YATES, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 879). The foregoing determines HIGGINS relationship, and that the one under discussion as "JUNIOR", JOHN HARRISON. As in this SERIES, and the records, his military titles and exploits, are referred to, without repetit here. (N. J. ARCH., GEN. INDEX, to first ten vols., p. 83). He was "proposed for the Council", as a man of "known Integrity and Estates", (idem, Vol. III, p. 95).

N. B. If JOHN HARRISON, the First, was not deceased during the foregoing periods, it is poss. that the two men were accredited by other writers with the wrong records, more or less. But, the one under consid., was certainly that one of Rocky Hill.—O. E. M.

VI JOHN SMITH, SCOTCHMAN
THE HONEST CITIZEN OF WOODBRIDGE. How he came by his name, as a racial incline, no one knows, for his father came from England. His origin is one of those original discoveries by the writer, among many, in this close association for years, with the records and these association for years, with the records and these F. S. names.

This PART SIX is dedicated to him, because of his definite and widely known comunity and official honesty. He is to be distinguished from the other JOHN SMITH, orig. grantee, patentee and associate, always denominated, in the records, as "wheelwright", "millwright", "meal-man", and other sobriquets, as (vide, ante, PART FOUR, DED., pp. 494-6 and 498 et seq.),—the well known F. S., Rev. John Smith; keeping in mind that the latter originated in the sense of N. J. removal, at Barnstable, Mass. (For this point, vide, E. J. Under the Props., 1895, pp. 48 and 286). "JOHN SMITH of Barnstable, in New England." Both were W. men, and left descendants, running side by side, for several generations, with scattered kin, somewhat difficult to distinguish, although the male line of "John Smith, Scotchman", was limited, and does not traverse the sons and grandsons of the other. The use of the spelling "SMYTH", both at Newbury, Mass. and in N. J., as employed in the records, is of no value in identity.

and in N. J., as employed in the records, is of no value in identity.

JOHN SMITH, SCOTCHMAN, may have been so called for racial antecedents, or not so at all, as he came to W., if to return to Newbury and to return later again, by 1668, and long before the notable Scotch influx of migrants in 1685. He is so named in various authorities, (DALLY, Hist. of W., pp. 20, 28, 47, 149 and 159). His name appears as an original grantee for 176 acres at W., in the list of 1670; "John Smith, Scotchman, was a man of such remarkable integrity of character that the July, (1671), (4th), directed that his half bushell measure should be the standard by which all the freeholders should be governed in buying and selling"; and that those that sell or buy by any other measures until law makes other provision shall be accounted villainous to buy or sell by unjust measures." "What a tribute to the Scotchman's honesty!" His house was at W., was next to that of Judge Samuel Hale, (who had come from Newbury, Mass.), and with that of William Compton on the other side of him. In the fourth division of lands at W., March 19, 1717, his name drew the first number, as "John Smith, Scotchman", without any designation of heir, as he was then d. (CONT. to E. J. Hist., WHITEHEAD, 1856, pp. 356 and 364; and, vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 55, 82 and 99).

He received his patent as named in the title, for 176 acres. December 20, 1669, (vide, ante, ONE, pp. 55, 82 and 99).

He received his patent as named in the title, for 176 acres, December 20, 1669, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 107), and John Smith, Milwright, is named in the same list, (q. v.). Also, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 519). He is No. 16 in the list of 1669, but is not listed as taking the Dutch Oath of 1673, as was the case of the other John Smith, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 89), and, hence, he was back at Newbury.

He is named in the records as early as 1668, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 531), distinguished from "MR. JOHN SMITH", the other man, 1668, at W., and the Town Records give other, tho meager refs.

at W., and the Town Records give other, tho meager refs.

His patent, (supra), of 1669, located him on the "north side of Papiack Creek", (ARCH, Vol. XXI, p. 9, two entries), and in W., with a house-lot; (tho when he rem. and how long he stayed, is not solvable); near Samuel Moore, (from Newbury), (idem, pp. 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 103, 148-9, 214 and 267). These entries all relate pointedly to "John Smith, Scotchman", with many other entries, confused with other John Smiths. The dates range 1669, 1686, 1689, 1696, and by 1701, JOHN SMITH, SCOTCHMAN, was dead, and had, apparently, only one "son and heir in N. J.", JOHN SMITH, SECOND, with land, near "the Meeting House Brook, at W., (idem, p. 149). If other children then figured, daughters, who may have m. W. men, this record does not disclose, Clear there were no other sons in N. J. in esse, which proves the foll., in part.

It is one of the triumphs of this writer, (without false modesty), to show that JOHN SMITH, SCOTCHMAN had come out of Newbury, Mass., with the other men of that place, who came to W., returned to N., and flitted hither and yon, as Rev. John Woodbridge, Anthony Somerby, Thomas Noyes, Daniel Pierce, et al.

JOHN SMITH, later as "SCOTCHMAN", at W., was an early Newbury man, the son of the first THOMAS SMITH, there, as (vide, post, this PART, under that title), and sev. refs. in COFFIN. His father was in Newbury, a early as 1638, (p. 29). He, JOHN SMITH, was a member of Dr. Parker's church, (with many other removals to W.), in 1671, with his cousin, JAMES SMITH, (idem. p. 86), while the same year, he was the HONEST CITIZEN of W. Again, 1671, (idem, p. 100), containing many names, soon at W. He is not in later Newbury records, but his marriage and births of his children are rec. there, (Newbury Vit. Statistics, 2 vols.), and that is significant, as they are not in the W. records,—a

To the foregoing must be added, however, an affidavit which is most valuable on this subject, and as evidencing places at old PISCATAWAY:

AFFIDAVIT OF OSCAR I. MARTIN

STATE OF NEW JERSEY COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX

OSCAR I. MARTIN, being first duly sworn, states:

That, at the request of Orra Eugene Monnette of Los Angeles, California, he makes the following affidavit to certain locations and historical facts amount to certain locations and insome a lates which are to be used for the purpose of preservation of history and old land marks in the vicinity of Piscataway, now P. O. Stelton, New Jersey.

Affiant states that he is now living on the old Martin farm, with his brother, Frederick Martin, in Raritan Township, on road running northward from an intersection with Woodbridge Avenue, to the east of St. James Episcopal Church and graveyard; that this place has been in possession of the Martin Family for many years and across the road down in a little vale, facing opposite, is the old whiskey still house among the trees which was started in operation by the father of affiant at the close of the Civil War in 1865.

That affiant was born July 7, 1854, and his brother now living with him, Frederick Martin, was born October 21, 1858; that, they also had a brother, Theodore Martin, born 1852, died in two years. The father of affiant was named Forman Martin, born 1824, d. 1905, aged 81; and his mother, Hannah Martin, b. 1825, d. 1896, age 71.

That the grandfather of affiant was Henry Martin, born about 1794, and died about 1891, aged 97 years, and his grandmother was Catharine Strangman (not a Piscataway name).

That the grandfather of affiant was of the line age of the long time and well-known Martin Family of that section, the first of whom was John Martin, and that the Henry Martin place was across Woodbridge Avenue, from the present Martin homestead, and down the road a mile or more, known for years as the "Old Henry Martin place".

That the said grandfather of affiant was still living in his youth and often talked and discussed with him the old family places in the neighborhood and particularly the old Baptist church and graveyard where St. James Episcopal church building now stands.

That the old graveyard with old stone markers That the old graveyard with old stone markers now to the right or west of the present church building, contained many grave stones now lost or broken away, and this section represented the location of the old Baptist burial ground; that, the old Baptist church building was in the western end of the present cemetery west and north of the present church and far removed from the Baptist burial plot in the left or eastern end; that, when affiant was a young man, when assisting the sexton in digging some graves on what is known, as the in digging some graves on what is known, as the Skewis lot, the diggers found the foundation stones and clear indications of the basement of the old Baptist church so that the present Skewis lot would indicate its original location; that the said Baptist church faced what is now called Woodbridge tist church faced what is now called Woodbridge Avenue running west to east in front of the present church and cemetery, but which in the early days was called Woodbridge Road or "turnpike". That during his lifetime his grandfather, Henry Martin, told him about the old inn famous during the Revolutionary War, called "The Ben Hull Tavern", and affiant is quite familiar with the known fact of the visitation of George Washington at the Hull Tavern during the War of the Revolution: also, that affiant was told by his grandfather. at the Hull Tavern during the War of the Revolu-tion; also, that affiant was told by his grandfather of a military scrimmage held near this Tavern in which a number of British soldiers were killed; that, these were buried in a long trench in the Baptist cemetery with which he was familiar in his boyhood days; a rolling mound showing the line of the trench but that after time went on this was obliterated was obliterated.

That about 1895 the Piscataway Town Cemetery Association was organized, not incorporated, a voluntary unit, and affiant assisted in cleaning up the untary unit, and animit assisted in creaming and old cemetery, bushes and undergrowth, matted grass, an accumulation of years, and that they hauled away twenty wagon loads of roots and debris and found many gravestone markers broken and impossible of reading the transcriptions, indicating the burial of many people there.

That, affiant states with reference to the old Benjamin Hull Tavern, it was known in the family in earlier years and he states positively that it was located almost opposite to the present St. James Episcopal Church Building on the north side of Woodbridge Avenue at the identical spot where now is the modern building or resident of the Episcopal Rector, who was named Rev. Phil-lips. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 831).

The above sketch map is taken from article, "The First Settlers of New Brunswick", by William H. Bened'ct, (PROCS., N. J. Hist. Soc.. 3rd Ser., Vol. VII, 1912, No. 1, pp. 1 et seq., and opp. p. 18). Affiant further states that upon a visit to him made by said Orra Eugene Monnette, May 4th, 1933, in company with Mr. John F. Smith of New Brunswick, New Jersey, he visited the places mentioned in this affidavit with said parties and that since the said Orra Eugene Monnette has forwarded to him in connection with this affidavit for signature and verification, a description of a piece of property, published in 1751, as follows:

"To be sold at publick Vendue, on Tuesday, the first Day of October next, two good Dwelling-Houses, with the Land thereunto belonging, in Piscattaway in East-New Jersey: One is a good large Stone-House, formerly belonging to BENJAMIN HULL, and lately to Israel Folsom, SITUATE TWO MILES AND A HALF FROM NEW-BRUNSWICK, ON THE HIGH ROAD TO WOODBRIDGE, THE OTHER IS ADJOINING, AND LATELY BELONGED TO PHINEAS POTTER AND HAS BEEN A NOTED TAVERN FOR SEVERAL YEARS: there are good Orchards adjoining to both Places, with about 20 Acres of good land: Also about 100 acres of Land, one Mile back, of which 20 Acres is cleared, and the rest all Wood-land: The Houses are within three Quarters of a Mile of a Landing, and both or either very convenient for a Merchant, Tavern, or Tradesman, and will be sold all together or separate as may be agreed on, at the Day of Sale. Any Person inclining to purchase before the Time of Sale, may apply to Timothy Conner, now living on the Premisses, and know the Title and Conditions of Sale.—The N. Y. (STILLWELL, Vol. III, p. 423).

All records and references, at all dependable, show, without variation, that he came from N. Y. City, into N. J., by land ownership, sometime before, or about, 1677. His actual removal and real residence, at or near the Raritan, probably south of it, as shown on some modernly drawn maps, to be at or near New Brunswick, has only been urged by inference, as the date or fact is not susceptible of direct proof. The name "Lawrence's Brook", has been inferred, without proof, as coming from him, although other Lawrences lived in ing from him, although other Lawrences lived in the vicinity, and the famous JOHN LAWRENCE line of 1743, gave signification to many local place baker", without challenge.

In the deed records, he was called "THOMAS LAWRENCE, BAKER", and, first, 1681, "THOMAS LAWRENCE of N. Y., baker", as of N. Y.; in 1683-4, the same; in 1689, the same, etc., (ARCH. Vol. XXI, pp. 51, 57, 73 and 168). This has been translated to mean "the baker", without challenge.

There is not the slightest evidence, direct or indirect, to show that THOMAS LAWRENCE, knew anything about this trade, the culinary art, kitchens and ovens, or hot breads. That was not his business. The sobriquet came from a very common use, in those days, of differentiation—from other persons of the same name—there were other contemporary Thomas Lawrences of his generation. If the alleged "Thomas Lawrence Popinga" was a separate individual, and the descriptio personae, (clearly such), were dropped, and while he was courting around with the widow of Cornelius Longfield, whom he is alleged to have married, that Lawrence chap, would have been contemporary to the one of the subject.

de BAECKER

The name, as a surname, or as a designation, very clearly used early and later in N. Y. Colonial Records, as, "BAKER", had its origin in the Dutch surname, or use, of de Baecker. This is so easily proven, as not to admit of any doubt.

easily proven, as not to admit of any doubt.

Probably the most notable illustration is concerning that first JACOB de BAECKER, who subsequently became plain BAKER, as well as his children (HATFIELD, p. 250). He was a brother-in-law of Governor Peter Stuyvesant, with a noted and energetic wife, and almost paralleling was Balthazar de Haert, with him a wealthy merchant, whose name, likewise, became "HART".

Investigating the BAECKER and BACKER records, in General Index, (Docs. rel. Col. Hist., N. Y., p. 55), the whole surname etymology is revealed, and one of the first of the name to appear in New Amsterdam before 1650 was "Joost de Backer", in Holland documents.

In CALEND., (N. Y. Hist. MSS., Dutch,

In CALEND., (N. Y. Hist, MSS., Dutch, 1630-1664) are several references, in proof of the premises, inc. BAECK and BAKKER, (p. 390), with partic. ref. to "Joost Teunissen de Backer", and "Jacob Backer".

However, most important in last ref., (supra), is the clear use of "Jochem de Backer", who was a Wessels, (p. 422, as to the same man), and he was called 1657 "Jochem Wessels Backer", (p. 185), and 1657, "Jochem Wesselsen, baker," (p. 313), and, again, "Jochem, the baker", (p. 314), and other refs., absolutely sustaining the first proposition made herein, Q. E. D.

Further examples can be given, and considering at, "Bach", was an etymon, with every variety that, "Bach", was an etymon, with every variety of suffix, and prehx "de", as used in both Holland and Belgium, (vide, Deutschen, ante, this PART, p. 951), no further proof is needed. The final "er" is inconsequential.

THOMAS LAWRENCE was called, as in the title, "de BAECKER", as was Jacob Baker, et al, which was translated to "ye baker" or "the baker", again, as a descriptio personae, possibly from some maternal surname affiliation. THIS HAS NEVER BEEN ELUCIDATED BEFORE.

RICHARD SMITH-COMPTON-LAWRENCE

The argument about WILLIAM COMPTON, originating in Ipswich, Mass. (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 595). The foll. item was overlooked, viz.; patent to Elisha Laurence "of Middleton" for two hammocks of land at Shoal Harbour, Mon. Co., W. William Camptone". The LAWRENCE family first settled in America at Ipswich, where MARIE LAWRENCE EDECAMPLE LAWRENCE THOMAS BURNHAM, (what price glory-proof?) They seemed to reappear always TOGETHER! With RICHARD SMITH!

MARY, WIFE OF THOMAS LAWRENCE

While there are no vit. recs., to show, it is assumed with great probability, that she was named MARY.

While, 1704, is the cap record of her career.

"April 3, Petition. Mary, widow of THOMAS LAWRENCE complaining of the acts of THOMAS and WILLIAM LAWRENCE, in relation to her estate," i. e. acquired from her husband, THOMAS LAWRENCE. This was orig. supposed to refer to the Thomas Lawrence, of Newton, L. I., but it is a New York record, and that could not possibly be the case.—O. E. M.

Read in this connection now re, the son, THOMAS LAWRENCE, JUNIOR, the MAP of 1700-1732, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 736). With place names, "THOS. Further, (recap.), the land grant, orig. was "No. 84, Indians to Thomas Laurence, Raratan River, June 7, 1677". "S. side of called Indian name, RAMAWON," (vide, ante, PART TWO,

THOMAS LAWRENCE, JUNIOR, was in New Brunswick, 1716, and rel. to his father, "C. Thomas Lawrence. Purchased of Sr. George Carteret, 1678, 1300 acres and embracing the land to South River", (idem, PART THREE, p. 362).

It is very poss., that his wife, an INIANS, (?) was the dau, of the foregoing, (ARCH, Vol. XXIII, p. 253).

THOMAS LAWRENCE, (none other than the Baker), d. in N. Y., between May 20 and March 21, 1698/9, as per his will:

Connected somehow is that "MARIE LAW-RENCE OF N. Y.", who received payment, 1713, Oct. 23, in account of MARY GRIFFITH, widow, and admin. of Est. of BENJAMIN GRIFFITH, of P. A., who d. July 18, 1709, (ARCH. Vol. XXIII, p. 194), and MARIE ROBESON, likewise figured with other familiar names. Who was MARY HOOPER? if not MARIE, wife of DANIEL HOOPER, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, 1829).

829). MARIE LAWRENCE, was cert. the settled in N. Y. after THOMAS LAW-She, widow, settled in N. Y. after THOMAS LAW-RENCE'S demise.

MARIE ROBESON was prob. kin of the widow of DR. WILLIAM ROBERTSON, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 857), for note the BENJAMIN GRIFFITH contiguity, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p.

389). Now Now, coming to the statements of "JAN OF ROTTERDAM", (vide, BIB., PART FOUR, p. 475), again, it is to be regretted that able genealogists should disagree. There is no proof that THOMAS LAWRENCE, the BAKER, was ever DUTCH, or had an orig. patronymic of LAURENCEN or lived, ever in Holland, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 613 and POPINGA, pp. 623-4). VON GRONINGEN has been explained.

4). VON GRONINGEN has been explained. THE MOST COMPELLING ARGUMENT IS REALLY THE EPISODE OF THE HOG TROUBLE, ("JAN OF ROTTERDAM", (p. 306) for the THOMAS CLARK, there involved, was the father-in-law of RICHARD LAWRENCE, a kinsman of THOMAS LAWRENCE, definitely located in New York City.—O. E.

JOHN LAWRENCE, THE IMMIGRANT

(Recapitulation: Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1002).

(Recapitulation: Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1002).
Patentee of Hempstead, Long Island, 1664, and 1645, the same with his brother, WILLIAM LAWRENCE, of Flushing. He had come to America in 1635, in the ship "Planter", then aged 17 (vide, ante, this PART, p. 997).
He was the son of THOMAS LAWRENCE of St. Albans in Hertfordshire, England; and wife JOANE ANTROBUS, his having been entered there in the Parish records, as bapt. July 26, 1618.
THE GREATEST PROOF OF THIS ORIGIN LIES IN THE REFERENCE TO "MY SONN JOHN LAWRENCE", by JOANNA TUTTELL, in her letter from Carrickfergus, Ireland, 20 March, 1657, clearly indicating that he was THEN ALIVE and in America. (RECS. and FILES, QUART. COURT, ESSEX County, Mass. Vol. II, p. 142). This has never been commented upon before—O. E. M. and completely answers BROWNING, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 993).

Sometime before, or about 1672, he, JOHN LAWRENCE, removed from Long Island, to N. Y. City, there to become a prominent public official, replete in the recs. His best and most accurate biography is given in (THOMAS, pp. 398, et seq., BIB., ante, PART THREE, p. 323).

He was the same as:-

He was the same as:—

MAYOR and JUSTICE JOHN LAWRENCE of New York City, before 1672, who d. there in 1699 aged 80, which corresponds to his birth date and is conclusive against the BROWNING reversion. His will, (N. Y. HIST. SOC. Coll. 1892, Wills, Vol. I, pp. 307 and 8). It was dated "This 7th day of January, 1698, I, JOHN LAWRENCE,

Now, with no known or found record to the contrary, or the slightest indication against, it is the profound judgment and honest conviction of this genealogist, that the son, THOMAS LAWRENCE, above, was identical, in N. Y. City, with THOMAS LAWRENCE, the BAKER, who first acquired land in New Jersey, in the year 1677, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1021).

THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE IMMIGRANT

"The youngest of the three brothers, not being mentioned among the passengers of the ship in which his brethern came to this country, is supposed to have joined them after their emigration hither. He lived awhile at Flushing, but in 1656 bought a house and lot in Newtown to which place he removed and took part in buying the town lands from the Indians that same year." (RIKER p. 283). (RIKER, p. 283).

He was the son of THOMAS LAWRENCE of St. Albans in Hertfordshire, England, and wife, JOANE ANTROBUS, and his birth having been entered there as bapt. Mch. 8, 1619-20.

He was called Major THOMAS LAWRENCE,

His will, (N. Y. HIST. SOC., Coll. 1892, wills, Vol. I, pp. 382-3) is not dated, (supp. Feb. 25, 1703), but it is shown that he d. at Newtown, L. I., in July, 1703.

WILLIAM LAWRENCE, THE IMMIGRANT

Patentee of Flushing, Long Island, 1645, who came to America, in 1635, in the ship "Planter", then aged 12, (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 997).

He was the son of THOMAS LAWRENCE of St. Albans, in Hertfordshire, England, and wife, JOANE ANTROBUS, and his birth having been entered there in the PARISH records, as bapt. July 28, 1622.

He was called "Captain", and had other official titles and recognition. Just as prominent, to the end, in Flushing, as his brother THOMAS LAW-RENCE, was in Newtown.

As Captain William Lawrence, he d. in 1680, ae. 57, still living at Flushing, L. 1., where his lands were at "Lawrence's" or "Tew's Neck". He left no will, but an immense estate, indicating high social station, of which an inventory was made, (N. Y. HIST. SOC. Coll., 1892, WILLS, Vol. I, p. 108). It was taken by Richard Cornell, John Bowne, JOHN LAWRENCE, Abm. Wheatly; Elizabeth Lawrence and Wm. Lawrence were Elizabeth Lawrence admrs., Nov. 18, 1680.

His wife was Elizabeth Smith, dau. of RICH-ARD SMITH, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 994). In Recs. of Smithtown, L. I., (PELLETREAU. RICHARD LAWRENCE received license to marry CHARITY CLARKE, September 24, 1699, (Idem, supra, Vol. I, p. 309).

Dec. 24, 1705, Thomas Penniston of New York, made his will. He was a mariner, like his friend RICHARD LAWRENCE, who witnessed this will, (idem. p. 430).

It is the positive judgment of this author that Mr. THOMAS, (p. 414) got two RICHARD LAWRENCES confused and that this RICHARD LAWRENCE belongs to the clan of MAYOR, and JUSTICE, JOHN LAWRENCE, of N. Y. City, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1024).

And, his father-in-law, THOMAS CLARKE, is identical with him of the duck and pig episode of JAN OF ROTTERDAM, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1024).

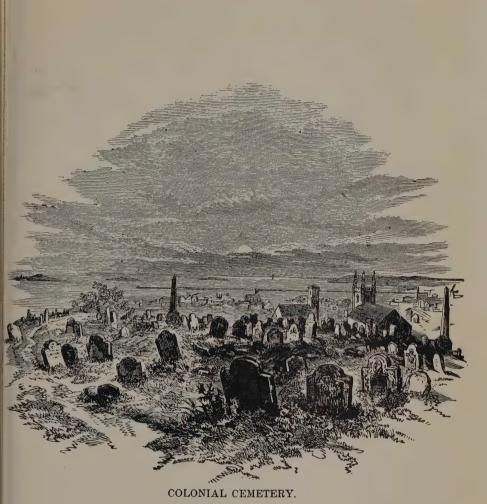

J. RICHARD LAWRENCE OF MIDDLESEX

He was a F. S., of consequence; and was a son of WILLIAM LAWRENCE, JUNIOR, of Middletown, N. J. (as see will of latter, dated 1728-9, Jan. 13, wife, Mercy, proved July, 25, 1729). His mother was Mercy Hartshorne, and he had left Monmouth for Middlesex in early manhood; m.

CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS

Supplementing the original records of the Colonial period, included within the scope of official state, county and town book entries, the cemetery inscriptions of the various farm, village and church graveyards, which have been preserved in many local histories and otherwise, furnish the best and most important source of vital statistics for genealogical compilation. It is to be regretted that a movement was not earlier started, years ago, to have these inscriptions copied and preserved, before the monuments and stone markers were broken, immersed in the soil and or otherwise lost forever.

This author was rather proud, and justly so, to have first published the cemetery inscriptions of the Old Baptist Church (now St. James Episcopal Church) at Piscataway, which had never been published before, and to make the first corrected printing of those at Woodbridge, in the old church yard there, and which had not been published by DALLY. These appear in PART THREE, pp. 366 et seq., and will bear the closest examination, as balanced against other records, saving and excepting a few minor errors, from misprinting and wrongful transcription.

There have been additional and single cemetery inscriptions presented in other portions of this REFERENCE SERIES, not to be referenced here.

However, it was a great disappointment to the writer, that, throughout the years of his investigation of source material in New Jersey, he never has been able to find but one burial place, before 1750, of any members of the HULL FAMILY, excepting at Samptown, hereinafter presented; undoubtedly the older and senior generation, the first to become settlers, were buried at Piscataway and Woodbridge, and the grave stones have been obliterated years ago. There is every reason to believe that the senior BENJAMIN HULL and his brother, HOPE-WELL HULL, were buried at Piscataway in the Baptist church yard, since his home and the Benjamin Hull Tavern were immediately opposite; and that, perhaps, the other brother, SAMUEL HULL, since he became a settler at Woodbridge, was buried in the latter main church cemetery.

But, where, oh where, was Captain Francis Drake buried and other worthies, of such great importance in the early history of the Piscataway community?

However, the pressure of a search for grave stones of the HULL FAMILY did develop the one outstanding stone at Samptown, seen, examined and photographed by the writer, as given in illustration (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1028 indic.); and likewise there was brought to the ardent support of this tedious and painstaking search of the hills and vales of this section of New Jersey by Compatriot John R. Clark, 28 Ludlow Street, Rahway, New Jersey, who has given the most loyal and patriotic aid in this work, assembling many inscriptions, preserved hereinafter.

First, to Mr. A. Van Doren Honeyman, must go the appreciation of this editor for his fine work in procuring a full list of the burials at Samptown, now published for the first time, and in which all inquirers are deeply interested, as the familiar names spread the range of both history and genealogy of this section.

SAMPTOWN BAPTIST CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS

(By the courtesy of Mr. A. van Doren Honeyman, of Plainfield, N. J.)

Samptown, a pre-Revolutionary hamlet, is located in Piscataway Township, Middlesex County, New Jersey. It is about two and one-half miles south of Plainfield. A Baptist church, which was burned about thirty years ago, was located there. The cemetery surrounding the site of this Church is now under the care of the Church at South Plainfield. The oldest section has been neglected and many of the grave-stones are broken, some are lying on the ground, and the inscriptions on many have become illegible.

(Inscriptions copied August 12, 1925.) Sub-Note:—Mr. A Van Doren Honeyman especially requests that full credit for the foregoing Samptown cemetery inscriptions be given to ladies, Mrs. Howard W. Satterfield, Plainfield, N. J., (a supporter of and subscriber to this work), Miss Minerva Freeman, Dover, N. J., and Mrs. Allen E. Beals, Plainfield, N. J., who gathered "these records", and the pleasure is all the writer's in so doing.

Mr. Honeyman is a historian and genealogist, so well known as to need no amplification, yet the New Jersey Hist. Soc. would not be as great without his work, generosity and renown, and as editor of "N. J. Law Journal", his legal abilities reign, profoundly.

He has discussed with the writer, the origin of the name, SAMPTOWN, etymologically, as there is no record, historically. We have concluded that it was of this nature—the first settlers called their corn "samp", and in some way the hamlet so took its name. Later, the name would have been well spoken, as "CORNTOWN".—O. E. M.

MISCELLANEOUS CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS

(Clark Collection, assembled by Compatriot John R. Clark.)

The first to be presented is from a church yard, in which the great-great-grandfather of Mr. John R. Clark was buried, namely Stephen Woodruff, 1731-1789, and his wife, Hannah, 1737-1785, and, in June, of 1932, a Sons of the American Revolution's bronze marker was placed over the grave of said Stephen Woodruff, a Revolutionary War Soldier, and by his lineage, through him, the said John R. Clark is a member of that Society.

Mr. Monnette if you are interested in history way out east in Maine and Massachusetts, there is a friend of mine who lives at 836 Loma Vista St., El Segundo, Calif. by the name of Mr. Harry C. Pease. No doubt, he could give you some nice data. Mr. Pease is quite some historian. He has a sister living here who is one of my near neighbors. We are good friends. With my best wishes, I must close

Most sincerely yours.

Linden, N. J. to find an old Morse Private Burial Plot on the old farm near Morse's Creek. After a hard time, we found where it use to be, but just recently an old lady by the name of Mrs. Charles, who lives in Mass. had all the old tombstones removed up there, so nothing remained The old farm house, I was told, is 250 years old, and is still occupied by the caretaker, and quite close to that farm was the Eddy Farm. They, too, had a private burial grounds. But about 4 or 5 years ago the Standard Oil Co. of N. J. bought the farm and built tanks on the grounds. The old vault was destroyed. All the tombstones were taken up and what was not broken or covered up was piled alongside of a tool house, inside of the iron fence. I saw about six or seven all told. Some of these were broken and the inscriptions missing. As we could not get close to them we only found these ham Inscriptions, taken by Mr. O. B. Leonard of Plainfield, N. J., in your Book, PART TWO. Mr. Frank Whitehead, Mr. J. Wm. Saling and myself visited the Old Dunham Private Burial Grounds on October 11, 1933. This Dunham Cemetery is situated, I should say, between Stelton and Metuchen, N. J., off Highway No. 27. We had to drive through a lane about ½ mile up from the highway through fields on each side to come to the old Burial Grounds. The old Farm House is still standing in fairly good condition and occupied. The old Burial Ground stands in the north east corner of the land, size of cemetery is about 88x88 ft., surrounded by an iron fence. About one third of this old cemetery is divided off by a wooden posts. This is where the Dunhams are buried. These grounds are now grown up with small saplings, briers, and tall weeds. It was awful hard to get to some of them at all. We managed to copy almost all of them. Some we could not make out on account of the condition of the not make out on account of the condition of the tombstones. I will give you the exact copy, then you can check up with what you have. These are correct. We spent two hours just getting these, so they would be right. You can believe me when I say they are correct.

Sincerely yours,

John R. Clark.

OLD GERMAN GESCHLECHTBUCH: REICHS STAT. NURNBERG, 1610.

(Orig. in possession of this writer), a quaint, curious tome, illustrative of German Heraldry, with occupational references and escutcheons.—O. E. M. (Obverse for HULL).

(1047)

DIE HULLE, (pictorial), illustrative of de HULLE or de HOLLE, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 829), being the origin of the ancient surname and patronymic, as Anglicized, later, in HULL.

This is reminded by the gravestone of BENJAMIN HULL, ESQ., at Samptown, freq. ref., in accompanying cemetery inscriptions, (vide, ante, this PART, pp. 1031 and 1046), and the prominence of the HULL FAMILY at P. and W.—O. E. M.

P.S.—I think these inscriptions are correct, and were never printed before as far as I know. As the cemetery is in such a dreadful condition, and the tombstones are decayed and so many names and dates are hard to get correct, as they are good condition yet, and others are not.

Most sincerely wours

Most sincerely yours, John R. Clark.

FRAZEE

"Last spring you told me in one of your letters as you were traveling through Rahway on the train you saw an old Cemetery. As you were going so fast you thought you were in Rahway as you said, but you were in Metuchen instead, as this Cemetery is close to the railroad, and that was the one you saw no doubt. I hope these are not too late for you to use in your Book Part (6). In those Woodbridge Pres. Ch. inscriptions, I see where Mr. Whitehead found Elisha Frazee d. 1727 age 37 yrs. He was the brother of John 1675-1724, oldest grave on record in Rahway Cemetery. He had a Brother Isaac, buried at Westfield Old Pres. Ch. yard, Isaac b. 1697 d. Feb. 8, 1775. In the New Providence, N. J. Pres. Ch., old yard another Bro. Joseph, Jr., d. 1772; in Rahway Cemetery are also two other Brothers, Eliphalet Frazee 1669-1758 and Edward b. 1667 d., and I think their father, Joseph Frazee, Sr., who died 1714, is buried there, as on the Frazee Plot, is a small stone with a tree growing around it; only a small part of the stone is visible. Perhaps, many years have passed since the name or dates have been read, and not the least doubt that is Joseph, Sr., tombstone".—J. R. C.

PICTORIAL EPITAPHS

Sufficit huic tumulus, cui non sufficeret orbis. (This mound sufficeth one whom the world sufficed not.)

Mr. John W. Saling, of Rahway, New Jersey has supplied to this editor a large number of grave stone "rubbings", by which he designates his peculiar art, which show in color and relief, in form and size of the original certain tombstone inscriptions, which he has secured in his examina-tion of old cemeteries and burial places where it appeared to him that the monument record was of sufficient indication of "Colonial First Setlers", who probably had lived in the near vicinity of the burial place, and as surnames and dates clearly point out belong to the families under examination in this SERIES.

The writer is greatly indebted to the unique methods of Mr. Saling in preserving these pictorial epitaphs, which have come into his possession by this gracious service and courtesy. It is too bad that limitations of space prevent the reproduction of all of these illustrations of a new sort of "curioso" which could have been well exemplified by early searchers and genealogists, for the edification of descendants and the preservation of memorials. of memorials.

A few of the more pertinent ones will be produced herein, in illustrative form, as space and opportunity may permit, with page reference properly indicated.

However, although it makes for repetition, there being some few duplications in various lists of this character present in this SERIES, yet, because of the different sources of the data, even for comparative purposes, any duplication will certainly be of value.

Therefore, the superscription or title, indicating the place where Mr. Saling had obtained the pictorial epitaph will be listed below, in recognition of his fine work and because should repetition occur here, it will be more valuable than the more valuable transfer itself statistical record itself.

> PISCATAWAY TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS

(Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 366 et seq.). (Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 366 et seq.). These were purposely given from three sources, n order that no transcription, careless or incorrect, even, should be lost, as different persons have visited the old Baptist Cemetery (now St. James Episcopal Church), at Piscataway, made copies, and the stones are worn, the translations difficult, and some errors appear, but the first record was that of Oliver B. Leonard, supplemented by some work of the writer, but, all checked against a copy made by Mrs. Mary Fisher Colburn, of Fitchourg, Mass., and furnished to the author. Beyond foubt there were other burials, long interred First Settlers, as for instance, not a HULL MONUMENT remains, not any stones for BONHAM, et al., and yet, Oscar I. Martin, (vide, ante, his affidavit, this PART, p. 1020), and there are evidences of burials in the formal records, as "at Perscattaway", not revealed in these lists.

However, a rechecking indicates the following were missed, all the way around, namely;

BONHAM

One list has "ZEDEKIAH BONHAM" died April 16, 1813. This is incorrect and intended for ZEDEKIAH BONHAM CODDINGTON, who d. April 16, 1813, not 1823, (vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 369 and 370) (or April 17), the initials "L. C. B.", intended for Z. B. C. The name of the wife, Zuriah, (p. 370), proves the premise.

MANNING

Here lies the body of JOSEPH, son of Tristum and Joanna MANNING, died June 27, 1732, (Small stone, broken off).

In connection with Capt. NATHANIEL MAN-NING, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 368), "Cherub's head and wings" are indicated.

While this invaluable book-let reveals many important burials—scarcely any before 1765 and none showing very early births, yet the account of ABRAHAM CLARK, SIGNER, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 807), and pictures of his burial plot and stones, at Rahway, render it most distinctive.—O. E. M.

BURIAL PLACE OF REV. JOSEPH HULL

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 25, 1933

Dr. Orra E. Monnette Bank of America Bldg. Los Angeles, Calif.

Dear Dr. Monnette:

Last summer I spent some weeks near Bar Harbor, Maine, and visited several places along the coast on account of my interest in the life of Rev. Joseph Hull at York and on the Isles of Shoals. I found in a genealogical Dictionary at Ann Arbor, Mich., that he was buried at York, Maine. There, I looked up the historian of the place and was told that the old graveyard had been located immediately in the rear of the hotel, a post card of which I will inclose. He also told me that a suitable bronze tablet would likely be placed there naming the leading colonists. A history of the village of York or York Harbor is in process of preparation. Vol. I is already published. The material of Vol. II is largely ready. It consists mostly of names of colonists and their descendants. Rev. Joseph Hull, (1594-1665), is one of the names of the earliest preachers—perhaps the first, but his family is incomplete.

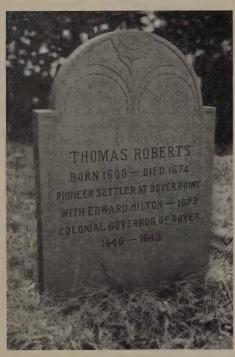

(Soc. of COL. WARS, 1922, p. 259).

Sincerely,

Warren C. Hull, (signed).

GOVERNOR THOMAS ROBERTS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, 1641, AND HIS COAT-OF-ARMS. (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 625).

"S. B. Shackford Attorney At Law Strafford Bank Building Dover, N. H.

Dear Mr. Monnette

Mr. Ralph E. Peake, 12A Forest St., Medford, Mass., casually remarked the other day that he had snapped the Roberts Gravestone and I immediately begged a copy for you. Here it is. Mr. Peake is working on the Heard family. If you run across anything on them I hope you will remember him.

Sincerely, S. B. Shackford."

No. 8. Roberts, of Wales.

Arms: Or, a lion, rampant, reguardant, gules.

Crest: A bull's head, gules.

Motto: Antiqua virtute ac fide.

Note. No. 8. Two reproductions illustrate this coat. One, that of Jean Roberts, who was an esquire of the Order of the Bath, 1724-1730, was copied from Pine's "Order du Bain," printed in 1730. The other is reproduced from an old bookplate. The latter, Thomas Roberts' arms, is shown, the paternal coat quartered with the maternal. The colors are the same as No. 7, red on gold, the crest, a bull's head of red.

DEED RECORDS OF EAST JERSEY

Naturally, land grants, patents, surveys and other originals of similar character provide the fundamental records or documentation making history of settlements and peoples most positive by attachment to both place and date with a large measure of guarantee of actual residence, which may, in the greater percentage, be presumed to have followed the land entry, and is usually sustained by other and collateral evidence. Occasionally, that was not the case, as land entered, purchased, etc., was frequently assigned without the original grantee ever appearing as a settler.

These relate to what has been termed, in its first printing, as the "Documents Relating to the Colonial History of the State of New Jersey, Volume XXI, Calendar of Records in the Office of the Secretary of State, 1664-1703, Edited by William Nelson, (Paterson, 1899)."

This is included in the Archives of the State of New Jersey, First Series, as Volume XXI, and is the great source record within the scope of the title. Very great credit must be given to Mr. Nelson for his compilation in this reference, which leads them all for the particular points made. However, unhappily, the volume contains many errors, wrongfully transcribed entries, misspelled names, and other defects, some patent and some hidden, and the index to the volume is very unfortunate in adopting these errors and defects; and, of course, in any particular research, it is most necessary that recourse be had to the original record book itself.

As a by-product of this fine work is the list of "occupations" given from the original records of the First Settlers and the many place names assembled in the index, which are helpful, together with the very amusing and intriguing paragraph in the preface showing how there was a variation in designating social status. The author there says:

"It is amusingly indicative of the unsettled social status of the seventeenth century immigrants to find the same person described in one instrument as a "husbandman," in another as a "carpenter," then as a "gentleman," and again as a "blacksmith" or a "planter." The names given by some to their plantations—"Bacon's Adventure," "Fenwick's Manor," "Garrett's Choice," "Langstaff's Plain," "Lefevor's Chase," (Le Febvre), "Petersfield," "Robinson's Plantation," "Roysefield," "Smithfield," "Tinton Manor," (et al), are significant of the brave ambitions of the early adventurers to found great estates in the New World, wherein their own family names would be perpetuated, after the manner of the Mother Country neighborhoods whence they came."*

This Volume XXI of the New Jersey Archives being available to nearly every person in most libraries, beyond the extensive quotations made in this Series at many points, it has not been thought necessary to attempt any review, analysis or digest of the records covered by this particular volume, which is designated "Calendar of New Jersey Records, 1664-1703". As appears by the references, it has been used continuously throughout this compilation.

But, at the Secretary of State's office in Trenton, New Jersey, there are many other original record books covering land grants, etc., and conveyances, which give many important names, items and dates referable to the history and genealogy of the First Settlers; in fact, the following, which was assembled by Dr. Joseph H. Satterthwaite, under commission of this compiler, repeated here, gives a very fine list of First Settlers of Piscataway and Woodbridge.

The usual errors arising from the chirography, transcription, etc., occur, but at a minimum, and the bracket sur-name changes appearing are those inserted by this author as within his more certain knowledge. No corrections have been made, where the error is apparent and the correct surname is clearly indicated. A few maybe doubtful, as to correct surname.

*This custom was carried out more elaborately and specifically, in Colonial Maryland, where, under the manorial system, each manor or land grant was designated by the title, employed by the original grantee or occupant. Notably was this true in the case of ISAAC MONNET, Calvert County, before 1700, who used the manor name of "GERER", after the manor in ancient Poitou, France, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 847). (MONNET, p. 262).

Olive Adelaide Hull-Monnette

At the age of 18 years, a cherished medallion, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 286). Mother of Orra Eugene Monnette, who signed her signature to the following:

"His heart was as great as the world, but there was not room in it to hold the memory of a wrong."

hms M. J. Monnette

(Found, 1933, written in an old French book, her book, of years before).

EXEMPLAR

I saw a fine face in the passing crowd, Unknown to me; Good to look upon, virtuous, kind. It started a train of memory, Rushing through the years. The blood tingled, surged in my veins, For the resemblance to another haunted me. Many come and go along the highway, And I pass them without noticing and likewise unnoticed.

They bring no influence to me, Nor I to them. But this face reminded me,

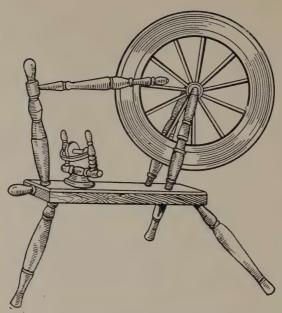

That the best in me, Of goodness and kindness, I owe to my mother;

Her face is mirrored in my soul.

Before the advent of the factory, the spinning wheel was a household necessity.

Dark mahogony four-posters graced many early homes. COLONIAL FURNITURE, still in the home of Orra Eugene Monnette, in his childhood. (Courtesy of The West Virginia Review, Charleston).

PLEASING DIGRESSION FROM TEDIOUS ENTRIES

LIST OF FREEHOLDERS OF MIDDLESEX

COUNTY, NEW JERSEY, 1750.*

(Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 379-381).

This list, as presented, has been supplied to this editor, in printed form, as originally issued, and makes a very, fine old "source record" documents. and makes a very, fine old "source record" docu-ment. It has been checked with the GODFREY list, as certified, and needs no repetition here, except that the title page should be preserved, as given in the pamphlet, together with a foot-note, as follows:

"LIST OF The Freeholders of Middlesex, as returned by John Deare, Sheriff, about 1750, or a little earlier. * * * "

little earlier,

(Foot-note). *"Copied in November, 1886, by Professor, (now President), Austin Scott, Ph. D. of Rutgers College, from the original, in the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court, and presented to the New Jersey Historical Society." Historical Society.

However, long study of these N. J. names enables the writer to make some very necessary corrections in the names, as given from both sources, leading back to the mispelling and chirography of the original document. These are presented, as follows:

WOODBRIDGE, 1750

Alwood and Alford are corruptions of Alward. The names should be John Alward, Benjamin Alward and David Alward, while St. Arnall should be Stephen Arnold; Wm. Britton, sic., William Brittain.

Samuel Crow should be Crowell, Phillip Dolidridge should be Philip Doddridge, David Deboonrepose should be David de Bonre-

S, Peter Elston should be Peter Alston, Peter Elston should be Peter Alston, from William van Vliet:

Thomas Gach should be Thomas Gage.

Jonathan Hornett should be Jonathan Harned,
Thomas Haden should be Thomas Hadden,
William Hider should be William Hyder,
Jonathan Insley should be Jonathan Ilsley,

Elisha Insley should be Elisha Ilsley. It is doubted if ever Insley should have been recognized or used as a N. J. surname, being of a common root origin.—O. E. M.

John Inyart should be John Enyart.

JOHN RINOE, in one, (John Rince, in the other list), is clearly JOHN RAINS or RAINES of contemporary records, (which proves, vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 219-221), and is identical with RYNO and the first JOHN RHOYNO of E. (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 431.—O. E. M.).

William Runalls should be William Reynolds.

Joseph Shadwell and John Shadwell recover the old English form, for SHOTWELL, used con-temporaneously.

William Tharp should be William Thorp, as well as Daniel, Benjamin, Thomas and Zebulon Thorp of the records.

James Wilkenson should be James Wilkinson, et

William McDonall is clearly William McDaniel of the F. S. strain.

PERTH AMBOY, 1750

Andrew Robison should be Andrew Robinson. JOHN HULL, sic., is correct, and he represents the branch of this P. family then extant in P. A., and is identificable.—O. E. M. Thomson should have THOMPSON, as a sur-

Charles Rolison should be Charles Rowlandson, (Eng.)

Matthias Iselstine should be Uselton, desc. of the

John Rue is a shortening from La Rue, French Hug. (as vide, this PART, post, p. indic.), as well as Matthew La Rue, John Parine, Peter Parine, Daniel Parine, Henry and James Parine are all senseless corruptions of the Fr. Hug. Perrin, first of S. I.

Several Buckaloes are mispellings of the orig. Buckelew, of which Peter Buckelew was F. S., as Fr. Hug. Buckelieu.

The worst is Francis Lott (or Lotto) which was, with John Lott, William Lott, clearly was, wi

PISCATAWAY, 1750

Peter Kemble should be Peter Kimball.

PISCATAWAY, 1750

Peter Kemble should be Peter Kimball.

Moses Lonzada is correct, of which Lonsadel is another form.

Aria Boram is a famous old F. S., changed to Oriah Boram is a famous old F. S., changed to Oriah Boram and John is the same, not BORUM. Israel Fulsom should be ISRAEL FOLSOM, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 705). All forms of Clief should be reduced to van Cleve, as Cornelius van Cleve, a prominent F. S.

Evert Duyckinck is correct. (Colonial N. Y.). Longstaff is a perversion of Henry Langstaff, a famous F. S., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 836).

Doctor Marser, (sic.) is a plain corruption of Doctor MERCER, of the GEN. HUGH MERCER clan, orig. Fr. Hug.

David Furott should be DAVID FAUROT. All forms of Sickel should be reduced to van SICKLE, as Abraham Van Sickle, a famous F. S. Edam Masalason should be Reune Runyon.

Peter Laboyteuk should be Peter Laboyteau. Cornelius Buyce is another form of BOICE, as BOYCE. The same of Jacob Buice.

Benjamin Vanveighten should be Van Vechte. All, many forms of Marlett, as Melott, Morlatt etc., are properly, as GEORGE MARLETT, (or Merlett), all desc. of S.I. family.

Lawrence Reuth should be Laurence Routh. Samuel Mackfferns should be McFerrin or Macpherrin.

William Mackridiah was a corruption of Wilpherrin.

William Mackridiah was a corruption of Wil-

John Longstaft was John Langstaft.

The James (————), should have omission supplied, as JAMES MANNING, certain.

John Holtom should be John Holton,
Paul Bertowe is a corruption of Paul Bartow.

Frederick Vroom is erroneously given in one list for Hendrick Vroom.

BENJAMIN HULL is correctly given, (never HILL), and represents the sale mature suprimore.

BENJAMIN HULL is correctly given, (never HILL), and represents the sole mature survivor of the name, then, 1750, a freeholder at Piscataway. Both CAPTAIN BENJAMIN HULL, the first F. S., and his son, ENSIGN BENJAMIN HULL, F. S., being then deceased, and JUDGE BENJAMIN HULL, son of the first HOPEWELL HULL was then also deceased. Therefore, this was the third BENJAMIN HULL, brother of JUDGE JOSEPH HULL, (afterwards of Newton), who had gone to Peapack first, before 1750). (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 831).

PLEASING DIGRESSION FROM TEDIOUS ENTRIES

(for a single page, and illustrations.—O. E. M.).

LIST OF FREEHOLDERS OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY, NEW JERSEY, 1750.*

(Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 379-381).
This list, as presented, has been supplied to this editor, in printed form, as originally issued, and makes a very, fine old "source record" document. It has been checked with the GODFREY list, as certified, and needs no repetition here, except that the title page should be preserved, as given in the pamphlet, together with a foot-note, as follows:

"LIST OF The Freeholders of Middlesex, as returned by John Deare, Sheriff, about 1750, or a little earlier." * * * " little earlier, (Foot-note). *"Copied in November, 1886, by Professor, (now President), Austin Scott, Ph. D. of Rutgers College, from the original, in the office of the Clerk of the Supreme Court, and presented to the New Jersey Historical Society.

However, long study of these N. J. names enables the writer to make some very necessary corrections in the names, as given from both sources, leading back to the mispelling and chirography of the original document. These are presented, as follows:

WOODBRIDGE, 1750

Alwood and Alford are corruptions of Alward. The names should be John Alward, Benjamin Alward, and David Alward, while St. Arnall should be Stephen Arnold; Wm. Britton, sic., William Brittain.

Samuel Crow should be Crowell, Phillip Dolidridge should be Phillip Doddridge, David Deboonrepose should be David de Bonre-

Peter Elston should be Peter Alston, William Flatt is a corruption of William van Vliet:

Thomas Gach should be Thomas Gage.
Jonathan Hornett should be Jonathan Harned,
Thomas Haden should be Thomas Hadden,
William Hider should be William Hyder,
Jonathan Insley should be Jonathan Ilsley,

Elisha Insley should be Elisha IIsley. It is doubted if ever Insley should have been recognized or used as a N. J. surname, being of a common root origin.—O. E. M.

John Inyart should be John Enyart.

JOHN RINOE, in one, (John Rince, in the other list), is clearly JOHN RAINS or RAINES of contemporary records, (which proves, vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 219-221), and is identical with RYNO and the first JOHN RHOYNO of E. (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 431.—O. E. M.).

William Runalls should be William Reynolds. Joseph Shadwell and John Shadwell recover the old English form, for SHOTWELL, used contemporaneously.

William Tharp should be William Thorp, as well as Daniel, Benjamin, Thomas and Zebulon Thorp of the records.

James Wilkenson should be James Wilkinson, et

William McDonall is clearly William McDaniel of the F. S. strain.

PERTH AMBOY, 1750

Andrew Robison should be Andrew Robinson. JOHN HULL, sic., is correct, and he represents the branch of this P. family then extant in P. A., and is identificable.—O. E. M. Thomson should have THOMPSON, as a sur-

Charles Rolison should be Charles Rowlandson.

Matthias Iselstine should be Uselton, desc. of the Matthias Iselstine should be Uselton, desc. of the first Francis Uselton of S. I.

John Rue is a shortening from La Rue, French Hug. (as vide, this PART, post, p. indic.), as well as Matthew La Rue.

John Parine, Peter Parine, Daniel Parine, Henry

John Farine, Peter Farine, Daniel Parine, Henry and James Parine are all senseless corruptions of the Fr. Hug. Perrin, first of S. I.

Several Buckaloes are mispellings of the orig. Buckelew, of which Peter Buckelew was F. S., as Fr. Hug. Buckelieu.

The worst is Francis Lott (or Lotto) which was, with John Lott, William Lott, clearly LETTS.

PISCATAWAY, 1750

Peter Kemble should be Peter Kimball. Moses Lonzada is correct, of which Lonsadel is Aria Boram is a famous old F. S., changed to Oriah Boram and John is the same, not BORUM. Israel Fulsom should be ISRAEL FOLSOM, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 705). All forms of Clief should be reduced to van Cleve, as Cornelius van Cleve, a prominent F. S.

Evert Duyckinck is correct. (Colonial N. Y.).
Longstaff is a perversion of Henry Langstaff, a famous F. S., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 836).
Doctor Marser, (sic.) is a plain corruption of Doctor MERCER, of the GEN. HUGH MERCER

Fr. Hug.

David Furott should be DAVID FAUROT.
All forms of Sickel should be reduced to van SICKLE, as Abraham Van Sickle, a famous F. S.
Edam Masalason should be Eden Marselissen.
Runnia Runyon should be Reune Runyon.

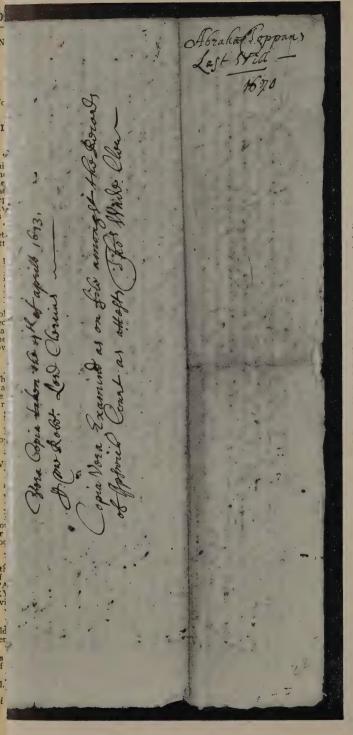

Runnia Runyon should be Reine Runyon.
Peter Laboyteulx should be Peter Laboyteau.
Cornelius Buyce is another form of BOICE, as BOYCE. The same of Jacob Buice.
Benjamin Vanveighten should be Van Vechte.
All, many forms of Marlett, as Melott, Morlatt etc., are properly, as GEORGE MARLETT, (or Merlett), all desc. of S.I. family.
Lawrence Reuth should be Laurence Routh.
Samuel Mackiferns should be McFerrin or Macpherrin.

William Mackridiah was a corruption of Wil-

BENJAMIN HULL is correctly given, (never HILL), and represents the sole mature survivor of the name, then, 1750, a freeholder at Piscataway. Both CAPTAIN BENJAMIN HULL, the first F. S., and his son, ENSIGN BENJAMIN HULL, F. S., being then deceased, and JUDGE BENJAMIN HULL, son of the first HOPEWELL HULL was then also deceased. Therefore, this was the third BENJAMIN HULL, brother of JUDGE JOSEPH HULL, (afterwards of Newton), who had gone to Peapack first, before 1750). (Vide, ante. PART FIVE, p. 831).

NEW YORK CALENDAR OF LAND PAPERS

Of all the Thirteen Colonies, New York has the best and most important Colonial records extant. While deficient in vital statistics, particularly after the Revolution, and somewhat slack in coordination of Public Records, due to recordal irregularity, yet, it is a joy to examine the great storehouse of genealogical data in the State House at Albany, in town and county repositories, and the great libraries in New York City and other advantageous, supplementing places.

As well spoken in the complimentary book review of Mr. Alexander C. Flick, Editor of N. Y. History and a historian of national note, himself certainly without Whereas Mahlon Stacy then of Harnsworth, Co. of York tanner released ye last day of May 1678 to William Emley Sr. then of Mansfield, Co. of Nottingham mercer, 1/3 part of 3 parts to be divided of one of the seven ninetieth parts of ye 19th hundred parts of West Jersey, and William Emley made will April 21, 1704 and gave to his daughter that one cannot be adequately treated, without use of all source material affecting the annals and trends in each Colony, and as related in form, fact and periodicity, one to the other. Certainly in treating of New Jersey, and especially of PISCATA-WAY and WOODBRIDGE, it is absolutely necessary to investigate the history and records of Staten Island. Genealogical control of the con ally, the spread of the latter First Settlers into N. J., and the two towns so important, in the scope of this work, renders an inseparable element, for consideration and inclusion. Neither history nor genealogy would be complete without such inclusion. (Vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 119 et seq.; PART TWO, pp. 147 et seq.; PART THREE, pp. 397 et seq.; PART FOUR, p. 573 and PART FIVE, pp. 675 et seq.). This has been done as a legitimate genealogical presentation in these references. No fully complete list has yet been assembled of Staten Island First Settlers, as they have been derived from different sources. Those heretofore presented have been nearly definite. Therefore, the best and most confirmatory list is yet to come, for land surveys and patents most certainly fix residence, though occasionally the patentee or grantee did not settle upon his patent or grant. However, collateral or other evidence is usually available to establish this foundational fact.

It is not to introduce an idle comment nor to urge an internecine conflict even though no more dangerous than a wordy argument, but by its history, its geography, its natural location, its contiguity, its intercourse, and by other collocations to be assembled, Staten Island should be politically a part of New Jersey. IT NEVER WILL BE, but its genealogical history has always been inseparable, and always will be. Examination of a modern map tells the simple truth of the state-ment; and why New Yorkers never flocked to its early settlement, in perpetuity, no one can explain. The poor, lonely Huguenot settled it, the isolated Englishman occupied Staten Island and Captain John Palmer of N. J., and his land grabbers exploited its territory. Modern sub-divisionists have nearly recovered the lost efforts of Colonial years, but it is a "plum", still belonging to New Jersey, still hanging on New York's "sour apple tree".

the State of New York, 1643-1803, (Albany, 1864).

This covers the points sought to be presented here. The volume owned by the writer is the very last to be placed on state sale, (luckily obtained before it had fully rotted its binding). It was liberally printed and issued years ago, but long since the issue has been dissipated and it is now one of the rare, difficult books to obtain, almost priceless in many respects.

Therefore, for many reasons, and for those above set forth, the following generous quotations from this work, will present record information, which is vital in the presentation of this Series, which should be preserved more carefully and which comes properly within the scope of the field being covered.

Naturally, most of the quoted items relate to Staten Island and to New Jersey, but a few later date entries, affect lineages carried in pioneer settlements in other parts of New York, but still very illuminative, as for instance, AVERY POWER and DANIEL SCRIBNER, (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.). The bracketed surnames have been interjected by this editor.—O. E. M.

It establishes the supremacy of PHILIP WELLS, et al., as the Surveyor of Staten Island, later Surveyor of dividing line between East and West Jersey (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 636), and see Map, (vide, ante, this PART, frontispiece); and of the larger part of the lands described. Also, some familier New Jersey names, as for instance:

ORIGINAL FIRST SETTLERS PATENTS AND SURVEYS AS FIRST LISTED

In the very old town of Perth Amboy, New Jersey, which was originally the seat of Government, for the old Province of East Jersey, there is located and kept open for official service, to this day, the original office of the Colonial Surveyor, whose present technical title is Registrar or commonly, Surveyor of the State of New Jersey, and the duly qualified occupant is Judge Adrian Lyon, a descendant of F. S.

The old, original building still stands, a little red brick, square, structure, with Colonial appearances, and is situated immediately in the rear of the municipal town hall of Perth Amboy, located upon the square, and this surveyor's office contains the only first copies of records and documents, within the purview of its official records, at this period of New Jersey history, which are to be found nowhere else in original form in official New Jersey.

These old volumes, with their quaint and early chirography and solemn entries, reveal ancient history and facts of New Jersey settlement.

The office is in charge of Mrs. Genevieve C. Shull of Perth Amboy, who is most gracious to visitors and proudly displays these old volumes to the eager eye of the searcher and investigator.

Out of these tomes and ancient books many facts of history can be gleaned, and they contain much of historical import. No attempt has been made to republish in any complete form, what these volumes show. Certain copies have been taken by others and deposited in the library and official record offices at Trenton, some have been published in fragments, and others referred to. But, within the scope of this work, there are certain entries of which this is a source record place and which, even at the risk of slight repetition, are to be presented in this PART SIX, for further elucidation of the fixed, land ownership, occupancy and settlement of the FIRST SETTLERS.

These follow, in certain order, but not altogether chronologically, and each entry, name and place must be determined by its own recital, in larger part.

(Foot-note). It is important to compare this record, as given above, with those entries, called Schedules to Elizabethtown Bill in Chancery, as presented in PART ONE, (pp. 104-107), and in PART THREE, (pp. 345-348), and, likewise, with those entries of Patents, Land Grants, and other Evidences, as presented in PART TWO, (pp. 205-216), derived from different sources. These are taken from photostats. The orig. entries are difficult to read. The transcriber has made some spelling errors, and the linotypist has tried to modernize some of the ancient spelling, leaving off old letter exponents, but the textual facts, names and dates are certainly correct.—O. E. M.).

The importance of these records lies in the land locations and the neighbors, indicated in the descriptive notations.

The tabulation, (supra), is interesting, as showing the total quit rental value of the period, comprising. as it does today, quite valuable land investments in that section,-O. E. M.

N. B. THE OLD SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, AT PERTH AMBOY, N. J., (although not the orig. building), is so unique in the way of an official state office, being so continuously maintained, for so many years, without modern activity of recordation, a pictorial view of this office, is presented, on succeeding page, with the official in charge, Mrs. Genevieve C. Shull, in the doorway. The records running in these pages are taken by photostat from the original records in that office.-O. E. M.

LIB. A.

The Entries of publick Charters, Pattents, Deeds, Writings, and things of and belonging to the Province of East New Jersey being the continuance of publick Entrys from the death of Capta James Bollen late Secretary of this Province who departed this life the day of March Anno Dmni 1682.

To all to whome these Presents shall come, the Right Honorable John Earle of Bath, Thomas Lord Crewe, the Honoble Barnard Greenwill, Esqr Brother of the said Earl of Bath, Sr. Robert Atkins Knight of the Bath, Sr. Edward Atkins Knight, One of the Barrons of his Majesties Court of Exchequer, to whom a certain Tract of Land or Province call'd New Jersey in America is Devus'd by the Last Will and Testament of the Right Honoble Sr. George Carteret Knight and Baronet deceas'd, late Lord Proprietor of the said Province in Trust to be sold for the Purposes in the said Will mentioned send GREETING KNOW YEE That John Earl of Bath, Thomas Lord Crewe, Bernard Greenvill Esqr., Sr. Robert Atkins, and Sr. Edward Atkins do hereby Consent Agree and Declare that all Pattents of any Lands in the said Province granted or to be Granted to any Person or Persons whatsoever shall hereafter be made in the Name only of the Right Honoble the Lady Elizabeth Carteret Widdow the Relict and sole Executrix of the said Sr. George Carteret deceas'd and Grandmother and Guardian to Sr. George Carteret Baronet Grandsone and Heir of the said Sr. George Carteret, deceas'd, And that all Orders, Directions and Instructions to which (touching) any matter or thing whatsoever of for or Concerning the said Province shall be made and Granted by the said Lady Elizabeth Carteret solely, which said Pattent, Orders, Directions and Instructions and every of them shall be and are hereby declar'd to be as good and effectual in the Law to all Intents Constructions and Purposes whatsoever, as if the same were or should be made or granted by the said John Earl of Bath, Thomas Lord Crewe, Barnard Greenvill, Esqr. Sr. Robert Atkins and Sr. Edward Atkins or all or any of them. In Witness whereof the Parties to these Presents have putt their hands and Seals this sixteenth Day of March 1680.

N. B. The above is taken from a photostat copy, in the possession of the writer, and shows definitely the introduction to and character of the following records, as in the Surveyor General's office at Perth Amboy, N. J.—O. E. M.

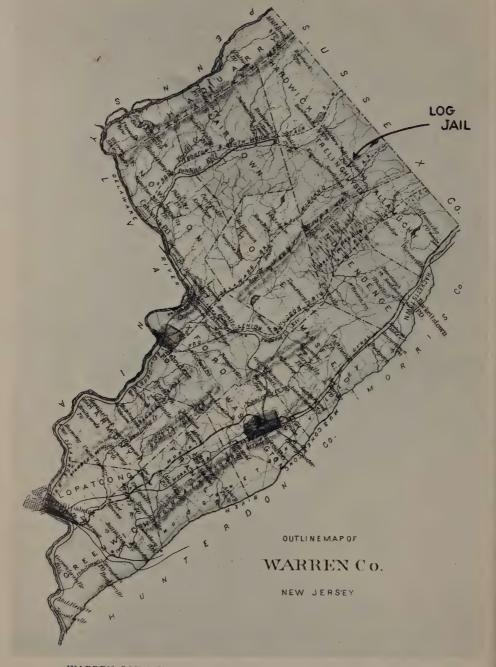

SUSSEX COUNTY was erected from the upper part of Morris County, by an act of the General Assembly, passed June 8th, 1753. (The above is taken from Hist. of Sussex, SNELL, Frontispiece).

Until that date, the people of northwestern New Jersey had, as their public business center, the City of Trenton, and place references were to sections, incl. of Hunterdon, Mercer and Morris Counties, (idem, p. 17). (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 775).

The best old book to consult, the limited, is SUSSEX CENTENARY, (vide, ante, BIB., this PART, p. 963).

The special purpose of the above map is to show Montague Township and the "BRICK HOUSE", refer., (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.).

WARREN COUNTY was erected from the lower part of SUSSEX, (map on reverse), by an act of the Legislature, passed Nov. 20, 1824. (The above is taken from the same volume, as that of SUSSEX, SNELL, pp. 17 and 474).

For the same reasons, as those given under the map of SUSSEX, this geography is important, and all dates must be related to geographical divisions, as at the period noticed, and not as these maps, SUSSEX and WARREN, of date, 1881.

Remembering that WARREN should appear as attached to the southerly limit of SUSSEX, Hunterton County, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 561, with map p. 560), should be studied, as showing the northwesterly trend of migration, in New Jersey, from P. and W., by F. S.

(Explanation: The following indices are printed for the sole purpose of exhibiting names of FIRST SETTLERS, at the dates indicated, so that the searcher can investigate or order certified copy of the record, if he is interested. It should be kept in mind that the scope of this REFERENCE SERIES is to point the way to all FIRST SETTLERS, being inclusive. Many of the names referred to Newark, Elizabethtown and Monmouth County, as appears in each distinction. Copies, partly in photostat, and very difficult to read, and partly by transcript, were obtained through the courtesy of Mrs. Genevieve C. Shull, Perth Amboy, N. J.—O. E. M.)

Robert Cammell should be Robert Campbell.
Dunkan Cammell should be Duncan Campbell, representing definitely the Scotch infiltration.
John Corle was a corruption of John Carle, and prob. Corliss.

prob. Corliss.

William Yeats should be William Yates.

Wetherbil again reminds that there was no Wetherby in early N. J.

Thomas Ashlee should be Thomas Ashley.

John Dally was the ancestor of DALLY, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 598); as Nicholas Dally.

Benjamin Maple was a shortening of Benjamin Shakemaple, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 630).

Judiah Higgins, the same for Jedidiah Higgins.

Conrad Barckaloe should be Buckelew.

Jacob Binge was certainly Jacob Bingla or Binge was certainly Jacob Bingla or

Bingley. NEW WINDSOR, 1750

NEW WINDSOR, 1750

Little attention has been given by others to this community segregation. It is an important group. Isaac Tingall should be Isaac Tingley. William Tingall should be William Tingley. Thomas Tindall may have been such, tho the writer suspects there was no separate surname from original Tingley.

John Tindall to be included.

William flord was written thus, and is another variation from "ffoord," used arbitrarily to distinguish orig. F. S., John Ford, as Eng. terminology has it, even anciently.

The Benjamin Doughty was such, distinguished from the P. Dotey, tho of common Eng. origin.

Others have not been mentioned as their variations are self-evident.—O. E. M.

Item 20; 1668

Peter Jegon. (Peter Jagou as you have it.) Whereas Monsieur Piere Jegon and Monsieur Jean Berthollme Desjordaines have a desire to settle themselves upon the East side of Delawar River at a place between LaCroix Creek and Jeremys Creek over against New Castle being a parcell of land that is already purchased from the Indians, whom it may concern to permitt and suffer the said Piere Jegon and Monsieur Jean Bartholme des Jordaines to settle themselves upon any part or place of the said parcell of land where they think fit and for their best advantage, provided that they will pay their part and proportion of the Indian Purchase and charges and that the place which they shall pitch upon is not already taken up and settled by some other person before the date thereof which said land so taken up is to be surveyed by the Surveyor General or his deputie and confirmed by Patent to them the said Piere Jegon and Jean Bartholmes des Jordaines, their heires, executors, administrators or assignes for ever, provided that they are obedient to the Lawes of the Province and that they observe all such conditions and things as are contained in the Lords Proprietors Concessions given, etc. ditto die. (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 611).

FIRST WHITE MAN IN NEW JERSEY

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 774).

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 774).

The statements in the above may be modified by reference to CORNELIS HENDRICKSEN, who, as a discoverer, only, may have been the first white man "to set foot in New Jersey", (ENCYC, BRIT., 13th Ed., under N. J., p. 508); in this auth., such credit is given to CORNELIS HENDRICKSEN, as of the year, 1616, which was antedated by CORNELIS JACOBSEN MEY, exploring the lower Delaware, in 1614.

This is amplified by DOCS. rel. to COL. H1ST., of N. Y., (gen. ind., p. 266, and Vol. I, pp. 13 et seq.), where "Captain Hendricksen's Report of his Discoveries in New Netherland".

RESERVES FOR PART SEVEN

Several subjects, with name lists, were planned for this PART SIX, which lack of space, now, prevents discussion and reference. As they are deserving of study and research, each will be covered lightly and inadequately, by numerals here; then, reserved for completeness, in PART SEVEN.

I. NEW JERSEY HISTORICAL DOCUMENTS

(Vide, ante, this PART, pp. 981 et seq.).

The main ref. is to ANALYTICAL INDEX,
NEW JERSEY COLONIAL DOCUMENTS, by Henry Stevens, and William A. Whitehead, 1858, (No. 5, N. J. HIST. SOC.), which contains principal items, as "A Description of the Province of New Albion", 1648, in Force's Hist.

Tracts, This was then "Northern Virginia".

DANIEL DENTON'S "Brief Description", etc., as in PART FIVE, (pp. 692-3), and, other documents, since discovered in London and English searches, being made under the direct commission of this compiler, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 469, by Dwelly).

II. The "JOURNAL OF THE PROPRIETORS"

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1138), excerpted by George J. Miller, (never before publ., and under this copy-right.—O. E. M.). From Surveyor General's office, P. A., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1137).

III. CREWKORN, (CREWKERNE), ENGLAND

Birthplace of REV. JOSEPH HULL, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 779, 830 and 880, as in Somersetshire, (vide, ante, idem, p. 830-a). Consult ARCH., (Vol. XXI, pp. 567 and 565), where SAMUEL CURTICE, Sr., d. 1680-1, wife, Elizabeth, and son, SAMUEL CURTICE, of N. J., wife, Jane, orig.

IV. MONMOUTH COUNTY FIRST SETTLERS

Very imperfectly and inadequately given by SALTAR, with errors and omissions. (Vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 167-172). Also consult lists, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 780-781). It is surprising to find names, 1714-16, of Piscataway people, SAMUEL BLACKFORD, SAMUEL BURRELL, Richard Alston, JOSEPH HULL, (HALL?), SAMUEL HULL, Richard Pittenger, Lohn, Clevenger, Jacob, Compton, BENIAMIN John Clevenger, Jacob Compton, BENJAMIN HULL, many LAWRENCES and LEONARDS, et al.; also of W., (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, pp. 50-54, inc.).

These have been rearranged and alphabetized and must be so pub.

V. MACDONALD'S HIST. OF JAMAICA This must be reviewed, as containing hints of genealogy of F. S., N. J.

VI. WOODBRIDGE CHURCH RECORDS

These are now hidden, or lost, and a diligent search fails to reveal. Manifestly DALLY gives an incomplete list, with poss. errors, (vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 111-112).

VII. NEW BRUNSWICK RECORDS

These have not been properly covered, even by historian, BENEDICT. The library at Rutgers University contains many items, collected by the writer, for future pub.

VIII. PROTESTANTISME, (HUGUENOT). PARIS

The MAG., pub. by this Soc. continues, with many items of hist, and gen. import, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. VIII). In the current, (3. Juillet-Septembre, 1933, p. 331), appears a list of Prot. Refugees, 1681-1700 in which appear, 1EAN MONNET, ISAAC MOINNET, "sa feme" and "une fille"; BONNET, SAMUEL ROY, and REYNE, REYNEAU and "MADAME REYNES", all in juxtaposition, and with kin, proving conclusively the contentions of the writer, on this subject, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 431-2), and absolutely confuting LIBBY, (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 219-221), who does not claim to any knowledge of French hist, or gen., (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.).

IX. KILL VON KULL

This reference is to HUDSON, (pp. 3-4), and to BERGEN, (p. 23). Description and geog., but the interest lies in the KULL, from Dutch, COOL, etc., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 422; and post, p. indic.).

X. EARLY METHODIST PREACHERS FROM N. J.

A formidable list has been prepared, culled from METHODISTS, (vide, ante, this PART, BIB., p. 957). They reflect many familiar names, such as HEZEKIAH BONHAM, HOPEWELL HULL, SAMUEL MONETT, 1800-1805, ROBERT BONHAM, (son of Hezekiah), Jacob Gruber, JOSHUA SOULE, who ordained REV. JEREMIAH CRABB MONNETT, 1812, (O. LE. M. has in his possession, the little Bible which he carried in his knapsack, on horseback, as a Methodist Circuit Rider), (MONNET, pp. 787-800). 800).

XI. THORP LETTERS RE QUAKERS (Vide, ante, this PART, BIB., p. 963).

These are most important as they give many N. J. F. S. and descendants, and in "Pennsylvania and Memorials" are gens. which should be preserved, such as Sarah Shotwell, Isaac Horner, b. 1678, John and Elizabeth Hadden from London, Mary Lippincott, John Ridgeway, John Vail, Mary Horner, Hannah Foster, et al.

XII. PISCATAWAY IN NEW ENGLAND, 1637

This valuable book, as indicated, (vide, ante, this PART, BIB., p. 948), under ADMIRALTY, with distinct reference to the title gives a new list of men particularly, illuminating, genealogically, such as, WILLIAM OLIVER, THOMAS BLOOMFIELD, JOHN CAMPION, ROBERT CLEMENT, ROBERT DENNIS, JOHN LEGAY, SHADWELL, RICHARD SMITH, et al., all before 1637-8.

XIII. N. J. SETTLERS REMOVED TO KENTUCKY

This list has been compiled with care, in relationship to the "OLD WILDERNESS ROAD" tionship to the "OLD WILDERNESS ROAD", and, comprising Revolutionary soldiers, as well as kin and companions, and is most cogent and proofful of N. J. origins, among whom are DRAKE, DUNN, HIGGINS, MARTIN, FREEMAN, and JAMES MOONEY, (Monet), 1769, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 849, as given, p. 16), CAPTAIN HUGH DUNN, 1783, JOHN RAINS, and ISAAC HULL, (son of Lieut. Isaac Hull of N. J.), in Mason Co., Kentucky,

XIV. OLD WILDERNESS ROAD

(Vide, ante, this PART, BIB., p. 964).

(Vide, ante, this PART, BIB., p. 964).

The author is preparing an article showing this old trail, sufficiently evidenced and already treated historically, marking the well defined route from Philadelphia, used immediately after the Revolutionary War, and running southward, across Maryland, down the Valley of the Virginia, into North Carolina and Tennessee, via Wautauga settlement, through the planned "State of Frankini", (WILLIAMS; article under preparation for AMERICANA, by O. E. M.); then said OLD WILDERNESS ROAD running through Cumberland Gap, Tenn. passes the campus of Lincoln Memorial University at Harrogate, into Kentucky, from the divergence, a trail led northward to Boonesboro, Ky. founded by Daniel Boone and the end of his OLD BOONE TRAIL, At this point started the OLD WARRIORS TRAIL, northward, across the Ohio River, into Ohio, northward, along the Scioto River, Ross County. Chillicothe, etc. This OLD WILDERNESS ROAD marked the pathway into Tennessee and Kentucky, before 1800, over which over 200,000 First Settlers of the Atlantic seaboard colonies traveled, of which many families sent sprouts into Ohio, notably MONNETT and Hull, et al. MONNETT and Hull, et al.

It may be wondered why they did not assemble at Fort Pitt (Pittsburgh), build canoes and float down the Ohio River. This was hazardous, because of Indian sharpshooting and ambuscades, and with an unknown destination. Before 1800, less than 500 went this way. The subject might be interpreted to have been "the pathway to Ohio", after 1787.

The Kentucky Historical Society has the printed books in its FILSON PUBS., as Pusey, Hutchins, Hulbert, Speed, et al., which comprise hist. lit.

XV. VIRGINIA MILITARY LAND WARRANTS

WARRANTS

The Kentucky Society, SONS OF THE REVOLUTION, rendered to history and genealogy that imperishable, invaluable service in publishing in their Year Book of 1913 a "Catalogue of Virginia Military Land Warrants" growing out of services in the Revolutionary War, (Lexington, Ky., 1913). These were, (title page), Military Land Warrants Granted by the Commonwealth of Virginia to Soldiers and Sailors of the Revolution. (Compiled by Samuel M. Wilson from Records in the State Land Office of Kentucky). In studying colonial migration and pioneering settlements in Kentucky and the Old Northwest, this is the outstanding handbook of genealogy. (pp. 164, et seq.). There is presented an accurate, historic account of "Sketch of Virginia Bounty Land System," which, with authorities, recites the land grant enactments, 1776-1781, with later legislation as late as 1832, whereby "Virginia, holding immense tracts of unappropriated land, adopted the idea suggested by the Continental Congress, of granting land bounties to her officers and soldiers, both on the State and Continental establishments; and, having it more in her power, she was naturally more liberal than Congress in those grants."

These tracts of land extended to what was later the present confines of the State of Ohio.

These tracts of land extended to what later the present confines of the State of Ohio.

Thus, in Ohio, 1783, "to be laid off between the rivers Scioto and Little Miami, on the northwest side of the river Ohio, in such proportions to them as have been engaged to them by the laws of Virginia." The land embraced in this reservation constitutes the Virginia Military district in Ohio, and is composed of the counties of Adams, Brown, Clinton, Clermont, Highland, Fayette, Madison, and Union, and portions of Scioto, Pike, Ross, Pickaway, Franklin, Delaware, Marion, Hardin, Logan, Clark, Greene, Champaign, War-Hardin, Logan, Claren, and Hamilton"

Compare LIEUT. ISAAC HULL, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 620), together with Rev. Soldier, ABRAHAM MONNETT (OLD NORTH-WEST, Vol. X, 1907, pp. 351-2, affidavit of Ann Warren). (SPIRIT, pp. 231 and 250).

XVI. LEE'S VIRGINIA LEGION REVOLUTIONARY WAR

THIS relates to Lieutenant Colonel Henry Lee, of Virginia, whose famous LEE'S LEGION, attained such a dramatic fame, for dashes and skirmishes, as to make of General Phil Sheridan, of the later Civil War, even more reckless and daring, at the same time an humble imitator. George Washington gave his praise to this military organization and the records show great exploits, in behalf of the PATRIOTS. It was comprised of cavalry and recruited from all the military formations of the other colonies, including Virginia, both continental troops and state militas, especially of soldiers from New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and Pennsylvania, which are disclosed by the later military and pension records of soldiers from these sections, in their own affidavits and claims. Virginia, whose famous LEE'S LEGION, at-

The first authority is Saffell, in his "Records of the Revolutionary War", (Third ed., 1894, with McAllister Index of 1913—vide, pp. 288, 425, 500), of these the following:

"OFFICERS OF LIEUT. COL. LEE'S LEGION OF CAVALRY. Henry Lee, Lieut. Colonel (Lighthorse Harry)," et al.

XVII. IMPERIAL ORDER OF THE

YELLOW ROSE

It relates to the original CAVALIERS of Virginia. Of all the patriotic and hereditary societies, of which this writer is a member, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. IX), none commends itself more proudly or sentimentally than the ORDER OF THE YELLOW ROSE. In epitome of its expression, culture, grace and elegance, with an aroma of Attar, the yellow rose, (Claudius Pernet variety), marks distinction and honor. The writer, for many years, customarily wears a selected bud in his lapel, as a precious and significant boutonniere.

The old Episcopal bishop, in discussing the relative merits of the N. E. Puritan and the Virginia Cavalier, may have been partisan or resentful, when he retorted, "I prefer to be a gentleman". Saint or sinner, one wishes always to be a gentleman.

Patriotically, the amusing argument between the self-sufficient New Englanders as to whether Massachusetts or Virginia furnished the larger quota of troops in the Revolutionary War, was beautifully disposed of by McIlwaine, who, in two paragraphs, gave the figures which finished the argument in favor of Virginia. And, since, were the point of any primary importance, roll upon roll of soldiers have been recently discovered showing this patriotic majority. ing this patriotic majority.

XVIII. CALVERT COUNTY, MARYLAND PETITIONERS, 1689

This becomes important as showing in part, the settlers there, at that date, but, more particularly, the removal of FIRST SETTLERS of New Jersey, before 1700. Likewise, the writer must insist upon the name origin of PISCATAWAY, from Piscataqua, New Hampshire, in some unknown relationship to the powerful Indian tribe of the "PASCATTOWAYS" in this section of Maryland, as (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 364), where PISCATAWAY was just as prominent, in contemporaneous period, (vide, the old houses, of the illustration, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 978).

XIX. RADNOR, DELAWARE COUNTY, OHIO

OHIO

A PLACE OF the meeting of the HULL lines from New Jersey with the SCRIBNER lines from New Hampshire. Originally settled by Welsh, it took its name from Radnorshire, Wales, where probably the first settlers here, Isaac Eaton, and Joseph Eaton, found their origins, via, New Jersey, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 604), and DAVID PUGH, in 1804, DELAWARE COUNTY, (pp. 502 et seq.). He gave his name, RADNOR, to the Township, in that County, but the little Village, so known to this day, was for some reason, first called "DELHI", surveyed and laid out, 1833, by Edward Evans, (id., p. 510).

ELIAS SCRIBNER had settled in Delaware Township in 1813, and he was son of SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, (id., p. 317), his brother, SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III, coming from old Liberty Township, (first in Franklin Co.), Delaware Co., later, as both served in the War of 1812, with their brother, JOHN SCRIBNER, AVERY POWERS conveyed to them, as SAM-UEL SCRIBNER, SR., and SAMUEL SCRIBNER, Jr., in 1805.

The name, DELHI, continued till after, 1854.

The name, DELHI, continued till after, 1854. The EATON epitaph and pedigree, in Berlin Township, is one of the most remarkable, ever preserved on a tombstone, and made this lineage, orig. worked out by the writer for Carrie Lucile Janeway in year, 1908, solely possible.

(This differences and corrects lineage as given in Nellie Zada Rice-Mollyneux's Eaton; pp. 627, 631, 634, 650, and see article by O. E. M., in N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Rec., Vol. XLIII, p. 397, in the year 1912).

JOHN, EATON;

Descendants of the DRAKE FAMILY, at Piscataway, joined here the foregoing, as JACOB DRAKE, patriarch of this section, and WILLIAM DRAKE.

The mother of the writer, OLIVE ADELAIDE HULL was born in this Village of Radnor, Oct. 6, 1849, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1085).

TORNADO XX. OHIO STORM OF 1804

The historic error that this was in 1806 is now truthfully corrected by the letter of SAMUEL SCRIBNER, of 1804, as (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1125). THE OHIO STORM occurred in 1804.

p. 1125). THE OHIO STORM occurred in 1804.

"About the year 1806 (?), a tornado passed over a portion of Delaware County, Ohio, which on account of its strength and destruction was designated as "The Great Windfall." Many of the early settlers remember windfalls which did considerable damage, but this was the most devastating of which they have any recollections. It struck Scioto and Thompson Townships, and with a curve swept across the northwest corner of Delaware Township into Troy. Here, in some cases for a mile wide, the great trees were prostrated, and it seemed as if a mighty scythe had cut a swath through the forest. For many years afterwards, the path could be discerned by means of the smaller timber and the decaying logs." * * * * "The first Methodist organization in Troy

"The first Methodist organization in Troy Township was the Windfall Class. It took its name from the fact that it worshipped in a small Welch's farm, which was situated in the path taken by the "Great Windfall of 1806 (4)," etc.

(Vide, letter, ante, this PART, p. 1126).

XXI. LARUE, MARION COUNTY, OHIO

Seeking its name and origin, as springing from the N. J., Fam., of that surname, a deviation must be taken from the argument of Egle, (Notes & Queries, Ser. 3rd, Vol. III, pp. 124-5), as it is very unlikely that the name was ever Swiss, being strictly French, as an etymon, and very probably the alleged Swiss Fam., given in that article, was out of the loins of the N. J. group.

It is striking that the Town of LaRue, Marion Ohio, should have had its origin in ABRAHAM LARUE, as he was of the lineage of the patriarch of New Jersey, of the same old Huguenot name.

The first given in the records is that MAT-THEW LARUE, of Staten Island, who received a survey and patent for land there in 1684; a tract "of 85 acres of land, situated upon the west side of Staten Island, laid out for Matthew La Rue, by Philip Welles, surveyor, (CAL. of Land Papers, N. Y., p. 28, orig. p. 35). (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1114).

XXII. SUSSEX COUNTY, NEW JERSEY

XXII. SUSSEX COUNTY, NEW JERSEY
This County, formed 1753, out of Morris, received many of its settlers, as sons and grandsons of the F. S., of P. and W., notably HULL and HUNT, so that a few items from a little, old, rare volume, would be appropriate and helpful here, as the book is long out of print and not available, easily, (SUSSEX CENTENARY).

In the above volume are references to JUDGE JOSEPH HULL, and his son, SHERIFF ISAAC HULL. In illustration, the maps of Sussex and Warren Counties are given, (opp pp. 1149-50).

XXIII. OLD MINE ROAD

This historic thoroughfare, leading to the old mines, early a colonist imagination, and later, a reality, represents the pathway along the Delaware River, which in Sussex County became the route by which old P. and W. families made their way north and northwestward, into the county, of which the BRICK HOUSE became the center rallying point, in Montague township, that county, leading on to the section of the old MINISINCK PATENT, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 959 in BIB., and p. 893). MINNISINK, (N. Y. CAL. OF LAND PAPERS, p. 807).

SPECIAL GENEALOGICAL TREATMENT of FIRST SETTLER FAMILIES (Alphabetical, under sub-titles) et seq.).

This reference inaugurated this plan with full explanation, (there called 'Gene-alogical References' and "Preliminary Deductions"), and was preceded by three pages of "Pointed Genealogical Indicaever present to guide throughout this SERIES.

This was followed in PART FOUR with "Special Genealogical Treatment", (pp. 582 to 637, inc.).

PART FIVE, (pp. 786 to 879, inc.), with very particularized and careful statement of which no one could be misunderstanding or critical.

In this PART SIX, (vide, ante, p. 944), this editor has again taken the greatest pains to explain the objective of this interesting method.

The writer has assumed no overbearing, egotistical finality of opinion or of super-cilious judgment and incontrovertible cer-tainty; no ipse dixit or preferential state-ment, such as is prevalent in the Genea-logical World. HE HAS ONLY DE-SIRED GENEALOGICAL TRUTH, If reference or quotation or deduction are employed, they were and are indicated; this editor has neither sought to change, correct nor modify the finest and most experienced genealogical examples of the day. His own opinions are definite and predicated upon evidence, neither speculative nor uncertain. If they differ from those of others, he asks them only to dig as deeply as he has, spend as many hours of labor, time and money as he has, etc., before mouthing, spewing and writing about matters in which the critic and editor do not know or cover the facts. THIS EDITOR WILL EVER ENJOY THE GENEALOGICAL QUARRELS developed in the "Seats of the Mighty", by ipse dixit opinion and ex parte expression, as much as any, but note this PART, (vide, ante, p. 967).

If time, health and finance will permit, this writer hopes to ultimately fulfill the objective made in PART FIVE, (p. 879),

"THIS ENDS GENEALOGICAL TREATMENT: FIRST SETTLER FAMILIES. IT IS DESIGNED TO PRESENT IN PART SIX, COMPLETE AND DEFINITE GENEA-LOGY, IN MODERN FORM," may become real in PARTS SEVEN EIGHT.—O. E. M.

AERTSEN become AETEN or ATON

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 583).

This was strictly Dutch, as see "Dutch Bible", (infra).

(infra).

The first in Colonial N. Y., was prob. JAN AERTSEN indentured, as a servant to Peter Wolphertson for 3 years in 1640; he was in Utrecht in 1647, but lost his land, (CAL., N. Y. HIST. MSS., DUTCH, pp. 14 and 373). There were others of this surname, with other prenoms. partic. RICHARD AESTIN, (id., p. 24).

In the next volume of this auth., (English), the surname is cont.

DAVID ALFORD (ALWARD) OF W.

DAVID ALFORD (ALWARD) OF W.

This is presented to show definite name corruption. He was the son of HENRY ALWARD, (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 787). His will, dated June 11, 1740, proved April 18, 1748, (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 13), names wife, Mary; son, Benjamin, daus. Sarah, Mary and Margaret; children all minors and mentions lands bought of John Heard, Esq., Richard Jones, Benjamin Martin, John Parker, John Bishop of Sam'el Lewis, Jun'r., Sam'el Moores, John Iasle (Ilsley), Timothy Tuttle, David Dunham, Robert Thornell, Jonathan Ilsle (Ilsley), Elisha Frazee, Ephraim Lockhart, and Robert Ayres, (all W. contemporaries), and Peter Martin, Jno. Herriot, et al., but, inventory made by Benjamin Allword, (sic.) et al. (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 13).

(ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 13).

LOUIS ALLAIRE, THE GREAT HUGUENOT

See this FAMILY, in DED., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1016), and Westchester, N. Y., records, with chart in BOLTON, (Vol. I, pp. 677, et seq., with errors), and he was prob. a brother of ALEXANDER ALLAIRE, and overlooking chart errors, (supra), "the more immediate ancestor, was ALLAANDER ALLAIRE, and overlooking chart errors, (supra), "the more immediate ancestor, was PIERRE ALLAIRE, living at La Rochelle, France, in 1465." It was natural that his desc. should found New Rochelle, N. Y. Their association and intermarriages with Gabriel Bernon into Benjamin Faneuil, (of Faneuil Hall, Boston), tell an interesting Hug. story, (N. Y. HIST. SOC., COLL., 1892, Wills, Vol. I, p. 442).

JEAN (JOHN) ALLAIRE OF WOODBRIDGE F. S. bef. 1685.

He was the PIERRE (JEAN) ALLAIRE, bro. or son of ALEXANDER ALLAIRE of West-chester, (supra), as he was in New Jersey, as JEAN ALLAIRE, and the generations fit, his having a son, PETER ALLAIRE, most confirmatory. (Vide ALLAIRE chart).

"1693, Oct. 7,-Endorsement on a deed, Gawen Lawrie to Hendrick Tunis Albert, whereby said Hendrick Tunis conveyes the within specified land to JAN ALLEE, farmer of Essex County." (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 284).

But, Dec. 31, 1685, as "JOHN ALLIANCE", he was a witness to the will of Samuel Guthrie of W., (idem, p. 73), being the same man as otherwise indicates.

In 1756, JOHN ALLER was in Reading Township, Hunterdon Co., poss. a son, and in 1754, PETER ALLER and wife, Elizabeth, were there, too, (Id., Vol. XXXII, pp. 77 and 183). While, PETER ALLAIR was in Amwell, Hunterdon Co., in 1764, (idem, Vol. XXX, p. 191).

PETER ALLAIRE, as ALLER, did not die 1778, of Amwell Tp., Hunterdon Co., will, PETER ALLAIRE, as ADEAR, and that the till 1778, of Amwell Tp., Hunterdon Co., will, dated 1773, May 17, proved, Apr. 1778, naming eldest son, PETER, wife, Elizabeth, son, JOHN, son, Philip, and daus., MARY, Rebekah, Rachel, Sarah, Catharine, Elizabeth, and Anne, all familiar names on the Westchester Alliare Chart, (supra). (ARCH., Vol. XXXIV, p. 14).

The wife, Elizabeth, was the dau. of Johan (Jean) Philipus (Philipp) Kaes (Case), 1754, (ARCH., Vol. XXXII, p. 183).

AMMONET OF VIRGINIA

(Vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 986).

This relates to a certain variation of MONNET, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 473 and 568).

ANDRIESEN or ANDRIESS, ANDRIES

New York Dutch name reduced to LAURENZ and Anglicized as LAWRENCE, (Onderdonk; INGS, pp. 11 and 217; also post, p. indic., KINGS, pp. 11 under DUYTS).

First in New Amsterdam was PETER ANDRIESEN, 1639, (CAL. N. Y. HIST. MSS., DUTCH, pp. 8, et seq.). He had been a seaman in 1633, and with JAN ANDRIESSEN (idem). LAURENS ANDRIESSEN, 1642-4, was a soldier and other items in the records. dier, and other items in the records.

LAWRENCE ANDRIESSEN OF BERGEN

Note indices, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 686), different spellings.

This was the origin of the Dutch LAWRENCE FAMILY of Bergen.

1667, March 26, Confirmatory Patent to Capt. LAWRENCE ANDRIESSEN, and others of this surname, by 1670, (pp. 2, 5, 6, and 14), called Andrian Lawrentsen.

LAURENS ANDRIESSEN was in N. A., 1642, (CAL. N. Y. DUTCH MSS., p. 81).

The Bergen settlement began with this LAW-RENCE ANDRIESSEN, 1668, 1682, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 4-48 and p. 37). In 1674-5, he was a judge in Bergen, Court of Oyer and Terminer, and 1682, was in Hackensack.

By his will, wife and chil. are disclosed, (idem, p. 193), and dated 1679, Aug. 29, named LAW-RENCE ANDRISE and wife, JANNETYE Jans of Nimacques, N. J., with chil. by a first marriage, with Christian Barentz; but, notably, Andres, LAWRENCE, Peter, and THOMAS LAW-RENCE; proved March 19, 1692-3, and subsequent entries indicate use of surname LAWRENCE for all of the second generation, namely; AN-DRIES LAWRENCE, LAWRENCE LAW-RENCE, PETER LAWRENCE, and THOMAS LAWRENCE, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 145, 205, and 366, and Vol. XXXIII, p. 14).

Those unfamiliar with LAWRENCE terminology are unable to distinguish between Dutch and English items.

ANDROVET OF NEW BRUNSWICK

This had its origin in the Staten Island family, first JEAN (John) ANDROVETTE, 1699, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 120, and sub.).

PETER, DANIEL, and CHARLES ANDRO-VET should be noted in New Jersey, before 1730, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 15) from whom sprung many descs.

ANTROBUS OF NEW JERSEY

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 584).

This should be definitely related to this distinguished family of Herts., Eng., (vide, ante, THIS PART, pp. 1000, 1001 and 1005, chart). It was related to LAWRENCE, and BENJAMIN ANTROBUS, first appearing in New Jersey, 1685.

JAMES ARMOUR OF PERTH AMBOY

F. S., merchant, from Scotland, 1685, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 125). His wife was dau. of David Mudie. He rem. to W., living until after 1740-1, and left many descendants in New Jersey, (ARCH., sev. refs.).

STEPHEN ARNOLD, F. S.

STEPHEN ARNOLD, F. S.

First at Middletown, N. J., where in another's will of 1685, he was a bro-in-law to Edward Smith, (ARCH. Vol. XXI, p. 77), and rel. to Phillipp Smith of Newport, R. I. The two men, Andrew and James Bowne, figured. He had bought land in 1682, (idem, pp. 102-3), but in 1690, was called of Pautixit, R. I., but in 1685-6, of Middletown. Associated with ELISHA LAWRENCE, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1026), which raises interesting questions about Arnold ancestry at St. Albans, Herts Eng. Contemp. Richard Arnold was on Ing questions about Arnold ancestry at St. Albans, Herts. Eng. Contemp., Richard Arnold was on Delaware River and in Gloucester Co., and Thomas Arnold in Salem, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, sev. refs.; Index). No attempt is made to identify. Only that this name shall not be overlooked. STEPHEN ARNOLD continued to own land in Monmouth Co., after 1699.

JOHN ATEN, JR., OF RARITAN

Will dated Feb. 4, 1743-4, Somerset Co., yeoman, proved, May 21, 1744. Wife, Jane; "oldest son John," "who receives the Dutch Bible. Sons, John, Rodof and Thomas to have the lands equally," all of which lands were willed to me by my father John Aten." Dau. Cathyne, Thomas Aten, (Sr.) one of the exctrs. (Idem, pp. 25-6).

An Adrian Aten was contemporaneous. He was in Hunterdon in 1728, as Adrian Aten, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 298).

WILLIAM ATKINSON

WILLIAM ATKINSON

In HULL FAM. in AMER., (pp. 355 and 400) is a serious error, repeated by others:
SARAH HULL, dau. of BENJAMIN HULL, and wife, ELIZABETH SMITH, b. April 1, 71717; d. Sept. 15, 1905; m. 1836, WILLIAM
ATKINSON, a M. E. minister, and not JASPER ATKINSON, who was his son, in fact. This is clarified by an affidavit of her granddaughter, Mary Everet Overmyer, just received, of Los Angeles.
—O. E. M.
ATKINSON was a school teacher, in Greene Township, Sussex Co., N. J., as see (SNELL,
p. 429).

AYERS or AYRES OF WOODBRIDGE

This Fam. has received so much in print and has been so frequently referenced in this SERIES. that it is unnec. to repeat here. OBADIAH AYERS was the most prominent at W. (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 576-7, and sub.).

HENRY BACKER, (or BAKER), of E.

(Vide, infra, this PART, p. below).

HENRY BACKER, b. Sept. 26, 1660, resided at E., son of JACOB de BACKER, b. 1631, and MARGARET STUYVESANT, b. 1635, of New Amsterdam, (son of NICHOLAS BACKER and Amsterdam, (son of NICHOLAS BACKER and wife, — Jansen, who came from Holland). MARGARET was a half-sister of the Dutch Governor of N. A., PETER STUYVESANT and STYNTLE PIETERS, of Holland, (HAMILL). (HATFIELD, p. 250).

de BACKER as BAKER

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1023).

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1023).

This fair deduction and clear proof is confirmed by that state genealogist of California, Mrs. Delmar J. Miller (Mrs. Mamie E.) whose husband has a proven descent from JACOBUS de BACKER, or BAKER, first, who m. in the Dutch church in N. Y. City, Margaret Stuyvesant, half-sister of the military Peter Stuyvesant, last Colonial Governor of New Amsterdam. "The name Backer was afterwards Anglicized to Baker when the family moved from N. Y. City to N. J., about 1670".

Strangely confirmatory, (not merely accidental), when a grandson died at E., called Henry Baker, Sr. of E., will dated 1730, Apr. 9, proved Apr. 7, 1735, (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 31), among the 10 children he names a grand child, LAWRENCE BAKER.

BAKER.
Was the mother of THOMAS LAWRENCE de BACKER, of this clan?—O. E. M.

ELIZEUS BARRON OF W.

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 790).

He was there by 1676, and left will 1715, showing father-in-law EPHRAIM ANDREWS, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 27).

HANNAH BATCHELDER, AN ILSLEY WIDOW

She m. ca. 1694, John Batchelder, and lived at Reading, Mass., but she had been the wife of ELISHA ILSLEY, F. S. of W., coming there from Newbury, and in this record names her son, WILLIAM ILSLEY, by deed, Feb. 27, 1701-2, to him, (ARCH, Vol. XXI, p. 149), with by same auth. (infra), was then at W., with LITTLE. (EATON'S READING, pp. 45-6).

JEREMIAH BIRD IN N. J.

A Jeremiah Bird was in E., before 1700, and continued fam. and name as late as the Amer. Rev., (HATFIELD, p. 505).

The one of the title was in E., at the dates of 1722-4, as administrator of the estate of Ebenezer Norcott, of E., a blacksmith. (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, pp. 267 and 341). He had m. previously, before 1717, Abigail, a daughter of Jeffery Jones, of E., (q. v.).

This was a N. E., partic. Conn. fam., and difficult.

He persisted till 1738, or shortly bef. 1739, as 1732 an inventoriest at E., and 1744, "lands bought of Jeremiah Bird," at E. (ARCH. Vol. XXX, pp. 18 and 58).

His will, dated April 19, 1738, proved May 5 of the same, names now wife, and children: Joseph, Abigail Fitz Randolph, Mary King, Prudence Gedis, Hannah Atkinson, Martha Bird and Rachel Kellsey (?). Exctrs, wife Abigail, and son-in-law, Joseph Fitz Randolph. (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 46). The son, Joseph survived, but d. 1740, (idem).

ALICE MARTIN-CLARK-BISHOP

ALICE MARTIN—CLARK—BISHOP
Wife of RICHARD BISHOP, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 792), of Plymouth, m. Dec. 5, 1644, and a babe on the Mayflower, Dec., 1620.
She was a dau, of Mr. Christopher Martin, Mayflower, 1620, who d. Jan. 18, 1621. From Billrike, Essex Co., Eng., with wife and two chil.
(BANKS, p. 70; vide, ante, PART FIVE, p.

5, 1644, RICHARD BISHOP, (HAMILL, Matanzas, Cuba).

SAMUEL BLACKFORD OF PISCATAWAY (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 792).

This surname was clearly a corruption of BLATCHFORD. The proof lies in the interchange of these names, relative to SAMUEL BLACKFORD, in CALENDAR OF LAND PAPERS, (pp. 26 and 29), which shows MATTHIAS BLATCHFORD, on Staten Island, 1683-1684, and SAMUEL BLACHFORD, and the fact that ANTHONY BLACKFORD, afterwards in N. J., was a son of the first, SAMUEL BLACKFORD, in 1684, indicating his then maturity, i. e., b. ca. 1663.

Which forces the conclusion that SAMUEL BLACKFORD was himself b. ca. 1640, and it will be profitable to examine the N. E. fam. for origin. PETER BLACHFORD of New London, 1637, and NICHOLAS BLACKFORD of Newport, 1655.

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1114).

SAMUEL BLACKFORD'S WIFE, ANNE

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 758), "Maiden name of ANN, the wife of SAMUEL BLACK-FORD, is unknown," (GERER, 1915).

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 792). "There is not much to add, except the maiden name, ANNE (or HANNAH, a common perverted use)." "Wife, ANNE MUNDAY," so supplied by a MUNDAY consolicits." genealogist.

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 626), under RUNYON,—it is positively stated by this writer that ANNE BLACKFORD was, in reality, ANNE SMALLEY, dau. of John, F. S., tho' he had only four (4) chil., rec., at Eastham, Mass.; it being highly improbable that there were only four such children, as large fams, were the rule, and misc. Smalleys, otherwise unidentificable, were contemp, and will, deed recs. and contiguity, etc., force this conclusion, to the writer, which is most respectfully insisted upon.—O. E. M.

DANIEL BLACKFORD: WIFE, RUTH HULL

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 845).
A printing error, it should be DANIEL BLACKFORD, instead of SAMUEL BLACKFORD, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 792) Their dau., Kezia Blackford, m. John Molleson, Jr., of P.

BOICE or BUYS, (as orig.), of P.

It is most pleasing to prove the premises of four of the brothers BONHAM, son of HEZE-KIAH BONHAM, as (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1058) where Samuel, Hezekiah, Malakiah, and Zachariah BONHAM were old enough to be on account books at Maidenhead in 1722.

DAVID BONNEFOY OF STATEN ISLAND

DAVID BONNEFOY OF STATEN ISLAND
(Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 402, under De Bonrepos). Were there two identities?
STATEN ISLAND, (Vol. II, p. 867), gives him separate identity and character, as well; being in Census of 1706, aged 40, with wife, Katherine, and children, David and Katherine. Her will, 1714, as a widow, shows her son, Henry Mercey. It is still doubted if the "Bonnofoy" name in New Jersey was intended for this pedigree.
(Vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1017).

DAVID DE BONREPOS OF STATEN ISLAND Pastor, French Church there, about 44 years, from ca. 1690, to his death, 1734, (S. I. Vol. II,

His brother was ELIE DE BONREPOS, who was in latter place, 1671, (BOLTON, Vol. I, p. 606, and BAIRD, Vol. II, p. 203). He came in 1686-7.

in 1686-7.

DAVID DE BONREPOS was denizated 6 Feb. 1695-6, and BOLTON, (p. 594), prints in the same list DAVID DE BONNEPHOY, (q. v.).

The subject had a wife, named Blanche, but on Staten Island, he married the widow of Thomas Stillwell who, in turn, had been Martha Billiou, daughter of the first Peter Billiou, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 702). The minister d. in 1734, leaving will, dated June 16, 1733, proved May 6, 1734, (N. Y. HIST. COLL. 1894, Vol. III, p. 148), which is imp. It is sug. that his first wife was Blanche, dau. of Alexander Allaire, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1016).

His brother, Elie de Bonrepos, made a will, dated 3 of April, 1719, proved May 12, 1719, as of New Rochelle, (idem. Vol. II, pp. 189-190).

DAVID DE BONREPOS OF W.

A F. S., on or about 1710, who was a son of Rev. David de Bonrepos of Staten Island, (supra). He is ment in E. Recs., 1738, in connection with the widow, Sarah Coddington. He left a will, dated 1747-8, Mar. 3, then called "of the Borough of Elizabeth, Essex Co., cord-wainer"; proved April 5, 1748. But, his real estate was in W., undoubt. homestead. Executor, wife Mary, and prob. her bros. Daniel and William Moore. Three sons, David, John and Alexander, (indic. of ALEXANDER ALLAIRE), are named, and other children indicated. and other children indicated.

Where other variations of this name occur in

N. J. they refer to this surname rather than to Bonnofoy of Staten Island. Even the "de" and "Bon" have been elided, and the name reduced to Repos or Repost, and even Reppy. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1120).

MORDECAI BOWDEN

MORDECAI BOWDEN

This was a W. J. man, 1683-6, on Delaware River, not far from BENJAMIN ANTROBUS, and is included to show the name, which was O. E. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 363 and 406); SURNAMES, (p. 292), shows the old English form with many variations, pronounced as the title, but when the suffix, "oin" is used, it is a plain rhyme with "coin", and Bowden is not its aristocratic form at all.

In N. Y., 1772, THOS. BOWDEN, (sic.) as see N. Y. CAL. LAND PAPERS, (p. 56-7).

THE CHRISTOPH BRAUCHER BIBLE (Printed in 1767)

About the year 1890, REV. OSBORN MONNETT, (1813-1891), of Norwalk, Ohio went to Findlay, Ohio to look up relatives by the name of Culp and CRABB.

When making some inquiry at the Farmer's National Bank, he learned that the wife of the cashier, Jasper Girard Hull, was Mary Jane Monett, a daughter of CATHARINE BRAUCHER and ABRAHAM MONNETT, and that, she too was interested in securing facts of her family was interested in securing facts of her family lineage and history.

He found Mrs. Hull at her Sandusky Street home, in Findlay, and told her of Old German Bible which contained many records of the BRAUCHER family, having passed from father to son for many years, but was then being cared for by a Mrs. Horn, whose first husband had died early in life of typhoid fever, leaving no heir.

for by a Mrs. Horn, whose first husband had died early in life of typhoid fever, leaving no heir.

Mrs. Hull purchased the best large type English Family Bible, she could find, and took it to Mrs. Horn, whom she found glad to accept it in exchange for the old German one, which she said she could not read and which Mrs. Hull carried home with gladness of heart, that so precious an heirloom was again in the possession of one of the BRAUCHER blood.

When her twin grandsons, Theodore Hull Metzler and Charles Monnett Metzler, were a few days old, Mrs. Hull told their mother, who was her daughter Attie, (so called from her grandmother ARTEMISSA SCRIBNER), that she hoped one of them would become a preacher of the gospel, as was their ancestor, REV. JEREMIAH CRABB MONNETT, and to the one who did she would give her precious heirloom the Christoph Braucher Bible.

BRICK HOUSE, MONTAGUE, N. J.

The following postcard picture was given to the writer, September, 1933, by Mrs. Carrie Wieland, Hainesville, Montague Township, New Jersey, who also loaned an older framed picture of the same for the purpose of copying.

This brick house was famous, first built in 1776, and existing to this day as a point of interest on the state highway in Montague.

The picture copied (above) shows Mrs. Carrie Wieland's father, Johannes Westbrook, with the coach and four, and he owned the property in question for 50 years.

It is difficult to determine the dates of either of the above pictures, as being in the good old "horse days"; and the story is told, that the above "coach-and-four" had driven all the way from the famous "Hoffman House" of N. Y. City, to this point, prob. 1873.—O. E. M.

The above is the business card of the present owner, and landlord, of the BRICK HOUSE, Montague, N. J., who is Justice of the Peace of the Township; his wife, a Notary Public and accountant, and they pleasantly reminisce of the olden days, and the many noted visitors of this famous Hotel. Their deeds to the property, showing a cornering, by description, of the old HULL PROPERTY, before 1800, even to the flat, stone rock, there today, identifying the corner monument. At the corner intersection is a roadway leading to old Minisinck graveyard, and just beyond this highway marker is to be seen the old HULL HOUSE, and homesite, still standing, of which photos were obtained in the SECOND MONNETTE PILGRAMAGE, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 976).—O. E. M.

When the boys' father, Reed Metzler, told George Horn, whose mother had preserved the Christoph Braucher Bible, of this conversation, he said, "well I have promised the BRAUCHER Pewter plates to my daughter, but to the one of your twins, who learns to blow a horn, I will give the brass horn which was carried by a BRAUCHER in the Revolutionary War." It is a matter of deep regret that the horn cannot now be located, because of the death of Mr. Horn and the scattering of the family, as it was a matter of general family knowledge that Mrs. Hull had sug-gested that the CHRISTOPH BRAUCHER Bible should go to one of her twin grandsons, born to her oldest daughter, ATTIE CATHARINE METZLER, where her personal belongings were divided after her death. The Bible was given to Attie, who has had it constantly in her possession only when loaned to her cousin, ORRA only when loaned to her cousin, ORRA EUGUENE MONNETTE to be carried to Los Angeles, for the purpose of photographing and more careful examination of the many records it contains. It was returned to its owner after its long trip, in perfect condition.

BRICK HOUSE, MONTAGUE, SUSSEX, N. J.

This is the most historic and long preserved building in Montague Township, Sussex County, New Jersey. It is located today on one of the state highways and is alleged to have been built in 1776 by Roger Clark, "of bricks of an odd size that were manufactured within three-quarters of a mile of the spot", and from the beginning of its erection was a noted stopping place. For a long time the New York to Oswega stage made this one of its regular places of call. The road running straight away from the front of the Brick House is the old stage route to Decker Town and Jersey City. City.

In 1774 there stood on the site of the Brick House, an old log cabin, occupied by Daniel Decker, and his vrouw "Grieteje". (THE OLD MINE ROAD, Hines, 1908, p. 142).

That had a direct relationship to P. & W. First Settlers, because THE OLD MINE ROAD be-came a thoroughfare, north and northwestward, taken by those who sought new home sites.

taken by those who sought new home sites. It was the center of the community from 1780 onward, passing in chain of title thru the Westbrook and Hull Families, and, about 1800, MAJOR JOHN HULL, and his brother, SAMUEL HULL, were "engaged in mercantile pursuits at the Brick House." They had owned land, with a legal description, cornering at the Brick House, deed of which has been preserved, and where was located the Hull store on the same property, and which is a very old house, a picture of which is given in the accompanying illustration, together with two or three views of the Brick House itself, (opp. pp. 1168 and 1167). ROBERT BURNETT, GENT., PROPRIETOR

"late of Lethentie, Scotland, Esq."

One of the 24 PROPS., (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 51). Signed "Fundamental Constitution of East New Jersey", in 1683, (Learning & Spicer, p. 153). Also, Councillor.

He was a Quaker and member of Chesterfield

Monthly Meeting.

7 Mo. 6, 1705, intentions of marriage, his dau., Margery Burnett and Nathan Alling (Allen).

Land grants, 3 Sept. 1700, 1350 acres to Capt. Samuel Leonard of Monmouth.

Will dated Nov. 24, 1712, prov. 16 Mar. 1714. Sons: John, Robert, Patrick Burnett; Daus: Isabell Montgomery, Meldre, (Allen).

Saml. Atkinson, Daniel Rolson, Robert Field, Wm. Lumass, Witnesses. (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 76).

ALEXANDER BURRELL OF PRINCE GEORGE COUNTY, MARYLAND

This interests one correspondent of this line, and, again, proves association of BURRILL or BURRELL-HAWKINS, in Maryland. Consult MONNET, p. 392, where he m. Eleanor Dent, ca. 1758, and son, ALEXANDER HAWKINS BURRELL, b. Nov. 2, 1763, conclusively proves mother to have been dau. of that contemp. ALEXANDER HAWKINS, then in the same county, in line up of BURRILL records of Md., the picture is complete.—O. E. M. More proof asked for.

BURRILL-HAWKINS

Associated together in N. J. (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 330), and finally in Maryland, this alliance most certainly started in Boston, as actual or coincidental, as it forcibly shows. In the year, 1648, JOHN BURRILL, THO. HAWKINS, JAMES HAWKINS, JOHN COMPTON, THO. SMITH, et al. (HIST. and ANTIQ., Drake, pp. 312 and 490).

And, in 1657, "George Burrill Cooper, fined 10s., for harboring John Gilbert" (1657), who was a P., F. S., (vide, ante, PART THREE, p.

GEORGE BURRILL PEDIGREE

(COMP. AMER. GEN., Vol. FIVE, 1933, p. 637)

Ancestry of O. E. M., compiled, with more detail and points of deduction, than shown in lineage, as pub.). It corrects MONNET, as to Robert Burle, (p. 1115), and adopts intermediate link of that JOHN (FRANCIS) BURRILL, (Coll. proof of N. J., subject to further evidence, so one need not be misled), but it seems specific as to the recordal error of first Francis Burrell of Md., entered as "Provies Burrill", clearly apparent, (Md. Cal. of Wills, Vol. TWO, p. 170). At least this is the most tangible, possible from meager records and corresponding to associated families. (SAVAGE; BURRILL FAM., by Ellen Madge Burrill; vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 410, and PART FIVE, p. 810, and MONNET, pp. 370, 392 and 1115. age, as pub.). It corrects MONNET, as to Robert 392 and 1115.

Recurrence of name, GEORGE BURRILL, in Md., conclusive of line.-O. E. M.

MATTHEW CAMFIELD (CANFIELD)

This original many N. J. descs. A Conn. Fam., from New Haven, Conn., and removed to Newark, N. J. The first MATTHEW CAMFIELD, had dau., (or of THOMAS), Phebe Canfield, m. ca. 1674, John Smith of Milford, (SAVAGE, Vol. IV, p. 123). He died before June, 1673. His descendants spread thru Middlesex Co. (Coll. N. J. Hist. Soc. Vol. VI, Supp., 1866, p. 114).

JOHN CAMPBELL, SENIOR, OF P. A.

Came with Scotch migration in Oct. 1687, bringing wife, and three chil. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 65-8). Direct from Scotland. (Many entries).

Will, d. 1690, dated Dec. 25, 1689, prov. Jan. 1, 1690, wife, Mary, and chil; Ann, Gannieta and JOHN CAMPBELL, JUNIOR, (q. v.), (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 179). (Do., Vol. XXIII, p. 80).

LORD NEIL CAMPBELL, DEP. GOV.

A F. S., and head of a race at P. A.

This illustrious personage figured with distinction and made a monumental contribution to N. J. tion and made a monumental contribution to N. J. history. Prob., the most distinguished of the Scotch who came in 1685, importing himself two certain sons, Archibald Campbell and John Campbell, and possibly a third, Robert Campbell, this fam. was from 1685 at P. A., (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 689; vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 337-8). He received P. of A. to act as Agent for Robert Blackwood of Edinburgh, Scotland, merchant in 1685, (idem, pp. 68-9), for four years. His son, David Campbell, and poss,, son, William Campbell, came in 1695, by ano. boat. (Many refs. in idem.). He d. intestate, 1693-4, admr. to James Dundas of P. A. (idem. p. 209), 1697-8-9, further letters test., to his son, Archibald, (idem. p. 306). (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 80).

Of the above, son, Archibald Campbell, d. 1702,

Of the above, son, Archibald Campbell, d. 1702, will prov. May 12, 1702, (idem. p. 80 and ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 147).

David was certainly a son, d. 1693, will, dated 1687, Aug. 10, with a dau, Hellen Campbell, and her husband, David Herriot, other heirs, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 217 and Vol. XXIII, p. 80). Of these, certainly CALEB CAMPBELL OF W.

these, certainly CALEB CAMPBELL OF W.

John, son of the same, d. 1689-90, left will, dated 1689, Dec. 25, proved, Jan. 1, 1689-90, wife, Mary, and chil. Ann Gawinetta and John, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 801). The latter was that JOHN CAMPBELL, SR., leaving will 1733 of P., who had wife, Mary, son Neill, et al., (ARCH., Vol. XXXI, p. 182).

A son was OTHNIELL CAMPBELL, of W., who d. 1711, leaving will, dated, Apr. 21, 1711, prov. July 31, 1711, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 80).

A son was also that Dugal Campbell of W., who d. 1734, leaving will, dated Oct., 19, prov., Dec. 2, naming him as of W., and chil., among whom was a son, Neile, tho' this testator may have been a son of the first JOHN CAMPBELL, SR., (supra).

SR., (supra).

CALEB CAMPBELL OF P.

Grantee of land there, 1699, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 307). He was a son of DAVID CAMPBELL, (son of LORD NEIL CAMPBELL).

(son of LORD NEIL CAMPBELL).

"About the middle of November, 1667, a sensation was created in the settlement by the arrival of a baby—the first white baby born in the place. The town recognized the event in May (18th) 1717, after the child had grown to womanhood and was married, by the following order: "itt was voatted & allowed yt Caleb Camble shall Draw a Lott with use Jn this fourth Division (of) Lotts. Jn Consideration his Wife was ye first Christian Child yt was born Jn this Town." Her name was Mary Compton, daughter of William and Mary Compton, She married Caleb Campbell, January 1st, 1696. Her grave is still to be seen in the rear of the Presbyterian Church, marked by a brown stone partly covered with moss. The inscription reads as follows:

"In memory of Mary, Wife of Caleb Campbell,

"In memory of Mary, Wife of Caleb Campbell, who died Febry the 15, 1735. Aged 67 years and 3 months. The first Born child in Woodbridge". (*Freeholders' Records, MS., page 30). They had chil.;

JAMES CANADA, of Rowley, Mass. 1671. This is strange name corruption. It became Caneda, Kanedy, and Kennedy, in N. J. (q.

JOHN CARMAN, THE FIRST

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 805).

Cynde, ante, PART FIVE, p. 805).

Came in 1631, in the ship "Lion Whelp", with Rev. Robert Fordham, (his wife's father), and Rev. Richard Denton, (SAVAGE, Vol. I., p. 335; POPE, p. 88; AM. ANC., Vol. II, p. 75; N. Y. GEN. and BIOG, REC., Vol. 13, 1882, p. 48; Gen. of L. I., Werner, p. 49). He m. Florence Fordham, before leaving Eng., and they first settled in Roxbury, Mass. He helped to found Hempstead, L. I., with father-in-law, in 1644. He d. there, 1653, and his wife d. 1656.

- John, b. July 8, 1633, m. 1660, Hannah, and d. 1684. (8 chil. inc. Caleb Carman and Thomas Carman, et al.).
- Benjamin, b., d. in 1694.
- Abigail, b. 1635, m. Benjamin Coe. (Vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 154). III.
- IV. Caleb, b. Aug. 6, 1639, d. 1643.
- V. Joshua, b. 1649, (said to have been blind).
- VI. CALEB, b. Jan. 9, 1645, and living 1661.
- VII. Thomas, b. by 1648, who went to Maryland, (and is so alloted by O. E. M. for def. reasons).

(N. B. Since the above was written by this author, and set in type, this item comes; Muster roll of Captain John Hicks Co., (who m. w. Florence Carman), (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 153), among whom is listed a THOMAS CARMAN, aged 27 in 1673, believed by correspondent, to have been the younger son, of John and Florence Carman, as b. ca. 1646.—O. E. M.).

THOMAS CARMAN OF MARYLAND F. S. in Talbot County, 1669, paid Tobacco tax, (ARCH., Vol. II, p. 229).

It is very evident from the will of WILLIAM BURTON of Kent Co., 30th Apr., 1698, 10th Dec. 1699, that his dau. Margaret Burton, was the wife of THOMAS CARMAN, and was then dead as demise to dau. Margaret and heirs, for land taken up jointly with THOMAS CARMAN, (MD. CAL. OF WILLS, Vol. III, p. 93).

The next generation was rep. by WILLIAM CARMAN, "and his sister", SUSAN CARMAN, in Talbot County, together with WILLIAM BURTON, (MD. CAL. OF WILLS, Vol. II (p. 34), as legatees of Thomas Young, of the same, in the year 1687-8.

A Thomas Carman, prob. son of the first THOMAS CARMAN, was in Queen Anne's Co., as witness to will of Monroe Duncan, will 23 Jan. 1717; 17 Mar. 1717, (MD. CAL. OF WILLS, Vol. IV, pp. 159-160).

The latter apparently d. 1722, leaving wife, Rebecca, et al., in Queen Anne's Co., will 19 Feb. 1721-2; 5 Otc. 1722, (MD. CAL. OF WILLS, Vol. V, p. 125).

He, of the title, was the ancestor of

WILLIAM LEROY CARMAN, PRINTER

Because of his descent from the common CARMAN ancestor of Long Island and New Jersey; and his fine work as printer of FIRST SETTLERS, his pedigree is given here, It will be noted that there is a WILLIAM CARMAN, in every gen., from ancestor WILLIAM BURTON. TON.

Subject was b. Mar. 19, 1885, at Richmond, Ind., living at L. A., Cal., and m. Mar. 28, 1912, Ruth Dorothea Matson.

He was son of WILLIAM SNYDER CAR-MAN, b. Nov. 9, 1852, Franklin Co., Ind. Living, L. A., 1934. He m. Apr. 6, 1879, Mary Antoinette Hodgin.

He was son of WILLIAM HENRY CAR-MAN, b. June 20, 1828, Queen Anne's Co., Md., near Baltimore, and d. ca. 1888, aged 57. He m. Susan Coleman, 1848, Wayne Co.,

He was son of WILLIAM BURTON CARMAN, b. ca. 1793; d. 1875. Queen Anne's Co., Md., m. Henrietta Hollingsworth; slave owner or overseer.

He was the son of WILLIAM CARMAN and wife, Elizabeth, whose sister was wife of Hollingsworth.

He was the son of WILLIAM CARMAN, SR., of Queen Anne's Co., Md., who is in the lineage, following, with wife, Rebecca, prop. BURTON.

N.B. This family claims descent from the first JOHN CARMAN, (supra).—O. E. M.

WILLIAM CARMAN, called "SR." who lived in Queen Anne's Co., and d. there, 1736, leaving will, 3rd May, 1736; 31st May, 1736, and legacies to 2 sons, THOMAS CARMAN and JAMES CARMAN and their heirs; wife, Rebecca, sons, WILLIAM and JOHN, and daus. Elizabeth and Rebecca, with a witness, WILLIAM BURTON, certainly "junior", (MD. CAL. OF WILLS, Vol. VII, p. 188). certainly "junior". Vol. VII, p. 188).

Vol. VII, p. 188).

The widow, Rebecca Carman, d. in 1741, leaving a will, 7th Mar. 1740, 28th Mar. 1741, of Queen Anne's Co., and naming sons, James, Thomas, John, dau. Rebecca, son William, and dau. Elizabeth Hollinsworth, (MD. CAL. OF WILLS, Vol. VIII, p. 124).

A Joseph Carman was in Kent Co., in 1741, (idem. p. 282).

CARLE-CARTEE, "alias Tege"-CORLISS (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 805-10).

LIBBY gives two personalities, viz., Philip Cartee, (p. 130), and Timothy Drisco, "alias Teague" (p. 203). However, TIMOTHY CARTEE in New Jersey had in four records, both "alias Tege" and "alias Timothie", (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 259, 268-9, and 273). As late as 1694,— it is inept for anyone to dispute the primary proposition, as to which was the son-in-law of RICHARD YORKE; it is still doubtful from original transcription.

However, there was an inter-relation between John Hance of N. J., who came from Dover, N. H., 1656-1665, and Tobias Hansen "of Perscatoway, New England", brother-in-law of George Carle, (see Corliss), and so definitely named in the record. Year, 1678, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1128).

IOSEPH CARTER OF NEWBURY, MASS.

The writer is persuaded of this orig. for some W. names. JOSEPH CARTER, (old), 1636, beyond doubt, the father of one of the wives, Mary, of WILLIAM CHANDLER, (q. v., post, p. indic.).

NICHOLAS CARTER OF NEWTON, L. I.

Ident. with that one, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 806). First at Newtown, as see SAVAGE, (Vol. I, p. 341). List, Middelberg, 1656; 1657, 1661, 1664 and 1666, (RIKER, index). (Vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 109). (HATFIELD, pp. 71-2), and shortly after 1681, he d.

PHILIP CARTERET

First Governor and Founder in 1665, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 592).

An excellent account, taken from foot-note DOC. COL. HIST. N. Y., HOLL. (Vol. 2, p. 607).

WARREN CASE CHART

N. J. LINEAGES. This has been compiled with credit given to Mr. Howard Stelle Fitz Randolph and this writer. Mr. Case has been a valued correspondent, at Toledo, Ohio, and does not quite agree with this editor, rel. to FIELD at P., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 822). The "Leonard Records" support the contentions of this writer.

Concerning the wife of Samuel Blackford, note discussion, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1165).

JOHN CATLIN OF NEWARK

Son of Esebell Baldwin, 1671, and "her kinsman, John Warde, Turner", (ARCH. Vol. XXI, p. 31).

He was at Wethersfield, Conn., 1662, of Branford, 1666, and was neph. of Lawrence Ward. (COLL. N. J. HIST. SOC., Vol. VI, Supp. 1866, p. 115).

JOHN CATLIN OF W.

He settled at Newark by 1675, and had wife, Mary, in 1682. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 21 and 53, other refs.). He rem. to W. He remained and did not go to Deerfield, Mass.

BENJAMIN CEVELL OF PISCATAWAY The same as CAVELL.

This is a most interesting source: CAVELL, (only form recognized in EWEN, p. 204). Dutchmen in Essex Co., England, in the Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries, foreigners from denizens of Brabant and Flanders.

It is rather suggestive that this was identical with CARVELL, which was spelled CARVILL, in N. J., (ARCH., Vol. XXII, p. 84), and note, as well, (ante, PART FOUR, p. 592).

BENJAMIN CEVELL, (sic.), was, in 1697, a landowner, at Piscataway, adjoining TIMOTHY CARTEE, Thomas Webster, Thomas Higgins, Thomas Sutton and Hugh Dun, (ARCH. Vol. XXI, p. 269).

JOHN CHAMPANTE, AGENT FOR N. Y.

Son of Sir John Champante, of London, Appointed Agent, or Collector of N. Y., 1699, (Docs. rel. to Col. Hist., N. Y., Vol. IV, pp. 586-7). Quite active for years, (index, idem, p. 127).

He was the same, as at W., called "Champpine", under Philip Carteret, 1670, (DALLY, p. 46). And, again, "Champance", 1716, (ARCH., Vol. IV, p. 257).

JOHN CHAMBERS, F. S., SHREWSBURY

He d. 1687, leaving will dated August 13, 1687, proved Dec. 27, 1687, naming wife, Mary, sons, JOHN, Thomas, Richard, and daus. Mary and Hannah. His wife was named executrix with witnesses John Lippincott, Peter White and Samuel Dennis, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 117; same, ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 86). His name appears in Monmouth records where he came early and his children spread out.

JOHN CHAMBERS, JUNIOR, OF P.

Son of first, JOHN CHAMBERS of SHREWS-BURY, and in 1702, May 28, of P. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 150). Intermarriage and descendants foll. with P. & W., F. S.

WILLIAM CHANDLER OF ROXBURY, MASS.

This rather dist. fam., has been well worked out, and if any descs. in N. J., they are of later gens., (WOODSTOCK, by Bowen, Vol. III, pp. 301, et seq.).

WILLIAM CHANDLER, First, came 1637, and d. Nov. 26, 1641; m. Annis Hooker, sister of Rev. Thomas Hooker of Hartford, etc. and she m. (3), July 2, 1643, John Dane. SAVAGE, (Vol. I, pp. 358-9). (Mr. L. S. MAPES of Brooklyn is compiling N. J. descs.).

WILLIAM CHANDLER OF NEWBURY. MASS.

Contemp. with above, (SAVAGE, Vol. I, p. 359, and COFFIN, p. 297). He was the cooper, (1) wife, Mary," "three of a kind", who d. 29 Oct. 1666. He m. (2) Mary Lord, 26 Feb. 1667, and (3) Mary Carter, 16 April, 1677; chil., Hester, b. 28 Jan. 1652, (long interval), William, b. Dec. 1667, Joseph, b. 19, Nov. 1669, Samuel, b. 29 Feb., 1672, Mary, b. 18 May, 1674. He d. 5 March, 1701, in his 85 year. The migration from Newbury, Mass. to W., N. J.; Carter association. and other coll. evidence, names SAMUEL and JOSEPH CHANDLER succ. in N. J. make more than just prob., that TIMOTHY CHANDLER of P. undoubtedly b. ca. 1650 was his son.

Note int. rec., in RECS, QUART, CTS., ES-SEX CO., MASS., (Vol. VI, p. 332), where WILLIAM CHANDLER was assoc. with HUGH MARCH, et al.

TIMOTHY CHANDLER, SR. OF P.

He was there, before June 27, 1687, his son a grantee, and then he had a son, TIMOTHY CHANDLER, JR., (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 108), who, if of age, put his father's birth, bef. 1650, and his mother, ABIGAIL CHANDLER, who was cert, ABIGAIL TAPPAN, dau. of the first ABRAHAM TAPPAN, of Newbury, unrevealed in vit. stats. This has never been asserted before. Meager recs., but they had chil. rec. in P. Vit. STATS., (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 226, and 242, 229-30); twins, Mary and Martha, b. Sept. 21, 1687, latter, d. Nov. 30, 1687; Samuel, b. June 22, 1690; Abigail, b. July 10, 1693, and certainly Sarah, (post) and that TIMOTHY CHANDLER, JR., of age in 1687, who or his son, in turn, m. Janet Shaw, Nov. 17, 1717, and one of these had wife, Sarah Perigo, in 1718. The son, SAMUEL CHANDLER m. Elizabeth Jones, Jan. 24, 1721.

Very soon, after 1693, TIMOTHY CHAND-LER, SR., d., and his widow m. Dr. Walter Robinson, who d. in 1698, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 857), so that the first husband, TIMO-THY CHANDLER, SR., was dead sometime be-

Sarah Robinson, of P., who was a spinster, left will, dated July 13, 1720, proved Aug. 26, 1720, naming in her will; brother, Timothy Chandler, who has two sons, Abraham and Isaac, both under age, and Samuel Chandler, et al. (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 390). These names persisted in N. J.; soldiers of 1715, in Salem.

JOHN CHAPLIN OF W.

He was a tailor, and there by 1697, receiving grant from JOHN WOODBRIDGE, then of W. too. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 261). In 1700-1, "now the land of JOHN CHAPLIN", (idem, p.

He d. 1709-10, leaving a will, dated Dec. 4, 1709, proved Feb. 2, 1709-10, "tailor" naming wife, Mary, and chil.; Benjamin, John, Mehitabell and Mary. A witness was ROGER HAWK-INS., of W., (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 330), et al., (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 89).

His son, JOHN CHAPLIN, d. in E., in 1715, was a "boatman" referring to sister, Mehitabell, wife of Samuel Butler, of W., et al., as per his will, (idem, p. 89).

AQUILA CHASE, THE FIRST

That excellent Gen., by Mr. John C. Chase, of Kerry, N. H., (personal friend of the writer), President of the N. E. Hist. Gen. Soc., has answered most all, and definitely, the CHASE Queries of the first three generations; and some descendants, not worked out, appear in N. J.

JUDAH CHASE, MOUNT BLANCHARD. OHIO

Descendant of AQUILA CHASE, the FIRST. Descendant of AQUILA CHASE, the FIRST. He was b. in Vermont, in 1791, and early removed to Ohio, where he m. May 5, 1826, SUSAN HULL, dau, of BENJAMIN HULL, and wife, ELIZABETH SMITH, (vide, ante, ill., PART ONE, p. XX; HULL FAM. IN AMER., p. 400). He d. 1871. She was b. 1808, d. 1885, and they left descendants living at Findlay, Ohio, Mrs. (Dr.) A. L. Linaweaver, (vide, ante, this PART, affidavits of JEREMIAH DRAKE, p. 9352 and LOIS DRAKE SCHOENBERGER, p. 9353.

There was a strange rejoining or coming together, in Ohio, of the blood strains of N. H. and Vermont, as CHASE and SCRIBNER, with HULL via N. J.—O. E. M.

CHILD or CHILDS of PISCATAWAY

This must be referable to that SAMUEL CHILDE, ment. in the will of JOHN HANCE, (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.). That one at Barnstable, son of RICHARD CHILD, son of Richard, the first, was bapt. 6 Apr., 1684, and somehow got to N. H., after 1700.

JOHN CILLEY OF W.

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 806-7).

This famous fam, formerly of E, 1665, left sprigs in N. J. The subject was a F. S., at W., and there with wife, Margaret Cilley, in 1690, witnesses to the will of Michael White, etc., of W., dated Dec. 1, 1690 and proved, April 23, 1692, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 226 and Vol. XXIII, p. 505) He was cert., a son of Captain Robert, or at least, a grandson.

CAPTAIN THOMAS CODRINGTON, d. in N. Y. 1710, leaving will, dated Apr. 9, and prov. Apr. 20, leaving wife, Margaret, sisters, Elizabeth and Katherine, and two more sisters unnamed, (N. Y. Hist. Soc. Coll., Vol. 1893, Wills, II, p. 42).

In relation to the above, the MAPP, (vide, ante, p. 1070-a), should be consulted, as it shows these names, as owning land at the date, 1683.—O E. M.

COE OF CONN. AND LONG ISLAND (Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 412-3).

The gen. "Robert Coe, The Puritan", is not complete. There were clearly and at least three sons, born in England; I, John b. 1626; IT, Robert, b. 1627, and: Benjamin, b. 1629. There were certainly other sons and daughters, and association with the first RICHARD CRABBE and CARMAN, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 153).

More chil., than above must be added.—O. E. M. They migrated to Calvert Co., Md., by 1700.

COLVER CREDIT

In connection with the records given, the above title (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 951), reference should be had to a long time friend of the writer, Dr. Cecil Randolph Luton, who was an officer and member of the Sons of the Revolution in the State of California, and a prominennt man in the City of Los Angeles. His record and pedigree on file with the Society, (compiled by O. E. M.), will exhibit an honored descendant of the Culver lineage given in this PART SIX. His widow and family, living at 647 S. Manhattan Place, Los Angeles, California, and his son-in-law, Mr. Dan Ferguson, who is Secretary of the Sons of the Revolution at the present writing and a note-worthy member of that Society. Their courtesies in this connection are gratefully noted.

COLVER-CULVER FAMILY OF N. J. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 951), a genealogy,

EDWARD COLVER THE FIRST

EDWARD COLVER THE FIRST
EDWARD COLVER, the Puritan, founder of the family of Colver, or Culver, in America, emigrated to this country with John Winthrop, the younger, son of John Winthrop the Governor of Massachusetts, and himself, Governor of Connecticut. He was a native of the southeast of England, (see Chapter on "The Colvers in England"), and arrived with the party of emigrants brought out by John Winthrop in the autumn of 1635.* * * *

of 1635.* * * *

* * * * The last years of Edward Colver were passed in this house on the Groton side of the Mystic River. He died in 1685, full of years and of honor (probably 85 years of age). * * * He had married at Dedham, Massachusetts, 19 September, 1638, Ann Ellis, the daughter of John Ellis, one of the signers of the Dedham Covenant. * * * A small headstone, bearing upon one face the roughly cut initials 'E. C.', is supposed to be that of Edward Colver, who died in the village of Mystic, Groton township, New London, in the Colony of Connecticut.

Children:

2 i John, born 15 April, 1640; baptized 19 September, 1641, at Dedham, Massachusetsl, et at. (From COLVER-CULVER GENEALOGY, Colver, p. 39, 40, 42 and 43).

SECOND GENERATION

2 JOHN(2) COLVER (EDWARD(1), the eldest child of Edward Colver the Puritan and Ann eldest child of Edward Colver the Puritan and Ann Ellis, his wife, was born at Dedham, Massachusetts, 15 April, 1640, and was baptized there on the 19th of September, 1641. * * * * In 1672 John Colver was married to Mary, the eldest daughter of Governor John Winthrop of Connecticut. * * * * land granted to him 1661, as mentioned above. The date and place of his death are uncertain. uncertain.

tioned above. The date and place or ms death are uncertain.

Children: I, John; II, Jabez; III, Abigail; IV, James; Sarah, and David.

About 1730 or 1732, a party of Rogerenes emigrated from the vicinity of New London, Connecticut, to Morris County, New Jersey. They were led by John Colver, the party consisting of twenty-one persons in all, among them being Sarah Winthrop, wife of John Colver 3, and ten children. In 1732, on the 2nd of December, the will of John Colver was filed at Black River, Hunterdon County, New Jersey, witnessed by John Peel and Seth Smith (a woman). The records go on to state that soon after this the whole family moved away from Schooley's Mountain, Morris County, where they had located; one son, Jabez, going to Wantage and the other, John, to Monmouth County. John is stated to have returned to Schooley's Mountain later, with his two sons, Thomas and Robert, whose mother is given as Sarah, daughter of Governor Winthrop. Robert bought a tract of land on Schooley's Mountain, and settled upon it, the Colver burying ground being still preserved and now in the possession of the Martinus family, who own the farm. In this graveyard is the tombstone of John Colver, who died in 1760 at the age of own the farm. In this graveyard is the tombstone of John Colver, who died in 1760 at the age of ninety, and is, presumably, that of Robert's father:

COTTON-SPRIGG (Virginia)

Mr. John Bayler Calvert Nicklin, a very conscientious gen., feels that COMPEND., (Vol. III, p. 620), is in error in ascribing to Col. Thomas Sprigg, as wife, "in 1650, Kathryne, widow of Captain William Roper, whose sister, Verlinda Roper, m. Gov. William Stone, of Md."

and is not all correct in hace verba, and that her name was COTTON. Much correspondence and months of search leads this writer to state that the first COTTON error is to be credited to that excellent gen., and his friend, Hon. W. G. Stannard, (deceased), and that the statement by O. E. M., (supra) is correct, from all known or discoverable recs.

RICHARD CRABB(E) OF L. I.

(Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 412-3).

Many correspondents and subscribers interested, partic., as to Md., pedigree.

This compiler came to conclusion, after many years of study and search, (MONNET, p. 1102), that there must be a generation in Maryland between first HENRY CRABB, there 1665, (MONNET, p. 312), and that of RALPH CRABB (1694-1734), and pedigrees parallelling by gens, proved this. The discovery of that THOMAS CRABB in N. J., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 812), furnished the solution, Hence:

NICHOLAS CROSS OF N. J.

B., ten or twenty years before the Revolution, and rem. to Greene Co., Penn. by 1810. Ancestor of that prominent magazine writer and competent genealogist, Frank Clay Cross, of Denver, Col. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 920).

It is believed by this writer that CROSS of N. J. orig. in WILLIAM GLEN-CROSS, of N. Y., 1711, (N. Y. Hist. Soc. Col., 1893, Wills, Vol. II, p. 74), for widow Glencross, 1715, (q. v.), in Freehold, N. J.

It was common, then, to drop a syllable, from a surname, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 689).

CROWE OR CROWELL OF W (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 597).

A part of the senior data, used in this work, was supplied by an old chart, (printed), in the possession of Mr. Horace Dickerman, of New Haven, Conn.

It has been assumed, by others, always that JOHN CROWE and YELVERTON CROWE of Yarmouth were brothers, and the N. J. names and recs. seem to verify this basic idea.—O. E. M.

We are concerned with that one, who m. MARY HULL, who was then deceased, as her husband, when her father, Rev John Drake, d. in 1741, as "Samuel, Thomas and Mary Davis, children of daughter, Mary, deceased." (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 151). This dau, MARY DRAKE, was listed, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, 602), and always has been omitted by others, heretofore. This same will names, BENJAMIN HULL, ESQ., and both facts point to the reason why the DAVIS gravestone was contiguous, at Sampttown, (vide, ante, ill., this PART, p. 1028). Also, (idem, p. 1056).

JOHN DE CAMP OF E.

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 816).

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 816).

The De Camp Gen., (MORRISON, 1900, p. 27), is said to possess errors, of which this writer has made no parallelling investigation. However, it is said that there was a JOHN DE CAMP, b. 1715, bapt. on Staten Island, 1717, who rem. to W. or E, ca. 1735, where deeds recs. show land ownership. He is said to have been buried on the road between Westfield and Rahway, with tombstone inscription, "Died, Oct. 25, 1782, age 67"; beside which is another, bearing; "Deborah De Camp, died Nov. 1, 1793, age 67", and that she was m. to Johannes De Camp as Deborah Morris, Mrs. Maurice Moore, Lynchburg, Va., has investigated and believes these facts to be proven. The writer finds no trace on S. I., and still believes the first De Camp to have been HENRY, as (supra).

Union Co., Hist. Soc., (McCarthy), has recs. of private cemetery, near Scotch Plains, on Raritan Road, verifying above burials and inscriptions. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1038).

ABRAHAM DRAKE OF P. and NEWTON

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 602).

He was a son of the first Rev. John Drake of P., and was b. Apr. 1685, d. May 6, 1763, and m. ca. 1704, Deliverance Wooden, b. Sept. 19, 1683, (dau. of Andrew and Elizabeth Wooden, of Pisc.).

He was named in the will of his father, 1740-1, as his son, and having a son, Abraham, (ARCH., Vol XXX, p. 151), and the latter was Abraham Drake, Jr, in the will of Ensign Benjamin Hull, 1731-3, (idem, p. 254). Again, 1750, (idem, p. 260). And, in 1734 and 1740, he was at Peapack, Somerset, finally Morris Co., where the HULLS went from Pisc. (Idem, pp. 457 and 467).

He d. in 1763, leaving a will, dated July 28, 1759, "of Roxbury Tp., Morris Co.", prov. May 6, 1763, naming son Abraham, and latter's sons, Abraham and Jacob*, and his "eldest son, Nathaniel"; sons, Jacob and Elisha, et al., (ARCH., Vol. XXXIII, p. 120.

NATHANIEL DRAKE, SR, OF ROXBURY

He lived in Morris Co., N. J., and was the eldest son of Abraham Drake, of the same, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1176), and wife, Deliverance Wooden.

He was b. Mar. 17, 1705, at Pisc., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 231). He was in Morris, 1747-8, (ARCH., Vol. XXX, pp. 255 and 381). Again, 1757 and 1760, (idem, Vol. XXXII, pp. 28 and 207), with his relatives, the HULLS, certainly there by 1756.

His wife was named ANN.

His wife was named ANN.

He d. in 1765, was called as in the title, and intestate, with admrs., Nathaniel Drake, Jr., and Samuel Drake, "sons of Nathaniel Drake, Sr", and fellowbondsman, Jabesh Bell, who foll. thruthe fortunes of this fam., (ARCH., Vol. XXXIII, p. 121. He had also, sons, Joseph and John Drake.

NATHANIEL S. DRAKE

He m. Mar. 24, 1819 at Newton, N. J., Elizabeth Nixon and had 9 children: I. Charles, II. Zephaniah, III Samuel, IV. Ida, V. Rachel Ann, VI. NATHAN, VII. Jane, VIII. Nancy Harriet, IX. Aaron Kelse. The writer believes that he was a grandson of the foll. NATHANIEL DRAKE, prob. thru the latter's son, Nathaniel, Ir.

NATHANIEL DRAKE OF SUSSEX COUNTY. YEOMAN

Called "Jr.", and the son of NATHANIEL DRAKE, SR., of Morris County, and wife, (in turn, the son of ABRAHAM DRAKE OF PISC.)

(q. v.).

He had removed to Sussex County, when it was formed, with his relatives, the HULLS, certainly after 1756. He d. in 1778, and left a will, dated Jan. 13, prov. May 2, 1778, which names wife, ANNE (Q.E.D); son, Nathaniel, and sons, Joseph, Samuel and John, with executors—Jacob Drake and Jabish Bell, both of Morris Co., the former being his brother, and who renounced the appointment. (ARCH., Vol. XXXIV, p. 151). This tallies with O.B.L. Records, and the above ABRAHAM DRAKE was the son of the first, Rev. John Drake.

DUKE, (IN GENERAL), NOT P.

Referring to FRANCIS DUKE, (?, vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 403), the writer is all the more convinced that this was most certainly an error for FRANCIS DRAKE. There is no evidence that any one outside of the English proprietors of this name ever appeared in N. J. (Vide, ante, THIS PART, p 952), and they made no settlement, as per records.

He was a prom. F. S. of P., large fam., interm. with many other prom. fams.

When HUGH DUNN, JR., d. 1736-7, he left a will, dated, 1736-7, Jan. 31, prov., Feb. 16, 1736-7, which proves the foll. child. and shows some interesting gen., (ARCH., Vol. XXX, pp. 155-6). He was called, "of Piscataway, Middlesex Co., yeoman"; naming children, HUGH DUNN, (3), Jeremiah, Zachariah, Benjamin, Phinchas, Ruth and Rebecca. Land at P., bought of John Barrowe, (Borrow), formerly THOMAS HIGGINS, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1011); same of BENJAMIN HIGGINS; same of BENJAMIN HARRISON, (vide, ante, the same, p. 1019); brother, JOSEPH DUNN, et al., as Benjamin Wooden, John Wollegas, (WOLLEDGE, vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 877), loseph Fitz Randolph, Edmund Dunham of P., and Jonathan Dunham, his son-in-law, Moses Fitz Randolph, Jeremiah Fitz Randolph, etc.

He was son of HUGH DUNN, JR., of P., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1179), where short biog. is given; emphasized here because of his name appearing on the above Map.

We are interested, too, in the fact, that Sept. 1754, of letters remaining the P. O. at New Brunswick, were listed, BENJAMIN DUNN, of P., and his bro., JEREMIAH DUNN, (ARCH., Vol. XIX, p. 417). (Supra).

Their brother PHINEAS DUNN was drowned, at P., in Raritan River, Aug. 3, 1761. (Idem, Vol. XX, p. 602).

A rare Colonial name, it was def., English, as SURNAMES, (pp. 241 et al.), carries it back to the Runic, AELI, before 1000 A. D., and its counterpart in Hebrew, of the common ELI. The "ing" and "ham", being suffixes, are not true etymons.

RICHARD FENNIMORE OF BURLINGTON

Intermarried with F. S. He was there by 1681, 95 a. on Rancokus Cr., (ARCH, Vol. XXI, p. 349, and add. refs.). Under Daniel Leeds' surveys.

He d. in 1713, leaving a will, dated, Nov. 25, 1713, proved, Dec. 22, 1713, called "of Wellingborough Township, Burl.", naming wife, Mary, and chil., John, William, who has sons, Richard and John, Joseph, who has son, Joseph, et al. (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 161).

BARNARD FIDLER

He was a F. S. of W. in 1680, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 531).

He had a son, JOHN FIDLER, who became a First Settler of Old Hopewell, 1703, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 558). The latter was a legatee of ANDREW SMITH of Hopewell, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 424).

FIELD OF FLUSHING, LONG ISLAND (Oliver B. Leonard Recs.)

The noted genealogist left the following, years ago, in his NOTES to me:

"JOHN FIELD of Flushing was son of AN-THONY, not of ROBERT, the emigrant of Rhode Island, and settled in N. J., about 1690-95. (Vol. 22, p. 166, N. E. H. & G. Reg).

John was grandson of Robert, the emigrant, who had BENJAMIN FIELD, born 1694, son of Robert of Newtown, married Experience Allen. (Idem, Vol. 30, p. 406.)"

The P. and W. phases of this fam., were covered in PART FIVE, (p. 82).

Also compare elaborate chart, "PEDIGREE of FELD, FEILD, or FIELD, of Horton, Shipley, Heaton and Ardsley, West Riding of Yorkshire, and of Bayside, FLUSHING, New York." Opening BOLTON, (Westchester, Vol. I, frontis-piece).

There were two JOHN FIELDS in N. J, almost contemporaneously.

BENJAMIN FIELD of P.

A noted descendant of the same name is the poet of California, BEN FIELD, (vide, ante, THIS PART,p 947).

JOHN FIELD OF PISCATAWAY

In FIELD, (p. 85), is given an account of the Fields of Flushing, New York, by Osgood Field, Esq., which contains the introductory statements referred to elsewhere (vide, ante, this PART, p. above).

That book contains many vital points of genealogy with respect to Field afterwards entering New Jersey, Captain John Underhill, John Hicks—Daniel Denton and Elias Doughty, all of whom are important in Jersey genealogy.

However, it is apparent from this authority that the author concluded that John Field of Piscataway was the son of Anthony Field of Flushing, rather than of Robert, Jr. (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 822; and O. B. L. records supra).

No attempt will be made to argue this matter here, but there is a clear confusion and note (p.

"On Dec. 14, 1695, John Field, of Flushing, purchased ten hundred and fifty five acres of land fronting the Raritan river below Bound Brook, N J. He purchased his Raritan lands from Benjamin Clarke. The deed is recorded in Book G. of Deeds, folios 188-189-190-191, Trenton, N. J. This land is still in possession of some of his descendland is still in possession of some of his desiction ants. He was commissioned a justice of the peace, Feb. 14, 1710, for the counties of Middlesex and Somerset, N. J."

SAMUEL FITZ RANDOLPH OF WOODBRIDGE

He was the son of the first NATHANIEL FITZ RANDOLPH of W., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 823—a son of the first EDWARD FITZ RANDOLPH). He is important because of his denoting the JONES kinship, He m. at W., June 8, 1693, MARY JONES, the daughter of JEFFERY JONES of E., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 249); (q. v.). (STILLWELL, Vol. III, p. 241). They had chil.:

i. Samuel, b Dec. 16, 1694.

ii. Prudence, b. Aug. 20, 1696,iii. Susannah, b. Dec. 30, 1699,iv. Benjamin, et al.

IV. Benjamin, et al.

SAMUEL FITZ RANDOLPH was certainly living in 1740, called "Senior of Woodbridge", and in the same record of estate of Anthony Cordesse of New Brunswick, of which he was made admin.; his son, Samuel Fitz Randolph, Jr., was a bondsman. (ARCH, Vol. XXX, p. 111), and in 1731, when Benjamin Fitz Randolph of New Brunswick, d., he left a will naming his brother, Samuel Fitz Randolph, who was, of course, the last above junior. (Idem, p. 178).

SAMUEL FITZ RANDOLPH, SENIOR, d 1754, leaving a will, dated May 22, 1750, naming wife, MARY, née Jones, and children—Samuel, Prudence Smith, Jacob, (birth not noted above, and then Benjamin was d.), grand-daughter, Susanah Copeland, et al. Prov., Aug. 5, 1754, (ARCH., Vol. XXXII).

The other names and kin indic. in this will are worthy of study.—O. E. M.

REV. EZEKIEL FOGG (not Togg), of WOODBRIDGE

Here is one long standing error, that can be corrected. There was no TOGG, but plenty of FOGGS, and in N. J. ARCHIVES, (Vol. XXI, P. 40), is clear error.

REV. EZEKIEL FOGG, (not Togg), was 1677-8, January 4, "late Minister of Woodbridge", when Henry Jacques, duly acknowledged that he had been "whispering" about him and good wife, Alice, of Symon Rouse, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 625).

p. 625).

DALLY, (p. 80), believes that such a minister never appeared in W., which is not true.

The lineage is clear, being that of the first RALPH FOGG, of Plymouth, 1633, rem. to Salem, freem. 3 Sept. 1634, by w. Susanna had EZEKIEL, bapt. 1, Apr. 1638; and David, 15 Mar. 1640; artill, co., 1644; was town treast. 1637, and for some years, engaged in munic. affairs; but in 1652 his req. to keep an office of intellig. or exch. being refused, he soon went home, was a liveryman of London, of the Skinners Co. and d. 1674. He had, also, John, a merch. of Barnstaple, in Devon. (SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 177).

THE SECOND ISRAEL FOLSOM OF P. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 705).

The Folsom Fam. Assn., is one of the outstanding of such organizations. One of its executives is Mrs. Wendell Burt Folsom, of Exeter, N. H., charming lady and capable genealogist. This writer has been unwilling to follow the Folsom Gen., as to parentage of second ISRAEL FOLSOM, and, after careful review of all evidence, is compelled to adhere to his position as expressed in PART FIVE. The other theory will not stand the test of coordinating data—is humbly believed.—O. E. M.

However, Mrs. Folsom (supra), furnishes a complete list of the second ISRAEL FOLSOM'S children, as follows, which is adopted by this

"Israel (3) Folsom, b., m. 30 Sept. 1713 in Hampton Falls, N. H. (H. Falls m. rec.). Rachel Berry, of Greenland. MAJ. GEN. NATHANIEL FOLSOM N. H. Of the Revolution, in connection with FOLSOM, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 704), it may interest some to pursue this gen. His biog. is given in PENNA. MAG. (Vol. II, p.

He was b. 1726, in Exeter, N. H., "the home of his ancestors for three generations," etc. He saw active military duty since 1755, and d. at Exeter, May 26, 1790. (HEITMAN, p. 231).

BENJAMIN FREEMAN OF W.

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 714).

This is of interest to that excellent patriotic worker and genealogist, Mrs. Howard W. Satterfield, of Plainfield, N. J., a friend of the writer and supporter of this REFERENCE SERIES.

That he was related to that first WILLIAM FROST, of Conn., by association, with LUKE WATSON, seems certain. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 722).

MRS. SUSA YOUNG GATES SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

She was b. Mar. 18, 1856, and d. May 27, 1933, a dau. of the famous Mormon leader and statesman, BRIGHAM YOUNG, (1801-1877), and his wife, Lucy Bigelow.

She was the finest epitome, in character, gentleness, capacity and public service, as reflected in her own personality, and whose contributions to the Field of Genealogy are lasting, valuable and influential.

Present at the first and only convention of its kind, THE INTERNATIONAL GENEALOGICAL CONGRESS, at San Francisco, Calif., in July, 1915, she spoke and participated with ability, ordering begalt to all present. endearing herself to all present.

It was the great honor of the writer to open this Congress as its Chairman, and to set its machinery in motion.

There the writer learned to respect, admire and hail this marvelous woman, who was lately entertained by him for a delightful evening in his home in Los Angeles.

Her intense Americanism, deprecation of any cheap aspects of the marriage relation, due honoring of her father, and her own exemplification of the culture, refinement and character of those of her faith, commanded instant respect and admiration

May glorious acclaim be hers forever .- O. E. M.

JOHN GEDDES OF P.

A Scotch transportation bef. 1689-90, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 191-192, as he came 1684, (idem. p 65), was a carpenter, who d. in 1705, for, July 26, a certificate of "Quietus Estate", granted of the estate of to widow, Elizabeth Geddes, of P. A., (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 182).

GERER of CALVERT COUNTY, MARYLAND (Vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 968).

JOHN GERER OF CALVERT COUNTY. MARYLAND

Almost like the joyous recovery of the "lost coin", in Biblical story, has been the discovery of JOHN GERER, (sic), as a First Settler of Calvert County, Maryland, and although the name was confused with GARY, GERRARD, and, even GEYALL, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1162), the form as JOHN GERER is sufficiently established from related records, as to justify this French etymon, were not a SIEBMACHER recerence, still more conclusive. more conclusive.

Mere conclusive.

He was in Calvert County, in 1689, and must be linked, in some yet unknown, indirect way to the naming of the plantation or manor of "GERER", adopted by the first ISAAC MONNET, in Calvert County, by 1698, or earlier, whose grandson made conveyance of this plantation by the same manorial designation. JOHN GERRERE appears as a witness, to a conveyance, made by Alexandr Magrowder, 10 June, 1664, signing as follows: follows:

(MD. ARCH., Vol. XLIX, 1932, p. 464).

GERER, THE NOM DE PLUME OF THE AUTHOR

This was the name of the ancestral estate of the MONNET FAMILY of CALVERT COUNTY, MARYLAND; why so called, the writer has not had sufficient theory or proof, as it was as usual among the land tracts designations of early Maryland. Therefore, it pleased the writer, as a genealogist to assume this symbol, (vide, ante, PART ONE, Introduction), as relating to MONNET, (p. XXIII).

HOWEVER, there is a German, and then rankish, and finally Hollandische flavor to the Frankish.

WILLIAM GILBERT of PISCATAWAY

He was a debtor to the estate of FRANCIS DUKE, 1683, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1177).

His immediate lineage was that GILES GIL-BERT of Taunton, Mass., related to N. J. kinfolk, partic. GEORGE CHUTE, of Middletown, who d. Oct 3, 1676, and had admin. March 31, 1679. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 43), "whose nearest of kin and lawful heir is GILES GILBERT".

(ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 371).

GILES GILBERT of Taunton. GILES GILBER'I of Taunton, was son or JOHN GILBERT, testified in 1703, that he was above 70 yrs., and remembered 50 years about the Estate of his brother, THOMAS GILBERT, there. (SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 249). This is the general lineage.

HENRY GRUBB OF BURLINGTON

HENRY GRUBB OF BURLINGTON

A Scotch transportation. He came bef. 1685, when he owned land, in W. J., under Revell's Surveys' (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 356). Sev. land entries till 1697, called of Burling. "innholder", (idem, p. 539, and other refs.). They show wife, MARY GRUBB. She was a sister of Thomas Perkins of B. (Idem, Vol. XXIII, p. 360). He d. 1705-6, leaving a will, dated 1695-6, Feb. 11, proved, Jan. 24, 1705-6, naming wife, Mary, and two daus. only, Mary and Elizabeth, under 18, and "mother" Willanat (sic.) Jeannet Grub, living at Stoak, Clims Land Co., of Cornwall, England, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 197). He was frequent, and prob. a brother of THOMAS GRUB(B) of P.

His widow, Mary Grubb, was living 1713-4, in Burling. (Idem, Vol. XXIII, p. 455).

THOMAS GRUB(B) OF P

He was a blacksmith, and came about Oct. 1684, as a servant, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 64), and in 1689-90, had a wife, Jeane, (idem, pp. and in 191-2).

He was def. of P. 1694-1702, (idem, pp. 233 and 334).

He d. at P. 1711, leaving will, dated Oct. 24, proved Dec. 14, 1711. It indicates wife, without naming her; son, Thomas, who was 16 in 1725, selecting guardians, Jeremiah Field, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 822), and William Harris of Pisc.; and two daus. unnamed; but kinsman, William Hooke, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 197). Other familiar names in this record.

GEORGE GWUINAP

This peculiar name is mysterious as to origin, as it follows no etymological rules.

Starting backward, he is noted as one of the debtors to the estate of John Bowne, of Mattawan, Middletown, Monmouth Co. in 1714, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 52). Apparently he was a F. S. of Trenton, Hunterdon Co., in 1727, (idem, p. 514).

JONATHAN HAINES

F S. JONATHAN HAINES was in WOOD-BRIDGE, in 1669, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 531). Quit-renter, 1684-5, for 97 acres, having become the assignee of MARMAKUKE POTTER, who rem. to Staten Island, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 56).

JUDGE SAMUEL HALE OF W.

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 577).

Occasionally he is confused in the recs., (by misspelling or misprint), with SAMUEL HULL, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 831).

It has seemed unnec., to repeat that excellent gen of this fam, as printed in N. E. HIST, GEN REG., (Vol. XXXI, 1877, pp. 83 et seq.), of which tho added facts may be assembled, yet it gives the story of the above, as descended from the first THOMAS HALE, of Newbury, Mass., and (pp. 86-87), and the rem. of SAMUEL HALE, and his partial biog. at W., and intermarriages with HIGGINS and Moses Rolph, there, much intertwined, (vide, ante, this PART, pp. 1010 et seq.).

THOMAS HALL OF SOMERSET

He came about 1700. 1712, he was a witness to will of HENRY MOLYNEUX of Somerset, (ARCH, Vol. XXIII, p. 333), 1714, he was in Hunterdon, (idem, p. 387), 1723, he was of Somerset, (idem, p. 470).

When he d. 1729, he was of Raritan, will dated Dec. 30, 1728, and prov. Sept. 10, 1729, naming wife, Gheery, brother George Hall, and chil.; John, Yakominca, Richard, Kathrine, Elizabeth, (idem, Coll) in the distinct Hammer Markensur History p. 201). His farm adjoined Henry Molyneaux. His wife was prob. the dau. Ariency, of the latter, (idem, p. 333).

COL. ANDREW HAMILTON

Governor of East Jersey (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 697).

Came in 1684, to P. A., (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 68). Wife, Agnes, 1700, (idem, p. 318). Several

He d. in 1704, leaving a will, dated Feb. 26, 1702-3, naming wife, Agnes, proved Nov. 3, 1704. Also, son JOHN HAMILTON, and "Real and personal estate (a mortgage on the patent for the Post Office in America)."

J. (SAVAGE, Vol. 11, p. 331).

The story of his settlement in Monmouth Co., N. J., is told in SALTER, (appx., p. xxxii). Orig. settler, 1667. Deputy, (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 169-170), overseer at a court, held at Portland Point, Dec. 28, 1669. Sept. 1670, he covenanted to make a pair of stocks for the town, for which he was to receive twelve shillings and sixpense. During the brief, sway of the Dutch covenanted to make a pair of stocks for the town, for which he was to receive twelve shillings and sixpence. During the brief sway of the Dutch in 1673, he was appointed "schepen" or magistrate by them. In 1676, he received wararnt for 330 acres of land. The will of JOHN HANCE was dated, March 24, 1707, proved Jan. 27, 1710. It states that he was of Shrewsbury. Tradition makes his origin Wales. "But it is evident that he had lived many years in Dover, N. H., before he came to Monmouth". In his will, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 205), he names his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of THOMAS HANSON, of Dover, N. H.; chil. John, Isaak, Mary Antrim, Elizabeth Worthly, Deborah Corleis, (wife of George, vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 810), Judeth Hardman; and "mentions Samuell Childe and Tobias Hanson of Perscatoway, New England", et al. His wife was excx, taking oath, Feb. 26, 1710-11.

RACHEL HARRISON, wife of BENJAMIN HARRISON, et al.

The latter was the father of JOHN HARRI-SON, REV. SOLDIER.

The grandmother of GEORGE WASHING-TON HULL, (1824-1891), was Polly, or Mary, HARRISON, daughter of JOHN HARRISON and wife, Elizabeth KEARNEY, or BYRAM, (as yet not wholly solved)—O. E. M., of which take notice re the JOHN HULL, of Sussex, 1770,

The claim was not allowed as the soldier and wife, both, had died without making an application for pension, and the children, therefore, were not entitled.

Mary Moffet also stated that there were nine children — six brothers with families:—Samuel, Wilham, Carsly (?), Edward, John, James, and Isaac and English who died without issue. No daus. were ment., just sons. (Recs. Bur. of Pensions, Wash., D. C.). List is not complete.

It may be safely assumed that he was the son, JOHN HARRISON, of his mother's, RACHEL HARRISON, will of 1760 (supra), who, of course, as heretofore supposed, did not die by 1770.—O.

The relationship of HULL, in Sussex, is clear from the foregoing records.

and PISCATAWAY

He was a son of AUGUSTINE HERRMAN, of Bohemia Manor, (vide, Map, 1670, frontispiece, and historical account following, (PART FIVE, pp. 645 et seq.). But the most interesting is the record, presented among N. Y. Colomials, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 154). This ties into RARITAN KILL, in 1666, and the orig. land grant by Sir Phillip Carteret, 16 Nov. 1666. The Herrmans must be associated, as FIRST SETTLERS along the Raritan, from that date, and the fact that JASPER DANCKAERTS chose EPHRAIM HERRMAN, as his guide upon the famous travel tour, 1679-80, through N. J., esp., PISC. and W., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 508 et seq.). (EPHRAIM HERRMAN was then, 1679, married.)

HILTON CHART AND PEDIGREE

(Miss Sarah Louise Kimball and Mrs. Elsie D. Cross)

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 952).

This has been extant for many years and accepted authority, presenting the origin of William and Edward Hilton, Fishmongers of London, England, 1623, in the Baronial Family of London, and/or Hilton or Hilton Castle, Co. of Durham, England. The latter is well known to the College of Heraldry of London, and the coats of arms are definite.

This was based upon English researches made by several English genealogists, as long ago as 25 years, and was never controverted, until the appearance of the Banks article. It is exceedingly unfortunate that Mr. Banks gave no authority, only patent "ipse dixit", which was not acceptable to B. O. of R.

The pathway was previously marked out, by those who pursued a definite trail to its logical conclusion as per Hilton Castle and Hilton arms, the latter always being used in the family.

Dear Mr. Monnette:

Barronial Order of Runnemede

I was indeed glad to hear from you again. Yes, the names of William and Edward Hilton were placed on the eligibility list back in 1930, the certificate having been furnished by Miss Kimball, who has certified to their descent from William Lord Hilton and his wife, Sybilla de Lumley.

I revised the earlier generations on the chart which you sent in and in rechecking it, was forced to exclude the lines to four of the Barons: Roos, Huntingfield, Vesci and Saye. I was able, however, to add to the array, certain other Barons as Lacie, Quincey, Richard de Clare and Gilbert de SAVAGE, (Vol. II, p. 422), clearly had in mind a daughter, MARY HILTON, tho' he ascribed to the wrong husband, and, when JOHN SCRIVEN, of Dover, made his will, 27 Nov., 1674, his wife, was then MARY SCRIVEN, (Scribner). Credit belongs to Mr. Angevine Gowen of York Village, Maine, for the location of the Colonial Cemetery, there, where, beyond doubt, REV. JOSEPH HULL was buried, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1059).

Mr. Gowen, in the accompanying illustrations, is shown, resting from his "digging" labors, holding a skull in his hand, excavated there, which he says is without proof to have been either that of the Reverend HULL, or, facetiously, his own.

I presume that Miss Melinda Earl told you that our great grandfather, Robert Adams, married Patience Hull, daughter of Isaac Hull, Jr. She was born at Trenton, the day the battle of Trenton her parents moved to Mason Co., Kentucky. Robert Adams went to Mason Co. from Fayette Co.,

later went to Chillicothe, Ohio.

Three years ago last summer we drove down to Clinton Co., Ohio, and found the grave of Patience Hull-Adams, located just where her grandson, Franklin Mills, said it was. Perhaps you will recall that the mother of Patience Hull was Massie Vaughan."

Dear Sir:

Dear Sir:

You ask about the "BANK'S History of York, Me.", of which Vol. I has been printed; Vol. II has been proof read and only lacks some further indexing to be ready also.* ** **

Col. Banks died Oct. 21, 1931, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 133). You speak of REV. JOSEPH HULL. Vol. I does not treat of his ministry here, that appears in Vol. II. I have the Mss. of Vol. II, in my possession. ** **

ministry here, that appears in Vol. II. I have the Mss. of Vol. II, in my possession.* * * * * * Unfortunately, there is no church record of Mr. Hull's ministry here. It is known only that he was born 1594, graduated from St. Mary's Hall, Oxford, 1614, etc., and arrived in Boston, May 6, 1635. As he came in the interest of the established church, he soon became the target for persecution by the Mass. Puritan Oligarchy, and followed cruel driving from "Pillar to Post"—no sooner settled in one place, only to be hounded and driven out again, by this bunch of Puritan bigots; and, after a while, he left, and then he returned to New England, in 1661, after sojourning in England, some years; for even after the Restoration, he was hounded from there. He founded the Town of Barnstable, Mass., and represented them in the first General Court of that Colony. He finally settled in what is now Durham, N. H., and on the Isles of Shoals; and is said to have died in the latter place, Nov. 19, 1665, "and is said to have been buried in York, by the information of a descendant." If the Rev. JOSEPH HULL was buried in YORK, there is no doubt as to where the place of burial was. I had previously located by record the site of the ancient "church chapel", or "oratory", but of course could have no authority to dig for graves there; but, when the addition to the Hotel Emerson was made, the excavation for the cellar revealed a large burial place which coincided perfectly with my previous findings. (Vide, ante, this PART, ill., p. 1059). I took some snap shots, one of which I enclose, and the SKULL, which was of a very large, brainy man, may have been that of the REV. JOSEPH HULL; at any rate, Col. Banks remarked "that it was the best looking man of the two". I leave you to judge this yourself. (Note the man and THE SKULL, in the picture ill. infra,—O. E. M.).

Col. Banks was no friend of the Puritanical Oligarchy of Boston, and intended writing a full expose of persecution of the clergy of the established Church of England, as well as their hypocritical excuses for their usurpation of ancient Gorgeana by dishonest measures. I read a few sheets on this, that he began before taken by death, and it promised to be a scathing arraignment of Winthrop and his group. This York History, by Banks, is a York History, from York's point of view, and not that of Massachusetts. (This may explain some critical efforts of the "favorites", in gen., to disparage the fine works of Banks—who knows?—O. E. M.).

I would say that REV. JOSEPH HULL succeeded the Rev. John Ward, who left here before Mar. 1642, and was followed by the Rev. Nathaniel Norcross, in the fall of 1648.* * * * * Very truly,

TO A SKULL

You were a dwelling once. Poor hollow skull, Tenanted by folk Doomed and beautiful.
Thoughts moved within these rooms
Now opened wide Now opened wide
To dust and sun; here dreams
Were born; here, too, they died.
All are gone forth; you stand
Desolate, bereft,
Not even one sad ghost
Haunting the halls is left.

This family originated in the first JOHA JEAN NINGS of Southampton, Long Island, (HOW-ELL, p. 330).

Servant to HOPEWELL HULL at Pisc. in 1687, vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 538). He was called JOHN GONINGS, in 1687, in re estate Captain Francis Drake, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 142) and in 1696/7, as JOHN GINNINGS, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 538).

RICHARD JOHNS OF MARYLAND, LAWYER

He was an attorney in 1700, and in N. J., then representing Edward Perrin & Co., of Bristol, Eng., merchants; and he then gave discharge, Sept. 17, to John Hutchinson, son and heir of Thomas Hutchinson, from all claims upon his father, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 527).

In this rec., he is called "Richard Johns of Maryland" and this is the only discoverable N. J. record, concerning him. It gives further proof of the relationship of New Jersey to Maryland, partic. Calvert County, for there was the home settlement of Richard Johns. (THE THOMAS BOOK, pp. 370-1).

EDWARD JONES OF PISCATAWAY

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 835).

He was certainly the same as d. 1717, at W., as his association with Matthew Force proves. 1699-1700, deed of Thomas Smith to Edward Jones, both of W., for land adjoining Matthew Force, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 148). Thomas Smith had likewise come from P. (Vide, ante, PART TWO, 1696-7, Mar. 15, Will of Robert Curtice of W., "EDWARD JONES, "who lives with me", heir and executor, and among witnesses, Sarah Force, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 824), proved May 12, 1697. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 266). In 1697, he was again called of W., "weaver". (Idem, p. 201).

It is cle P. and W. clear that he had chil, recorded at both (idem auth.).

According to the Southampton reeds., he was b. 1650, which identifies him with the foregoing, and his d. 1717, (1716-1717), and admin. personal estate, by John Skinner, Benjamin Force and Matthew Force, completes the identification. (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 267). Compare with JEFFERY JONES, his uncle.

JEFFERY JONES OF ELIZABETHTOWN

JEFFERY JONES OF ELIZABETHTOWN

He was one of the Eighty Associates, there, and most important as a progenitor of W. fams. It is well to note that he had a brother, Rev. ELIPHALET JONES of Huntington, L. I., and his biog. was given quite accurately in HAT-F1ELD, (p. 8J, with other refs.). It is stated here that he was from Southhold, L. I., where freeman, 1644, claimed to have been a brother of that EDWARD JONES of Southampton, L. I., 1644, whose biog. is given in HOWELL, (p. 355, as "JOHNES and JONES FAMILY", with coat-of-arms). The latter was the father of EDWARD JONES, of P., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p., q. v., and this PART, vide, ante, p. above).

Corcerning the subject of the title, ARCHIVES,

Corcerning the subject of the title, ARCHIVES, (sev. refs.), have many items, but we are interested, in his will. "1717, Dec. 21, as of E., wife unnamed, but sons, EDWARD JONES, "who has sons, Jeffery, Samuel and Edward. Daughters—Susanna, Mary and Abigail. Executors, sons-in-law, Samuel Fitz Randolph, and Jeremiah Bird, et al. Proved Dec. 31, 1717." (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 267).

This proves him to have been the father of the second EDWARD JONES OF W. (Supra).

This proves him to have been the father of the second EDWARD JONES OF W., (supra), his dau. Mary, m. June 8, 1693, SAMUEL FITZ-RANDOLPH, (q. v. ante); his dau., Susanna, m. (This shows the uncertainty and inaccuracy of records themselves, etc., complained about by the PERFECT GENEALOGISTS.—O. E. M., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 968).

The spelling of the name as JOANES here shows that interchange and is part ident. of Southampton Fam. Edward Jones, a brother of the Rev. Eliphalet Jones, (supra).

RICHARD JONES OF NEW YORK

This is interesting, as he owned land in N. J. and very probably was next of kin to the Jones families, at W., as from the following record, he was the close associate of Miles Forster and Benjamin Griffiths, both cert. F. S.

Jamin Griffiths, both cert. F. S.

His will, (N. Y. Hist. Soc. Coll., 1892, Vol. I, pp. 221-4), dated 19th day, 17th month, 1693; proved, Sept. 13, 1693. It shows his wife, Dorcas Jones, widow, Oct. 3, 1693 and "to my two daughters, Dorcas and HESTER JONES, all my lands and meadows within the province of New York and East New Jersey," etc. It is poss. that the last name was a surname, and that his daughter, Hester Jones, was the then wife of Edward Jones of P.

However, the widow Dorcas Jones m. soon Capt. Robert Lurting.

Concerning the daughter, DORCAS JONES, she remained a spinster, and her will was filed in N. J., because of the above inheritance, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 267), where dated 1717, Aug. 2, she is called, "Dorcas Jones, of New York City spinster", in her will, proved July 10, 1719. Her bequest is to her father-in-law ('stepfather), ROB-tert LURTON when it was the state of the sta ert LURTON, who is made executor, (q. v., post, this PART, p. indic.), and, among the witnesses, was THO: FARMER.

The son, JOHN KELLEY, was in Newbury as late as 1671, (COFFIN, p. 160), but soon rem. to W., to become father, prob. of NUGIENT KELLY, (q. v. post).

ABIGAIL KELLY was a F. S. of W., in 1716, with Stephen Kent, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 272).

This is a recent discovery. Where his exact rootage was, has not been ascertained, though most probably he was the first, HENRY KEMBLE, at P. A., 1697-8, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 278). That HENRY KIMBALL was of the stock of the first RICHARD KIMBALL, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 612) is just as certain as can be, since the cognomen of HENRY KIMBALL, must have had its origin in the HENRY KIMBALL, first of Rattlesden, (q. v.), England and HENRY SCOTT, of the same.

LAING OF SCOTLAND TO N. J.

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 782 and 836). Two main lines; WILLIAM LAING to Free-hold, 1685, and JOHN LAING, SR., to P. A., 1685, and four years later to South Plainfield, in Pisc. Prob. brothers.

This gen. has been neglected, as this was a prom. F. S. fam., tho SHOTWELL, (many sep. refs., hard to connect, in indexes).

CHRISTIANA LAING, OF P.

JOHN LAING OF PISCATAWAY

Here is a stumper! Before the LAINGS arrived in 1685, in the deed records is a marriage rec., of "License to marry, 10 July, 1675, for JOHN LAING of Piscataway & MARTHA, ye daughter of JOHN MARTIN, of said Town." Who was he, or poss. date error, say 1685 or 1695, tho JOHN LAING, SR., then had a wife, Margaret, who lived after him, and his son, JOHN LAING, JR., had another wife.—O. E. M.

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 836). Since above query, it is certain that this was a recordal error, and that the m., was to JOHN LANGSTAFF, and not to JOHN LAING, which, again demonstrates PERFECT GEN., from the recs., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 968).—O. E. M.

JOHN LAING, SR., OF P.

(Same as ante, PART FIVE, p. 836).

He came in 1685, from County of Aberdeen, sailing in Captain Voorse' vessel, P. A., Aug. 1685, his wife was MARGARET, (maiden name unknown), and sons, JOHN, Jr., WILLIAM and ABRAHAM, and daus., ISABEL and CHRISTI-ANA. In Dec., 1689, settled at South Plainfield, on a plantation, where he d. in 1698, and wife admr. est. surviving him some 12 years, i. e. d. 1710, and lived at homestead. A consistent QUAKER FAM., follower of WILLIAM PENN., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 992). (LEONARD RECORDS). Founder of Quaker Meetings in P.

He d. 1698, leaving will, dated 1697-8, Feb. 27, called "of Pisc.", with wife, Margaret, and sons, John and William. Nathaniel Fitz Randolph appeared, and prov., July 25, 1698. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 285 and Vol. XXIII, p. 287). There is a deed, 1699, which is certain as to grantees, the second WILLIAM and JOHN LAING, sons of the subject, (idem, p. 306).

JOHN LAING, JR., of P.

Son of JOHN LAING, SR., of the same. He was b. 1680, d. 1728, prom. at P., and m. 1705, ELIZABETH SHOTWELL, (dau. of JOHN SHOTWELL, and wife, Elizabeth Burton, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 802), who in turn, was the son of the first, ABRAHAM SHOTWELL, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 630). Benjamin Smith, William Nicholas and William Webster, all Quakers, witnesses. (Vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 277).

Their records show the birth of dau., Elizabeth, as "second child of John Laing, Jr., born att Plainfield, ye 11th of ye 10th month, 1707".

WILLIAM LAING OF FREEHOLD

(Same as ante, PART FIVE, p. 782).

In 1685, he received commission, as agent, for ROBERT BURNETT, and was sent to N. J., "carries over a family qualified to take up 500 acres", * * * "of land due him about the Town of Pearth", (Deed recs., p. 39). ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 73 and other refs.). Mem. of Assembly for Freehold, 1694.

He had an extensive plantation, acquired, 900 a. in 1713, after the large orig. grant to him and his brother, JOHN LAING, JR., of P., in 1699, from Robert Burnett. His favorite son, was BENJAMIN LAING, to whom he gave choice land, by deed, Mar. 15, 1734-5, a year before his death, his will being prob. Jan. 23, 1735, and dated, June 13, 1735, (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 288). It names seven chil., tho there were more b.; i. William, ii. John, iii. Samuel, iv. George, v. Benjamin, vi. LEE'S VIRGINIA LEGION

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1161).

The proof that it was recruited from other Colonies, in addition to Virginia, lies in this: "LEE'S LEGION, Continental Army. The "Legion" of cavalry, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Henry Lee, of Virginia, contained nearly one hundred Jersey-men." (STRYKER, pp. 57-8).

This is fully supported by orig, letter, from H. R. McIlwaine, State Librarian, Virginia, dated Dec. 4, 1933. He has recently d.

RICHARD LAWRENCE OF NEWARK, N. J.

He was there poss. as early as 1670, (for in that year he was a debtor, as "RICHARD LARENS," to estate of LARENS WARD of Newark, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 490).
When patent was granted to JOHN WARD, TURNER, Sept. 10, 1675, his first tract was, "S. of RICHARD LAWRENCE," (ARCH., Vol.

This suggests, with force, that a dau. SARAH WARD, was the wife of him. RICHARD LAWRENCE was a mem. of the Assembly, 1685, (N. J. Col. Wars, vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 447). PART THREE, p. 447).

LEGAY OF BARBADOS

LEGAY OF BARBADOS

The cue to this is found in the will of Bryant Blackman, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, pp. 41 and 42). This was dated, 1687, Oct. 28, and he was called, "of the Island of Barbados", but all the parties to the settlement of the estate were N. J. people, particularly William Leeds, erroneously called "Victor", and Samuel Leonard.

He left children, and 1697, June 28, Mary, Ann, and Violetta, apparently still minors, "of the Island of Barbados"; Samuel Webb, of said Island, joiners, as guardian of, and JACOB LEGAY, of the same place, gentleman, fellow bondsman. This became LARGE, LEGAY, LEGEE and LARGY, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 10).

THOMAS LECITER OF P.

One of the founders of "The Church in Burlington, N. J." was THOMAS LECITER, of "Stony Brook, Somerset Co." in 1709, (PENN. MAG. Vol. I, p. 466).

He should be considered in connection with the founding of PRINCETON, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 771).

He d. in 1709, leaving a will, dated July 10. Called of Piscataway, East Jersey, but app. lived at Stoney Brook,* * * * and the rest of his estate to JOSEPH WORTH. Prov. Nov. 30, 1709. (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 288).

LEONARD, THE IRON MONGERS
(Vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 956).

I. LEONARD. There were certainly three Leonard brothers: James, of Providence, 1642, Taunton, 1652; Philip, Marshfield, who had son, Solomon; and HENRY, Lynn, 1642, Braintree, Taunton and Rowley; and possibly John, at Springfield, 1639, though doubtful. They were the sons of THOMAS LEONARD, of Pontypool, Monmouthshire, Eng., who did not come to America. The senior, HENRY LEONARD, was the Great Iron Monger.

LIBBY'S LAMENTABLE LAMENT

(LIBBY, Preface to his PART TWO, 1933). This is not fam. gen., just curioso, a sort of unctious ebullition, which, were it not for its inappropriateness, would "evoke a facial ripple". Of course the ripened old age of 71 and a fine conceit may account for these critical peregrinations, but, at best, it reduces genealogical expression of this personal, critical phase, to the point of inviting ridicule. It is best passed off with a laugh. laugh.

First, the poor young lady, who wanted to be a gen., and sought the GREAT AUTHORITY for aid, had to retire discomfitted over BOW-DOIN —well, every one knows the N. E. affectation, in insisting that it should be pronounced as BOW-DEN, for which there is no authority, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1166). If it must be so spelled, the aristocratic BOWDEN cannot be properly employed. In any event the young lady was right in her concept of the family surname origin.

in her concept of the family surname origin.

Then, ref. to a nameless gen., of high flung reputation, or flung high with reputation, who does not reflect upon "innocent, right minded people", and that one, possibly a different person, who "maneuvers" and indulges in "spurious lineages"—the writer is only interested in these expressions, as curious gen. literature, tho he did ask who was intended, in this seeming reflection, but the answer has not yet been forthcoming. The writer here is not averse, at all, to assist in locating this individual, for of all the fetiches of gen. precision, N. E. purity must be preserved, and N. E. perfection, even to any predicated at ed successor to SAVAGE—I AM STRICTLY FOR IT, even to placing a plaque in the CORRIDOR OF THE DEAD, at No. 9 Ashburton Place, but it costs $0000. and the writer has never had the monetary considerations to indulge in that glorification. FAUGH! Charging other people with being devious and unethical is not becoming, and is seldom, if ever, true.—O. E. M.

It is appropriate to say that the writer has re-

It is appropriate to say that the writer has received, unkind and discourteous letters from LIBBY, for a period of ten years, or thereabout, and getting weary of his contentions, since his above publication, 1933, referred LIB.'s RAYNES "claims", to the Society of Colonial Wars of the State of California, which promptly disposed of him and them in formal resolution, stating that he was without right of interference in private memberships, in the Society, and that he offered no proof of his "claims", and fully sustaining this writer.

Subsequently getting just as weary of the HIL-TON "claims" of LIBBY, this writer, who had never originated the CROSS pedigree and never qualified thereunder, originally, but had filed a supplemental, wrote to the Society, Baronnial Order of Runnemede stating LIBBY'S alleged "claims", which were immediately rejected, as not acceptable, as well as BANKS' noted "ipse dixit", (English Homes, etc., p. 118). Naturally, this was quite gratifying to this author.

Let it be said once and for all, that the writer cannot accept all of LIBBY'S ex parte opinions, even with due regard for his excellent recordal preservations; and, likewise, no Society can hold for a single moment, unchallenged, any pedigree papers filed by me in fair belief of its or their authenticity, with continuity, as against reasonable evidence to the contrary or any just criticism of its factors. of its factors.

This writer has never sought "high pedigrees", and only works for the love of the game. There are many such to be found in his N. E. ancestry, of which, this writer has more than 51%.

JONATHAN MARTIN OF PISCATAWAY (For, Mrs. Emojene D. Champine)

He belonged to the tribe of the first JOHN MARTIN, through the latter's son, BENJAMIN MARTIN, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 740).

V. Benjamin, b. in 1656, m. (1) Oct. 24, 1680, Margaret, daughter of Nicholas Reynolds; (2) Nov. 10, 1688, Margaret, daughter of Peter Ellstone, (Alston). (Vide, also, ante, PART THREE, stone, (Alsopp. 423-4).

pp. 423-4).

He is named in the will of his father, Mar. 17, 1687, (ARCH., Vols. XXI, p. 107 and XXIII, p. 308), as son, BENJAMIN MARTIN.

The latter's son, JONATHAN MARTIN, first appears in the records, 1706, as a wit. to the will of JOHN ROYSE, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 396).

JONATHAN MARTIN, (of the title), was b. June 12, 1687/8, d. Aug. 1768, and m. three times. (The fol., in part, from LEONARD RECORDS). He was the son of the first BENJAMIN MARTIN and wife, Margaret Reynolds, who died Jan. 12, 1687-8, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. Jan. 242).

His wives: (1), Elizabeth Dunham, m. in 1706, b. Nov. 26, 1689, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 231), d. bet. 1713, dau. of Rev. Edmund and Mary Dunham.

m. 1713, (2), Martha Runyon, (O. E. M.), b. July 30, 1693, d. bef. 1722, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 237), dau. of JOHN RUNYON and Elizabeth Dunn, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 627).

m. bef. or abt. 1722, (3), Dinah Pyatt, b. Feb. 2, 1703/4, d. 1789, dau. of Jacob Pyatt and wife, Mary Hull, (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 228 and 240).

JOHN McCARTY OF PISCATAWAY

Such he was in 1684, when he obtained marriage license to marry Ann Harman of W. on July 9, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 156).

DANIEL MACDANIEL

He became a settler of Maidenhead by 1701-2, removing from PISC., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 556).

ROBERT MacCLELLAND

F. S. of W., 1685, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, 532).

He had rem. to Hunterdon Co., by 1722, where he owned land, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 561).

WILLIAM MERRILL OF MIDDLETOWN

Ann, born Mar. 4, 1720, (Monnette's Piscataway & W., PART TWO, p. 239).

dren of Jonathan Martin and Dinah Pyatt;
m. abt. 1722 (Leonard):—

James, born abt. 1724 (Coulter, p. 38);

JOHN MORRILL, (MERRILL), F. S., of W.

He came from Topsfield, Mass., where also was then, HALLECK CODRIACK, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 808), and in 1688 they had land transaction, both of W., and GEORGF DARLING, who came from Salem, Mass., (ARCH. Vol. XXI, p. 289). Name sometimes spelled "Murrill", without right.

However, the writer is persuaded that here is a case where MORRILL became distinctly MERRILL, and that the subject was that JOHN MERRILL, son of Nathaniel, from Newbury, Mass., who was ac. 35 in 1667. (COFFIN, p. 309).

It is interesting to note about NATHANIEL MERRILL, and his fam., also called definitely MORRILL, (N. E. HIST. GEN. REG., Vol. VII, p. 85, 2 entries.—O. E. M.).

Even tho' temp. of Topsfield, it is natural that he should follow his Newbury rels. to W.

This fam. went to Maidenhead and Hunterdon.

This fam. went to Maidenhead and Hunterdon, where WILLIAM and RICHARD MORRILL (MERRILL), flourished, (vide, ante, this PART.

JACOB MOLINES

This was corrupted to MOLLINS, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 617). He as such, JACOB MOLLINS was a member of the New Jersey Assembly, in 1668. (What Irishman first started this stupid effort to try to make MULLINS, out of MOLINES, and with the obstinacy of the race persist to make genealogy beclouded rather than clarified?—O. E. M.).

He was clearly JACOB MOLYNS of N. Y. in 1682-3, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 345; also, vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 617).

WILLIAM MOLINES. A FRENCH HUGUENOT

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 843).

It is of course, very gratifying, to have this vexatious question so neatly disposed of, and with final authority in BOWMAN'S STORY of SURNAMES, (1933), (p. 212):

"Nor is SMILES right in finding fault with MULLINS as an anglicized form of MOULINS, the FRENCH term for MILLS. The official might have entered the immigrants' name as MOLYNEUX, which sounds much more aristocratic, but the meaning would only have been slightly modified for MOLYNEUX is the diminutive of MULLINS."

Not a single authority supports the Irish origin and not a Hug. author, but which does not give it as such, now six in all.—O. E. M.

On the BATTLE ABBEY ROLL of WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR was Guillaume de Molines, showing French orig. as early as 1066, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 948-b).—O. E. M.

THOMAS MOLLYNEAUX (THOMAS MULLINEAUX)

F. S. of W., 1683, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 532). (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 114). He d. at E., 1721. Had sons HENRY, d. 1718-9, of Somerset, and PETER afterwards showing, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, pp. 332-3), and, no doubt, et al. PETER MULLINDER, 1718, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1123).

MONNET COAT-OF-ARMS

Given in illustration (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 428). While this subject, more or less close to the heart of the writer, has received extended attention, (heretofore), because of the authenticity of the armour, it is worthy, for the help of others to emphasize the further authentic sources, as (vide, ante, this PART, p. 906). Fine old copies of these books are in the library of this author. Examine PART FIVE, (pp. 608 and 618).

ABRAHAM MANY (MONNET), RICHMOND

CO., N. Y.

Will, dated, Aug. 29, 1777, Prov., Mar. 11, 1780, (N. Y. HIST. SOC., COLL. 1900, Vol. IX, p. 119), is most ill., as the name so became, in early N. Y., and persists to this day, tho' easily pedigreed from the first PIERRE MONNET, there, in 1681, as freq. shown in this SERIES.

ABRAHAM MONNETT, (1748-1810), REVOLUTIONARY SERVICE

This is given in Spirit of Patriotism, (SPIRIT, 250), and represents the qualifications of the riter in the Sons of the Revolution in the State California.

However, it is desired to preserve the fact that the "Affidavit of Ann Warren", (OLD NORTH-WEST, Vol. 10, 1907, p. 351), was obtained by the writer in 1907, and procured to be published in Old Northwest. The article itself does not show this authorship and it should be preserved, because this was the basis of research, which gave patrictic pedigrees to many Monnet descendants for the several societies. (MONNET, p. 425).

BENJAMIN MONNET OF LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

The first of the name and of pure French blood to domicile in Los Angeles, California. It is illustrative of the original, pristine form of the name, as he thus spelled it.

name, as he thus spelled it.

A recent historical book, gotten out for the edification of French citizens and their adherents, by posterity or adoption, or otherwise, living in Los Angeles, "Le Guide Francais de Los Angeles et du Sud de la Californie", (p. 28), proved to be a very fine chronology and epoch-creative story of Los Angeles, and, in the reference, (supra), was named for the year 1850, as a settler and storekeeper, "the watch-maker, MONNET". A reference to the "Census of the City and County of Los Angeles, For the Year, 1850," by Maurice R. Newmark, (1929), exhibits this personage to have lived in "House number, 6; name, BENJA-MIN MONNET; age, 36, male in sex; occupation, watchmaker, and place of birth, France." This is confirmatory of many items, stressed in this SERIES. this SERIES.

It is also interesting to know that in 1856-8, an ABRAHAM MONNETT from Ohio lived for a while on Toberman Street, in L. A., and wrote back home to relatives about the conditions.

The first Los Angeles court record, yet found, is of that ISAAC MONNET, who came there about 1880.

MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE, father, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 286), and son, ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, first arrived in Los Angeles, in 1903. Resided there from 1907.

HELEN HULL MONNETTE (Daughter of this editor)

Referenced in this PART, (pp. 957, 975, and 976-978). She, to whom this REFERENCE SERIES is dedicated, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. V). (MEMORIBILIA, vide, ante, this PART, 941).

ISAAC MONNETT, REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER OF MARYLAND and VIRGINIA, and PRISONER, on the ship "OLD JERSEY" in Wallabout Bay, Long Island

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 777).

His genealogy and biography are given in MONNET, (sev. page refs.), and his Rev. War service is presented, in detail, with authorities in SPIRIT, (1915, Sons of the Rev., Calif., p. 251—of which O. E. M. has been long a member, and President of the Soc.), and, in addition to the pedigrees, originating on Staten Island and New Jersey, there is a special purpose in this reference.

Frequently it is asked, in behalf of New Jersey descendants, where their families moved westward, as to the Virginia Military lands, etc., as granted to Revolutionary soldiers, and their sons and assignees, and if they served in other Colonial establishments, than that of their residences. The best example of the latter is LEE'S LEGION, a Virginia unit, but recruited from the continental and even militia soldiery of the other Colonies. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1161). This is not the place to recite the reasons, etc., for the location of Virginia Military lands, for instance, but for the benefit of the history student, the best practical, understandable account is in PICKAWAY, (pp. 35 et seq.), for this important phase.

The presentation of Virginia Military Lands,

The presentation of Virginia Military Lands, with pointed map illustration, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 620-1), under heading of "New Jersey in the Revolution", was for the very purpose, indicated in statements, in the cases of ISAAC MONNETT and ISAAC HULL, REV. SOLS, which are applicable to hundreds of similar persons, whose identification has been lost, in many cases, even where there has not been name corruntion.

ISAAC MONNETT was born and resided in Maryland, served in both a Maryland and Virginia organization, and received a Virginia Military Warrant for land in Ohio, which took his family and kinship there. (Auth. given).

"And I have often heard her, (my mother), say, that her parents were orig. from Maryland and Virginia, and came to Ohio." (Cousin Harriet J. Sheets, very old, Apr. 10, 1934, Atlanta, Ill.).

At the inauguation of Dr. Clarence Howe Thurber, as the new President of the University of Redlands, California, on December 6th, 1933, Orra Eugene Monnette was in attendance as the official representative of his Alma Mater, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio; and also of three other universities, Lincoln Memorial, Harrogate, Tenn.; California College in China; and Yenching University, both of Peking, (Peiping), China, of each of which, he is a Trustee.

PIERRE MONNET OF LONDON, 1715 THREADNEEDLE STREET: FR. PROT.

THREADNEEDLE STREET: FR. PROT. October, 1933, letters and cablegrams were received from Vivien Joseph, at No. 19, Cumberland Mansions, Bryanston Square, W. I., London, and John Morgan, 36. Buckingham Gate, Flat 26, S. W. I., Victoria, etc. of the same, to the effect that there is actually in possession of the former, a life-size, old portrait of the above PIERRE MONNET, done by the master portrait painter, SIR GODFREY KNELLER, (1648-1723), which, of course, would be a "REAL FIND." As it was to be put up at auction, and the private price to be put up at auction, and the private price was beyond the reach of this descendant, (if such). and no certificates furnished, the temptation was successfully denied. It has since been referred to London Societies, of which the writer is a member, for location and genuineness, and to obtain a copy, if orig. is beyond reach.—O. E. M.

Noted physician of Indianapolis, Indiana, b. Aug. 8, 1851, living in 1934, at the age of 83 years. He was the brother of Mervin Jeremiah Monnette, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 286), and is an uncle of the writer of this SERIES.

is an uncle of the writer of this SERIES.

As one of the oldest survivors of his generation, he was born in Ohio, and represents, as the ilustration on the page below, the strength of character and virility of physical health, which were the epitome of heredity in this remarkable Ohio family. Of a family of twelve children, he and a twin brother still living in Glendale, California—Mr. Melvin Henry Monnett, and a sister Mrs. Catherine La Vendee Monnette-Ross of Bucyrus, Ohio, (when this was written) and Mrs. Amina Josephine Monnette-Tobias of Los Angeles, (now recently deceased); all of older ages.

AFFIDAVIT OF MADISON WELCH MONNETT

STATE OF INDIANA

COUNTY OF MARION

COUNTY OF MARION J
AFFIANT, MADISON WELCH MONNETT, being first duly sworn, deposes as follows:
That, he was born August 8th, 1851, in Scott Township, Marion County, Ohio, and is now a resident of the City of Indianapolis, State of Indiana, owning and operating the Monnett Medicine Company, at No. 3701 North Illinois Street, said business being the manufacture and distribution of a notable remedy called "Kan-Do-Its", which has a nation-wide distribution.

business being the manufacture and distribution of a notable remedy called "Kan-Do-Its", which has a nation-wide distribution;

That, he was the son of Abraham Monnett (1811-1881), and wife, Catharine Braucher, (1815-1875), who lived in said Scott Township, Marion County, Ohio, for a great many years prior to the death of the mother of affiant in 1875, when, soon after his second marriage to Mrs. Jane Ludwig Johnston, a widow, removed to the town of Bucyrus, Crawford County, Ohio, where he builded a large brick mansion, on Roger Street, in that city, where he died March, 1881, said property passing into the possession of his widow, Mrs. Jane Ludwig Monnett and owned by her until her death in 1911; whereupon, and on the settlement of her estate, it passed into other hands, her heirs and the Kings Daughters, a social service organization of that town;

That, said Abraham Monnett and Catharine Braucher were the parents of TWELVE CHILDREN, all of whom lived to full manhood and womanhood, were married and had children of their own, in turn; and for many years, prior to 1900, said families lived in and about Marion and Crawford Counties, Ohio, and the towns of Marion and Bucyrus, and were of the best known families of that day; that, prior to 1900, some of said children removed westward, but the family continued unbroken until the death Jan. 15, 1906, of one of the daus., Mary Jane Monnett, in Findlay, Ohio.

That, this affidavit is made for historical record and genealogical purposes only, at the request of

That, this affidavit is made for historical record and genealogical purposes only, at the request of Mr. Orra Eugene Monnette of Los Angeles, California, who compiled and published in 1911, the MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY, giving the lineages, pedigrees and early history of the Monnet Family, as the surname has been variously spelled; said book obtained popularity and received wide circulation, and has always been continuously and is to this day, the sole, full and complete authority on the Genealogy of the MONNET FAMILY, holding a high place in all of the public libraries of the nation, as well as in many of the libraries of the nation, as well as in many of the libraries of Europe.

That, said MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY, of 1911, saving and except where minor printing and typographical errors may have occurred, contains a full and complete history, account and genealogy of the branch of the Monnett Fmily, settling and distributing its descendants, throughout the State of Ohio, with all of which this affiant is familiar, and this affidavit is his testimony and evidence as to the correctness of the facts.

That, at the present date all of the said TWELVER. That, this affidavit is made for historical record and evidence as to the correctness of the facts. That, at the present date all of the said TWELVE MONNETT CHILDREN, hereinbefore alluded to, as the sons and daughters of Abraham Monnett and Catharine Braucher, there are only four living at this date, to-wit: (1) Melvin Henry Monnette, whose residence is Glendale California; (2) affant, whose residence is a above, and who was a twin brother of the former; (3) Mrs. Amina Josephine Monnette-Tobias, a widow, whose residence is in Los Angeles, California, and (4) Mrs. Catharine LaVendee Monnette-Ross, a widow, whose residence is now in Bucyrus, Ohio.

That, said MONNETT FAMILY in Ohio were agriculturists, stock men and bankers; and the father of affiant organized, with others, the oldest bank in Marion County, Ohio, and with the assistance of Mr. George W. Hull, the old Crawford County Bank of Bucyrus, Ohio, and also the banking house of Monnett and Company, bankers, now The Bucyrus City Bank, of Bucyrus, Ohio, and of the latter, the affiant was the first cashier. That, said family has always been noted, prominent and distinguished in business, banking and all the professions with many representatives exemplinent and distinguished in business, banking and all the professions, with many representatives exemplifying the name, in the State of Ohio, and elsewhere, and without anyone bringing disgrace or blemish in any particular upon the name and honor of the family.

And, further, affiant saith not.

Madison Welch Monnett.

NICHOLAS MONEY OF DELAWARE, OHIO

NICHOLAS MONEY OF DELAWARE, OHIO (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 842).
The old error about wrong descent—French, and neither, Eng., nor Welsh—from Va., and face and biog., lining up with Ohio MONNETT, (DELAWARE Co. O., Hist., 1881, pp. 476 and 803-4). This family came, via same route as his kinsfolk, Maryland, Virginia and Ohio, on the OLD WILDERNESS ROAD, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1161).

WILLIAM MONEY, LITTERATEUR OF LOS ANGELES

This man was not of the same kin, as that man who wrote "Reform of the New Testament Church," (vide, ante, this PART, p. 922), but COWAN has retrieved, for this author, from some old collection, the foll. coat-of-arms, used by this individual, as a book-plate, which has no bearing or reference to the true MONNET COAT-OF-ARMS, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 428). As curioso, it follows, in ill.;

MONEY-MONNET

The small picture below is that of "Martha Harvell, daughter of Squire Harvell and MARY MONEY, b. 4 June, 1808, North Carolina," and by her physiognomy and facial expression, clearly demonstrates the common origin of MONNET and MONEY.

WILLIAM MONTGOMERY OF N. J.

WILLIAM MONTGOMERY OF N. J.
This is an ancient pedigree, est. in lineal descent, from Roger de Montgomerie, in Normandy, Anno Domini, 900. Came in 1701-2 and settled in Egington, Monmouth Co., N. J. He m. in 1664 in Edinburgh, Scotland, Isabel, dau. of Robert Burnett, of Leithentie, Scot. Had a son, Robert Montgomery, b. 1687, d. 1766, m. Feb. 8, 1709-10, Sarah Stacy, d. Mar. 9, 1743-4, came to America, with father; Sarah Stacy, was dau. of Henry Stacy and granddau. of Robert Stacy.

JOANNA MOORE

First Settler of Woodbridge, 1683, (PART FOUR, p. 531). This presents a real genealogical puzzle, as she is not otherwise identificable. The date requires that, she was probably a sister or widowed mother of the first SAMUEL MOORE, and his brother, MATTHEW MOORE, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 498).

MOREHOUSE GENEALOGY AND ORIGINS
BOSTON EVENING TRANSCRIPT, Genealogical Dept., November 6, 1933. Note 2612.

DUTCHESS COUNTY GRAVES.
This orig. was carefully assembled by the writer many years ago, and will ultimately be published in his Morehouse Genealogy, if it ever sees the light of day. Attention should be called to "First Settlers, of P. & W., (PART THREE, pp. 426-430"), which gives the parentage of Col. Andrew Morehouse. There is one slight error in making Aaron Morehouse, son of Col. Andrew, "lived with his uncle James Morehouse, son of Col. Andrew," which "uncle" should be "brother". This latter fact is established by the statement of a review of James Morehouse by the name of Samuel Morehouse, formerly at Elyria, Ohio.—GERER.

COL. ANDREW MOREHOUSE (Ralph David Phillips)

(Ralph David Phillips)

(Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 430).

1. Col. Andrew Morehouse, prob. b. March 7, 1726, at Saybrook, Ct., bpt. 1728, m. (1), Phebe Hurd; (2), Sarah Sherrill. Col. Andrew died in 1801 "siezed with property in Johnstown, N. Y." where he probably died. Phebe Hurd Morehouse is buried in Wingdale, N. Y. The Col. probably then went to Johnstown where his son Abe owned Johnson Hall, (I have record of deed). He must have gone to Saybrook, and married his second wife in the mean time. After his death in 1801, his second wife, Sarah Sherrill Morehouse, probably left Johnstown and went to Richmond, Mass. to live near her mother and brother and died there in 1803 as per her g. s. in the old Richmond, Mass. Cemetery.

JOHN MORRILL

This is a well-recorded, old Massachusetts family headed by the first immigrants of the name, 1632, ABRAHAM and brother, ISAAC MORRILL, of Salisbury, Mass., who gave many descendants to America (of the first, a favorite pedigree of the author), (Soc. of Col. WARS, 1922, p. 335.—O. E. M.).

The most valuable authority is the Hist. of Andover, N. H., 1751-1906, by John R. Eastman (Andover, N. H., 1910). Professor Eastman was a real genealogist and was definitely employed by the writer to make researches in New Hampshire, particularly at Concord, among the old records and vital statistics, with which to compile the genealogies of Scribner and Rayno, settlements of Salisbury and Andover, N. H.

The above was predicated upon the statements of a granddaughter of "ELIAS RANO, the second settler in Andover, came from Kingston, etc., and d. Sept. 20, 1787; m. April 8, 1742, MARY, dau. of Ephraim and Mary (Burnham) SEVER, ANCE"; stated that her father JOHN RANO, Rev. Sol., sometimes spelled the name, positively, as RAINS, (with ref. to RAYNES).

Also, Dr. Wakeman Ryno, (of the N. J. lineage), first found the N. H. Records, connecting with RAYNES and PAYNE, himself a genealogist of wide, established repute, which have never been set aside. (ARTS., in Jer. Gen., etc.).

HON. LUTHER HALSEY REICHELDERFER

He was one of the fine Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and a correspondent of the writer. He belonged to the Pickaway County, Ohio, family of the first JOHN ADAM REICHELS-DORFFER, Rev. soldier, having left there, when he was ten years old. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 857).

ROBERTS-HILTON

The many descendants of THOMAS ROBERTS and of EDWARD and WILLIAM HILTON, the first settlers of New Hampshire, will be interested to obtain the following data, procured from certain London Registers, by a reputable correspondent and genealogist. The data have been unknown heretofore and will prove valuable in establishing the origin of these two familities.

REBECCA, WIFE OF GOVERNOR THOMAS ROBERTS OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, 1641

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 625).

"Some authorities believe his wife was REBEC-CA HILTON"—such was the statement of the writer. A noble antiquarian states that this is untrue and makes it heresy, without giving the REAL NAME, maiden or widowed, of this mysterious FEMALE. Is that ipse dixit?

The writer does not care, nor ever got excited over the suggestion that she belonged to the HIL-TON PEDIGREE.

HOWEVER, it has been discussed many times, between that fine genealogist, MISS SARAH LOUISE KIMBALL, of Palo Alto, and the writer, as she originally called attention to the statement: (vide, ante, this PART, p. 997).

Who was Rebecca Hilton? * * * * * Hist. of Dover says; "he, (Thomas Roberts), m., prob. 1627, and there is tradition she was a sister of Edward Hilton".

SURGEON, GEORGE ROBERTSON OF MARYLAND

He was so entered, "surgeon, May 20 to Dec. 31, 1777", and was, enlisted as a private, as "George Robertson", June 1, 1776, (ARCH., MD., Vol. XVIII, pp. 23 and 659). A careful study indicates clearly that he was identical with the

DR. GEORGE ROBINSON MARYLAND REVOLUTIONARY NAVAL OFFICER

(ARCH., of Maryland, Vol. XXI, pp. 33, 150 and 383).

There were two brothers in Baltimore, JOHN and GEORGE ROBERTSON, during the Revolution. The former became a loyalist and removed to Canada to perpetuate the family in New Brunswick, and his name was perpetuated in the records as "Robinson, John. A grantee of St. John, 1783; d. at Portland, New Brunswick, 1839, aged 91." (LOY. in AMER. REV., SABINE, p. 231). Family records show that the brother of the latter, retaining the name as GEORGE ROBERT-SON, remained loyal to the patriotic cause, but sometime after 1783, joined Joseph Mercer, of Long Island, who coming from North Carolina, had turned loyalist—and the fams. intermarried, and settled in N. B.

This is the ancestry of Mr. George Domville Robertson of L. A., mem. of Soc. of Sons of Rev., and friend of the writer.

ROBERTSON

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1096).

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1096).
The confusion of this name at P. and W. requires some study, and straightening out, but the purely Scotch settlement, at Perth Amboy, in 1685, is largely the determining factor. (Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 337). The author has found no absolute identification of any one then called "ROBINSON", from any source or error, who was specifically English, tho that is possible. Rather, all were first ROBERTSON, tho' in records by English Clerks, and particl., Canadian records, the English form of ROBINSON was nearly always adopted for the interpretation of the purely Scotch surname. the purely Scotch surname.

This orige purity of ROBERTSON is recognized by EWEN, (p. 209), who gives scant courtesy to Robinson, as English, wherein he re-

After much study, and comparison, this writer is convinced that he was really ROBERTSON, but was called, by the English, as per their custom, "Robinson", and his name is so preserved at Rahway, in "Robinson's Brook", where his son of that same terminology lived. He was treated of in PART FIVE, (pp. 857-8), as Dr. William Robinson. (a, v). son, (q. v.).

EDWARD ROUSE was of Jamaica, 1663, associated with (Mr.) ROBERT COE and his sons, BENJAMIN and JOHN COE, of the same, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 108; PART THREE, p. 412). JACOB ROY OF NEW YORK

He was one of the early N. Y. Colonials, and first appeared in New Amsterdam, first in 1639-1642, as JACOB JACOBSEN ROY, then in 1647, the name being clear as JACOB ROY, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 152). He was the first emigrant ancestor of N. J. families, afterwards in Sussex Co.

JOHN ROYNO OF E.

In the foregoing references, this has been discussed, and certainly became both RYNO and RAINS in N. J. That is hard to laugh off, since, FRANCIS RENO, was a name in the U. S. census, for 1790, in both N. Y. and Penna. arising without doubt, from the first FRANCIS RAYNES

LIBBY, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1199), has written ungraciously to the writer about this pedigree. Upon direct reference of the whole matter to the Soc. of Col. AMOS RUNYON FAMILY

The widow lives on the old RUNYON farm at old Pisc., about a mile or so from the old Baptist church, and opposite the Piscataway Baptist Church, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 188), and graveyard. She has been most helpful, and the writer calls to see her, each time he is in N. J.

In this fam, is preserved, framed, but rapidly fading away, and dissolving, the original will of the first PETER RUNYON, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 629). A photostatic copy was obtained through the courtesy of her son, WILLIAM M. RUNYON, and is given in illustration, on the opp. pages, (1215-16).

Piscataway Branch of the Third Generation.

JOSEPH RUNYON, (of PETER, of VINCENT), of Piscataway, b. April 1st, 1710, d. living in 1760; will, 1760. M., circa, 1739, Elizabeth,
(or Rachel) Trembly, (du Tremblay), of Huguenot

descent. She was the daughter of Jean (John) Trembley and his wife, Mary Noe, daughter of Peter Noe, a First Settler of Staten Island and Peter Noe, New Jersey.

When PETER RUNYON, the father, made his will, 1750, Sept. 20, he named among his children, JOSEPH RUNYON, as his first son, (ARCH., Vol. XXXII, pp. 276-7).

(ARCH., Vol. XXXII, pp. 276-7).

JOSEPH RUNYON was a witness and assisted in the inventory in the estate of William Aker, (Acre), of Anwell, Hunterdon County, 1760, who was one of the First Settlers there, having associated himself with JOHN and THOMAS RUNYON, (of VINCENT), when they removed from Piscataway. this estate, away from home, does not appear, except on the ground of relationship.

When Joseph Munday of Piscataway made his will, Dec. 26, 1749, it was noncupative, but not admitted to probate. However, administration was granted to Elsie Munday, his widow, 1749-50, Jan. 20. At the same date, the inventory was made by Thomas Pound and REUNE RUNYON, Feb. 6, of the same year, at a vendue by the administrators, articles were sold to "JOS. RUNYON, JOHN MOLLISON, et al., and among creditors were REUNE RUNYON, GERSHOM DRAKE, ELIJHH POUND, ELIAS VAN COURT, JR., et al., all inter-related by blood or marriage.

JOSEPH RUNYON died in 1760, leaving a will, dated; 1760, May 16, RUNYON, JOSEPH, of Piscataway, Middlesex Co., yeoman; will of. Wife, (not named, but otherwise known to be Elizabeth). Children—Peter, JOSEPH, (oldest son), Philipp, and daughters names not given, all under age except Joseph. Real- and personal estate. Executors—the wife and brothers Peter and Benjamin Runyon. Further, concerning his wife, said (supra) to have been, Elizabeth, that she was a Trembly, is made certain by Runyon family records. However, in N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Rec., (vol. 38, 1907, p. 108), a lineage is given of this line, concerning his son "PETER RUNYON (b. Nov. 5, 1740), was son of JOSEPH (b. April 1, 1710) and wife RACHEL (?); grandson of PETER (b. July 1, 1680) and wife, Providence Blackford, of Piscataway, and great-grandson of "VINCENT" Repare, and Piscataway, and great-grandson of "VINCENT RONGNION, mariner of Poitou", France, and Anne Boucher, of Hertford, Eng., Huguenots or religious refugees; first of the RUNYON name in America."

AMOS RUNYON FAMILY

The widow lives on the old RUNYON farm at The widow lives on the old RUNTON latin at old Pisc., about a mile or so from the old Baptist church, and opposite the Piscataway Baptist Church, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 188), and graveyard. She has been most helpful, and the writer calls to see her, each time he is in N. J.

In this fam, is preserved, framed, but rapidly fading away, and dissolving, the original will of the first PETER RUNYON, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 629). A photostatic copy was obtained through the courtesy of her son, WILLIAM M. RUNYON, and is given in illustration, on the opp. pages, (1215-16).

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 861).

Piscataway Branch of the Third Generation.

JOSEPH RUNYON, (of PETER, of VINCENT), of Piscataway, b. April 1st, 1710, d. living in 1760; will, 1760. M., circa, 1739, Elizabeth,
(or Rachel) Trembly, (du Tremblay), of Huguenot

descent. She was the daughter of Jean (John) Trembley and his wife, Mary Noe, daughter of Peter Noe, a First Settler of Staten Island and Peter Noe, New Jersey

When PETER RUNYON, the father, made his will, 1750, Sept. 20, he named among his children, JOSEPH RUNYON, as his first son, (ARCH., Vol. XXXII, pp. 276-7).

JOSEPH RUNYON was a witness and assisted the control of the state of William Alexanders.

JUSEPH RUNYON was a witness and assisted in the inventory in the estate of William Aker, (Acre), of Amwell, Hunterdon County, 1760, who was one of the First Settlers there, having associated himself with JOHN and THOMAS RUNYON, (of VINCENT), when they removed from Piscataway. Why JOSEPH RUNYON figured in this estate, away from home, does not appear, except on the ground of relationship.

cept on the ground of relationship.

When Joseph Munday of Piscataway made his will, Dec. 26, 1749, it was noncupative, but not admitted to probate. However, administration was granted to Elsie Munday, his widow, 1749-50, Jan. 20. At the same date, the inventory was made by Thomas Pound and REUNE RUNYON, Feb. 6, of the same year, at a vendue by the administrators, articles were sold to "JOS. RUNYON, JOHN MOLLISON, et al., and among creditors were REUNE RUNYON, GERSHOM DRAKE, ELIJAH POUND, ELIAS VAN COURT, JR., et al., all inter-related by blood or marriage.

JOSEPH RUNYON died in 1760, leaving a will, dated; 1760, May 16, RUNYON, JOSEPH, of Piscataway, Middlesex Co., yeoman; will of. Wife, (not named, but otherwise known to be Elizabeth). Children—Peter, JOSEPH, (oldest son), Philipp, and daughters names not given, all Enizapeth). Children—Peter, JOSEPH, (oldest son), Philipp, and daughters names not given, all under age except Joseph. Real- and personal estate. Executors—the wife and brothers Peter and Benjamin Runyon. Witnesses, Elijah Pound, Jeamse Giles and Elias v. Court. Proved July 14, 1760. Inventory taken by the executors and appraised by George Marlett and Elijah Pound." Etc. (ARCH., Vol. XXXII, p. 276).

Vol. XXXII, p. 276).

Further, concerning his wife, said (supra) to have been, Elizabeth, that she was a Trembly, is made certain by Runyon family records. However, in N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Rec., (vol. 38, 1907, p. 108), a lineage is given of this line, concerning his son "PETER RUNYON (b. Nov. 5, 1740), was son of JOSEPH (b. April 1, 1710) and wife RACHEL (?); grandson of PETER (b. July 1, 1680) and wife, Providence Blackford, of Piscataway, and great-grandson of "VINCENT RONGNION, mariner of Poitou", France, and Anne Boucher, of Hertford, Eng., Huguenots or religious refugees; first of the RUNYON name in America."

Piscataway Branch of the Third Generation

The references in the foregoing, to the RUN-YON relationship from two angles of consan-guinity and marriage, are conclusive of the facts. Issue of PETER RUNYON, Jr., and wife, MARY DUNN:

RY DUNN:

I. HUGH RUNYON, who must not be confused with the other many HUGH RUNYONS, b. ca. 1740, (Chambers, p. 475), who had a son, JOSEPH RUNYON. This man was a Revolutionary soldier from Middlesex County. VINCENT RUNYON'S FAMILY, (continued) (Vide. ante, PART FIVE, p. 861).

Piscataway Branch of the Fourth Generation

Piscataway Branch of the Fourth Generation REV. REUNE RUNYON, Jr., (of REUNE, Sr., of VINCENT), of VINCENT), was the son of REUNE RUNYON, Sr., and wife, RACHEL DRAKE. He was the noteworthy pastor of the Baptist Church, at Piscataway, 1783-1811. (Ante, PART TWO, pp. 199 and 202). He was b. Nov. 29, 1741, and d. Nov. 21, 1811, ae. 71. (Vide, PART THREE, p. 370). He m. 6 June, 1765, ANNA BRAY, b. ca. 1743, d. July 11, 1816, ae. 73, (Vide, PART THREE, p. 370). She was the daughter of Daniel Bray, b. Mar. 28, 1716, dau of Benjamin Martin, and wife, Rhoda Martin. (Vide, STILLWELL, Vol. III, p. 113). The above marriage record is preserved, (ARCH, Vot. XXII, p. 378. It records both contracting parties as from Middlesex County.

XXII, p. 378. It records both contracting parties as from Middlesex County.

This militant and dexterous preacher, after 1765, is easily confused, in the records, with his father of the same name. It is undoubtedly correct that when the Rev. Benjamin Stelle made his will, 1758, he recognized the family relationship, in appointing his executors.

"1758. Apr. 20, Stelle, Benjamin, Sr., of Piscataway, Middlesex Co.; will of. "Present wife," Lydiah. Children—Benjamin, Isaac, Susanna Hull (wife of JUDGE Joseph Hull—O. E. M.) and Rachel Fitzrandolph, Children of son John. Grandsons—Thomson Stelle and Lewis Stelle. Real and personal estate, Executors—sons Benjamin and Isaac, with RUNEY RUNYON. Witnesses—James Pyatt, Boley Arnold and Thomas Pyatt. Proved Feb. 22, 1757".

Though his own son, Rev. Isaac Stelle, was a pastor of the Baptist Church at Piscataway, (vide, PART TWO, p. 188), and the Rev. REUNE RUNYON, under review, was likewise, it seems clear that the one named as Executor in the foregoing will was the father, REUNE RUNYON, and not the preacher. There were intermarriages between the two families, as will be discussed elsewhere. These record items from deed and other N. J. sources will not be presented here, although the minister was active, patriotic and prominent in Piscataway.

In 1764, Sept. 8, HENRY MOLLESON, of Piscataway, made his will, naming wife, Catherine, et al., and "three daughters of my sister, RUTH RUNYON, viz: Mary Runyon, Anne Runyon and Rachel Runyon, when they are of age," etc. He referred to his father, JOHN MOLLESON, and the witnesses to the will were REUNE RUNYON, Jr., REUNE RUNYON, who assisted in the inventory. In the will, JOHN LEFORGE was mentioned. (ARCH., Vol. XXXIII, p. 29).

In 1767, one Edmund Drake, of Hopewell, Hunter was menioned. (ARCH., Vol. AAATII, p. 227).

In 1767, one Edmund Drake, of Hopewell, Hunter don Co., died, and wife, Catherine, et al., he mentioned and appointed EPHRAIM RUNYON, XX, xin Executor, as "friends", (ARCH., Vol. XXXIII, p. 121). But this must not be confused, keeping in mind the other EPHRAIM RUNYON, son of THOMAS RUNYON, of HOPEWELL. Catharine RUNYON (supra), was EPHRAIM'S daughter (not this shranch) daughter (not this branch).

MARTIN RYERSON OF RARITAN

MARTIN RYERSON OF RARITAN
This is an old Dutch name, as Reyerse, Reyersen, etc. (BERGEN, p. 240-1 and 246).
ADRIAEN RYERSON came to N. A., in 1646, with his brother, MARTEN, the same.
The latter m. May 14, 1663, Annetje, dau. of Joris Jansen Rapalje. He was in Flatbush in 1685, when he probably removed to N. J. He had a son Frans Ryerson, b. August 2, 1685, who headed the Bergen Co., N. J. fam.
The subject was an early settler, beg. 1728.

The subject was an early settler, beg. 1728, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 201), and sent offshoots northwestward into Sussex, where they mixed up with the HULLS. (SUSSEX, p. 182).

LOUIS DE SANCERRE
(Vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 965).

This old document, very happily coming to hand, has luckily furnished the best example of French name variation, imaginable. SANCERE, old French, became the variant of many surnames, as Hug. Soc. of London show, as Sauzeau, Sanseau, Sanson, Senior, et al, of which the denization in London in 1687 of Francis Sanseau, with Frances his wife, Abraham, Daniel, Peter and Jacob, his children, and John Saulnier, contig. furnish origin, (Vol. XVIII, p. 202, et alia).

While no pedigree is attempted, there can be no doubt of the general genas origin of the following: JAMES SENZEOUR, (vide, ante, POST, p. indic.) as SENIOR OF RARITAN. Also, "SONZDONE", 1685, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 337).

This authority shows ancestry of RICHARD KIMBALL, first of Ipswich, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 612), and of his wife, URSULA SCOTT, and contains many items of this kinship.

JAN (JEAN) SCOUTEN OF P.

A Dutchman, early in Bergen, 1668, called "Jan Scholten." (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 5 and 60). He was from New York, in 1684, June 14, when he acquired land at P. In 1691, bounds of New Piscataway, "S. Also, OHIO TORNADO, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1162). This was in 1804.

Second letter; from REUBEN STEPHENS to his cousin, ARTEMISSIA SCRIBNER, (dau. of PETER), at Poultney, Vermont, dated at Radnor, Ohio, Jany. 25, 1818, and referring to PARTHENA, who m. Herman Watson Strong, son of Oliver Strong in 1817; she was prob. PARTHENA STEPHENS, a sister. These letters are most confirmatory of the cross country alliance and kinship, as between N. H., Vermont and Ohio, and families of SCRIBNER, RAYNO. (RAYNES) and STEPHENS.

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1124).

DANIEL SCRIBNER

DANIEL SCRIBNER give the name to this kinsman, of a later generation? Without a doubt. This has been a great discovery, as the records are sparse about him. BUT, the letter of SAMUEL SCRIBNER, of Radnor, Ohio, 1804, to his brother, PETER SCRIBNER, of Poultney, Vermont, started the search, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1125). The former referred to JOHN SCRIBNER, whom we know as his brother, and PART, p. 1125). The former referred to JOHN SCRIBNER, whom we know as his brother, and then to "DANIEL'S" farm, etc. Who, of course, was DANIEL SCRIBNER, a "lost" brother.

SCUDDER UP-SIDE-DOWN

The lower left-hand Scudder ill., in PART FIVE, (p. 867), has the kitchen up-side-down. Well, it did seem "quare", that one had to walk on beam ceiling timbers to carry the waffles and molasses; however, the compositor and illustrator have been duly cautioned—it will not happen again. As far as noble pedigree is concerned, it may begin in the kitchen, and is still "up-side-down". "When is a door, not a door? When it is a-jar." Note the ancient double door. Sorry for this non-juxtaposition.—O. E. M.

Librarian's Office

"January 28, 1933.

Mrs. Henry Hyman Hyman

Texas.

Dear Madam:

The Scudder genealogy to which you referred in your letter to this Society, gives Richard Betts Stockton as the father of Deborah, who married John Hart. This is incorrect as you know, as he refers to her, in his will, as his grand daughter.

Another account, we have of Deborah Scudder Hart, gives her father as Richard, son of Richard Betts Scudder. This Richard, father of Deborah, died in 1731, and so could not have been in the Revolutionary War. If some one has joined the S. A. R. through a Richard Scudder he must have been some other Richard.

Very truly yours,
(Mrs) Maud H. Bender."

THOMAS SCUDDER OF N. J.

He was of E., as late as 1729-30, and appointed guardian of Jonathan Miller, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 320). It is probable that MARY PACK, dau. of GEORGE PACK, of that place, was the wife of THOMAS SCUDDER, (idem, p. 349), named in the former's will, 1704, July 31, as a dau., MARY SCUDDER.

JAMES SEATON, AMOROUS ADVENTURER

The record is against him, forever, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 288, and this PART, p. inira). As to MARY ROSS, also, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 501), who seemed inspired to domestic infelicities. Of the lineage of that JA: SEATON 19 ae., bound for Virginia, 1635, (N. E. HIST., GEN. REG., Vol. IV, p. 261).

There is little reason to elaborate this lineage except for that son of JAMES and REBECCA SEATON b. in lawful wedlock, who perpetuated honorably the name in N. J., in redemption of his father. His name was ALEXANDER SEATON, and he lived in Salem Co., (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 350), and reared a family.

Subject rem. to Delaware, 1683-6, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 726).

REBECCA SEATON, WIFE OF JAMES, of W.

Middlesex Ct. Recs., Dec. 1692, recites her petition for divorce, also Dec. 13, 1693; that she had been m. to James Seaton for two years, and had one child by him. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 169). She was Rebecca Adams, and, after divorce, m. RICHARD SMITH, Jr., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 288).

"1689, Nov. 20. Deed. Thomas Adams to James Seattown, both of W., James Seattown, having married (lawfully), grantor's dau. Rebekah, for 30 acres out of the farm grantor lives on, betw. Nath! Fitzrandolph and Cedar Cove, near Richard P. (T) attershall." (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 169). (Also, idem, p. 223).

ABRAHAM SENIOR OF BURLINGTON (Vide, SANCERRE, supra, and JAMES SENIOR, infra).

He was there, a dyer, 1694, built a house on Delaware river, 1695, and sold land, 1691, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 457, 495 and 506).

In Burl., as early as 1686, called "innholder", witness, creditor and land, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, sev. entries, and called "SINGER".

WILLIAM SENIOR was in Hunterdon in 1722.

JAMES SENIOR OF RARITAN
This is one of the most pleasing solutions, the writer has enjoyed a Huguenot origin, and name variant, from SANCERE, 1386, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1219).

He came with the Scotch importations, 1685, as "JAMES SENZOUR", with wife, "Sicella", and with Sicella and Agenes Lawson, (not accidental contig.), as (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 68). This same entry in another auth., as "James Sonzdone" and "Sivella Sonzdone", which is not strange, as that form is to be found in France, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 337).

However, he came to die, and letters of admin., 1695, July 10, "on the estate of JAMES SENZIOR of Rariton River, dec'd, granted to his widow, Sicily SENZIOR," (ARCH., Vol. XXII, p. 222). And, in (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 421), called "SINGER, SENIOR, SENZIOR, JAMES, with inventory by William Sharp and FOLSOM, (2)

Revolutionary soldier and patriot.
When JUDGE JOSEPH HULL and his children, particularly, Sheriff Isaac Hull, and son-in-law Lieutenant Richard Hunt migrated northward from old Somerset County, at Peapack, into Sussex County, there came together certain new families, whose origin was in other sections of the state. Among these was the above CASPER SHAVER, who first appears in the record as an administrator of the will of JOSEPH HULL JR. of Sussex Co., N. J., (ARCH., Vol. XXXIV, p. 462).

Taxed at Oyster River, N. H., in 1666.

No children were named in connection with his estate, but the appearance in Middlesex County, later of SAMUEL, (q. v.), William, John, Randall, Benjamin and Jean Simmons, by 1750, prove conclusively that the first MICHAEL SYMMONS, (SIMMONS), was married, and had a family, transmitting these sons, and grandsons, to New Jersey biography. SLOAT, err. for SLOTT, N. J.

Orig. Dutch and First Settler in Bergen.

It is a very interesting history, with no use outside of America of the form SLOAT, which is clearly of Dutch origin, a corruption of SLOTT, (of SLODT), and the first of the name in America was PIETER JANSEN SLOTT, who settled in Bergen County, N. J., 1668. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 4). Because of the difficulty of pronounciation, the name was corrupted to SLOAT, the letter "a" being inserted for euphony.

In England, only one form found and only one illustration, and that was SLOT, meaning a castle, which is true surname etymology.

ADMIRAL JOHN DRAKE SLOAT

SENIOR, JOHN SMALLEY left male children behind him, when he went into New Jersey (TRURO, pp. 79 and 84), notably BENJAMIN SMALLEY, also a New Jersey first name.

My father, Abraham Smith, had a sister, Elizabeth Smith, called Aunt Betsey Hull, born 1783, who married Benjamin Hull. They lived on Boke's Creek, Thompson Township, Delaware County, Ohio. She died in 1842, and they are both buried in Radnor Cemetery, Delaware County, Ohio. My father had a sister, Polly Smith, who married Dick Wostes in New Jersey; a brother Freeman Smith, unmarried, who died in old age in Delaware County, Ohio; two other brothers, who went to Illinois, whose names were Abraham and Harrison Smith, and, perhaps, others.

My best recollection is that the parents of my grandfather, Japheth Smith, were, John Smith and Sarah Freeman, of Woodbridge, New Jersey.

The only purpose of this affidavit is to make a genealogical record of the family and is not to be used in any pecuniary way.

JOHN SMITH (SMYTH) ESQ., OF MIDDLESEX

He was the son of BENJAMIN SMITH, (1687-1732), and wife, SARAH SHOTWELL, (1694-1786), the latter of the lineage of the orig. ABRAHAM SHOTWELL, (COL. FAMS. of U. S. A., Vol. IV, 1914, pp. 463-4).

The subject was b. 22nd Aug. 1715; d. after 1780; was one of the leading men in Middlesex County, New Jersey, and a Revolutionary soldier; he was a County Officer; m. 9th February, 1729, SARAH FREEMAN, dau. of JOHN FREEMAN, and Martha Moore, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 713). In the record of the will of his father-in-law, it was probated, 1761, before JOHN SMITH, showing that he was Surrogate or Judge. Among his chil.: 5. Benjamin, a Justice in Sussex County; 7. Japheth, b. before 1760; d. after 1824, who may have been identical with Abraham, (ancestor of O. E. M., and note affidavit of Anthony Wayne Smith, ante, this PART, p. 1223).

RICHARD SMITH, THE ELDER

RICHARD SMITH, THE ELDER

(WEYGANT CHART, p. 142). The writer has not attempted to straighten out this old error of the alleged Gloucestershire line, Eng., whose son was supposed to be the same as Major RICHARD SMITH, of R. I., and of SMITHTOWN, L. I.; and, while I agree, neither with statement of SOC. of COL. WARS, (1922, p. 436, which is only "ipse dixit", and arbitrary decision), nor with AUSTIN, (R. I. DICT., p. 185), since his Major RICHARD SMITH was never permanently, if at all, at Newtown, L. I., (and the latter's son, RICHARD SMITH, certainly had chil, and heirs), there is too much prejudice, and life is too short to struggle thru this analysis.—O. E. M. (Vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 161 and 163). This relates to ELIZABETH SMITH, who m. WILLIAM LAWRENCE, (vide, ante, this PART, pp. 993-4). This has nothing to do with RICHARD SMITH OF NEWTOWN, and PISCATAWAY and W., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 161 and PART TWO, pp. 287-290).

ELIZABETH, DAUGHTER OF RICHARD SMITH

(Vide, ante, PATHREE, p. 437). PART TWO, p. 289 and PART

Who was she, really? This inquiry must be started, by the oft stated and oft repeated genealogical conclusion, that she was the daughter of the first RICHARD SMITH, founder of Smithtown, Long Island. Is it quite certain, that he was identical with Richard Smith, of "Nessaquake", L. I.? He had the long controversy and litigation in court about land titles there, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 154).

The first marriage of Elizabeth Smith to Mr. William Lawrence seems confirmed by the following, a quoted record from the Lawrence genealogy of 1858, (Appendix A, p. 135).

"A License for Marriage granted to Mr. William Lawrence.

"A License for Marriage granted to Mr. William Lawrence.

WHEREAS I have received information and satisfaction that there is an intent of Marriage between William Lawrence of filushing and Elizabeth the daughter of RICHARD SMITH, of "Mishaquak'd", upon Long Island, upon their request I give them license, so to do and do hereby require you to proclaim the said William Lawrence and Elizabeth Smith, man and wife, and so record them, and to proceed therein according to your formed customs on the like occasions. Given under my hand at Hempstead, this 4th day of March, 1664. RICHD. NICHOLLS." (Bk. Gen. Ent. No. 1, p. 98, Sec. of St., Albany, N. Y.).

A complete and separating identification of the two Richard Smiths, sueing each other and otherwise contemporaneous, at Newtown, Long Island, constantly, first one and then the other, assumed by previous genealogists to have been RICHARD SMITH of Smithtown, Long Island; the positive answer to this problem cannot be set up.

In 1719, he was member of the board of freeholders. As late as 1729 he is noted as living at P.; but in 1736, when he served as an executor of his brother Richard's estate, he is said to be a resident of Somerset County. He is probably the man who was dismissed from the Pisc. Bapt. Ch., where his death is recorded in 1761. His age was seventy-nine years. When we consider the place of residence of his sons, and the fact that he attended church at Morristown, it seems beyond doubt that his Somerset County property was located in Bernard Township, near Basking Ridge, where, as we learn from the Elizabethtown Bill in Chancery, some one of the Suttons had located prior to February, 1729-30. As late as 1735 this part of the county was almost unbroken wilderness. unbroken wilderness.

There are a variety of SUTTON coats-of-arms and crests, (vide, FAIRBAIRN; Burke and Fox-Davies), as the name was more or less general in England, partic. co. of Durham, which, in connection with the HILTON origin is most interesting, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1187). Further investigation, each day, is showing a more near relationship and kinship between the First Settlers of Plymouth Colony, from whom many N. J. F. S. came, and the group orig. on Piscataqua River, N. H., who similarly sent sprouts into N. J. SUTTON is developing, as such example.—O. E. M.

ISRAEL THORNELL (THORNTON)

This surname suffered many corruptions, as distant from the original, as PHARELTON, etc. ISRAEL THORNELL was a nephew of JEDE-DIAH ANDREWS, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 787), and was in W. in 1672, or before, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 531). The wife of ISRAEL THORNELL in 1685 was HANNAH, (idem, p. 522)

ISRAEL THORNELL, SR., d. 1688, will dated Aug. 17, noting "wife and children, sons and daughters (names not given)." Wife, Executrix, with SAMUEL DENNIS, PATRICK FALCONER and EPHRAIM ANDREWS, overseers, (ARCH., Vol. XVIII, p. 460). He had certainly three sons, ISRAEL, d. 1722, WILLIAM, d.

TINGLEY GENEALOGY

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 871).

Note BIB., in this PART, (vide, ante, p. 963).

A careful analysis shows errors, in TINGLEY, as pointed out by this writer.—O. E. M.

It is as certain, as the night follows the day, that JOSEPH TINGLEY, b, 1720, could not have been a son of EBENEZER TINGLEY, SR., b. ca. 1715-20, so that dates are wrong, somewhere, for which TINGLEY takes no respons., but the latter omits the first JOHN TINGLEY of Staten Island, first in N. J., (TINGLEY, pp. 10-11-12 and 16-17).

JOHN TINGLEY, THE FIRST OF N. J. (Vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 963).

He was on Staten Island, 1681, and testified "then aged 42 years, or thereabouts" * * * * he had wife * * * * was plaintiff, same year * * * * extitle mark, bef. 1694 * * * warrant, 1681, etc. (STILLWELL, Vol. I, sev. refs.). Went into N. J. bef., 1690. He must be ascribed as the father of the first EBENEZER TINGLEY, there, who could have been b., bef. 1715, sev. years.—O. E. M.

EBENEZER TINGLEY and SON, JOSEPH

(Alleged son, of EBENEZER, of SAMUEL, TINGLEY, p. 11).

EBENEZER TINGLEY and his son, JOSEPH TINGLEY, at Newark, Nov. 6, 1765, were appointed as receivers of the estate of William Saunders, "an Insolvent Debtor". (ARCH., Vol. XXIV, p. 674). This would clearly indicate their prominence and standing in the community.

JOSEPH TINGLEY OF SOMERSET

B. 1720, etc., the same as given, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 871), but, TINGLEY, (p. 17), gives changes, as that, dau. Abigail, b. Sept. 16, 1765, m. THOMAS COZAD, not Clark. (Interlined), poss. dau. GRACE TINGLEY.

JEAN (JOHN) TREMBLY, or du TREMBLAY

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 634).

He was a Fr. Hug. refugee, in Eng., and from there to N. Y., where he m. in 1689, MARY NOE, (NUEE), and then came to E., and settled at Rahway. He was a son of JEAN JACQUES TREMBLES, a Hug. nobleman, but, thru persecution, a refugee in Switzerland and Eng. His son, PETER TREMBLY, was his eldest son, b. ca. 1690, and this fam. carried on in N. J. He had others: i. John; ii. Margaret; iii. Mary; iv. Anna, wife of PHILIP COX; v. Elizabeth; vi. Sarah, b. 1715, et al.

PETER TREMBLEY OF RAHWAY

Also of TREMBLEY'S POINT, and extensive plantation near Westfield, He had sons: i. Peter; ii. Jacob; iii. John; iv. Joseph; v. Susannah; vi. Johannah; vii. Elizabeth, and viii. Mary. (HAMILL).

WILLIAM TROTTER, THE SECOND, or JR. (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 634-5).

Son of WILLIAM TROTTER of Elizabeth Town. He bears a gen, halo, because it rather enlivens this pedigree, to know that he carried on from N. J., into Pennsylvania. A further and careful examination of the records identifies him beyond doubt. His associates in Penna, were largely from N. J., etc.

He stands out especially in an "EARLY PETI-TION", of freemen of the Province of Penn., in 1692, with John Farmer, Thomas Budd, Edward Dotey, Richard Sutton, John Hart, Thomas Bing-ley, Hipolitus Le Febvre, et al., N. J. surnames

(THE PENNA. MAG., of Hist. and Biog., Vol. 38, pp. 495 et seq.).

In the records of Sussex County, Delaware, 1681 and onward, (see, ref.) he was associated with LUKE WATSON, SAMUEL GRAY, RICHARD PAINTER, and other former Elizabeth Town neighbors.

(REF.: N. Y. GEN. & BIOG. REC., Vol. LVII, 1926, pp. 208-219; cont., idem, pp. 336-344, and sub.). Edited by Howard Stelle Fitz Randolph. This is a GREAT LINEAGE! However, with amazement, in that editorial atmosphere of GENE-ALOGICAL PERFECTION, the writer learns that this gen. poss. some eggregious errors, such as wrong dates and places, and wrong chil., and wrong gens., (as a matter of fact the unitiated and uninformed should be warned against the inefficient and inexperienced work in this ref., as facetiae; (vide, ante, this PART, pp. 928-9).

As fine as was the work of Mr. Theodore de Truax, in gathering and preserving this TRUAX gen., as to the foll. No. 12, et alia, it posseses many errors, which he himself, recognized, but which escaped the critical eye of the editor.—O. E. M. Some more "Iconaclastiana!"

JACOB TRUAX OF N. J.

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. supra).

Apparently he did not go to N. Y., at all, nor have a son to go there to be killed. No. 12 of the ref., for he settled in Monmouth Co., prior to 1676. He was at Middletown, N. J. in 1682, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 51, et other items). HAT-FIELD, pp. 159 and 174).

JOHN TRUEMAN

(Vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 82).

JOHN TRUEMAN, (not FREEMAN) was in Woodbridge, 1669, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 531). He had taken the first oath of Allegiance, at Woodbridge, 1667-8, where his name was wrongly entered as FREEMAN, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 81).

JAN (JOHN) TUNNISON

Attention has been called to the varieties of spelling (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 438). It will ever be confusing to identify.

Among the New York Colonials, he first appeared in 1646, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 152).

But, he was perpetuated in Somerset County, N. J. 1696-7, by JOHN TUNNESON, a son, (TUNISON), with the name adjunct of VAN PELT, which confirms the first above, and deviation of the surname. (Vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 60).

Further, under SOMERSET, (vide, ante, PART

FOUR, p. 566).

He was clearly recorded as JOHN VAN PELT, 1691-2, (vide, ante, TEUNISSEN, PART TWO, p. 157).

Leaving Staten Island before 1700, JAN TUN-NISSEN VAN PELT became one of the first landed proprietors of Somerset County, N. J., and was on the rolls of quit-renters in 1696-7, for 660 acres, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 60).

NATHANIEL TUTTLE OF ELIZABETHTOWN

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 871) Strange in 1683, he was called "NATHANIEL TUTTLE of Piscataway". (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 520-1).

He had there, E., 1670, 153 acres, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 53).

He was a quit-renter, 1684(5), as of patentee of 1670, for 153 acres, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 53; HATFIELD, p. 96). He paid quit-rent in Essex Co., 1696-7, (idem, p. 58), 158 acres, also as early as 1665, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 96; idem, p. 101).

That he was a son of the first JOHN TUTTLE, 1618-1663 step-father of the Laurences is most probable, as all kinship consorted, N. H., Mass., Long Island, to N. J. (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 76 and 96).

Further concerning origin of NATHANIEL TUTTLE, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 396, and JOHN TUTTLE, PART FOUR, pp. 637/8) He had several children, certainly that HENRY TUTTLE, of 1701, (vide, ante, PART ONE,

p. 68).

Then that STEPHEN TUTTLE, so prom. at W. (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 93).

STEPHEN TUTTLE OF WOODBRIDGE. He was a prom. member of Rev. Nat'l WADE'S Church, Jan. 20, 1707-8, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 111). He really had been in evidence as early as 1695, (idem, p. 99).

JOHN UNDERHILL of Long Island and

JOHN UNDERHILL of Long Island and New Jersey

Son of the ADVENTURER, (supra). He acquired land in N. J., by 1677, but, beyond leaving traces of the famous name of his father, did not mark very definitely. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 400). By 1683, it was noted by a REVEL SURVEY, and several transactions, with neighbors, (idem, pp. 356, 382, 406, 457, 512, 527). These lands were in West Jersey, and the surname would have no ref. to P. and W., if not for an intermarriage there, of which gen. is now unavailing.

VAN, AS A PRENOM?

It is interesting to note the continuation of the thought that the use of the prefix "Van" or "Von" as indicating some exalted pedigree.

"Among the early Dutch settlers was one Claes Martenszen Van Roosevelt and his wife Jannetje, who arrived in 1649. The "Van" here designates the place from which he came and has no gentle or noble signification."

(THE GENEALOGISTS' MAGAZINE, March 34, Vol. 6, No. 9, p. 399).

VAN ALSTYNE OF N. Y.

This is a very old French Family, more recently from Flanders, or the ancient Walloon stock, and, therefore, of the Belgic Huguenot.

The first settlements in America were in New Amsterdam, in the vicinity of Albany and Kinderhook, modern New York. They came previous to 1700, and tho' many name variants occurred, the above form of Van Alstyne was the most com-

His son by his first wife, Colonel John Van Dyke, was a Colonel in the British Army. He had fought at Fort Duquesne and Fort Ticonderoga. He'did not go back to his oath to King George, and was known as "Tory John", but refused to fight his own people on land, and was transferred to the British Navy. ALEXANDER WALKER, FREEHOLDER

Friend of Peter Sonmans.

Friend of Peter Sonmans.

His greatest fame was, as one of the charter grantees, of P. A., 1718, as were John Johnstone, Thomas Gordor, John Hamilton, George Williacks, John Barclay, William Eier, John Stevens, William Hodgson, WILLIAM FROST, HENRY BERRY, John Sharp, Thomas Turnbull, and Andrew Redford, who should all be classed as F. S., (WHITE-HEAD, Conts., p. 50).

His political quarrel with others, involving slanderous charges against him, friend of Peter Sonmans, must be dismissed, on ex parte 'evidence, (ARCH., Vol. III, sev. p. refs.). This was in 1703-1709. At the latter date, he had a wife, and son-ip-law.

He prob. came with the Scotch, in 1685.

and son-ip-law.

He prob. came with the Scotch, in 1685.
His wife was Isobell Johnstone, dau. of JOHN JOHNSTONE, and wife, Isabell Johnstone, as the former was imported, as ISABELL WALKE 4, in 1684, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 72-74). That she was not the wife of James Walker, in two refs., is due to a misplaced ",", the statement being, "James Walker and wife; Isabell Johnstone, (sic.)", (idem).

In ARCH., Vol. XXXIII, sev. items, the same identify.

He was a W., principal creditor of JOSEPH MARLETT, (q. v.), 1715, and admr. In 1702, an appraiser of William Young, of W., (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, pp. 304 and 529). He had a son, (or himself), rem. to Salem by 1744. (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 410). Brother, Robert Walker.

CAPTAIN RICHARD WALKER LYNN, MASS.

ELIAKIM WARDWELL OF N. H. AND N. J. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p.873).

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p.873).

A new correspondent has been found, Mr. Arthur S. Wardwell of Brooklyn, who has made a specialty of this family. He gives the fatherhood of ELIAKIM, as THOMAS WARDWELL, and of Hampton, N. H.

ELIAKIM WARDWELL was baptized Nov. 23, 1634, and d. after May 10, 1702, in N. J. He m. Oct. 17, 1659, at Hampton, N. H., Lydia Perkins, who d. after Oct. 4, 1699, in New Jersey. Their children were:

Their children were:

MISS ETTA WARFIELD WASHINGTON

MISS ETTA WARFIELD WASHINGTON Direct descendant of FAM. and ANCESTRY of GEORGE WASHINGTON, b. Aug. 5, 1841, near Romney, W. Va., (old Hampshire Co., Va.), whose father, at one time, lived on the "Swan Pond Lands", where ABRAHAM MONNETT, Rev. Sol., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1202), had his homestead, 1790, etc., and the tract was surveyed by GEORGE WASHINGTON, Surveyor. (Pictures taken on A SECOND MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE, 1933, vide, ante, this PART, p. 976). See illustrations below.

MISS NANCY WARFIELD WASHINGTON

Locations of the "OLD HULL STORE", near the "BRICK HOUSE" Montague, Sussex, New Jersey

A kodak view of the old house, now on the former HULL LAND, belonging to the family, where of which, MAJOR JOHN HULL, his brother, JUDGE SAMUEL HULL, et al. lived before 1800. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1190). Not far from this point was also another brother, BENJAMIN HULL, at the same period, (vide, ante, PART ONE, frontispiece, p. XX). There were inter-marriages with the Westbrook Fam., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1235); SMITHS, HUNTS, et al., and apparently the HULLS came to this section, from southeastward in Sussex, shortly after the Revolution.—O. E. M.

Another view of the OLD HULL SITE, as now is, it appearing that the present owner of the "BRICK HOUSE", (vide, ante, this PART, pp. 1167-8), has a deed to his property, reciting the "Store-house on Hull Farm", all cornering on the description to a "flat-rock", still to be seen and identified by metes and bounds description in said deed.—O. E. M.

HIGHWAY MARKERS, or GUIDE POST, on state highway, Montague, Sussex Co., N. J., at the corner of intersection of dirt road, with the "BRICK HOUSE", running down a mile or so to the site of the old MINISINK CHURCH and graveyard, abandoned, few stones, and in underbrush, with a stone marker, of the site of the church, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1186). It is very probable that members of the HULL fam. are buried there. Just beyond the above intersection, upon which it corners, is the "OLD HULL HOUSE", (in ill.), and the "flat-rock").

HULL COLONIAL HOMESTEAD, (a 365 acre farm of beautiful proportions), located near Walpack Center, Sussex County, New Jersey, it being said that JOHN HULL WOOD and mother, NANCY HULL, died in this house, (vide, HULL FAM. in AMER., p. 390 and p. 373, under No. 884).

WILLIAM WEBSTER, THE QUAKER
He was of WOODBRIDGE, but urrelated to the first notable, NATHAN WEBSTER, FOUNDER, there, who came in 1664-5, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 636; SHOTWELL, p.

11).

WILLIAM WEBSTER prob. came from Scotland, direct, and settled at Perth Amboy, in 1685, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 99). He was a freeman of the Town of W., and a consistent FRIEND as early as 1695. In SHOTWELL, (p. 12), is given much gen., which must be corrected and elab., and his m. to SUSANNA COWPERTHWAITE is there noted, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 811). (Vide, DALLY, p. 86).

His relation to WILLIAM SUTTON, and wife, JANE, "about to remove from PISC. to BURLING., 1706, throws much light on the SUTTON gen., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1226).

THOMAS and ROBERT W., 1696-1701, (id. pp. 1132-3).

RICHARD WELLS OF SOUTHAMPTON, L. I.

He was there in 1637, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 159), and bids fair to have been the father of both WILLIAM WELLS, (vide, gen, post, p. indic.) and PHILLIP WELLS, surveyor, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 636. Ante, p. 1115).

WILLIAM WELSH

First Settler of PISCATAWAY. He is mentioned in Court Records, 1683, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 536).

DENNIS WHITE OF ELIZABETHTOWN

Not much can be added to HATFIELD (sev. ref.), although he was one of the original eighty associates, owned land and was a neighbor to Matthias Hatfield, and persisted through the early records. By 1675 HATFIELD states that he had removed from the town, "as nothing more is heard of him." It is likely that he went to Delaware or Maryland. ware or Maryland.

THE WILDERNESS ROAD

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1161). BOONE'S ROAD-WARRIOR'S TRAIL.

The WILDERNESS ROAD to Kentucky was one of the very important pioneer roads of the country.

"Boone's Road, opened for the Transylvania Company, made a way thither. The result was a marvelous westward movement that for timeliness, heroism and ultimate success is without a parallel in our annals. When the armies of the Revolutionary War are counted, that first army of twenty-five thousand men, women and childen which hurried over Boone's little path, through dark Powell's Valley, over the "high-swung gateway" of Cumberland Gap, and down through the Laurel Wildernesses to Crab Orchard, Danville, Lexington, and Louisville must not be forgotten. No army ever meant so much to the West; some did not mean more to the East." (HUBERT, p. 15).

Immigration in Kentucky, 1775. In twenty years

Immigration in Kentucky, 1775. In twenty years came 100,000 people; population 1790, 73,000; 1800, 220,000.

"Their fathers and mothers told them of their travel to Kentucky from Virginia, or the Carolinas, or Maryland, or Pennsylvania. The greater portion of this travel in the early days was over the old Wilderness Road, though many persons made their way down the Ohio."

* *

"The distance from Philadelphia to the interior of Kentucky by way of Cumberland Gap was nearly eight hundred miles."

"From Virginia and the Carolinas all the immigrants naturally entered Kentucky by Cumberland Gap. The remarkable fact is that those also from Maryland and Pennsylvania went by the same route to a very large extent: the cause doubtless being the delays, difficulties, and perils of the voyage down the river." (SPEED, in FILSON) (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 964).

"THE IMPORTANCE OF THE SETTLE-MENT OF KENTUCKY AND OF THE WILDERNESS ROAD

The Wilderness Road to Kentucky was one of the very important pioneer roads of the country. Over it struggled the early travelers who led the way in the settlement of the West, and who established the first commonwealth in the wilderness beyond the Mountains. Its history is picturesque and romatic and its risk interval. beyond the Mountains. Its history is picturesque and romantic and is rich in the traditions of the hardships and adventures and achievements of the explorers and hunters and pioneers for whom it was the path to the promised land of Kentucky. And yet, except for a few antiquarians and historians, and for the memories of it which persist among the people along its course, it is forgotten. Its usefulness as a thoroughfare is passed. With the automobile it may come back into its own, but at present no one travels over the whole length of this road that once was the only beaten path to Kentucky and was traveled by tens of thousands of pioneers." pioneers.

To this the "OLD MINE ROAD", in North-western New Jersey, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1163), was a fitting compliment. Not so important, as the first, but still highly interesting in migratory O. E. M. development, of the early days.

JOHN YEO OF MARYLAND
An interesting, odd name, which got into N. J., and, with many other instances, is fully ill. of the colonial migration and interchange between N. J., and Maryland of family inheritances and

It is very provocative to suggest that JOHN YEO had come from N. H., to N. J., and then, as MARTIN, et al., (vide ante, PART FIVE, p. 884), went on to MARYLAND, what a field for further research, when the intended closing of the door by main (e) DICTIONARIES and genealogical PERFECTION shall have been evaporated. evaporated.

CONCLUSIVE REACTIONS

In GENEALOGY, one makes records—writes History. The present world social state is in turmoil. The GREAT DEPRESSION, 1929-1933, now, more than four years in duration, has reached its greatest force and lowest depths; tragical course, with economic change and loss; spiritual decline and human passions to the fore. Each man's hand is against that of another, internationally, nationally and individually, SELFISHLY. The spirit, play and propaganda of ICONOCLASM, SOCIALISM, COMMUNISM, FASCISTISM, PROFESSORIALISM, with little difference, in motive, only more variation in form and more intense in expression, are fearfully present. The WORLD is sad and sorrowful, with dread WAR and CONFLICT, lurking in the shadows.

This PART SIX was opened, in a field, where only pleasure, diversion, avocation, with some lawful pride and sure Americanism prevail, by the courage sustaining the HECHT Christmas message of 1933, (vide, ante, p. 904). This was unique, hopeful and strictly American. The year 1934 was optimised and inspirited in the quotation of the CHAPIN prologue, "for reconsecration to the task ahead!" (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 905). As WE HOPE, LET US PRAY. MORE HISTORY may be written here and now, than in these short biographies of nearly three hundred years ago.

Will the AMERICAN CHARACTER, demonstrated to be strong and virile, battle thru, successfully, the storm of theory, impractice and political expediency, and be able to arrive safely home—to the Haven of Blessed Heritage? GOD HELP!

An exalted task is finished, as far as PART SIX is concerned. It has been performed with fidelity and full charge, for many hours of time and with much expense of energy, against a physical capacity and fleshly endurance, which have been greatly strained during the last year, by reason of ill health. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 973). With the best of good feeling and personal satisfaction, the results are commended to all sincere friends, faithful adherents and ardent supporters, in this Herculean endeavor to present, in better coordination, the facts of history and genealogical values, of this particular Colonial section of "OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY: A PERIOD OF FIFTY YEARS, 1664-1714".

With every thought of faithful application to the original objective, that of recordal and statistical information to be assembled, within the range of careful, conscientious investigation, and with every measure of fidelity to the sincere purpose, that a meritorious REFERENCE SERIES should be set up for study and use, relative to the FIRST SETTLERS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, within or as related to, the COLONIZATION CENTER, of New Jersey, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 893), PART SIX is joyously and fortuitously sent forth upon a mission of helpfulness and goodwill to all.

There may be honors and preferments in the compilation and publication field, in GENEALOGY, which are not for this author. However, the librarians, the reviewers, referencers and sponsors have been commendatory, and legion in number. (Vide, ante, this PART, pp. 907-920).

This editor is wholly satisfied and fully contented, that when these volumes are finally placed upon the library shelves, they will be taken down, again and again, by the many students and searchers, who cannot otherwise, in any form, cover this scope of New Jersey FIRST SETTLERS, without calling for and using these books of complete reference and personal adaptation, to each genealogical need.

Perchance, without the degree of "cum laude", from the Editor, or in the absence of the serious quip of the superfluous critic, there may appear a spirit of reciprocative gratitude, for this altruistic effort, as the cockles of this author's heart were warmed the more greatly by that assistant Librarian of the D. A. R. Memorial Continental Hall, at Washington, D. C., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 976; THE SECOND MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE, 1933), by her enthusiastic greeting, and saying; "We have no books in our Library, more eagerly asked for and continuously used—and oh! when will the index come?" The greater compliment for any production is its daily use and application. Let the imperfections of composition and errors of statement, if any, dissolve away in the gracious acceptability of kindliness. This writer, as a genealogist, has only desired GENEALOGICAL TRUTH, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 973, TRUTH).

This PART SIX is thus, frankly and genuinely, transmitted to a kind, sympathetic public, and with the love and affection of the writer, towards each and all of his gracious coworkers, or rather, as the German puts it, co-walkers, i. e. true "doppelganger freunde", in genealogical companionship.

AUTHOR'S NOTE

THIS INDEX and PART SEVEN, combined in one, for greater convenience, is really a continuation of a book previously issued from the printer, under the title of "FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY, 1664-1714," denominated "PART SIX," PARTS ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR and FIVE having been theretofore issued, of a SERIES to comprise eight or more PARTS, all of which should be secured before this edition is exhausted.

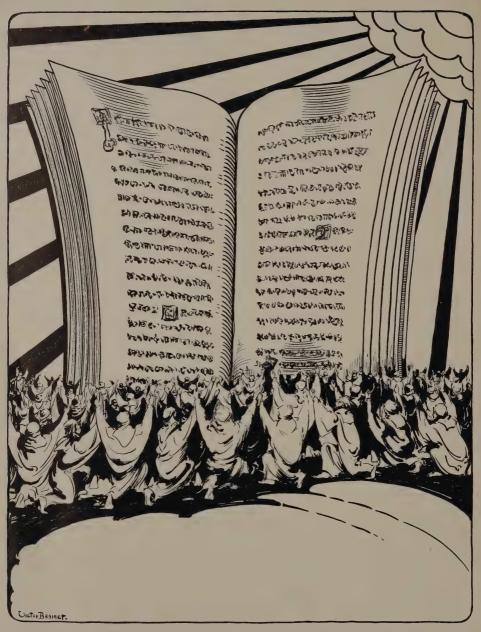

Necessarily and naturally the pagination continues, in sequence, from the last page of PART SIX, (p. 1242), so as to maintain accurate reference, as in the final index, to be supplementary to that presented herein of the first SIX PARTS, for it is hopefully expected to crown the whole SERIES, not only with the completest genealogical tabulations, possible, as may be further developed, but to make serviceable, all data and material, desired to be preserved, within the proper scope of this REFERENCE SERIES. THEREFORE, the historical connotations and genealogical deductions, already made, are subject to that final and perfect objective.

HUMOURSOME PHASES

Burke said: "The commons do not abet humoursome, factious arms;" and humor is defined as "having more kindly sympathy with human nature and as often blended with pathos." It does take intellectuality to see the point, when one's own tough hide is being pricked, and it is pathetic when one cannot appreciate that the imperfections of others are but the reflection of his own.—O. E. M.

The frontispiece illustration, on the reverse, is quite the idolatry and worship, not blindly, but eagerly, of "FIRST SETTLERS," and though symbolic, it was first implanted in the writer, as an ideal, and among the "crowd" of devotees, if one just had "inner sight divine," there could be recognized, critics, scoffers, heraldic committees, professors, editors—and even this editor does not wish to be so very far from the "madding crowd," as his heart opens out to all.—O. E. M.

THE ABOVE ILLUSTRATION is reproduced from that marvel of audacious books, "The Autobiography of God," by Ernest R. Trattner, (long-time friend of this editor), which appears (as an ill., opp. p. 78), with the theme title of "BIBLIOLATRY. If men could easily make a fetich out of a block of stone, it is not at all surprising that in time they took to the worship of books." (All of which is shown here by the direct, express and written consent of that author, himself, and of the great publishing house of SCRIBNERS, with most gracious helpfulness to this writer.)

Likewise, the author of that inestimable book has presented to this author the original artist drawing, from which the illustration was made, which bears the signed autograph of the artist, VICTOR BASINET. This great art drawing, with its theme, now ornaments the genealogical library of this editor.—O. E. M.

PISCATAWAY

PASCATAQUA, NEW HAMPSHIRE, 1621—as shown by both river and surrounding region, backward from the bay, at Portsmouth, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 74), (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 219), (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 363), (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 623-a and p. 623-b), (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 785).

PISCATAWAY, NEW JERSEY—(reduced from NEW PISCATAQUA), named from the above, by migrating settlers, and representing the first settlement or village, 1664, before Woodbridge, and also the original district of Middlesex County, and both sides of the Raritan River, including Somerset County, and part of Monmouth, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 69), (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 197), (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 510), (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 734).

PISCATAWAY, MARYLAND, 1654—(corrupted from Pascataway), and representing the river and section of environment, with little village, today, of the name in Prince George County, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 364), (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 723 and p. 880), (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 978).

PISCATAWAY, VIRGINIA—a less prominent district, fronting upon and riparian to the Piscataway Creek, which is in Essex County, and which empties north-eastward into the Rappahannock River. It is clearly given as such on the Map of Virginia, appearing in the front of the U. S. Census, (Heads of Families), for Virginia, 1790, and in CAVALIERS, (Va., p. 361), 1658, it was called "Puscatoway," in "Potomeck freshes"; the same as "Pascatoway Cr." (p. 372 and p. 442), "branches of Pascataway Cr." "side of Rappa. River"; and another, (p. 472), "upon Piscattaway Cr."

All of which is interesting and suggestive.

WOODBRIDGE

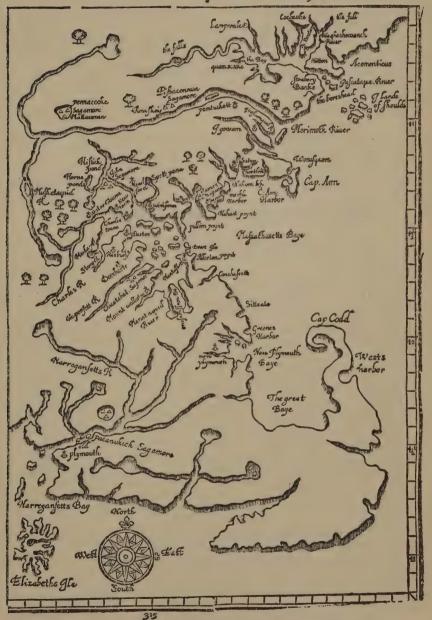

WOODBRIDGE, NEW JERSEY—named after Rev. John Woodbridge, former, favorite pastor, to the church members, at Newbury, Mass., who, in 1665, began to emigrate to New Jersey. Beyond doubt, he went with them, remained for a time, returned to England and Newbury, and then returned to W.

(vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 80), (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 514 et seq.), (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 736).

WOODBRIDGE, Family of Rev. John Woodbridge, who gave the name to Woodbridge, New Jersey-Genealogy.

Church Catalogue No. 427. H. V. Jones "Adventures in Americana," 105.

"... The first detailed account of Massachusetts, gives a topographical account of the Massachusetts colony as far as it then extended, and also a full description of its fauna and flora.

"The second part treats 'Of Indians, their persons, cloathings, diet, natures, customs, lawes, marriages, worships, conjurations, warres, games, hunting, fishings, sports, language, death, and burials.'

"An Indian vocabulary of five pages is placed at the end, earlier than the works of Roger Williams and John Eliot. In the compilation of this vocabulary Wood may have been assisted by Roger Williams, who before he lived at Salem had made considerable progress in the Indian language. It is possible that he may also have had the co-operation of John Eliot, who came to New England in 1631, the same year as Roger Williams.

"Wood, according to his own account, lived four years in New England.

"The following reference on page 92 doubtless refers to Eliot: 'One of the English Preachers in a speciall good intent of doing good to their soules, had spent much time in attaining to their Language, wherein he is so good a proficient, that he can speak to their understanding, and they to his: much loving and respecting him for his love and counsell. It is hoped that he may be an instrument of good amongst them.'

"The map, which is dated in each Edition to correspond with its imprint, is more correct and fuller in its details than any previous one.

"The writer speaks of having lived in New England for four years (p. 8). He embarked for England August 15, 1633 (p. 44)."

PREFATORY NOTE

The completion of PART SIX of this Reference Series brought to the writer, compiler and editor the most joyous emotions imaginable, because there was rapidly approaching to conclusion a plan of helpfulness to historians and genealogists, either interested in or led to seek the origins of peoples and migratory movements in the particular section within the scope of this work. It never was an idle dream but a realistic ambition to see this objective accomplished. While it has been hoped to complete the purpose within the compass of six volumes, as originally outlined, yet it has taken the full six parts to cover the main and fundamental groundwork. The final genealogy has been given, in part, but mainly reserved for that modern form of presentation, with some embellishment, which is the accepted standard of this kind of work. To achieve the latter, it cannot be hoped to complete this Reference Series with less than eight parts, in final consummation. Therefore, PART SEVEN, already set up in preliminary presentation, yet to be revised, will go to the printer sometime during 1935.

The encomiums of praise and complimentary references, by individual letters, support the magazine reviews and editorial comments, which have been given almost unstinted from every quarter in the genealogical field. These book reviews and personal comments have been included in each part so that they may be preserved for future generations, that a contemporary appreciation of this altruistic endeavor may ever be shown. Hundreds of letters in congratulatory and laudable genealogy have come to the editor's desk, and the few criticisms arising from narrow, antagonistic motives and personal selfishness have been specifically castigated in PART SIX, but have scarcely marred the calm serenity of the wonderful cooperation given to the writer from every point of the historical world.

With the issuance of each part, both the need and desire for an ample index have been present, and graciously urged upon this editor. The expense of publicathe been present, and graciously urged upon this editor. The expense of publication has grown with added numbers of pages and many illustrations not ordinarily given, for the money's worth, in any genealogical compilation, so that it has not been possible to include an index in each part, as issued. This was greatly to be desired and each publication was sent out, with a feeling that it was incomplete. Yet, each PART of this REFERENCE SERIES has had a certain continuity and general arrangement which has made it entirely practicable and usable by the real, conscientious searcher. It is not intended for the casual observer but for the deeper researcher after facts and data. Genealogical deductions, as the commencement of which in each case was carefully introduced by explanatory purpose and reference, have presented much genealogy from both quoted, referenced and personally compiled examples. This has been presented in each part, in alphabetical form, with reference in each case to authority and where the statement of this writer and editor has been given, upon his own profound and conscientious conviction, his initials have been always attached. He assumes full responsibility for any statement of his own, not predicated upon the work or the conclusion of another. There has been no guess work, no speculation, no inferential genealogy, intentionally presented. It may have occurred through quotation, but the responsibility can be adequately placed, in each case, as GENEALOGICAL TRUTH only has been sought for. It was the hope and still is the purpose of this writer to present in alphabetical array that final genealogy, without too much repetition, which should properly cover FIRST SETTLERS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, etc. The genealogical deductions already presented do not and will not please everyone nor is it to be expected that a final genealogy will satisfy every client. This writer has emphasized with some force that there is a difference of genealogical opinion and combativeness in the genealogical field, which grows out of three main causes: (a) a pedigree has been supplied for eligibility in a patriotic society, for instance; and, any suggestion of impairment of that particular lineage sets up antagonism and animosity, for the possessor is unwilling to surrender his rights, unless forced to do so; (b) editorial opinion is very difficult, and in some few cases highly unfair. It is not predicated upon personal genealogical research, almost in no instance, and once stated in a magazine column, editorially, as is perfectly human, no editor is willing to retrench, modify or to change his statements. Then, peculiarly, it affects his pride, his sensitiveness and his holy proclamations, to have anyone else express a difference of opinion from his. This makes compilation very difficult to achieve; (c) the professional genealogist, that person who works for pay, which is the only thing that makes him "professional," (and which does not primarily establish either competency or expertness), having made his research and given his pronouncement, is entirely unwilling to backtrack and correct his own errors, particularly, if he has received pay for his work. It has not been easy to make it clear that this writer has not the slightest obligation to professionalism in genealogy, but the ever present contention that because one is a professional, i.e. he is more expert and more efficient, is impossible of evidence, for the standard of the game has been grossly impaired by the false assumptions of several who claim to be professionally expert, and are not. One can imagine the grotesque egotism of a professional who will advertise that he corrects pedigrees. That is a strange business, as the writer sees it, and to follow an error, for the pleasure of discomfiting some one else, reflects its own animus of illwill towards others. It is simply a "mudslinging" or "muck-racking" attitude of mind, which belongs peculiarly to a few in the sequestered and cloistered sections of the genealogical field. The doors in this reference are closed to the layman and to the avocative, except that frequently appeals are made to him for financial contribution and support.

Therefore, this editor approaches an index for the first six parts of this Reference Series, with much joy and gladness. Here it is presented with every accurate reference as nearly true as human ability and careful technique can provide.

An acknowledgement must be made to Miss Jessie Winchell French of Santa Ana, California, for her more than one year's conscientious application to making out and setting up what is a most complete index as comprising place references and sur-name notations. It is a consummation which has been devoutly wished for and certainly will be gratefully received. It is a further aid to purpose of rendering this REFERENCE SERIES invaluable from its comparatively easy use, and is certain to make it the final and best handbook of JERSEY GENEALOGY, covering its scope.

To any of those who may not find it such, they are careless in thought and unwilling to recognize that the compiler has poured into this compilation hours and hours of time since 1912, many, many units of energy and physical application, together with a monetary cost for books, records, photostats and researches which, at the present moment, reaches to over forty thousands of dollars. That, it may possess, typographical or clerical, or from transcription of original records, errors, is quite possible, and further researches may change some genealogical statements and pedigree presentations, and, for these the kind word or helpful suggestion will always be graciously received. If a correction can be made in the final two parts to come forth, with clarity and for further helpfulness, it will be done.

In consideration of kindness, welcome, cordial reception of his undertaking and the rejoiced feelings of his soul, the writer, in a personal way, presents the index to PARTS ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR, FIVE and SIX of his Reference Series to his subscribers, searchers, and librarians, with the belief that he has served to the best of his ability and with a noble purpose as unselfish and altruistic as ever could be given from one man to other men and women akin to him or similarly interested in this field of surname origin, historical review and migratory movement of the peoples of Europe to Colonial America.

With the expression of the Christmas Season of 1934 and for the New Year of 1935, this statement is made December 25th, 1934, in a compilation to be issued from the printer early in 1935.

Original Plan as Carried Out

In 1914, there was undertaken the historical and genealogical work indicated by the accompanying title page, of which PART ONE, PART TWO and PART THREE came from the press, 1930-31, and were then, as now, ready for delivery (though the edition is largely exhausted).

The labors of research and compilation have proceeded since that date, with more or less of interference of time, until seventeen large volumes of manuscript have been achieved. The long postponement of publication has been an anxious wait, both to the original subscribers and to the compiler himself.

Therefore, to avoid further delay, it was determined to print this valuable work, in PARTS, as a SERIES, each complete in itself, up to a certain point, in a natural development of the scope of the plan. The final objective is disclosed by the general outline, printed on pages 25 and 26 of PART ONE, and repeated here on the succeeding pages.

The research has been performed at prodigious labor, time and expense. As publication progresses it has seemed equitable to ask an increase of the price for each PART, as completed, which is to cover publication expenses, including printing, etc., solely. The genealogical research and historical presentation represented in this work is really the contribution of the compiler to this important and interesting field of genealogy. IT IS NOT A COMMERCIAL UNDERTAKING.

These PARTS comprise many pages of closely printed matter, largely in double column. It is a limited edition of 350 signed copies, on excellent paper, bound in Cellusuede, with several illustrations, maps, etc. When the SERIES has been completed, the PARTS can be assembled and bound in a single volume, or more, if desired, although the present binding is very durable.

Because of printing and other costs, no complimentary copies can be presented to anyone, and the reception of PARTS already printed will determine the number and extent of further publication of this SERIES.

Send all orders to the address first above, and, upon receipt of the cost price of each, any one PART or all, as may be desired, will be forwarded, carriage prepaid, to any address. If not satisfactory, it may be returned, and money will be refunded.

IMPORTANT NOTATION

General Outline

N lieu of a Table of Contents, the following General Outline of this work will exhibit the standard divisions or separate allocations into which it is proposed to arbitrarily divide this presentation of The First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, with a golden thread of connection running through each part, all made necessary by the voluminous records and history sources covered.

It is planned to complete this compilation in from eight to ten Parts, of which the latter half will comprise genealogical material and the assembling thereof, with reference to the Period of New Jersey Colonial History, from the year 1664 to 1714, a duration of Fifty Years, in the appearance of the First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey.

PART ONE as presented contains the preliminary and introductory matter, spokes of the wheel, or foundation stones, so to speak—certain historical references and surname lists, all of which are inductive of further elucidation in the later Part Numbers.

- A. Part One: Introductory and Historical: New Jersey, New York, and New England Sources. Surname Lists. First Settlers, Staten Island, Maps, Etc. THIS IS AN ESSENTIAL FOUNDATION TO THE WHOLE SERIES.
- B. Part Two: Vital Records of Piscataway and Woodbridge, although in part published elsewhere, many unfortunate errors are corrected, and other statistics included, which have been gathered from miscellaneous origins.
- C. Part Three: Gleanings from early New Jersey Records, Archives and printed sources, indicating surname reference and identification of the First Settlers by date, place and activities in community life for the Period.
- D. Part Four: Miscellaneous data concerning the First Settlers, with historical connotations and genealogical interpretations as may lend interest and historical development.
- E. Part Five: Articles by "GERER," first appearing in the department of "Jersey Genealogy," published by The Newark Evening News, of Newark, New Jersey, with revisions, corrections and amendments, as may be necessary.

F. Part Six, and following Parts: Genealogical, in modern form, of the First Settlers, with as complete data, as discoverable, of the first three or more generations in America of each surname in New Jersey.

Notes: Because each PART shall in itself be valuable and susceptible of use, within its scope, the right is reserved to discontinue or modify the presentation of the First Settlers, at the completion of any PART, or to modify or change the foregoing plan, as may seem to be advisable in the progress of compilation and printing. (Also, this plan is subject to the financial support received.)

Each section comprising quotations, which are purposely made liberal, for reference uses, and taken from other printed authorities, are reproduced in the particular case by and with the express consent of author and publisher, with full credit to him, and are employed herein as a general basis for discussion, amendment, correction or illumination, but so that the student of this work, will not be compelled to seek the original reference for the completion of his research.

Genealogies

All source references re New Jersey Familles

In PART THREE is printed a major list of the published genealogical compilations, books and magazine articles, relating to these families, so that other constructive genealogy can be consulted by reference, and recourse had thereto, either to support, confirm or to elucidate any conclusions presented.

This plan has been supplemented in each succeeding part. Vide.

Bibliography

Nomenclature in abbreviated references:

This includes practically every worthwhile and printed authority upon New Jersey genealogy, archives and records, and concerning colonial history, where referable to genealogical evidences.

In addition, other books, town histories, genealogies and printed authorities in the general field of genealogy, are employed because of their frequent use in this compilation. However, the following bibliography is not at all inclusive and is given here solely to shorten volume and page reference to the source adopted in the succeeding tabulation and compilation. In the event of book or record reference being made, not susceptible of frequent repetition, no attempt is made to give these in abbreviated form, which will account for their appearance in full in the context and omission from the appended list.

The block letters used singly refer to the more notable places, villages and towns appearing in the subject matter.

No list of abbreviations is specifically provided, since only those of general use in genealogical works and of common understanding will be employed.

BOOK REVIEWS-PERSONAL COMMENTS

(Following the same expression of appreciation, as exemplified, by the introduction to this subject, vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 907.)

With all the vicissitudes, sorrows, tragedies of Life, there are many compensations; so that counting one's blessings is not only a reassuring privilege, but a proof-bearing certainty of happiness, based upon the favors and bounties of human existence, which call for much personal thankfulness.

Likewise, in any effort, well intended, conscientiously performed, at great investment of time, labor and expense, with a true altruistic spirit of helpfulness to others, there is sufficient reward, in the fact of service earnestly and capably done, and in this alone.

However, when the work finds enthusiastic acceptance, with every evidence that it has gained a deserved place in the esteem and recognition of men, the first normal satisfaction is not in the catering to one's lawful pride, which encomiums of praise stimulate, but in the rare delight of having afforded service, use and pleasure to others. For that alone, this author cares. If he has striven against unfair reviewers and prejudiced critics, though very few in number, he has lawfully revelled in the delights of favorable comment and gracious compliment. He would be just like the cad, or snob, or egotist, if he did not exhibit his gratitude and record, in the interest of each, the fair animadversion and the reasonable criticism, to preserve for the future, all contemporary estimates, of this day and fact of publication. In this the writer has not spared himself, and willingly sets forth even the specific cases of important disagreements with his presentations, both genealogical and historical.

With that proper gratitude and thankfulness thus exhibited, without loss of dignity, (because no other compiler does the same, for this is neither salesmanship nor publicity), the cordial and helpful statements of others are gratefully presented:

Monnette, Orra Eugene

First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714.... Los Angeles, LeRoy Carman Press, 1930.

This is a comprehensive compilation of genealogical and historical data and references relative to Olde East New Jersey, taken in very large part from original sources.

The author has what is probably the most nearly complete collection of this sort of New Jersey material to be found in the country. From his own library and from all other available sources on the section of New Jersey covered, he has selected the best and edited and arranged it under different subject headings.

The work is issued in parts, six of which are already published. Each part contains either a reprint of outstanding value or some newly gleaned facts from obscure sources and is practically complete in itself. Among some of the more important features in the various parts are-

List of Patentees with location of Patents. Part II. Genealogical notes on the Dunham Family. Olde East New Jersey Land Grants. Vital statistics of Piscataway and Woodbridge.

Records of Friends of Rahway. Richard Smith of Piscataway and Woodbridge.

Part III. Perth Amboy early settlers and Patentees. Cemetery records.

Roster of soldiers in Colonial Wars.

Miscellaneous data on Woodbridge families and settlers. Part IV.

Miscellaneous data on Woodbridge lamines and settlers.

Middlesex County Court records.

Origin of New Jersey Huguenot names.

"Seven Notables"—Pierre Billiou, Richard Stockton, Israel Folsom, John Gilman, Judge Henry Freeman, Maj. James Giles and Luke Watson.

"Jersey Genealogy" first printed by the author in Newark Evening News.

Lawrence and Lippincott families.

Cemetery inscriptions. Part V.

Part VI.

New Jersey Deeds from Deed Index in Secretary of State's Office. New York Calendar of Land Papers.

Patents for land in Olde East New Jersey.

Each part has a Bibliography of the printed works of New Jersey history and genealogy, and of such other books as are used in the compilation of the work. Also there is a series of articles called "First Settler Families" which are very valuable for the lists of authorities consulted.

Mr. Monnette has given much attention to the Huguenots of New Jersey and New York.

There are discussions throughout the book regarding many genealogical problems which are often points of difference among genealogists.

Of historical value are the reproductions of rare maps, documents, letters, etc., and historians of New Jersey will find the book is a veritable mine of information for the time and places covered.

When the publication is complete, its value will be greatly enhanced by the index to be included in the last volume.

"FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY, 1664-1714. A PERIOD OF FIFTY YEARS. By Orra Eugene Monnette, LL.D., Los Angeles, California, 1934. Part Six. Octavo, heavy suede, pp. 887 to 1242; por. 14 (1 group of 16); ills. 51; coats-of-arms 9; maps 10.

"With courage and good will the author has added over three hundred and fifty pages to the already published source material relative to his chosen theme and, thereby, has put all students of this vicinity still deeper in his debt. He has placed in the hands of amateurs, even those more skilled in genealogical pursuits, keys to unlock various store-houses of historical and genealogical material from which to plant their respective family trees, or, to write in quite prose the family chronicle. Among those in the present volume are: General Bibliography of First Settler Families; Cemetery inscriptions from Samptown; Springfield, Rahway, Connecticut Farms now Union, Scotch Plains, Piscataway, New Market, Stelton and Metuchen; Marriages at Westfield, New Jersey, from 1759; Middlesex County abstracts of deeds, taken from Deed Index in office of Secretary of State; Quotations from New York Calendar of Land Papers; Piscataway, Woodbridge and Perth Amboy Patents or Quit Rents, with indices to original record in Surveyor General's Office at Perth Amboy; Special Genealogical Treatment of First Settler Families, alphabetically arranged. In addition there is a wealth of illustration, with reproduction of several old and valuable New Jersey Maps."

(Publications of The Genealogical Society of Pennsylvania, Vol. XII, p. 206.)

WHAT A GOOD FRIEND, AND THE EDITOR OF NEW YORK HISTORY, JULY, 1934, THINKS OF PART SIX

"FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY, 1664-1714. PART VI. By Orra Eugene Monnette. (Los Angeles, 1934. Pp. 387. $10.)

"The nation and all its component parts need more genealogical and historical friends like Mr. Monnette who gives so generously of his time and wealth to preserve the sources of our origins and developments. 'No documents; no history' wrote Langlois some years ago, a truth which historical scholars now generally recognize. More and more the professional historian has come to appreciate the value of the research work of the non-academic historian in the discovery and preservation of valuable records. In this particular work under review, the compiler has specialized in a section of old New Jersey. But Piscataway and Woodbridge have sent out their sons and daughters to enrich every portion of the whole country and hence the records of these places have come to have a national and not merely a local significance. This sixth installment contains new material on the Lawrence family, Richard Higgins, the Lippincotts, and the Huguenots. Cemetery records of Samptown Baptist Church, the Springfield Presbyterian Church, the Rahway Cemetery, the Scotch Plains Cemetery and other places are printed. An alphabetical list of the deeds recorded in East Jersey is included. The New York Calendar of Land Papers affords many items relating to Staten Island and New Jersey. Patents of first settlers of East Jersey are given with sketches of the early families. The numerous illustrations have among them portraits, coats-of-arms and the survey map of 1769, the Moll map of 1730, and the Reid map of the Raritan River of 1683. For genealogists and local historians this section of Mr. Monnette's collection of sources, like its predecessors, will be a mine of important information. It is hoped that other persons may be inspired to follow his example.

A. C. FLICK." (NEW YORK HISTORY, Vol. XV, No. 3, July, 1934, p. 346.)

"IX-SETTLERS IN NEW JERSEY

"Through the kindness of our Fellow, Mr. Orra E. Monnette, of Los Angeles, we are able to add to the library a copy of the sixth volume of his monumental work entitled FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY. This is on the same general lines as the previous volumes (See PROCEEDINGS, Vol. XIV, pp. 418, 583), but is larger in size and has an even greater proportion of illustrations, not the least interesting of which are some reproductions of old maps. In the latter part of the volume genealogical information about a considerable number of families is arranged in alphabetical order, and this includes references to information scattered about in the previous unindexed volumes. A number of French Huguenot names are to be found in this section."

(PROCEEDINGS OF THE HUGUENOT SOCIETY OF LONDON, Vol. XV. No. 1, 1934, p. 175.)

THE ORDER OF BOOKFELLOWS

"We have received the sixth part of Bookfellow Orra Eugene Monnette's monumental work, 'First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714.' It is a bewildering display of profound scholarship. We only wish he'd come over our way and included Short Hills so's we could read the inscriptions on the tombstones of our Lyons ancestors."

(STEP LADDER, Sept., 1934, pp. 164-5.)

BOOKS, by WILBURN NEEDHAM

With Part Six, Orra Eugene Monnette brings closer to conclusion the monumental genealogical work, "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey." There are to be eight or more parts, of which, so far, this would appear by the pagination to be, by far, the largest. The series is supplemental to the "Monnet Family Genealogy" which Dr. Monnette, well-known both as a genealogist and as head of the Los Angeles Public Library, brought out in 1911. Mr. Clover has reviewed the first five parts, so that readers of the paper must be familiar with Dr. Monnette's purposes and what he has accomplished. The present volume is a costly affair, for it has not only been well printed on good paper, it contains many folding maps, and plates, countless whotoprinted on good paper, it contains many folding maps and plates, countless photographs and reproductions of old prints and maps and documents together with the coats-of-arms of the Monnet, Lawrence and other families.

In compiling this work, Dr. Monnette has not only gone into an amazing amount of research work, he has traveled over England, France and Germany, visiting ancient shrines and gathering data. His family contains both an old English colonizing group and a branch descended from William the Conqueror. However, colonizing group and a branch descended from William the Conqueror. However, the present volume is not concerned alone with the Monnets and Lawrences and the more recent Monnettes, but with the settlers of the entire region; and, for that reason, it will prove of value and interest to many families. Libraries, especially, will have to have copies, where they are large enough to entertain genealogical visitors. It is, indeed, a splendid, work, faithfully and earnestly performed, and containing much information about deeds and records, patents and land grants, with reproductions, and giving cemetery inscriptions. LeRoy Carman has made a beautiful book out of it, far removed from the austere and even ugly formats in which genealogies usually bury themselves. REVIEWS

"FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY, 1664-1714, by Orra Eugene Monnette (The LeRoy Carman Press, Los Angeles, California, U. S. A. L10.00).

"Here is the sixth part of a work which will be complete in eight parts. This compilation becomes more elaborate and better illustrated with each part. It is not produced for profit, but by the subscriptions of enthusiastic genealogists. The compiler is skilled in his subject and outspoken about means and methods of which he does not approve. This part contains no less than 1242 pages of close matter, and maps and reproductions of views, portraits and other subjects relevant to genealogical research."

"JERSEY PIONEERS:

"Indefatigably Dr. Orra Eugene Monnette continues his compilation of information about the Jersey pioneers, publishing now Part 6 of his series of volumes, this one dealing with 'First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714" (The LeRoy Carman Press, Los Angeles).

"As in his procedure, Dr. Monnette presents a mass of data. He begins with a reproduction of the noted survey map of 1769 from Smith's 'History of New Jersey.' An important feature of the book is a 'General Bibliography of History and First Settler Families.' There are numerous transcripts of cemetery inscriptions and of New Jersey deed records. One section of the book gives patents for lands in East New Jersey, another provides a calendar of New York land papers. The volume has some excellent reproduced illustrations."

The Library has received from DR. ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE a gift, "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714," by Orra Eugene Monnette, Part Six, a valued addition to its collection for which I have the honor to return grateful acknowledgement.

The Right to Arms and Crest

Family History

June 12, 1934

Dear Dr. Monnette:

"First Settlers," Part Six

The trouble with this book is that when you begin to dip into it, you cannot put it down. Oh, dear, no I'm not going to give it unstinted praise. To begin with, its "style" is execrable, according to the accepted canons. There is too much "O.E.M." and his family plastered over the pages—you never get away from them. Interesting, no doubt, to those who know them, but to others, irritating. Too many capital letters, too much irrelevance, no intelligible plan, and finally, the paper cover is a failure. It breaks off in your hand.

There are three reasons, I think, why genealogy is so fascinating. There is the pleasure of contemplating a reasonably water-tight (as to proofs), connected account of a family spreading over generations. You will not get that here. There is the pleasure of finding allusions to someone or something you know of, and adding a little to that knowledge. There is the pleasure of finding allusions to people or places in whom or in which you know some friend is interested, and you get the additional satisfaction of passing it on.

The author gives much of his space to objections to criticism or the demand for "proofs" for statements made. But is not this (the absence of such proofs) just what in the past has cast so much discredit on the study? The book as a whole is a direct contradiction to this frame of mind consisting, as it does, much of it, of a careful and laboriously accurate transcript of ancient records.

This is what constitutes its value. We read the author's discursive notes and remarks, expressed in the most curious travesty of the English language; but we do read, and read on, because the book is full of the unexpected and a mine of wealth to those who value facts and find amusement in opinions. I thank you for it, Dr. Monnette, and may you be long spared to bring the History to a triumphant conclusion, rounding it off with the completest Index that ever was.

Yours sincerely and obliged, George Sherwood.

Orra Eugene Monnette, B.A., LL.D.

Note:—Compliments from a true friend.

The editor humbly accepts the intended kindly criticisms, but would say that where the initials, "O.E.M.," have appeared, he thought it were highly honest to show that the statement was that of this writer—other material being from original records, or the ipse dixits of others, largely professional, seldom editorial.

The "style" is purposely made different from the dry-as-dust presentation of compilers, who put no "meat" on the bones of their skeletons, and the textual thrust is intentionally provocative—in no other way will the exclusives and exploiters be made to "roar," and Genealogical Truth secured.

If too many personal items have been presented, they have been duly explained, as Genealogy is personal, and it may not interest the reader, unless he has the same blood or history, but MANY THERE ARE, who are subscribers to this REFERENCE SERIES, not just the selfish. No apology is needed for format, arrangement, or flamboyancy, as one of the noted editorial "confidentes" wrote to "POPINGA"—"fulminations."—O. E. M.

ANOTHER IMPORTANT NEW JERSEY ITEM

"Part Six of the very important work on New Jersey colonial and family history by Mr. Orra E. Monnette, entitled 'First Settlers of . . . Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey,' is now available.

"This part continues the high standard of material presented in the former five parts of the book by giving several facsimiles of rare maps and copies of manuscript records seldom to be had by the layman in genealogical researching.

Mr. Orra E. Monnette. 350 South Oxford Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. Dear Mr. Monnette:

You will be interested to learn that First Settlers of Piscataway and Olde East New Jersey is called for more frequently than any other book in our library.

Even before the publication of The Catalog, last week, twelve members were patiently waiting for their turn to borrow one or more parts of the series.

Were it not for the fact that there are many books we should have, at least one copy, you would be receiving our order for a second set.

Very truly yours,

THE INSTITUTE OF AMERICAN GENEALOGY.

Dear Mr. Monnette:

I write to acknowledge the receipt of PART VI of your valued contribution to the history and genealogy of this part of the world.

On page 1019, caption "John Smith, Scotchman," the discussion of the meaning of the word Scotchman brings to my memory that I have read that the word means peddler. See New Jersey Archives, 1st Series, Vol. XXI, p. 9, for confirmation, but I do not find any in the dictionaries we have here.

With kind regards, I am

Yours truly, (Signed) CHAS. W. LENG.

FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY, 1664-1714

By Orra Eugene Monnette, B.A. Part Six. The LeRoy Carman Press, Los Angeles, California, 1934. 8 vo., pp. 889-1242. Maps and many illustrations. Three hundred and fifty copies printed. Price 10 dollars.

This is another part of the admirable account of the first Settlers in a small portion of the State of New Jersey as set forth above. Mr. Monnette's industry is beyond praise, and he has gathered together an immense amount of material. We should imagine that no other corner of the United States and certainly no corner of Great Britain has been the subject of so much genealogical research. English genealogists will be especially interested in the details given about the family of William Lawrence, who came to America in 1635 from St. Albans in Hertfordshire. But we cannot think it the least likely that in 1677 Thomas Lawrence of New York, Baker, was so described not because he was a baker by trade but because he was some connexion, possibly a descendant, of the de Baecker family of New York. In England, at that date to be described as a baker, meant either that the man actually carried on that trade or that he was a member of the Bakers' Company by patrimony, in which case he might or might not be an actual baker of bread. If Baker was a kind of second surname, as Mr. Monnette seems to think, "alias" would certainly have been added, as in the well-known instance, Oliver Cromwell als Williams. It seems most probable that in such matters the early English immigrants to America carried on the custom of the country from which they had come, and it can be shown that in innumerable instances they did so. We do not understand why Thomas Lawrence should not have been an actual maker of bread.

The illustration of the Memorial containing the supposed names of the Companions of William the Conqueror in 1066, makes it necessary to remind Mr. Monnette that no English historians of note were consulted as to the names to be inscribed upon the tablet, and that such names as are not to be found in contemporary chronicles, (of which names there are very few), or in Domesday Book, are very doubtful authenticity. The compilation called the "Roll of Battle Abbey" belongs to the thirteenth or fourteenth century, and has very little historical value.

There is no index to the part, but that no doubt is being reserved to complete the volume, and we feel sure that when it appears it will prove to be as thorough and complete as Mr. Monnette's previous labours would lead us to expect.

(THE GENEALOGISTS MAGAZINE, VOL. 6, DECEMBER, 1934, NO. 12, pp. 582.)

(NOTE: This editor is so appreciative and delighted over the above complimentary review, that, in the two points raised, he just wishes to offer; that there is no proof, or likelihood, of Thomas Lawrence, having been a baker, as on Map of 1683, his name appears as "LAW BAKER," without punctuation. Also, the Falaise Memorial and Battle Abbey Roll references are correct, and this author was not attempting to say that names are correctly sustained, as they appear in illustration, but THEY DO SO APPEAR, at Falaise.—O. E. M.)

THE NEWARK SUNDAY CALL Newark, N. J.

Editorial Rooms-June 10, 1934:

"PART SIX of a monumental genealogical work entitled 'First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey," has recently appeared. The author, Orra Eugene Monnette of Los Angeles, Calif., is not a native Jerseyman, as one might suppose, though of Jersey descent. He was born in Ohio, and for many years has been a lawyer in California. There are to be eight or more parts in his work.

"The current volume presents a vast array of names and vital statistics. In the 300 or more crowded pages of small print there is much information on early New Jersey history and the pioneer settlers.

"Mr. Monnette does his genealogical labors with gusto; he retorts vigorously to critics of his researches and includes in Part Six a long affidavit that he made, setting forth in detail his experience and qualifications for this enterprise. He also puts in book reviews, personal tributes and stray bits of verse or prose quotations that seem to him appropriate to his subject.

"The book has some quaint colonial maps and many other illustrations, one of which is a photograph of Old Mine road in Walpack township, Sussex. The picture was taken by Harry C. Dorer, Sunday Call staff photographer. Mr. Monnette happened to see it in the artgravure section and liked it so much that he asked permission to use it."

BOOK NOTES

First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge, Olde East New Jersey, 1664-1714. By Orra Eugene Monnette. Part 5. (Los Angeles: The Author, 1933, 206 pp. $8.25.) In this part which begins with page 645 and ends with page 884 the compiler carries forward his genealogical work on New Jersey settlers. This part includes a copy of the map of "New Jarsy" by Augustine Herrman; a sketch of Herrman; a table of contents and of illustrations for Part Four; acknowledgements, book reviews and personal comments on former parts of this series; a general outline of the series through Part Six; some additional biographical material on the compiler, including a list of patriotic and other affiliations and a certificate of pedigree; the introductory preface; bibliographical material, with a unique first item; a list of New Jersey Huguenot names with origins; historical, heraldic and genealogical authorities; "The Editorial Desk"; a cartoon with dialogue, "Doctors of Effete Genealogy, in Meeting"; miscellaneous material, a chronology of New Jersey from 1609 to 1670; historical notes on the original petitioners and patentees; a list of New Jersey genealogy; additional reviews and miscellaneous materials, including comments on "The Snob Racket" (Nation, March 1, 1933), by Samuel R. Morison (misspelled Morrison); a formal conclusion of page 883 followed by more genealogical notes on the next page.

Much of this material is valuable for the historian but until the final index appears it will be difficult to use it. The index "can only be assured by the full cooperation of all subscribers."

PART SIX OF DR. MONNETTE'S SERIES OF BOOKS ON HISTORY OF JERSEY FAMILIES PRINTED

Map of East Jersey and West Jersey of 1777 Is Reproduced

"Part Six of 'First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge of Olde East New Jersey' by Dr. Orra Eugene Monnette, of 350 South Oxford Avenue, Los Angeles, California, has been issued and is now ready for distribution. Readers no doubt remember the reviews this newspaper has given the other five parts of this important work and contribution to the history and genealogy of these early New Jersey families, from whom so many people of the present generation are descended and who now reside in most of the eastern, southeastern, middle and far western states of the Union.

RICH SOURCE BOOK

"These publications are invaluable to the descendants of these many families covered in this great work, as well to the many thousands who are interested in family history and genealogy and historical and genealogical work. It will enable many to trace their lines of ancestry to these early American progenitors, who established our present great nation from their beginning on the eastern seaboard.

"The present generation has little conception of the trials, hardships and dangers these early ancestors underwent to build and establish the greatest republic on earth today.

"Part Six of the series contains 356 pages set two columns to the page in six and eight point type, which permits a great amount of material be included in a minimum amount of space. It also contains as a frontispiece, a large folding map of New Jersey, showing both East Jersey and West Jersey, a reproduction of one published December 1, 1777, and from surveys made in 1769, by order of the commissioners appointed to settle the boundary dispute between the colonies of New Jersey and New York.

CEMETERY LISTS PUBLISHED

"In addition the book contains many historical sketches of places in the colony and of the history and genealogy of many of the families of the regions in and around Piscataway and Woodbridge. Some parts of the Parish Registers of St. Albans Abbey of England are included. Many gravestone inscriptions are given from various graveyards and cemeteries, among which are Samptown, Middlesex county, N. J.; Presbyterian, at Springfield, N. J.; list of Revolutionary soldiers buried in Rahway cemetery, as well as others buried in the same cemetery; New Providence, N. J., cemetery; cemetery at the Conn farms; Baptist Church cemetery at Scotch Plains, N. J.; later burials in Rahway cemetery; marriages in Presbyterian church at Westfield, N. J.; burials in the Dunham cemetery; Piscataway cemetery inscriptions, and Baptist Church cemetery at Stelton, N. J."

PERSONAL COMMENTS AND BOOK REVIEWS

January 28, 1935

Mr. Orra E. Monnette, 350 South Oxford Avenue, Los Angeles, California. My dear Mr. Monnette:

I have enjoyed my studies in your "First Settlers of Ye Plantations of Piscataway and Woodbridge." Strangely enough, my incursions into the New Jersey field of genealogical study received their impetus from a search in Canada for a lost ancestor.

I traced a Rhode Island Spencer into Vermont and thence as a Tory into Canada. There I located him, or thought I did, in and about Napanee and Kingston. The marriage record said that Augustus Spencer married Sarah L. Conger, November 1, 1789, after banns published in July. Among other children, a son, Hazelton Spencer was baptized in 1799 by a traveling missionary named Langhorne.

The Conger trail led me to New Jersey, and into some very pleasant correspondence.

"PART VI arrived, like a welcome friend, at a most opportune time, when three of us—the two children and myself—were laid low with whooping cough, of all childish things for a grown man to 'ketch.' So I have been able to spend more time than usual in pouring through PART VI—and I have found many things of time than usual in pouring through PART VI—and I have found many things of value and interest in it. In fact, as each part arrives, I find myself going back through the other parts, and each time I make a new discovery!

"Needless to say I am looking forward to PART VII, but you'll have to issue it in parts A and B if you keep up with PART VI! And may your health and enthusiasm continue to burn brightly and allow you to finish your labors. You have done a great task well for us Jerseymen, and I for one appreciate it. To be able to sit at my desk in Rhode Island, and read about my forbears in the state of my birth, getting more information and facts about them than it would be possible to gather in many, many trips to New Jersey—and all said facts coming by way of California—I never cease to marvel at your work, and I certainly count myself fortunate to be among the possessors of 'First Settlers'.

Sincerely yours, JOHN B. HARVIE." (Signed)

Mr. Orra Eugene Monnette, 350 South Oxford Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif. Dear Mr. Monnette:

I have carefully examined every volume of your "Ye Early Settlers of Piscataway," and as a close student of the history of this vicinity of New Jersey, I find the greatest collection of early historical information that has ever been gathered together in one place.

You have in your work uncovered many new and interesting facts. The publication of an index which is essential and I understand is now in the press, is going to make this great mass of information available to student and research worker. I look to a fountain of new essential information being released through the fine work which you have accomplished.

You have spent considerable time and money in the collection of your material, especially going to the original sources to insure accuracy.

You have devoted yourself so much to this work that it has affected your health. When a man lays down so much for the love of his project he is to be doubly praised for the great monument he has built.

Sincerely yours, GEORGE J. MILLER. (Signed)

FROM LETTER OF MILNOR LIUNGSTEDT Editor, The County Court Note-Book and Genealogical Fact

June 27, 1934

Mr. Orra E. Monnette, 350 South Oxford St., Los Angeles, Calif.

My dear Mr. Monnette:

"Your work is really astonishing and I find it very interesting. You see I have several New Jersey or part New Jersey lines . . . and while I think the SHARPS and the FRENCHS, and the MILNORS, were of West Jersey at least in 1682 and after still I don't know very much about them. I once started to explore Cape May county . . . I have a feeling, based on some fragments of fact, that my ROBINSON ancestor who bothers me so, may have come down from that my ROBINSON ancestor who bothers me so, may have come down from New England with the other sea-faring folk.

"The amount of material you have gathered together is not matched by anything I can recall. Documentation is what we so much need and it is so sadly lacking in the innumerable books that have been published especially in the southern states. There is rather an amusing, perhaps one might say appealing, naivete in the manner in which the southern families rely upon oral tradition. I am quite sure some of them would be insulted if you suggested the need of recorded proof! Well, except for the trouble they make to those of us who demand historical exactness, perhaps it doesn't make much difference, after all."

Truly yours, MILNOR LJUNGSTEDT.

"Upon my recent visit to Fostoria, I found some awful gaps in the muster roll, but very few remnants of the old guard, which is prima facia evidence that we are all in process of vanishing so far as time is concerned, but from the standpoint of Eternity—well, that is the glowing side of the picture, for Christianity, Science and Human experience demonstrate that God has put us here not as tourists but as tenants where we finally abide forever."

My dear Dr. Orra E.:

Many thanks for yours of the 15th. I appreciate your reference to the item about old Fostoria, relating as it does to my early association with your family, and particularly your Grandfather, George W. Hull, and Uncle, J. C. Fremont Hull. My, how the very thought of the days when such men appeared among us stirs my blood to a well nigh dangerous pressure.

I am working hard here for my fifty thousand dollar fund for our University by February 12th and hope to succeed. In fact, I must succeed. I believe if you manipulate the letters I sent you, you may be able to bring in some real substantial results. At any rate it is worth an earnest effort.

Dr. Orra E. Monnette, Bank of America, Los Angeles, Calif. My dear Dr. Monnette:

We have just received such an interesting letter from Miss Sawyer of the Cabrillo Chapter, D. A. R. She says: "Mr. Monnette gave us a wonderful talk. We all feel as if we had walked your campus and visited with your fine young folks."

I cannot tell you how deeply I appreciate your helpfulness in this matter. It means so much to these Chapters to have a personal representative from the school and I do not know of any one whom I would rather have speak a word in our behalf than yourself.

Concerning the D. A. R. motion picture, it is a private film owned by Mrs. Pouch, whom you remember stood in the audience the day of Commencement and gave $100.00 to the school in the name of the Approved Schools Committee. The film is entirely the pictures of academic procession and one or two spots on the campus. It might be something which you would like to possess and, if so, I will get in touch with Mrs. Pouch and arrange to have her make a duplicate for you. I do not believe that they cost an extravagant amount.

Thanking you again and again for your cooperation, I am,

ANOTHER FROM THE SAME (An Original Supporter of This Reference Series)

My dear Mr. Monnette:

Was very pleased to hear from you and that you are completing an Index. Am so glad for the set wasn't complete without it. I have just sent word to the bookbinder to wait for the Index—was glad your letter came when it did. What is to be your next work? A continuation of Piscataway, etc.? I shall always feel pleased that I helped in a small way—for it's the very best compilation on the history of that part of Jersey—so comprehensive—so true and so fine. I hear great praise of it at all the Libraries and other places.

While we don't have earthquakes and such in New Jersey—we do have "weather of sorts." Just now it's cold and snow and it's very uncomfortable. I hope you and your nice family will be at the next Congress in Plymouth. If I'm not mistaken you will soon have to put copper toes on your boots to keep the young men away, for you have a most attractive young daughter.

My regards to her and your wife,

Most sincerely yours,

BANK OF AMERICA

January 26, 1935.

Mr. E. R. Frady, Business Manager, Chino Champion, Chino, Calif.

Dear Mr. Frady:

Dear Mr. Frady:

We wish to thank you for your request for a mat of Mr. Orra E. Monnette to use in connection with the publicity regarding his appearance in Chino to speak before the schools and the Rotary Club. We are glad to cooperate by sending you this mat, also a short historical sketch of Mr. Monnette. He is speaking before the school assembly, also the Rotary Club of Chino on Wednesday, January 30, on the subject, "Early History of Los Angeles."

History of Los Angeles."

Orra E. Monnette, Vice-President, Bank of America, Los Angeles, has been prominent in California banking circles and a civic leader for upwards of three decades. Coming to California from Ohio in 1907, he continued the practice of law, but shortly became interested in banking, taking a prominent part in the organization of three Los Angeles banking institutions.

Mr. Monnette has given largely of his time to Mr. Monnette has given largely of his time to civic affairs, serving as a director of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and upon important committees of the California State Chamber and the Los Angeles Chamber. He has been President of the Board of the Los Angeles Public Library since 1914.

A lawyer by profession, a banker by choice, a poet by inspiration and an orator of splendid voice and well-rounded phrases, Mr. Monnette is much in demand as a public speaker.

Yours sincerely, WINFIELD BARKLEY, Assistant Manager, Advertising and Publicity.

CC: Mr. Orra E. Monnette. WB: McD Encl.

ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, a native of Ohio and a life member of the Society, has been a member of the Board continuously since 1927, though he had served prior to that, during which period he was President of the Society. He is at present Historian. By vocation he is a banker, though he adds to that the profession of lawyer, in which he was originally schooled, and that of genealogist. He writes poems, makes speeches and has been Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Free Public Library of the City of Los Angeles almost from the time when the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. His Revolutionary ancestor was Israel Clark.

LEAGUE OF WESTERN WRITERS, INC. Eighth International Convention Portland, Oregon, August 14-18, 1934 (Formal Minutes of Meeting)

"Mr. Orra E. Monnette of Los Angeles, President of the League, gave several remarkable addresses during the week. His messages and delivery were characterized by an enlivening vigor delivery were characterized by an enlivening vigor and force which left his hearers inspired for new and better work in creative writing. Seldom has the League been favored with such perception and frankness and withal such charming humor as Mr. Monnette shows in his talks. He is an ideal presiding officer, his ready wit and his logical resume of business session or lecture rounding out any program to its appropriate conclusion. Parrying, yet agreeing with the fine and aggressive state loyalty of Oregonians and Washingtonians, he nevertheless reserves large enthusiasm for his own beloved California."

MAKING FRIENDS FOR THE BANK By Orra E. Monnette

Vice-President, Los Angeles Main Office

From a purely selfish viewpoint to the members of our organization, the great drive for new trust business, now under way, is entitled to receive the full, enthusiastic, earnest cooperation of all the separate units of our great institution.

CREATES CLOSE BOND

The fine standing and excellent reputation of our institution offers a guiding, influential force for this special effort and appeal. In no direction can the importance of both public and private service be as well and thoroughly demonstrated, as in this field of trust operation. A client well and faithfully served, not only enhances his banking attachment, but makes him a friend, servant and publicizer in most favorable ways for the and publicizer in whole organization.

(BANKAMERICAN, Oct. 26, 1934, Vol. 4, No. 9, p. 1.)

UP THE LADDER

Bookfellows Orra Eugene Monnette and Jay Roderic de Spain have engaged in a Monosyllabic Tilt, each writing a sonnet to the other in words of one syllable. Proves it can be done. Sonnets, too, Mr. Monnette, who is an ex-President of the League of Western Writers, says: "I think de Spain's Indian poem, which will soon be issued, is to be an American classic."

rofessor Cotton Noe, the Poet Laureate of Kentucky, having retired from the University of Kentucky, is now enjoying life on the Pacific Coast. With his wife, he was the guest of Stella Knight Reuss at a tea at which many Bookfellows were present. Our information comes from Mrs. Reuss and Bookfellow Julia Boynton Green.

REDS FLAYED IN KIWANIS CLUB SPEECH

> Orra Monnette, Banker, Unleaches Blast at Unamericanism

Lashing out at proponents of Communism in all its forms and staunchly upholding American in-stitutions as descended to us through generations of democratic government and capitalistic economy, Orra E. Monnette, vice-president of the Bank of America, delivered to the Kiwanis Club today an outstanding address of the year in the club's succession of noon programs.

Mr. Monnette's subject was, "Opportunism or Americanism?" He defined opportunism as "taking advantage of opportunity or circumstance," or more specifically as "seeking immediate advantage with little regard for principles or ultimate consequence.

The speaker traced the reasons for respect of American institutions, and documented his argument by quotations from Lincoln and other great Americans that called for respect for ideas of our fathers. He said to gain the American perspective one must have knowledge of history, know the manners and customs of the age, hold appreciation for American principles and value the discipline of a pioneer nation.

He pointed out that all these doctrines of radical the property of the age.

He pointed out that all these doctrines of radical change started with the destructive premise.

"How can anyone in his right mind and with any sense of rhyme or reason favor the Soviet regime in Russia?" asked the speaker. He said it had destroyed an old order to set up one certainly more oppressive and tyrannical than the old.

"The democracy of America," defined the speaker, "is no frenzied mob bewildered by the babel of tongues and the screaming of speech. It is an eager citizenship, anxious for the general welfare, and having within it a tribunal of reason and conscience from which must ultimately emanate those judgments that are to direct the progress of mankind."

Mr. Monnette found occasion in his address to administer a stinging rebuke to the California Legislature for the admission of self-seeking measures for consideration, and for its manner of doing business. "A body in which men poke their fists in each other's faces cannot have any respect for order," said he, "or but little for law."

The speaker also blasted the Townsend Plan.

The speaker also blasted the Townsend Plan. "It is the craziest piece of nonsense ever dug up to fool the people," he declared.

It was the second time that Mr. Monnette had addressed the Kiwanis Club. He was given a veritable ovation at his close. Harold Coward introduced him.

Special music was furnished by a saxophone quartet composed of Arthur Price, Monte Wicker, Bob Charlton and Fred Woodward.

President W. F. Kroener conducted the meeting.

SUTTON ERRORS

March 9, 1935.

Mr. E. F. Sutton, 1150 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Dear Mr. Sutton:

Acknowledging your letter, which is interesting and helpful, I am glad to know that you are identical with the author of "Genealogical Notes of the Sutton Family of New Jersey, by Edward F. H. Sutton, 1900," of which I have a copy.

Regarding your statements, (pp. 20 and 21), as to Mary, "probably Doty," as marrying Zebulon Sutton, there is now question before Registrar McAuslan of the Mayflower Society, as I imagine several have qualified there under your statement.

several have qualified there under your statement. Now, as to any possible mistakes of mine, which you might wish to correct, I am very happy to have you do so, wherever you find a statement, with my initials added—"O. E. M.," for which I am entirely responsible, but I would respectfully suggest that you furnish some evidence, documentary or record, changing any such statements of mine. Like most critics, where a pedigree is set up, which is in disagreement with their own, you seem to rest upon opinion evidence from others and I cannot accept that. Of course, it is ridiculous for you to quote some marginal "no," made by an interloper, who likes to deface other people's books in Public Libraries.

UNPUBLISHED COX RECORDS

I have just received a letter from Mr. Louis R. Hamill, Matanzas, Cuba, in response to the carbon, which I sent you. He reaffirms his belief in the accuracy of these records, and says that you were hasty in your conclusions, as you offered no evidence, in disproof. He says that he has checked every one of my statements very carefully, and finds nothing out of line.

GENEALOGICAL DEDUCTIONS

Now, I think you have not noted carefully the heading in each case, where my genealogical material has been presented, under "Genealogical Deductions," and where the statement is not my own, and I give authority, it must rise or fall by that authority, without charging me with the responsibility for the inaccuracy—which I have definitely stated to be the plan of my work, in a dozen places

With reference to the "Unpublished Cox Records," and the different items, under question by you, I have carefully disclosed the source, and when I read Mr. Hamili's letter, again, after his correspondence with you, I realize that he is acting in good faith.

I do not believe that genealogical disputes can ever be settled by personal opinion, largely prejudiced by theories adopted, which are self-serving. I have no object or motive re-SUTTON, as that is not my line. Therefore, in PART SEVEN, I shall give the controversy full play, and call attention to your challenge about it. I think you are bound to assume the burden of proving or disproving your corrollary, by record or other proof, than by ipse dixit opinion, because I am more than willing to accept the result of your searches, if so undertaken, than the "Unpublished Cox Records," of which I know nothing, except by the gracious reference and help of Mr. Hamill, who has purchased my books and tried to assist me, in rendering a service, to those interested in Jersey genealogy. Jersey genealogy.

It will be interesting to you to learn that not a one of those writing me critical letters, or assuming so much arrogance as to make marginal notations, in my books, in Public Libraries, has ever subscribed for a book or contributed any real data, in print or by document, which I could use for true genealogy.

However, I want naught but GENEALOGI-CAL TRUTH. Thanking you for writing, with best wishes,

Very sincerely yours,

ORRA E. MONNETTE.

THE PROPHECY OF OUR NATIONAL GREATNESS

"I see

Freedom's established reign; cities and men Numerous as sands upon the ocean shore, And empires rising where the sun descends! The Ohio soon shall glide by many a town Of Note! and where the Mississippi's stream, By forests shaded, now runs sweeping on, Nations shall grow, and states, not less in fame Than Greece and Rome of old! We, too, shall boast Our Scipios, Solons, Catos,—sages, chiefs, That in the lapse of time yet dormant lie, Waiting the joyous hour of life and light."

PHILIP FRENEAU, the American Poet in 1775. N. J.

INDEXES TO PARTS PRECEDING

EACH PART, as published, was succeeded in sequence by another PART, in the fore part of which was published a TABLE OF CONTENTS and LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS covering the preceding PART.

The titles of each separate paragraph or article are not closely followed in the succeeding indexes, but, in the case of subject or place evidences, the major or motivating theme is reproduced by suitable heading and paging, so that each and every important phase of this REFERENCE SERIES is immediately available by such page references.

However, the student and researcher must carefully note the following helps by which to find the material and data desired in a particular PART as;

Therefore, the following subject and place index, combined, will serve to make each object of study and point of search, immediately, of use and service, which taken together with the surname indices, which follow after, will present a complete set of indexes for this entire REFERENCE SERIES, excepting only the new context and records, to follow in this volume, as PART SEVEN, presenting certain interpretive subject sequence and genealogical deductions, in alphabetical order, not yet indexed in form, with this publication.—O. E. M.

REFERENCE SERIES

This reference series of History and Genealogy of the Colonial and Provincial Periods of "Olde East New Jersey," with allied and interwoven facts, and certain geography, more or less remote, not to be omitted in any complete coverage of the field, originally planned to be set up, within the scope of the subject, has now presented over 1242 closely printed pages, fine type, double column, with bounteous illustrations, a total in number of 190, and with surname entries, in genealogical reference and deduction, running to excess of 80,000, as applied to cognomens: thus, in the six parts, already presented is in truth a "monumental" exhibition of this particular objective, that will ever be available to the student and searcher, if not to the supercilious critic, self-exploitive professional and self-centered editor, (a very limited number, in the face of many generous encomiums, of praise unstinted, coming from the more able, kindly disposed genealogical journalists, of note).

This reference series has proceeded to a total of six parts, printed, published and issued as follows:

PART ONE, October 1, 1930
PART TWO, May 5, 1931
PART THREE, October 1, 1931

PART FOUR, July 1, 1932
PART FIVE, April 12, 1933
PART SIX, April 12, 1934

GENEALOGICAL DEDUCTIONS

This form of presentation, in each PART, in alphabetical sequence, in order of SURNAME, has been purposely employed to give source, origin and AUTHORITY, for each genealogical statement, made, in favorable comparison to the undocumented claims, ipse dixit expressions and long compilations of those, who may seem to think that their editorial position, genealogical prestige, or elaborate formulas, entitle them, to claim superiority of merit or professional expertness, irrespective of the equal and perhaps, more authoritative, and more conscientious labors of others, who work not for monetary or reputational compensations, but, whose work, perhaps, amateur or avocative, may deserve the more positive appraisal of truth and authenticity. Consult the "Genealogical Follies of 1933," (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 890), which clear and pointed statements are not enjoyed by those in sequestered circles, as denominated here.

At the head of each series of GENEALOGICAL DEDUCTIONS, very certain paragraphs explained and clarified both plan and purpose, as appear:

GENEALOGICAL NOTES of the DUNHAM FAMILY, (PART TWO, pp. 179 et seq.)

RICHARD SMITH of PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE, (PART TWO, pp. 287-290.)

GENEALOGICAL REFERENCES and PRELIMINARY DEDUCTIONS, (PART THREE, pp. 405 et seq.)

GENEALOGICAL INDICATIONS, POINTED, (idem, pp. 402-4).
GENEALOGICAL DEDUCTIONS, (PART FOUR, pp. 582 et seq.); (PART FIVE, pp. 786 et seq.) and (PART SIX, pp. 1163 et seq.)

GENEALOGICAL COMPILATION

Not a single generation can, with positivity, be predicated upon another by any documentary authority, in strict application. Even a vital record, birth, death or marriage, cannot, and neither a will nor land grant can, do more than evidence a relationship between two or more persons. They are usually without identification. The pedigrees builded upon these documentary bases is simply GENEALOGICAL COMPILATION, even with logical experience employed in high minded deduction.

Because of the rare claims of experts (?), intelligentsia (?), editorial experience (?), it was interesting to analyse, for errors, typographical and compositional, a cross-section of a thousand pages of two of the older genealogical magazines, published in the cultured centers. The results were astonishing, and certainly lay in the dust all claims for genealogical perfection, vaunted by each of these excellent publications, where publication committees cater to favorites around the editorial shrine, to the exclusion of others, equally worthy. It is not the fault of the formula. It just cannot be done. To decry Bergen now exposed to ridicule, to announce Pelletreau as being "unreliable," to acclaim the Maine expert because he is hunting for forgeries alleged to be committed, three hundred years ago, to shout frensily at others, in this agreement with the exclusive propaganda, does not reflect favorably upon the laudable and painstaking efforts of those working outside of these organizations or editorial influences.

GENEALOGICAL COMPILATION is the best thought upon family relationships to be developed under goodwill efforts, not by expert, professional selfishness. It does not avail to claim that one ruminant can chew a larger and more juicy cud than another who may not be as close to the trough of critical ensilage and editorial fodder—O. E. M.

REFERENCE SERIES INDEXES

It has been difficult to carry, without excessive expense and unnecessary delays in separate issuance, a complete INDEX, with each PART, although the author has been well aware of the demand for this additional equipment. However, any one taking time for examination and determination of the editorial plan, always in alphabetical order where longer records are presented, and in certain historical or subject sequence, would be enlightened by marking the definite continuity, not at first sight readily apparent.

However, generous patience is at last rewarded, as here is given the most complete INDEX, as to Place Names, Subjects and Genealogical Surnames, prenoms and cognomens, prepared with exacting labor and most conscientious application.

This is offered as a painstaking effort, expertly and well done.

IT IS POSSIBLY TRUE THAT SOME TYPOGRAPHICAL OR MINOR ERRORS HAVE APPEARED, and much material has been given by quotation or by reference, and, it may be, to a few disputed pedigrees and genealogy, FOR THAT IS NECESSARY IN A REFERENCE SERIES, IF THE FIELD IS TO BE COVERED; BUT NOT

A SINGLE STATEMENT OF THIS EDITOR, PARTICULARLY WHERE HIS INITIALS "O. E. M." APPEAR, EXCEPT THAT IT IS BASED UPON RECORD OR OTHER AUTHORITY, OR UPON A CONVICTION REACHED BY GENEALOGICAL DETERMINATION AND DEDUCTION, OUTSIDE OF THE RANGE OF MERE SPECULATION AND GUESS-WORK. OF COURSE, THERE ARE ALLEGED PROFESSIONALS AND ALLEGED EXPERTS, WHO CLAIM THAT THEIR WORK IS NON-PUNCTURABLE, BECAUSE OF THEIR GREAT AND DISTINGUISHED LEARNING (?), ("EXPERIENCE," about which it is to laugh), SET APART AS HOLY AND INTOLERANT—BUT ALL TIRES, NO MATTER HOW TOUGH AND AC-"CORDED," BLOW OUT, MORE OR LESS, AND WEAR OUT, POSITIVELY.

GENEALOGY IS IMPERFECT, INACCURATE AND NOT WITH MUCH REAL DOCUMENTARY OR RECORD PROOF, AND THAT ALREADY PUBLISHED, IN MAGAZINE AND SEQUESTERED SPHERES, IS EVEN LESS LIKELY TO WITHSTAND THE ULTIMATE HISTORICAL REVELATION, IF AND WHEN REMOVED FROM THE RETREAT OF FAVORITISM OR PUBLICATION PRESTIGE.

THE MEEK, HUMBLE AVOCATIVE AND CONSCIENTIOUS PUBLISHER IS COMPELLED TO HOLD HIMSELF IN EMBATTLEMENT, AS BEST HE CAN, TO RESIST PURELY SELFISH ENCROACHMENTS AND INEQUITABLE COMMENTS, BY THOSE WHO CREATE NOTHING, AND WHOSE JEALOUSY IS AROUSED BY THE HARD, UNSELFISH WORKER, WHO SPENDS GENEROUSLY HIS MONEY, WITHOUT MONETARY GAIN, IN BEHALF OF THESE VERY PROPONENTS OF GENEA-LOGICAL DICTATORSHIP.

THE NOBLE FIELD OF GENEALOGY HAS ALWAYS BEEN IMPAIRED BY THE SELF-EXPLOITIVE CRITIC, AS WITH THE VAUNTING ARISTOCRAT OF FANCIFUL BLUE BLOOD? THESE RECURRING, PROVOCATIVE, STATEMENTS IN THIS WORK HAVE RECEIVED ALMOST UNIVERSAL ACCLAIM, (at least a thousand letters have so come), AS BEING COURAGEOUS APPEALS, IN THEIR VITAL FORM, FOR MORE GENERAL RECOGNITION OF THE FRAILTIES OF HUMAN MINDS AND THE SERIOUS NEED FOR GREATER ACCORD AND MORE BENEVOLENT ENCOURAGEMENT TO THOSE WHO ONLY DESIRE TO HELP, AND NOT TO MAKE MONEY OUT OF OTHERS OR REPUTATIONS AS GENEALOGICAL MONITORS, CRITICS AND CENSORS, WHOM NO ONE EITHER RESPECTS OR LOVES.

FIRST PLANTERS OF WEST NEW JERSEY

Zanesville, Ohio 218

Listed in The American Genealogist, by Thomas Allen Glenn, (1899; orig. letter to O. E. M., from Meliden, Prestatyn, North Wales, Dec. 17, 1914); (Vol. I., pp. 26, et seq.).

These should be consulted for the revelations of surname origins, exchanging with Piscataway and Woodbridge, particularly in Quaker relationships, and transfers to Pennsylvania counties, as Bucks, etc.

PISCATAWAY AS IN WEST NEW JERSEY

"Thus it appears that in 1687-88 lands were being rapidly taken up, and the West Jersey proprietors were pushing their claims eastward to within three miles of the mouth of the Raritan. Piscataway and Inian's Ferry were held to be within the bounds of West Jersey. In a letter written to the East Jersey proprietors in England about this time we are informed that Thomas Budd had made a large purchase of land of the Indians in what properly belonged to East Jersey, and that on his way from New York with the goods he had purchased to pay off the Indians he was arrested by the authority of the Governor and Council of East Jersey at John Inian's Ferry. The account says * * *

"This controversy between the proprietors of the respective provinces of East and West Jersey continued only until September 5, 1688, when Governors Coxe and Barclay agreed upon a compromise line, at a meeting in London."

(CLAYTON, pp. 438-9)

THE FIRST WHALE FISHING COMPANY

"1678-9, February 14. Charter for a whale fishing company consisting of Joseph Huet, Thomas Ingram, Richard Dais, Isaac Bennet, RANDALL HUET, Thomas Huet, HENRY LEONARD SAMUEL LEONARD, John Whitlock, John Crafford (Crawford), THOMAS APPLEGATE and CHARLES DENNIS," (ARCH. VOL. XXI, p. 42).

ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE

INDEXES TO PARTS ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX, of this REFERENCE SERIES, pages one (1) to twelve hundred and forty-two (1242) inclusive.

SPECIAL ATTENTION IS CALLED TO THE TABLE OF CONTENTS PRESENTED IN EACH PART, (excepting PART ONE, and including this PART SEVEN), together with LISTS OF ILLUSTRATIONS, and every place and surname, appearing thereon, being included in this INDEX.

SPECIAL ATTENTION IS ALSO CALLED TO SURNAME VARIATIONS

as by change and corruption, wrong and accepted usage, mistaken orthography, clerical and printing errors, phonetic idiosyncracies, translated or transferred names, and recorded dissymmetrics;

AN ATTEMPT HAS BEEN MADE TO GROUP THESE IN UNITS OF BETTER UNDERSTOOD COGNOMENS, choosing those which seemingly are more clearly cognate, but this is a difficult task, so searchers should use this INDEX, by hunting for that other possible form or cross reference, which will best answer by hunting for that other possible form or cross reference, which will best answer the searcher's surname inquiry.

LIKEWISE, keep in mind patronymics and surnames of foreign derivation as affected by language, particularly where of Dutch and French origin, with both prefix and suffix, as used in separate syllables, as "von" or "van," meaning only "from," without the slightest indication of either nobility or distinction; also, as "Don," "Fitz," "Mac," "sen," "zen," "ap" or "op," "O'," "son," etc., simply meaning "son of," and usually being dropped in usage; and, also all French additions and incorporations, of "A" or "Am," "de," "de la" "du," "des," "le," "la," "si," etc., being frequently elided or altogether disused, or, having been separate syllables or words, by usage were consolidated with the original name as "de la Warr" which became "Delaware." MONNET or MONET, as with BONNET or BONET, pronounced in French as MON-AY, and BON-AY, ran the gamut of over fifty variations. variations.

Strange as it may seem, in the face of the prevailing language, or local dialect, the foreign name frequently surrendered ignominiously to the common pronounciation and was popularly changed, against the wish and insistence of the bearer. Amusingly, in New Jersey, occasionally sobriquets were added or took the places of the original names; some aliases appeared, and some vocational appellatives gave rise to final names, as "Tentmaker" became "Tessachmacker."

Every personal name and surname is to be found in the following INDEX, with proper paging, so that if a searcher miss in his first search, he should look again, for it is therein to be found.-O. E. M.

(In each PART, GENEALOGICAL DEDUCTIONS re SURNAMES appear in alphabetical order.—O. E. M.)

NEW JERSEY: "NOVA CAESARIA" EAST NEW JERSEY and WEST NEW JERSEY

(Vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 43 et seq.; pp. 45, 51, 64, 69 et seq., and 81.) (PART SIX, pp. 981-2.)

In the title of this REFERENCE SERIES, this author has invariably clung, tenaciously, to the above historical and geographical significa-tions, which are technically correct, though the vernacular, at early and later periods, shortened the derivations to "East Jersey" and "West Jersey," neither being accurate.—O. E. M.

One of the finest men, generously welcoming the work of this author and giving his aid, where possible, has been that able and loyal New Jerseyman, Mr. William H. Richardson, of Jersey City, (vide, post, BIB., this PART, p. ind.), Department Local History, historian, lecturer and radio programist, who has certain definite ideas about early New Jersey history, and, particularly, the Nicolls regime, whom he looks upon as a usurper and land grabber, attempting to take from the early residents their sovereign rights, for the benefit of the Colony of New York, and, of course, he cannot abide some of the historical records and events, apparently giving to the latter state, many things which did not rightly belong. His vigorous challenge of this portion of New Jersey history, as claimed by partisans of the New York dictatorship, and his urge that not only was New Jersey deprived of rights and territory, belonging to her, the Nicells land grants were considered. the Nicolls land grants were spurious and usurpative, causing endless confusion and confiscatory to the settlers holding on other, legal titles. This he does with great force and eloquence, and his contributions to this phase are important and noteworthy.

In the BIB., (above), his many articles and publications have been noted, and he must needs take his place of importance relative to New Jersey history, and, especially, that of his own environment, Jersey City.

"I have organized the 1828 map of Thomas Gordon, along with the 27pp. pamphlet Bill of New Jersey against New York, presented in the Supreme Court of the United States, between 1829 and 1833, (indexed in Peters 3, 5, 6). The original pamphlet and a copy of this map are in the N. J. State Library.

The greatest lawyers, scholars, statesmen, in New Jersey, prepared that Bill for the scrutiny of the most meticulous character in all the history of American jurisprudence, Chief Justice John Marshall. In it they gave the complete story of every conveyance of the area of New Jersey, commencing with the King's grant to the Duke of York of March 12, 1664, and then the Duke's deed of New Jersey, June 23-24; the conveyancing pedigree of New Jersey from its erection, is pursued unbrok-ingly down to the Fourth of July, 1776.

There is not a skip or a break in the precision of nomenclature of New Jersey, East New Jersey and West New Jersey, and the reunion as New Jersey in 1702." Again:

Then RICHARDSON followed with monographs and radio talks, entitled "New Jersey in America"; "New Jersey Proprietors vs. New York Landgrabbers"; "New Jersey vs. the New York Pretender Andros"; "East New Jersey: More of Its New York Usurpers"; "West New Jersey: A Quaker Elysium"; "New Jersey vs. New York Border Ruffians, 1769"; "Old Jersey and New Jersey in 1650." Certain newspaper articles, revolving around New Jersey Chronology, and Corvolving around New Jersey Chronology, and Cornelis Van Vorst and His Children, "first permanent white settlers of New Jersey," (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1157).

"The deed of release and lease from the Duke of York to Lord John Berkeley and Sir George Carteret, dated June 23-24, 1664, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 45). We believe that instrument is the certificate of historic, legal official birthday of New Jersey, whether any proprietary governor was in Elizabeth to celebrate it or not.

That was 64 days before the usurper Nicolls began his dirty work of giving away property he did not own, and entirely outside of his instructions, a procedure that did nothing but raise hell for New Jersey, not only in Colonial Days, but up to the present moment."—RICHARDSON. FIRST SETTLERS OF YE PLANTATIONS

PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY

1664-1714

A Period of Fifty Years

PART SEVEN

BY ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE

FOREWORD

(Supplementing what has already been presented.)

The ORIGINAL PLAN of this REFERENCE SERIES, (vide, ante, this PART, pp. 1253-1255), contemplated a less voluminous, slightly pretentious and more generalizing, genealogical history of this "COLONIZATION CENTER," (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 893), of OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY. But, it has grown with the intriguing factors, ever present to guide and control, and in response to the insistent demands of correspondence and supporting queries.

The favorite wish of the editor has always been to reach that paging, where, felicitously, he might employ the direct standard form of compilation, which SHERWOOD, in his humorous review, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1271), "pleasure of contemplating a reasonably water-tight (as to proof), connected account of a family spreading over generations." That was the desideratum, fondly hoped for, but FIRST SETTLERS was to be attached to "Fifty Years"; it has stretched, by reference and informative genealogy, beyond that period. With the historical foundations and recordal facts exhibited, the compilation of genealogy itself has broadened, and the "generation, upon generation," complete presentation, is not possible, to this point, and, yet, the author does not abandon his first purpose and good friends.

With the offering of the complete indexes, which have now run to more than 146 pages of closely printed matter, as the preceding SUBJECT and PLACE INDEX and PERSONAL and SURNAME INDEX show, there has been a further extension of matter and substance, that illustrates the crowding of data and diversion of both the previous plan and ambition of the writer. With every regret that this has pressed the desired genealogical tables, further into the future, the author is perfectly well satisfied that he has preserved forever historical elementals, indispensable coordinations and connecting features of JERSEY GENEALOGY, together with those certain bases for any student, searcher and enthusiast, who cannot afford to surrender his application to serious work, with and authoritatively.

The writer is also happy in achieving more than the mere factors of the objective, as indicated in the SCOPE, (vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 35 et seq.), for he has recovered for better and more skilled work, in the future, the great area of study and pursuit, of "lost peoples," by the surname generations, moving southward and westward, from New Jersey origins, the most fertile field of new genealogical discovery and exploration. This crowns the whole with a satisfaction that equals a triumph of unusual degree.

Again, the writer, makes no apology for the many references to MONNET, as it is the best type of this surname variation and submerged genealogy, thus brought to light, again, and which will careless historian and incompetent genealogist, in the past.

PART SEVEN will, therefore, continue, as in previous form of presentation, more or less of record, history and genealogy, until that blessed day, when full fruition can come to the high, altruistic

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 948, et seq.)

"In Greece and Rome twenty-five was full age for both sexes, but a greater age was requisite for the holding of certain offices: e. g. thirty for tribunes; forty-three for consuls. In England the minority of a male terminates at twenty-one, and of a female in some cases, as that of a queen, at eighteen. In 1547, the majority of Edward VI was, by the will of his father, fixed at eighteen years; previously to completing which age, his father, Henry VIII, had assumed the reins of government, in 1509. A male of twelve may take the oath of allegiance; at fourteen he may consent to a marriage, or choose a guardian; at seventhe minority of a male terminates he may consent to a marriage, or choose a guardian; at seventeen he may be an executor, and at twenty-one he is of age; but according to the Statute of Wills, 7 Will. IV & I Vict. c. 26, 1837, no will made by any person under the age of twenty-one years shall be valid. A female at twelve may consent to a marriage, at fourteen she may choose a guardian and at twenty-one she is of age."

"Braddock's Road broke the league the French had made with the Alleghenies; it showed that British grit could do as much in the interior of America as in India or Africa or Egypt; it was the first important material structure in this New West, so soon to be filled with the sons of those who had hewn it." (p. 213.) General Braddock's Orderly Book, in Lowdermilk's Hist. of Cumberland, (1878). Unfortunately, there is no record of the American soldiers in this expedition, just fragmentary references, so that traditional claims of attachment to this expedition of the early Colonists can not be substantiated.—O. Almost the most prodigious collector of Americana, and his MSS. is the great reservoir of trans-Allegheny pioneering data, otherwise forever lost. He traveled by slow conveyance and horseback over 60,000 miles to personally interview people and to gather his immense store-house of historical episode and legend, tho not a technical historian. He reached to the post-Revolutionary period, and collected the folklore of Kentucky and the old Northwest. And he was the founder and famed benefactor of the Wis. Hist. well, since the preservation of thousands of historical items. alone, justifies that reverence and gratitude.

This book was the first and almost, now, the only one in the field, and we must await that critical and authoritative work, yet to be worked out by a real historian.

This volume is said to be "doc-umentary," which, while rather naieve, includes numbers of letters, some diaries, and, fortunately some militia rolls, relative to the Battle of Point Pleasant, but no public records are in-cluded, and the substance is based upon personal memorabilia and country-side folklore, which is the main portion of the DRAPER COLLECTION, as-DRAPER COLLECTION, assembled over a period of years, with indefatigable labor and patience. All honor to this GREAT COLLECTOR, and many compilations and much supposed history have been based upon this gathering of episodes, recitals and colorful memoirs of individuals, nearly all of the personal recollections of men, long after the events had happened, which are related matter, and diaries and unlettermatter, and diaries and unlettermatter, and diaries and unletter-ed statements of persons, senti-mentally persuaded, who are not to be challenged on that account, but largely comprising that fatuous and uncertain evidence, known to the legal fraternity, as "hearsay" testimony, even leg-endary or traditional.

Of course, this is not HIS-TORY, nor the present book, "documented," in any strict sense. The textual statements are the production, by interpre-tation of the DRAPER MSS. by the editors, and all foot-note genealogy is without much, if any authority, and must stand or fall, as to be otherwise investigated or supported.

The known, as well as apparent errors, mentioned in this PART SEVEN, (not employed as supercillious criticism, which this cuttor dislikes very much). this author dislikes very much), are not intended to discount the noble efforts of both COLLECTOR and EDITOR, THWAITES, but that these certain corrections will bring to history, the REAL DANIEL BOONE, and elevate to proper and true recognition those personages who have been neglected, in the spasms of glorifica-tion of BOONE, and who really contributed even more to the foundations of Kentucky, than did BOONE, himself, but lost out, so to speak, because they have had neither the same bumptious advertising nor flamboyant publicity, which he has had by devoted descendants and admiring Kentuckians.

GARTER

"GARTER, ORDER OF THE.
Edward III, when at war with France and eager to draw the best soldiers of Europe into his interest, projected the revival of King Arthur's round table, and proclaimed a solemn tilting. On New Year's Day 1343-4, he published letters of protection for the safe coming and returning of such foreign knights as would venture their reputation at the jousts and tournaments about to be held. These took place 23rd April, 1344. A table was erected in Windsor castle of 200 feet in diameter, and the knights were entertaned at the king's expense. In 1346 Edward gave his garter for the signal of a battle that had been crowned with success (supposed to be Cressy), and being victorious on sea and land, and having David,
King of Scotland a prisoner, he,
in memory of these exploits, is said to have instituted this order, 23 April, 1349. See below.
Edward III gave the garter pre-eminence among the ensigns of the order; it is of blue velvet bordered with gold, with the inscription in old French—
'Honi soit qui mal y pense' (Evil be to him who evil thinks).
The knights are installed at Windsor and styled Equites

JUNO was the ancient Goddess of Rome, called HERA in Greece, and was the consort of JUPITER. In various apotheosis, she appeared. JUNO MONETA had a significant appellation by 400 B. C. "In the interior of the city, the Capitoline, which consisted of a hill with two peaks and a saddleback hill between, rose commandingly. On the northern summit, more than 150 feet high, lay the citadel (arx), with the temple of JUNO MONETA, later the mint; opposite rose the Capitol with the imposing, often restored national sanctuary, the temple of Jupiter Capitolinus, and the steep declivity of Tarpeian Rock."

LA ROCHELLE The Star of La Rochelle, (subtitle), Being The True Story Of The Life of ESTHER LEROY, wife of GABRIEL BERNON, 1652-1710—by Elizabeth Nicholson White, (Providence, 1930). Dedicated to ROBERT LEROY, "Maire de Poitier, 1280." This is neither historical, in technical sense, nor genealogical, in expert fashion, but a most invaluable book, with the preservation of much Huguenot material, and by ref. It most decisively sets forth the list of DENIZATIONS, recorded in Boston, July 20, 1688, predicating this on request of GABRIEL BERNON, (vide, N. E. HIST. GEN. REG., 1881, Vol. 35, pp. 248, et seq.), which received attention of this writer, spec., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 146), and this late author has the same struggle over name variations, (q. v.). It more clearly appears that most of these denizates came to Amer., and, with understandable study of French surnames, can be identified as origins.—O. E. M.

MAGNA CHARTA "Magna Charta. Its fundamental parts were derived from Saxon charters, continued by Henry I and his successors. On 20 Nov. 1214, the archbishop of Canterbury and the barons met at St. Edmondsbury. On 6 Jan. 1215, they presented their demands to King John, who deferred his answer. On 19 May they were censured by the pope. On 24 May they marched to London, and the king was compelled to yield. The charter was sealed by John at Runnymede, near Windsor, 15 June, 1215. It was many times confirmed, by Henry III and his successors. This last king's grand charter was granted in 1224, and was assured by Edward I.; see Forests. The original MS. charter is lost. The finest MS. copy, which is at Lincoln, was reproduced by photographs in the 'National MSS.' published by government, 1865."

This family took its name from a town in France near the River Ain. In the latter Sixteenth Century Pierre Monnet was massacred in Paris on St. Bartholomew's Day for his adherence to the King of Navarre. Pierre was the ancestor of the Protestant Monnets of the Huguenot Province and it was to him or his son that the coat of arms was granted in 1570.

His descendants, Isaac, Robert and Pierre, who were Huguenot refugees. left France and went to London, where in 1688 they were naturalized and became British subjects. They later came to America. Isaac settled in Calvert County, Maryland, about 1700 and married Esizabeth Williams. Robert made his home in Cecil County, Maryland, and married Margaret Darrell.

Pierre joined the Huguenot colony on Staten Island, where he lived and dled. One of his descendants is Mervin Jeremiah Monnette, vice president of the Bank of America. Los MONETA was the name given to their silver by the Romans, it having been coined in the temple of JUNO MONETA, 269 B.C. Money was made of different metals and even of leather and other articles, both in ancient and modern times. It was made of pasteboard by the Hollanders so late as 1574. REGAL ARMORIE

(See ARMORIE, this BIB.) This invaluable little volume establishes the annals of Britain and English Armorial Bearings long before the formal descriptions of the 12th century. Its value consists in giving the origin of the emblematical insignia many centuries older, than value consists in giving the origin of the emblematical insignia many centuries older than heraldists ordinarily recognize. Concerning the heraldic lion, this was originally the lion dormant (sleeping) of the ancient tribe of Judah or Jerusalem, which had existed for hundreds of years (p. 78), before 1193, when Richard I of England took the common title of king and hoisted the banner of the lion of the holy city, becoming Richard "coeur de lion," (p. 150), and the dormant lion of Jerusalem was indiscriminately represented couchant (lying), passant (walking), or rampant (erect). Likewise the lion couchant became the emblem of Leon in Spain, the birth place of Eleanor, queen, wife of Edward I, (p. 163).

The lion rampant is the ruling symbol of MONNET, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 428).

SMALLEY covered in this PART, (vide, ante, p. indic.). However, going back to TRURO-CAPE COD, (by Shebnah Rich), it was in 1883, that by this GREAT MIND and HISTORIAN, not properly recognized by the selfishness and peevishness of N. E. gen. editors, there should be re-written here: SMALLY—Freeman says the same in all cases. It was not SMALLY—Freeman says the same in all cases. It was not uncommon for the early families to simplify and abbreviate their names. This was particularly true of the Norman, Huguenot and Welsh. There is as much difference between some of these old names and the plain English rendering, as a full-blown Frenchman of Louis the XIV's time and a Pennsylvania Dutchman. The changes in the Truro names, which were considerable, took place during the 2d and 3d generations. In this case the first records, and the first gravestones are almost invariably Smally. Fifty years ago many of the old clung to the vernacular. It is not hard to account for such changes. First abbreviated for convenience or harmony, they soon became recognized and accepted. Children write their names as called, and in a generation, custom beand in a generation, custom be-

Small is a recognized name in this country. AMERICANISTIC HISTORY

AMERICANISTIC HISTORY

There is a vast difference between the presentation of abstract philosophy of history and factual assemblage of personages, who made history. A professor prefers to write his thesis about historical movements and migratory influences, than to tell the true biography and genealogical attachment of men and women, who participated in those migrations. Because of this, so much of the genealogical and historical truth has been forever lost. The finest appraisal of earlier events is by the migrations. Because of this, so much of the genealogical and historical truth has been forever lost. The finest appraisal of earlier events is by the golden thread of PEDIGREE, which links the past with the present, and both sentimentally and forcefully preserves biography and character. "The standpoint from which TURNER viewed his subject was that of the unflinching realist. If this needs explaining in view of the deeply poetical quality of his own mind, and his insistence upon the idealism of Americans generally and not least American frontiersmen, the key may be found in a sensitive balance of social faith and professional skepticism. Always writing and teaching as one who believed fundamentally in the worth, indeed the world significance, of American life and institutions, he yet thought of these as being only vaguely understood in detail, and he was congenitally unable to receive, except provisionally, other men's ready-made interpretations of them. HE MUST PERSONALLY HANDLE THE DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE BEFORE MAKING UP HIS MIND FINALLY ON ANY GIVEN POINT. In a word his attitude was like that of the utterly scientific scientist." (p. 448.) TURNER said:

Schafer.

While a GREAT MONOGRAPH, it is purely scholarly, and offers little towards ascertainment of personal biography or genealogical fact, concerning the MEN and WOMEN, who created the very fundamentals of American life and history, about which GREAT SCHOLARS spend much time and energy in philosophizing. As a matter of fact, it is apparent, that these inquiries are of no moment to the professional historian, and the truth of American history is unrevealed or is blurred because of prejudicial foundations set up to obscure, in order to prove a philosophical or social-Schafer.

ogical trend. In fact, the records and vital statistics are ignored, in order to prove a theory about it, rather than the real thing itself. THAT IS WHY THE STORIES OF THE WESTERN BORDER ARE MADE ROMANTIC, UPON LEGENDARY BASES, RATHER THAN FACT AND RECORD. TURNER'S scientific methods did not seek date and chronicle, but interpretation of legendary indicia of them.—O. E. M.

As a corrollary, it may be suggested that why historians of the philosophic persuasion have little patience with genealogy and recordal fact is that the necessary close investigation would overthrow, or impair their conclusions, or working theories, and hence the SELECTION OF MATERIAL is loaded with immediate awareness of proof, for the purpose intended. While the old popular books held sway, being closer to the people, the reign of professional history is probably just as far removed from historical truth and genealogical evidence. The latter is not to be shoved aside but small shelf-room only should be given to many of these intellectual disquisitions, and the greater part of library space preserved for recordal compilations and genealogical data.—O. E. M.

TORY IS A TRUE RELATION OF THINGS GROWN OLD-O. E. M.

"As time glides on, things grow old; joy and sorrow interchange; places, once splendid and charming, turn to grim and solitary ruins where no man lives; even palaces and mansions which stand as of yore, are occupied by other inmates."

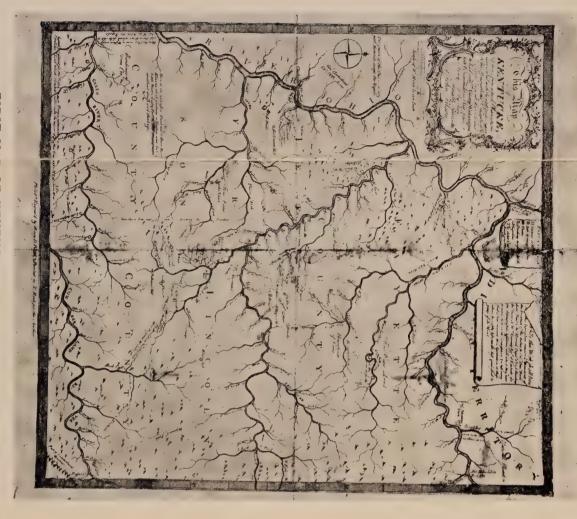

—The Tsure-Dzure-Gusa.

HISTORY AND HISTORICAL TRENDS
AS RELATED TO GENEALOGY
The writers of history, both the scientific and unlearned, leaving out of consideration, for a moment, all professorial and scholarly disquisitions, not to be called more than essays and certainly not not to be called more than essays and certainly not history, are, most strange to relate, not much concerned over personnel, fact or sequence, as related to historical characters. One must literally wade, laboriously, through page after page of aimless peregrinations or dimming lucubrations, to find, now and then, names, dates, chronicles and records, which should immediately indicate and illuminate each historical movement. There certainly must be presented, inclusively, periods and epochs, which can only be identified by persons, representing the units of the social order, making for the historical progress, of both time and place, in meaningful action.

of course, the professor, who writes an abstract thesis, upon his chosen subject, to expose his alleged scholarship, usually the formal disquisition, intended to secure for himself, another university degree, and which most frequently is his personal opinionation, without either sequential understanding or historical foundation, rises only to the height of his own vanity or trite absurdity. Such as was the case in a recent exposure of a Maryland author, of abstruse statement and illogical expression, containing scarcely a name, except Calvert, or fact, or date—and who cares what this learned savant has in mind to theorize about, which he calls his philosophy of history? It only offends one sense of technique and impinges the intelligence of the student and seeker after historical truth—one sense of technique and impinges the intelligence of the student and seeker after historical truthbooks of that character to the ash can, and give space in our libraries to worthier tomes!

Eventually, historians will learn that truly accurate history cannot be written, without genealogical treatment and the presentation of personalities, as reflected by recordal and chronicled adaptation. All public records preserve, if at all, names of men and their doings, manners and customs, out of which came the social organization, and out of which in turn was born the political union, which gave entity to the state.—O. While a GREAT MONOGRAPH, it is purely scholarly, and offers little towards ascertainment of personal biography or genealogical fact, concerning the MEN and WOMEN, who created the very fundamentals of American life and history, time and energy in philosophizing. As a matter of fact, it is apparent, that these inquiries are of no fact, it is apparent, that these inquiries are of no of American history is unrevealed or is blurred well of American history is unrevealed or is blurred well of American history and philosophical or socialogical trend. In fact, the records and vital statistics are ignored, in order to prove a theory about it, rather than the real thing itself. THAT IS WHY THE STORIES OF THE WESTERN BORDER ARE MADE ROMANTIC, UPON LEGENER ARE MADE ROMANTIC, UPON LEGENER AND RECORD. TURNER'S scientific methods did not seek date and chronicle, but interpretation of legendary indicia of them.—O. E. M.

As a corrollary, it may be suggested that why historians of the philosophic persuasion have little patience with genealogy and recordal fact is that the necessary close investigation would overthrow, or impair their conclusions, or working theories, and hence the SELECTION OF MATERIAL is loaded with immediate awareness of proof, for the purpose intended. While the old popular books held sway, being closer to the people, the reign of professional history is probably just as far removed from historical truth and genealogical evidence. The latter is not to be shoved aside but small shelf-room only should be given to many of these intellectual disquisitions, and the greater part of library space preserved for recordal compart of the people.

HISTORY IS A TRUE RELATION OF THINGS GROWN OLD—O. E. M.

"As time glides on, things grow old; joy and sorrow interchange; places, once splendid and charming, turn to grim and solitary ruins where no man lives; even palaces and mansions which stand as of yore, are occupied by other inmates."

NEW JERSEY TO VIRGINIA, KENTUCKY AND OHIO

AND OHIO

"I THINK OHIO AND WESTERN VIRGINIA THE MOST PROMISING FIELDS TO WORK FOR OLD PISCATAWAY FAM-LLIES. I FOUND WHEN I LOOKED OVER THE VIRGINIA CENSUS OF 1800 AND OF OHIO OF 1810, LOTS OF PISCATAWAY PEOPLE, AND IF I COULD HAVE COPIED, WHILE IN WASHINGTON, ALL THE PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE NAMES, I SHOULD HAVE HAD QUITE A BOOK OF NAMES." THE BARRIER OF THE ALLEGHENY MOUNTAINS

"The lofty barrier of the Allegheny Mountains was of itself sufficient to prevent the pioneers of Pennsylvania from wandering far westward. Moreover, the Indians beyond these hills were fiercer than those with whom the Quakers were familiar; their occasional raids to the eastward, through the mountain passes, won for them a reputation which did not incline the border farmers to cultivate their further acquaintance. To the to cultivate their further acquaintance. To the southwest, however, there were few obstacles to the spread of settlement. For several hundred miles the Appalachians run in parallel ranges from porthages to southwest from Perseau variety. miles the Appalachians run in parallel ranges from northeast to southwest—from Pennsylvania, through Virginia, West Virginia, the Carolinas, and East Tennessee, until at last they degenerate into scattered foot-hills upon the Georgia plain. Through the long, deep troughs between these ranges—notably in the famous Valley of Virginia between the Blue Ridge and the Alleghenies—Pennsylvanians freely wandered into the south and southwest, whenever possessed by thirst for new and broader lands. Hostile Indians sometimes penetrated these great valleys and brought misery in their train; but the work of pioneering along this path was less arduous than had the western mountains been scaled at a time when the colonists were still few and weak.

Between the years 1732 and 1750, numerous

Between the years 1732 and 1750, numerous groups of Pennsylvanians—Germans and Irish groups of Fennsylvanians—trefmans and Irish largely, with many Quakers among them—had been wending their way through the mountain troughs, and gradually pushing forward the line of settlement, until now it had reached the upper waters of the Yadkin River in the northwest corner of North Carolina."

THE GREAT WESTERN TREK

The greatest contribution of the FIRST SET-TLER FAMILIES of New Jersey was the inherent strength of the representatives who went West-ward and Southward both before and after the Revolutionary War.

To Pennsylvania, particularly, along the Delaware River, there migrated very many personages from old West Jersey primarily, because of the original jurisdiction there of William Penn, himself, commencing in 1682. Thousands of Jerseyites settled in Penna. and, some of these, including the German contingent, reversed the migration, and were back in New Jersey by the Revolution. The same surnames common to both Provinces are legion.

To New York Colony via the trails up the Hudson River, and by date of 1769, via "Old Mines Road," there also went many of the New Jersey people. Some of these days, the N. Y. Gazetteer of 1860 will be amplified and indexed, and a list of First Settlers of New York Colony, up-State, can be set up. Many New Jerseyites will be disclosed as now in the foot-notes of that invalvable volume. invaluable volume.

New Jersey's contribution to Delaware has been covered in this Reference Series, but its importance was only too little emphasized, as it grows in impressiveness when contemporary records are compared. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 725, records are

However, the coast-wise migration to both North and South Carolina was early extensive, since many of the New Jersey settlers were maritime men. The records in both colonies confirm, and the U. S. census of 1790, for these two Carolinian Colonies, show hundreds of familiar New Jersey names, of which examples, FOLSOM and DRAKE, (vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1182, et seq.), COOL and MANNY, (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.), and thousands of others.

Likewise, the boundary complications between New Jersey and Delaware, (BOUNDARY, vide, BIB.), Pennsylvania, and with Maryland, and the known families interchanging settlement, as MONNET, CRABB, BURRILL, COE, WRIGHT, YOUNG, WILLIAMS, and thousands of others, in the Colony of Maryland.

writer and so there, in the Colony of Maryland.

But, consider the "OLD WILDERNESS ROAD," first noted in this REFERENCE SERIES, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1161). At that writing, this author had not seen the map in SUMMERS (opp. p. 182), and which is reproduced here. Down the Valley of the Shenandoah went Pennsylvanians, as FINLEY, RAMSEY, WALLACE, et al.. other thousands, and MONNET or MONEY, (even MOONEY), from Maryland, and Virginia, and when one goes over the recordal ground, almost inch by inch, one is amazed at the revelations of familiar New Jersey surnames and lost pedigree representatives. Perhaps NOE, (became NOEL, and NEWELL), is as striking as any; BONHAM, BONUM, HULL, HOLDEN (BENJAMIN, stating he is from New Jersey), et al., making important all these migratory trails in Southwest Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, as related to DANIEL BOONE. The Summers books for Southwest Virginia and Filson for Kentucky have rendered the greatest service, and how can any genealogist, (thinking to do perfect work outside of the N. E. experts), possibly do well, either gen. or hist. work, and ignore THE GREAT WESTERN TREK? The gold mines of historical information are in the county records of Virginia, of vastly greater import than all else on the Atlantic Sea are in the county records of Virginia, of vastly greater import than all else on the Atlantic Seaboard, as well as older and more representative.

One says, "Why wander so far from New Jersey, and the two little towns of Piscataway and Woodbridge, only eight miles apart, in old Middlesex County, East New Jersey, 1664-1714? The answer lies in the scarcely understood courses of these migratory movements, of which the seed and source were in the Province of New Jersey—the acorns out of which great pioneering oaks did grow!—

THEREFORE, IN DEDICATION, let this MEMORIAL be to the representatives of the great pioneering families, who stand out prominently in THE GREAT WESTERN TREK. nently in THE GREAT WES Types of New Jersey ascendancy.

 ABRAHAM MOONE (sub. called MOONEY), a noted, Hug. first settler of Virginia, not far removed, as appears in Hug. Soc. of London, from the PIERRE MONNET, settling on Staten Island in 1681. From the latter lineage, compiled in 1911 (MONNET, p. 978), came that JAMES MONNET, there listed, with the three WILLIAM, ABRAHAM and JAMES MONNAY, in contiguity, who served together from Botetourt in the Revolution, the latter identical with the companion of DANIEL BOONE, 1769, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 849). JAMES BRADLEY FINLEY, noted pioneer preacher, circuit rider and missionary to the Ohio Indians, were prominent representatives.

 VII. JOHN RAINS, who, with JOHN EIN-
- prominent representatives.

 VII. JOHN RAINS, who, with JOHN FINLEY, was one of the "LONG HUNT-ERS," a Kentucky terminology, a surname of many corruptions, since that first FRANCIS RAYNES, of New Hampshire; JOHN RHOYNO of Elizabethtown, New Jersey, 1699, himself called there both RAINS AND RANO, as discussed in many previous statements of the writer's text of this evidence. The personage here was one of the great Founders of Kentucky, and, beyond doubt, made his way there from New Jersey. (Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 431-2.) Also, ROBERT RAINS.
- VIII. DRAKE, that JOSEPH DRAKE of the Shenandoah and Botetourt Co., and a "Long Hunter," undoubtedly the New Jersey man, under search, and that "SIR FRANCIS DRAKE," (sic, in the record), remind that the half has never been told of this marvelous family, originating in Devonshire, Eng., of which, CAPTAIN FRANCIS DRAKE, 1670, of Old East New Jersey, was the outstanding example.
 - IX. REV. FRANCIS DOUGHTY, orig. of Long Island, who sent a grand-son, BEN-IAMIN DOUGHTY, to Somerset County, N. J., and himself transferred to become a Virginian, and to die there, as a migrant of fame.

X. Finally, DUMONT, from du MONET, of the same root, as MONNET, another New Amsterdam French Huguenot family, who sent into New Jersey the first PIERRE (Peter) DUMONT, and descendants to Southwest Virginia. As with MONNET.

Ten important cycles to conjure with in this DEDICATORY emphasis of THE GREAT WESTERN TREK, and, yet, numerically, just a few of the mighty migration which is unparalleled in any other pioneer movement in all history.—O. E. M.

NEW JERSEY ORIGINS AND MIGRATORY RELATIONSHIPS

The prominent families of PISCATAWAY and WOODBRIDGE sent their children and descendants westward and southward, primarily into Pennsylvania and Delaware. But, as shown in the preceding introductory, pages, under the heading "The Western Trek," the course of migration through Maryland, picking up families enroute, was down the Valley of the Virginia, and, while genealogically, this is of the first importance, within the scope of this REFERENCE SERIES, yet, secondly, it is the colonial frontier and border history which should be developed, for enlightenment; likewise the geography, which was the primary basis for this migration, in the physical topography of the southern and western country.

All of this has a much larger scope than any indicated history in this reference, which can do no more than signalize migratory movements. But, because of the personages, as outlined in the dedicatory paragraphs, and the surnames revived and perpetuated in Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky families in the 18th Century, it is purposed now to relate and to coordinate certain factual items in connection with the incursions of DANIEL BOONE into Kentucky, first in 1767 and second in 1769, the latter seemingly more important, since there is a definite record of that event, though much of the account has been badly abused and misused, by its legendary and romantic phases.

Therefore, as introductory, a very important

AFFIDAVIT OF MELVIN HENRY MONNETTE

State of California, County of Los Angeles, City of Glendale, ss.

AFFIANT, Melvin Henry Monnette, being first duly sworn, deposes as follows:

That, he was born August 8th, 1851, in Scott Township, Marion County, Ohio, and is now a resident of the City of Glendale, State of California, engaged in lawful pursuits, having been a capitalist, engaged in agriculture in Ohio, and in mining in California, since 1907; that, if he lives till his next birthday, he will be 84 years old.

That, he was the son of Abraham Monnett, (1811-1881), and wife, Catharine Braucher, (1815-1875), who lived in said Scott Township, Marion County, Ohio, for a great many years, prior to the death of the mother of affiant in 1875, when, soon after his second marriage to Mrs. Jane Ludwig-Johnston, a widow, the father removed to the Town of Bucyrus, Crawford County, Ohio, where he builded a large brick mansion, on Roger Street, in that city, where he died, 1881, said property still standing at this date, and is occupied by the Kings Daughters, a social service organization of that Town, with all of which this AFFIANT is personally cognizant.

That one, ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, now living in the City of Los Angeles, in the same county, as this AFFIANT, in which is located said City of Glendale, contiguous to the former City, is a nephew of this AFFIANT, being a son of a brother of this AFFIANT, Mervin Jeremiah Monnette, and is well and intimately known to this AFFIANT; that he is the genealogical and family historian of the MONNET FAMILY (as the name was originally spelled, in France), having been such for a period of forty years, and, that he was the author, compiler and publisher of the MONNET FAMILY GENE. ALOGY, which was issued from the printer, in 1911; that said author has continued his said work, collecting material and data, for the publication of a supplemental edition of said GENE. ALOGY, which is now taking definite form.

That, said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE is also engaged in publishing, from his own pen, a genealogical and historical work, relative to New Jersey FIRST SETTLERS, a REFERENCE SERIES, of which PART SIX was issued in 1934, and of which this PART SEVEN, in which this affidavit is appearing, is now in process of printing, and said publication contains much material concerning this MONNET FAMILY, by reason of its first settlement on Staten Island, adjacent to Colonial New Jersey, and Huguenot origins there fully represented, prior to a removal and settlement of this branch of the family, from which AFFIANT is descended, in Calvert County, Maryland, before the year, 1700.

THAT, a brother of this AFFIANT, a twin, born on the same day and date, Dr. Madison Welch Monnett, still living, at this date, in the City of Indianapolis, Indiana, made and executed a similar affidavit, there, of date, October 12, 1933, which was published in PART SIX of said FIRST SETTLERS, etc., (at p. 1204), and which has been read by this AFFIANT, and the statements of said affidavit are true and correct, in all respects, and would be repeated, in similar manner and substance, as if originally made by this AFFIANT, particularly as to the pedigree and geod faith.

THAT, this AFFIANT is familiar with, has read and studied, many, many times the said MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY, of 1911, and knows that the pedigrees given therein, history of the family, and genealogical and other facts, are true and correct, as this AFFIANT knew personally the people of his generation, his father's generation, and some of the preceding generation, personally, and has had his father, ABRAHAM MONNETT, relate to him the material facts and relationships, upon which said MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY is based.

THAT, this AFFIANT has always known of

THAT, this AFFIANT has always known of the French Protestant, or Huguenot, origin of this branch of said Monnet Family, they having, originally, been Catholic, and migrated from ancient French Provinces to America, as Huguenots, the surname or patronymic having been of two general forms in France, as MONNET or MONET, though suffering many changes and corruptions, particularly in Colonial and later America, even in particularly in Colonial and later America, even in the same group of kinsmen, who changed both pronunciation and spelling, according to taste and usage; that, the branch to which this AFFIANT belongs emigrated from Ancienne Poitou, France, and left by boat, for England, at the Fort of La Rochelle as his father told him, and he does have a sister, Catharine La Vendee Monnett-Ross, still living, whose middle name was so given to her, in recognition of the origin of the name and migration. migration.

THAT, of his eleven brothers and sisters, with correct dates of births, deaths and marriages, as given in said affidavit of Dr. Madison Welch Monnett, there are only two, beside himself, still living, said sister, as given hereinbefore, and said brother, as named, the others of said twelve children, all of his father and mother, as given herein; all now being deceased.

THAT, this affidavit is made for historical and THAT, this affidavit is made for historical and genealogical purposes, only, at the request of said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, and is supplemental to a longer, more detailed affidavit, by this AFFIANT, heretofore made, for use in said supplemental MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY, as will appear, and for the special purpose of recording the knowledge of this AFFIANT, upon certain matters well known in his own family and through, the relationship concerning an earlier. rectain matters well known in his own family and through the relationship, concerning an earlier association of ancestors and kinsmen, with the noted Kentucky pioneer, DANIEL BOONE, of certain fame, which has been the continuous statement and belief in the family realms, as given to him by his father, in his own childhood, and, as discussed with the brother of AFFIANT, MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE, father of said ORRA EUGENE MONNETTE, prior to the death of the former, upon inquiry of said nephew of this AFFIANT—that AFFIANT always knew that an intimate relationship of the two families had existed in their Kentucky wanderings, and settlements, presumed to have been both a blood and marriage kinship, and so stated by his father, ABRAHAM MONNETT, though this AFFIANT, not being a genealogist, never knew exactly what the lineage or relationship was, in exact terms, simply that, beyond doubt, the same did exist.

exact terms, simply that, beyond doubt, the same did exist.

THAT, AFFIANT is familiar with the old book about DANIEL BOONE, namely, "Daniel Boone, and the Hunters of Kentucky, by W. H. Bogart," (1857), a copy of the same having been in AFFIANT'S branch of the Family, in his earlier days, handled, read by him, and discussed with his said father—that said book, (at page 52), gave the names of the Companions of Daniel Boone, in 1769, who made their trip into Kentucky, as JOHN FINLEY, JOHN STEWART, JOSEPH HOLDEN, JAMES MONAY, (sic.), and WILLIAM COOL, (sic.); that AFFIANT then was told and knew from the statements, aforesaid, that the reference to a MONNET relationship was made to appear in the name, JAMES MONAY, of the group, since this AFFIANT, then and now knows, that such a name is only a variant, from the French language, of the name MONNET or MONET, and sometimes written, "MONEY" or as "MOONEY," as AFFIANT has since learned. THAT, in connection with this affidavit, said Bogart book has been exhibited to this AFFIANT, whereupon he recollects the same as the book of his childhood, as hereinbefore set forth.

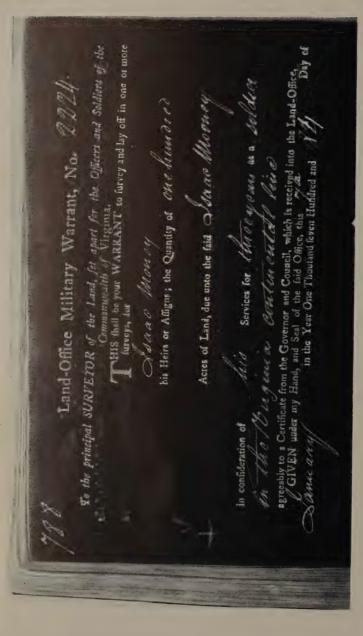

THAT, AFFIANT, in his earlier California mining apparence met one CEORGE HOLDEN.

as hereinbefore set forth.

THAT, AFFIANT, in his earlier California mining experience met one GEORGE HOLDEN, at Sonora and Angel's Camp, (then quite an old man), who was his associate, day by day, and between whom and AFFIANT there were many discussions about their common origins in Ohio and Kentucky, as both of their ancestral families had lived in the old County of Ross, in said state of Ohio, near Oldtown, or Chillicothe, where at one time DANIEL BOONE had temporarily resided, and their families intermarried, soon after the period of the Indian warfare, with the Shawnee Indians, which had brought BOONE there; that, said GEORGE HOLDEN had a great-grandfather, JOSEPH HOLDEN, who was with DANIEL BOONE, upon his Kentucky expeditions, and that he definitely knew of his wanderings and of his association with JAMES MONAY, companion of said BOONE, and upon his excursion into Kentucky.

The exact location of the above land has not yet been determined, but in some way was related to the grant of Virginia Military Lands, in Ohio, (vide, ante, PAFT FOUR, pp. 205-021.—O. E. M.). This Revolutionary soldier was the ancestor of MELVIN HENRY MONNETTE, who appears in ill., (reverse of this page). He is said to have been the first of the name to settle in Ohio, by 1797, Ross County.

GEORGE HOLDEN, and within their family circles, as oftentimes related, and that in his boyhood, said GEORGE HOLDEN knew of the locations, in the same sections, as his family, of the MONAY FAMILY, where the name, in Kenucky, became corrupted to MONEY, (and to MOONEY), and that his great-grandiather had land, which was a part of the original tract of several thousand acres, first granted to DANIEL BOONE, but which the latter lost on account of unrecognized titles or faulty filings, in connection therewith, and that said MONAY or MONEY family, with descendants in Kentucky, living to this day, also owned and occupied tracts of land, in said DANIEL BOONE Tract, as per his original grant of the same.

THAT, AFFIANT, in giving to the stenographer, the facts, set forth in this affidavit, does so with personal knowledge of the geography, particularly of Kentucky, where at least fifty years ago, he traveled much, buying cattle and other stock; that he is personally familiar with scenes and battle places of the Civil War there, having discussed with soldiers and people, of them, as well as Cumberland Gap, Harrodsburg, Boonesboro, and other historic places, Kentucky River, and the original "Traces," called BOONE'S and WARRIOR'S, and "Old Wilderness Road," by the various routes of which the original settlers came through to OHIO.

THAT, as related in this affidavit, AFFIANT has not the least doubt, but that the said JAMES MONAY was a relative, or kinsman, of the forbears of this AFFIANT, and that the facts known of DANIEL BOONE, and his expedition into Kentucky, 1769, are the same as the traditions in the MONNET FAMILY, always known and related to this AFFIANT, as aforesaid.

THAT, the FINLEY FAMILY were afterwards associates of the MONNET FAMILY, in early Ohio history, and the Rev. JAMES BRADLEY FINLEY, pioneer M. E. preacher and missionary to the Wyandot Indians, in Ohio, was well known to the MONNET forbears, and a companion of the grandfather, of AFFIANT, Rev. JEREMIAH CRABB MONNETTE, likewise a pioneer Methodist preacher and famous circuit rider, of early Ohio.

THAT, of the association, as above, with the said DANIEL BOONE, it is true and correct, and though only of sentimental reverence, it has made AFFIANT rather proud to keep this recollection, clear and definite in his own personal memory; and that he is of sound, clear and accurate mind, at the date hereof.

And, further, AFFIANT saith not.

And, further, AFFIANT saith not. MELVIN HENRY MONNETTE.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 29th day of April, 1935.

VESTA MINNICK,

Notary Public in and for the County of Los Angeles, State of California.

The foregoing affidavit is not an "old man's tale," for it is formalized in statement and made under oath. The deponent, while aged in years, is of keen, retentive memory, and his long active career of character and integrity give great credibility to his statements. While they are confirmed with records of genealogical items to be presented, they are of a higher degree of evidence than many pages, heretofore presented by popular writers, as romantic history. It is the pride of this author to preserve the factual items of the verification for use and illumination, in any preparation, hereafter, of the DANIEL BOONE History.

HISTORIC PERSPECTIVES AND CONNOTATIONS

Keeping in mind the scope of this REFER-ENCE SERIES and that the FIRST SETTLERS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, NEW JERSEY, transmitted, through their de-scendants, personages who went abroad to give form, character and prominence to the pioneering movement, both before and after the Revolutionary War: the historic excursus already given the War; the historic excursus already given, the dedicatory personifications, and the affidavit of MR. MELVIN HENRY MONNETTE, are the prelude to a larger story of New Jersey influence and importance in the GREAT SOUTHWEST, out of which grew the GREAT NORTHWEST.

It is now necessary to list, for pertinent memorialization, the focal points which establish historic perspectives and connotations as related to the matter being presented in this PART SEVEN.

I. Southwestern Virginia, with relation to MONNET or MONET, removed from New Jersey and Maryland; and earlier settlement of ABRAHAM MOONE, on the eastern shores of Virginia.

II. Virginia Counties, particularly Augusta, then Botetourt and Fincastle, with original grant of Beverly Manor, Shenandoah, Virginia, the seat of the FINLEY FAMILY, and direct migrants from New Levine

The "Long Hunters" and their voyages into "Kentucke," of whom JOHN FIN-LEY, JOHN RAINS and JOSEPH

INAKE.

IV. COMPANIONS OF DANIEL BOONE, 1769, as subsequently presented herein, by reference to JAMES MONNET, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 849).

V. Battle of Point Pleasant, West Virginia, Oct. 10, 1774, which was survived by JAMES MONAY, (MONNET), afterwards a Revolutionary soldier.

VI. Old Wilderness Road, as presented, previously, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1161), which continued in the "Old Warriors Trail," carried descendants of FIRST SETTLERS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, NEW JERSEY, into the Old Northwest Territory, and, finally, State of Ohio.

VII. FRANKLIN, THE UNRECOGNIZED COMMONWEALTH, to which New Jersey contributed.

I. SOUTHWESTERN VIRGINIA

The outstanding authorities, because based on original records, are the two compilations by Lewis Preston Summers, and they are indispensable in this REFERENCE, (vide, ante, BIB., this PART, p. 1459).

A careful study of these two volumes will offer the positive and authentic records desired in historic compilation.

II. VIRGINIA COUNTIES

It is difficult for the searcher, genealogist and historian to keep before him the older county jurisdictions in Virginia, and chronologically, in the light of later geographical designations. The writer has found the best allocation in WITHERS' Chronicles of Border Warfare, (pp. 55-6). Concerning the western portion, which became Western Virginia, in 1738, when Augusta was taken from Orange, Frederick from the same, in 1738, Hampshire (seat of MONNET, SLAGLE and BURRILL), from Augusta and Frederick, in 1754, and Botetourt in 1770 (69), from Augusta, and out of which the State of West Virginia was later formed, in 1863, with other subdivisions, est., in between. Until 1792, Kentucky was included in Western Virginia. See introduction to U. S. Census, 1790, Virginia, (pp. 9 and 10).

N. B.—It should be noted, in the latter, that over half of the Va. counties are omitted.—O.E.M.

Many New Jersey people, going west and southward, spread out into these Virginia counties before 1800, and were ultimately the F. S. of Kentucky.—O. E. M.

"In 1772 the County of Fincastle was taken from Botetourt; and in 1776 Fincastle was divided into the counties of Kentucky, Washington and Montgomery, and the name of Fincastle became extinct." (HIST. OF THE VALLEY, Kercheval, extinct.' p. 176.)

Of Augusta County Records, the great historical source compilation is CHALKLEY, (vide, ante, BIB., THIS PART, p. 1446). How it is possible for anyone to use DRAPER MSS., as final authority, and against the records so carefully presented in this transcription, is impossible to comprehend. All of the names given in this historic review are to be found in this authentic recordation

As a part of this title, reference should be had to Beverly Manor, Shenandoah, Virginia, the seat of FINLEY, (not indigenous, but removing from Pennsylvania).

This is what William Beverly called his great tract on the upper waters of the South Branch of Shenandoah in orig. Augusta County, Virginia. In 1755, it was shown on the Fry and Jefferson map as "Beverly Manor or Irish Tract." The few manorial grants in Virginia were not after the English form, and gave no autonomous jurisdiction, as in England. "The only examples of the full fledged jurisdictional manor establishments in America were in Maryland and New York," (see interesting discussion in Va. Mag., Vol. XXXII, 1924, pp. 188-9).

The real description of this Beverly Manor grant is to be found in recs., (Wm. & Mary Coll. Quart., Vol. 13 n. s., p. 51), and was granted 6 Sept. 1736 to William Beverly, John Randolph, et al., 118,491 acres in Augusta Co., his only son being Robert Beverly, and the tract included some lots in Staunton, which figured, in Finley conveyances, later. (CHALKLEY.)

Beverly Manor was the seat of JOHN FINLEY, Gent., who settled there as early as 1745, (CHALKLEY, Vol. 1, p. 1), and WILLIAM FINLEY, Gent., as in 1765, they conveyed to each other, (CHALKLEY, Vol. 3, p. 420); also, their brother, Robert Finley, and their brother, Robert Finley, and their brother, Tames Finley, who had a son John Finley in 1765, (id. p. 437). Also, in 1770, William Finley made conveyance of 250 acres in Beverly Manor to his son, John Finley, and reference to 297 acres, taken off of John Finley, Senior, in Beverly Manor, (id. p. 504), et alia, (many entries). Each FINLEY group had a JOHN FINLEY there, in 1769, eligible to have been a companion of BOONE.

"Executions: April, 1801." "Estill vs. Ramsey":

"Deposition, 13th October, 1792. John Dalhouse. JOHN FINLEY, aged above 60 years. Deponent went to school in 1747, in the house mentioned by Thomas Turk in his depositions. The house was on James McClure's land. . . . WILLIAM FINLEY father to defendant." et al. (CHALKLEY, VOL. 12. p. 28).

This was undoubtedly the JOHN FINLEY, who went into Kentucky, with DANIEL BOONE, 1769.—O. E. M.

III. THE LONG HUNTERS

"But the most famous of all the expeditions of the period was that of the "Long Hunters," as they have come to be known in Western history, they have come to be known in Western history. Inspired by the favorable reports of Stone and others, about forty of the most noted and successful hunters of New River, (KANAWHA), and Holston Valleys formed, in the summer of 1770, a company for hunting and trapping to the west of Cumberland Mountains. Under the leadership of two of the best woodsmen of the region, JOSEPH DRAKE and Henry Skaggs, and including several of Stone's party, they set out in early autumn fully prepared for meeting Indians and living on game. Each man took with him three packhorses, rifles, amunition, traps, dogs, blankets, and salt, and was dressed in the deerskin costume of the times.

Pushing on through Cumberland Gap, the adventurers were soon in the heart of Kentucky." (THWAITES, pp. 91-92.)

* * *

Of this group, genealogists have not taken the pains to develop personnel, but, JOSEPH DRAKE, of the famous family, at PISCATAWAY, N. J., made the greatest contribution, as he was a natural leader and probably had more, in himself, to do with the settlement of Kentucky, than did DANIEL BOONE, and is entitled to greater justification. He came into Virginia and had a cousin there of the same name, JOSEPH DRAKE, and the attempted biography is very probably incorrect, in DUNMORE, (DRAPER MSS., 3B251, p. 78), as there is no documentation, again. tion, again.

tion, again.

(The true genealogy and origin of this JOSEPH DRAKE is given elsewhere.—O. E. M.)

Likewise, JOHN RAINS, clearly a member of the famous New Jersey family, and no doubt the original records would elaborate his importance, in comparison, with DANIEL BOONE, for he was a very prominent First Settler of Kentucky, and many others clearly indicated in this group, from the names given in DUNMORE, (p. 1447)—O. E. M.

"It was not until August, that the Long Hunters returned to their homes, after a profitable absence of eleven months. But the Boone brothers left their comrades in March, and headed for the Yadkin, with horses now well laden with spoils of the chase." (THWAITES, p. 95.)

IV. COMPANIONS OF DANIEL BOONE, 1769

This presents a discussion and some argument about the legendary stories entering into Boone Bibliography (FILSON, vide, ante, BIB., THIS PART, p. 1448), which have been repeated many times, until acceptable dubious statements have been created, instead of authentic history. The only documentary evidence of this incursion into Kentucky is the autobiography of Col. Daniel Boone himself, preserved by the great historian, John Filson, in 1784, which correctly gives the names of the Companions of Daniel Boone, 1769. At this point, attention should be called to the fact of the name of JAMES MONNET or MONET, pronounced as MONAY, and as entered in some of these popular stories, and in the DRAPER MSS., sometimes called "Mooney," which has been perpetuated thus as certain error, as well as that of COOL(E), coming from COOL, very early in New Amsterdam, the origin of the New Jersey family of Cooley, as well as the perpetuated errors of COOLEY, in this very connotation.

"When Kentucky was first begun to be explored, was a company to the propertion of the new particular in individual in individual." This presents a discussion and some argument

This little, old volume, 1821, represents the knowledge then possessed of BOONE NARRATIVE, 1784, by JOHN FILSON, and it will be noted that JOHN FINLEY WAS neither "Pitot," "Pathfinder," etc., and other legendary sobriquets, (vide, post, this PART, 190), the he had been a visitor to Kentucky before—and, best of all, the names MONAY, (not MOONEY, according to the Col. Nathan Boone tale), and COOL stand out, incontrovertibly, which helps much, in spite of DRAPER MSS., (unauth.). IAMES MONAY (MONNET) was a "Scout," as note Battle of Point Pleasant, Oct. 10, 1774, (vide, post, this PART, p. 1476). O.E.M.

The Cherokees, the Chickasaws, the Catawbas, and the Chicamaugas, from the southeast; and the Illinois, the Peorias, the Delawares, the Mingoes and Shawnees from the west, claimed and exercised equal rights and privileges within its limits. When the tribes of these different nations would however meet there, frequent collisions would arise between them; and so deadly were the conflicts ensuing upon these, that, in conjunction with the gloom of its dense forests, they acquired for it the impressive appellation of "the dark and bloody ground." By reference to THWAITES, a great deal of popular writing and folklore will be found, which should be reverenced as a glint merely of pioneer history. The book in question is neither technical history nor documented statement, and rises no higher than the books of a hundred years before, which romanced in tradition and legend, although the essential facts of alleged history in this volume were presented by other prior popular writers.

This editor does on certain points, make quota-

This editor does, on certain points, make quotations from some very apt descriptions.

THWAITES' statement of the pilgrimage of Daniel Boone into Kentucky, 1769, is very inadequate, incorrect and in popular form.

He refers to John Finley as a fur trader in 1752, calls him a Scotch-Irishman, which is untrue, as he was purely Irish, not Scotch, and there is little real evidence that he had immigrated there is little real evidence that he had immigrated to Pennsylvania, direct, for, as a matter of fact, he was a Virginian. He did not live on the Yadkin, was not a neighbor to Daniel Boone, and may or may not have been in the first Indian battle with Braddock. There is no documentary evidence of that. More positive facts concerning him are given elsewhere. him are given elsewhere, him are given elsewhere.

This little, tho interesting, volume "DANIEL BOONE," does not correctly describe the incursion into Kentucky in 1769, and places John Stuart in 1766 on the Yadkin, when he was in Virginia, "a pedlar," while John Finley was not a "peddler," and THWAITES makes the common mistake of naming the companions of Boone in 1769 as "three neighbors" on the Yadkin, which was not true; naming one correctly Joseph Holden; the others, with the popular malanimadversion of "James Mooney" for James MONAY and "William Cooley," phonetic use solely of WILLIAM COOL, who came from eastern North Carolina. In general terms, the trip is given, but, of course, with no details, as is presented so faithfully in the "BOONE NARRATIVE," by Fillson, 1784. faithfully in Fillson, 1784.

He does, however, in his opening chapter, give a very proper estimate of DANIEL BOONE, as a frontiersman, that he was in no sense of the truth, the Founder, discoverer or commonwealth builder of Kentucky, (vide, ante, this author's comments upon historical presentation, vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1459).

HIS ESTIMATE

"Poets, historians, and orators have for a hundred years sung the praises of Daniel Boone as the typical backwoodsman of the trans-Allegheny region. Despite popular belief, he was not really the Founder of Kentucky. Other explorers and hunters had been there long before him; he himself was piloted (?) through Cumberland Gap by John Finley; and his was not even the first permanent settlement in Kentucky, for Harrodsburg preceded it by nearly a year; his services in defense of the West, during nearly a half century of border warfare, were not comparable to those of George Rogers Clark or Benjamin Logan; as a commonwealth builder he was surpassed by several." (THWAITES' PREFACE, p. vii.)

The BOONE GEN., has been discussed elsewhere herein, and its palpable errors, in this reference, pointed out. It was entirely proper for that author to use DRAPER MSS. so copiously.—O. E. M.

O. E. M.

Never will a true history of DANIEL BOONE be written, until all folklore and traditional accounts are resolved in favor of just what is authentic record concerning him, when all Kentuckians and BOONE descendants, and those attached to writing about him, will cease glorification ONLY, and strip the glamorous dressing from the true figure, in exhibition of the real BOONE, as he was, and what he really did.—
O. E. M.

We come now to a delicate subject, with not the slightest desire to disparage or to impair the fine achievements of a noble gentleman, and of his BOSWELL, THWAITES.

DRAPER MANUSCRIPTS

(State Historical Society of Wisconsin, Madison) This is a GREAT COLLECTION, consisting of volumes of notes, statements of persons, and note-book compilations, (as stated by SCHAFER). These are largely extensions of folklore, countryside stories, legends and traditions, gathered with infinite labor and patience, (vide, ante, this PART, BIB., p. 1447), and possibly possessing some documents, a few diaries, militia rolls, and other limited primary records, probably a small minimum of the whole, but mostly neither source material nor factual records. Many historical and genealogical compilations, notably BOONE, (SPRAKER), have used quotations or restatements from the DRAPER MSS. to establish their conclusions by the general reference to "DRAPER conclusions by the general reterence to "DRAPER MSS.," without presenting either documentation or records to support textual statements. The latter is THWAITES' form of presentation entirely. This brings us to the certain challenge that this procedure is neither history nor genealogy, entirely unscientific, and not deserving of any high degree of historical appraisal.

any high degree of historical appraisal.

It is highly unfortunate that the State Hist. Soc. of Wis., takes the position it does as to the sanctify, purity and unalterable authenticity of the DRAPER MSS. As the old story goes, one cannot go in, "hat-in-hand," politely, unless one bow in sanctimonious reverence to DRAPER and THWAITES, his BOSWELL, accepting without question the "ipse dixits" of each. If not in this mood, and the question is asked for authentic record or fact, "one's hat is thrown out" and admittance denied. (The writer has had this experience, though forgiving that lack of courtesy in some few librarians which usually interferes somewhat with the quality of graciousness—this does not apply to Mr. Joseph Schafer.—O. E. M.)

The DRAPER MSS., as a GREAT COLLECTION, is invaluable and what a loss, if these legendary bits and pioneering stories, had not been so conscientiously preserved. But, they have been, somewhat generally, accepted as authentic history, and are NOT such, as all references being with little or no documentation or recordal research clearly show.—O. E. M.

with little or no documentation or recordal research clearly show .- O. E. M.

Concerning the DRAPER MSS., it is stated by THWAITES that:

"In 1840 he began supplementing his correspondence with personal interviews with pioneers, and the descendants of pioneers and Revolutionary soldiers, at their homes, having found that for his purpose the gathering of information by means of letters was slow and unsatisfactory, the mails of lefters was slow and unsatisfactory, the mails being in those days tardy, unreliable, and expensive, while many of those who possessed the desired information were not adepts with the pen. There were then no railroads; the eager collector of facts traveled on his great errand for many years, far and wide, by foot, by horseback, by stage, by lumber wagon, and by steamboat, his constant companion being a knapsack well-laden with NOTE BOOKS."

"The guest of the interviewed, the inquisitive stranger often stopped weeks together at those crude homes in the New York, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee backwoods—long enough Virginia and Tennessee backwoods—long enough to extract, with the acquired skill of a cross-examiner, every morsel of historical (?) information, every item of valuable reminiscence stored in the mind of his host; while old diaries, or other family documents which might cast side-lights on the stirring and romantic story of Western settlement, were deemed objects worth obtaining by means of the most astute diplomacy." (p. xiii.)

"I have wasted my life in puttering," he once lamented, "but I see no help for it; I can write nothing so long as I fear there is a fact, no matter how small, as yet ungarnered." A newspaper editor, fearing to put his journal to press because something else might happen when too late to insert it in that day's issue, would not be a success in his profession; an historian must also realize the fact that others will surely follow him, each one with fresh material to add to his own. Draper not only feared to go to press, but even refrained from writing up his notes, literally * * * from an apprehension that the next mail might from an apprenension that the next mail might bring information which would necessitate a recasting of his matter. At the time of his contract with Lossing, he had completed some twenty chapters of his proposed Life of Boone perhaps half of the number contemplated." (p. xviii.)

Why did not, Mr. DRAPER, or why does not some scientific historian search public records, (U. S. A.), Colonial records of Virginia, counties of Penna and Va., grants, deeds, wills, etc., and of Kentucky, to ascertain recordal facts, and not rely upon legends and traditions to substitute rely upon legends and traditions to substitute fanciful data for real, important historical truth? Is that too much to ask of erstwhile and present historians, and, particularly of supposed scholarship? BOONE does not do this, founded upon DRAPER MSS., and none other, yet writing to this day.—O. E. M.

In addition to the foregoing, Mr. Joseph Shafer has sent, with his compliments, his own compilation "The Draper Collection of Manuscripts." He states this to be "one of the most valuable bodies of manuscript source material relating to American history (2) and doubtless the most valuable one history (?), and doubtless the most valuable one illustrating the history (?) of the region from the Blue Ridge to the Mississippi," (p. 1). This important appraisal of the Manuscript very clearly shows it to have been an eager, arduous and enthusiastic collection of folklore, as described by this writer. This Schafer statement very clearly supports an opinion that this great collection is not "history source material," but only manuscript collections of a marvelous range and infinite itemization, as "Fragments of the correspondence of this remarkable man, consisting of copies of letters written by himself, and preserved among his papers, the original letters written to him by correspondents, and copies of important contemporaneous documents, have been preserved," (p. 19), in one single reference.

There is no intent on the part of this writer to discredit this stupendous effort to create history by countryside gossip, old men's memories and statements of recollections and of others in the nature of "hearsay" evidence, but, as one great librarian in one of our large cities, unconnected with Wisconsin states, "it is absolutely necessary for the technical historian and unprejudiced writer to search volume after volume and thousands to search volume after volume and thousands of pages, to find a few, true grains of history firmly implanted in an amazing mass of chaff."

The most regrettable feature is that DRAPER himself never reached the position of writing out definitely his own conclusions, made certain upon such information as he had gathered; and nearly everyone using DRAPER MSS. as authority, as with THWAITES, has neither furnished any original records of consequence nor any important documentation, which would sustain their very positive statements and conclusions, as presenting historical truth. All else is mere "chaff."—O.E.M.

"Detroit, Mich., May 3, 1935.

Dear Mr. Monnette:

* * * I was formerly official custodian of the DRAPER MSS., for almost ten years. * * *

Mr. Draper was one of the most industrious and painstaking scholars we have ever had in America. He dreamed of writing a series of books but he spent practically his entire life collecting the material for them and so never applied himself to the task of writing up the secondary narratives which he had projected.  * I think it is probably the fact that the collection does not contain very many public documents. It does contain a vast quantity of private papers, such as any man is likely to accumulate, etc., * * * and these papers are supplemented in important fashion by records of perplemented in important fashion by records of personal interviews and by private correspondence of Mr. Draper himself, (etc.) * * * I am quite sure that Mr. Draper was no trifler or romancer; (etc.) * * * I do not think anyone has ever imagined (at least the thought has never occurred to me) that the DRAPER MSS. are to be swallowed literally or whole. To the contrary, they constitute an immense collection of source information, for the period and for the region, to which they pertain, and the student who makes use of them is himself responsible for the degree of intelligence and industry which he brings to his task, (etc.).

Sincerely. M. M. QUALIFE."

When THWAITES wrote his DANIEL BOONE, without any documentation, was he that kind of a student? Or BOONE? The foregoing does not justify endless refs., to DRAPER MSS.—O. E. M.

I was very glad indeed to receive your letter, particularly since your name was one that was very familiar to me several years ago. When a freshman in college I learned and have remembered ever since that you were then the National President of Phi Kappa Psi. I was a member of the Columbia Chapter. * * * I early discovered the situation that you so well described as existing in Kentucky. Whether Kentuckian or foreigner, I think all of the members of the History Department of the University and of the colleges of the state, regret the situation as much as you do, state, regret the situation as much as you do, but we do not see any way out. There has been little if any scholarly work in the field of History little if any scholarly work in the field of History in Kentucky in recent years, if ever, by Kentuckians.  * In the field of History I commenced about seven years ago and have carried on in spite of a good deal of opposition. Practically all of the History research in Kentucky has been done by amateurs. I have no objection to amateurs in the field, provided that they do real work and not merely play with the subject; provided they will learn what to do and how to do it.  * The rest of his, as far as History goes, I think, must be classed as worthless. My own entrance into the Boone subject was accidental and only under protest. * * * Unfortunately, the names have been sadly mis-spelled by the typesetters, as that of Cool for Cooley. The typesetters evidently became tired.

I am in agreement with you in believing that there are many more figures in early Kentucky that were of more significance possibly than Boone. That, I think, I made clear in the later chapter than probably you have seen. Unquestionably Filson's BOONE attracted romantic attention to

That work directs my studies to a period somewhat later than that which is generally discussed as Pioneer Kentucky. I am familiar with the historical work of JOHN W. NOTE: The writer has no desire to be captious NOTE: The writer has no desire to be captious at all, but, in searching through the many volumes extant, re Kentucky and Daniel Boone, there is so little of documentation and scarcely a reference to public records that, the following statements are presented here, for challenge, in the interest of that person, or many, who will use scientific historical approach to future composition and presentation, of history, as affecting the State of Kentucky and the real career of DANIEL BOONE. Kentucky BOONE.

Points by this editor:

- 1. No accurate and scientific history of the State of Kentucky has yet been written and the field is open for any searcher of public records and a true historian of ability to perform that greatly to be desired achievement.
- With every favorable consideration given to the BOONE GENEALOGY, no accurate and com-pletely true history of Daniel Boone has yet

The writer believes that when all the romance and legendary accounts have been reduced to the proper level of historical technique, without the slightest desire to impair his glorification, romantically, the figure of Daniel Boone will be neither as important nor as outstanding, in the history of Kentucky, as always believed.

- The Bi-Centennial Commission of Kentucky, (1934), has recently published the John Filson BOONE NARRATIVE of 1784 and there are other original documents and records extant to be published. But that Commission is making the gravest mistake to perpetuate the tales and stories, comprising largely fiction volumes, where there are no historic sources touching the same points.
- This writer, in making these utterances, is attempting no authentic history of either Kentucky, or of Daniel Boone, and is making these observations for the service of anyone so inclined to do, in future years.
- CHRONICLES OF BORDER WARFARE by WITHERS. This "old walrus" is inconsistent even with other loosely written books, contemporary and later, and is not substantiated by any documentation, of consequence. The edition by THWAITES, with its foot-note genealogies, is not supported, in a single instance, by reference to vital statistics or public records; and by the known errors, easily discoverable, it must be rejected, practically, in toto, from a genealogist's viewpoint.
- toto, from a genealogist's viewpoint.

 With reference to BRADDOCK'S EXPEDITION, 1755, unluckily, there is not to be found any militia rolls, representing American Colonials and only such items as are disclosed in Braddock's Orderly Book, (LOWDER-MILK, p. Appx.), so that any allegation, from legendary sources, as to what Americans were engaged in this battle at Point Necessity is of a very doubtful character. Without wishing to inject any controversy, there is no documented evidence that either DANIEL BOONE or JOHN FINLEY were present and participated, and those claims must be rejected for the present. the present.
- 7. In the points made in this volume, rendered necessary because of references to New Jersey migration, as indicated, there is a certain attempt to support each statement by the proper kind of historical authority and evaluation.

In conclusion of the foregoing, it should be noted that the Companions of Daniel Boone, 1769, were JAMES MONNET, (as orig. MONET, pronounced as MONAY, and varied to MOONEY), JOHN FINLEY, JOHN STUART, JOSEPH HOLDEN and WILLIAM COOL, not COOLEY.

The foregoing is fully supported by the BOONE NARRATIVE of 1784 by FILLSON; by BOGART (p. 52), and by METCALF, the original of which was offered for sale, recently, in a book catalog at Goodspeed's Book Shop, Boston, who, very courteously, had a photostat copy made, in part, of the account of DANIEL BOONE, and the first pages of this are here reproduced in illustration, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1471).

In COLLINS' HISTORY OF KENTUCKY, (Revised Edition, Two Vols., pp. 16, 416 and 711), the same is fully supported and first use of the name, JAMES MONAY, was emphasized, though in another entry "MONEY" is given, but COOL is always given as such and not COOLEY, which is certain error.—O. E. M.

(NOTE: Returning to general heading, vide, ante, p. 1469.)

V. BATTLE OF POINT WEST VIRGINIA, OCT. 10, 1774 BATTLE OF POINT PLEASANT,

This refers more especially to the participation of JAMES MONNET (MONEY), JOHN FIN-LEY, with others of the name, from Augusta County, and three JOHN STUARTS, one of whom was recorded as "Stewart." DUNMORE is the principal authority, but is not authenticated except by old letters and a few militia rolls, presented by THWAITES.

Concerning JAMES MOONEY, as in DUN-MORE: (JAMES MONNET)—

THWAITES puts him under the ground, October 10, 1774, at the Battle of Point Pleasant, (DUNMORE, p. 272).

As shown, beyond doubt, elsewhere herein, this was a certain and serious error. JAMES MOONEY WAS NOT KILLED in the Battle, served in the Rev. War, and lived afterwards.

MOONEY WAS NOT KILLED in the Battle, served in the Rev. War, and lived afterwards.

(Quoting): "Monday morning about half an Hour before sunrise two of Capt Russels Compy. Discovered a large party of Indians about a mile from Camp one of which men was killed the other made his Escape & brought in his intelligence; 86 in two or three mniutes affter two of Capt. Shelbys. Compy. Came in and Confirmed the Account." etc. (Beyond doubt this act of JAMES MOONEY saved the slaughter and annihilation of the whole expedition. Should he not have a monument and the glorification given to others?—O. E. M.) The text is from Isaac Shelby's account. (Foot-note by THWAITES.) 86 These were Joseph Hughey of Shelby's Company, and JAMES MOONEY, of Russell's. The former was killed by a white renegade, Tavenor Ross, while the latter brought the news to camp. MOONEY was a former neighbor of DANIEL BOONE, (absolutely without foundation, if referable to the Yadkin—O. E. M.), upon the Yadkin in North Carolina, and had accompanied him upon the disastrous Kentucky hunting expedition of 1769. (True, in part—O. E. M.) "He was killed at Point Pleasant"—Ed. (Was absolutely untrue.—O. E. M.)

(DUNMORE, pp. 27 renegade, (id. p. 422). 271-2.) Tavenor Ross, white

By several refs., Gen. William Russell is shown to have commanded a Company of Fincastle troops at the Battle of Point Pleasant, to which JAMES MOONEY belonged, (living in Virginia, and not in No. Car.—O. E. M.).

This Russell has some gen., and biog., in a foot-note, (DUNMORE, p. 6, and was a Justice of Fincastle Co., in 1772, signed the Fincastle Resolutions of 1775, served in the Rev. War, and d. 1794, (although these statements are ipse dixit, and undocumented.—O. E. M.).

Consult other Russell refs., in DUNMORE, which show his company and participation at Point Pleasant, (partic. pp. 189, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, referring to command and troops et al., and in his report of killed, he did not report JAMES MOONEY, as such.—O. E. M.).

Because of the association of names, in the homeplaces, different refs. should be noted of the Botetourt troops, officers and men, as it should be kept in mind that Fincastle was first a Virginia County, then the capital of Botetourt, "erected from Augusta in 1769," (DUNMORE, p. 360); the abode of Col. William Preston, and these Virginia troops at Point Pleasant were called the "Augusta Line," (d. p. 343). (No ref. to No. Car.—O. E. M.)

FLEMING'S ORDERLY BOOK

"25 Septr. 1774. This Morning MOONY (sic.), one of the Scouts who went off Yesterday for Cole River returned & reported that about 4 for Cole River returned & reported that about 4 miles below camp on the other side of Kanhaway, they had turned out of the path to encamp and coming on the Path early this morning had discovered the tracts of 3 horses one of them shod and two moccasin tracks that had pasd them in the night going down the River. I suppose them a party of four or five Indians on their return from the Settlement," etc. (DUNMORE, pp. 328,9) 328-9.)

This shows that JAMES MOONEY was a scout, as well as JOHN FINLEY, if at all such, and when with DANIEL BOONE, why not give him, JAMES MONNET, due credit for leading the incursion of 1769?—O. E. M.

In the Point Pleasant Battle were, also, of this MONNET FAMILY, ABRAHAM MOON, "Batman of Colo. Lewis," (DUNMORE, p. 407), and NICHOLAS MOONEY, from Botetourt, Sept. 10th, 1774, (id. p. 406). Other names are now presented, as related by contiguity, with the old settlers of Augusta County, Jacob Parsinger, Isaac Trimble, George Pack, (clearly orig., N. The foregoing is supported, as to origins in Old Augusta County, Virginia, including Botetourt and Fineastle, in CHALKLEY, (many references).

The essential facts of the Battle of Point Pleasant are given in WITHERS, (1831 ed. 1895, pp. 168, 169 and 171).

The latter author definitely states that "James Mooney of Russell's Company was a scout, as previously shown, on the morning of the Battle, but does not say that he was killed. It was his companion, Joseph Hughey, who was killed by Tavenor Ross, a white renegade, with the Indians, and THWAITES himself writes that WITHERS is not CONSISTENT in his statements.—O.E.M.

In conclusion of the foregoing, it should be noted that the Companions of Daniel Boone, 1769, were JAMES MONNET, (as orig. MONET, pronounced as MONAY, and varied to MOONEY), JOHN FINLEY, JOHN STUART, JOSEPH HOLDEN and WILLIAM COOL, not COOLEY.

The foregoing is fully supported by the BOONE NARRATIVE of 1784 by FILLSON; by BOGART (p. 52), and by METCALF, the original of which was offered for sale, recently, in a book catalog at Goodspeed's Book Shop, Boston, who, very courteously, had a photostat copy made, in part, of the account of DANIEL BOONE, and the first pages of this are here reproduced in illustration, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1471).

In Illustration, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1471).

In COLLINS' HISTORY OF KENTUCKY, (Revised Edition, Two Vols., pp. 16, 416 and 711), the same is fully supported and first use of the name, JAMES MONAY, was emphasized, though in another entry "MONEY" is given, but COOL is always given as such and not COOLEY, which is certain error.—O. E. M.

V. BATTLE OF POINT PLEASANT, WEST VIRGINIA, OCT. 10, 1774

This refers more especially to the participation of JAMES MONNET (MONEY), JOHN FIN-LEY, with others of the name, from Augusta County, and three JOHN STUARTS, one of whom was recorded as "Stewart." DUNMORE is the principal authority, but is not authenticated except by old letters and a few militia rolls, except by old letters and presented by THWAITES.

Concerning JAMES MOONEY, as in DUN-MORE: (JAMES MONNET)—

THWAITES puts him under the ground, October 10, 1774, at the Battle of Point Pleasant, (DUNMORE, p. 272).

As shown, beyond doubt, elsewhere herein, this was a certain and serious error. JAMES MOONEY WAS NOT KILLED in the Battle, served in the Rev. War, and lived afterwards.

(Quoting): "Monday morning about half an Hour before sunrise two of Capt Russels Compy. Discovered a large party of Indians about a mile from Camp one of which men was killed the other made his Escape & brought in his intelligence; 86 made his Escape & Drought in his intelligence; on two or three minutes affter two of Capt. Shelbys. Compy. Came in and Confirmed the Account." etc. (Beyond doubt this act of JAMES MOONEY saved the slaughter and annihilation of the whole expedition. Should he not have a monument and the glorification given to others?—O. E. M.) The text is from Isaac Shelby's account. (Foot-note by THWAITES.) 86 These were Joseph Huchey of Shelby's Company, and JAMES MOONEY, of Russell's. The former was killed by a white renegade, Tavenor Ross, while the latter brought the news to camp. MOONEY was a former neighbor of DANIEL BOONE, (absolutely without foundation, if referable to the Yadkin—O. E. M.), upon the Yadkin in North Carolina, and had accompanied him upon the disastrous Kentucky hunting expedition of 1769. (True, in part—O. E. M.) "He was killed at Point Pleasant"—Ed. (DUNMORE, pp. 271-2.) Tavenor Ross, white renegade, (id. p. 422).

By several refs., Gen. William Russell is shown to have commanded a Company of Fincastle troops at the Battle of Point Pleasant, to which JAMES MOONEY belonged, (living in Virginia, and not in No. Car.—O. E. M.).

This Russell has some gen., and biog., in a foot-note, (DUNMORE, p. 6, and was a Justice of Fincastle Co., in 1772, signed the Fincastle Resolutions of 1775, served in the Rev. War, and d. 1794, (although these statements are ipse dixit, and undocumented .- O. E. M.).

Consult other Russell refs., in DUNMORE, which show his company and participation at Point Pleasant, (partic pp. 189, 415, 416, 417, 418, 419, referring to command and troops et al., and in his report of killed, he did not report JAMES MOONEY, as such.—O. E. M.).

Because of the association of names, in the homeplaces, different refs. should be noted of the Botetourt troops, officers and men, as it should be kept in mind that Fincastle was first a Virginia County, then the capital of Botetourt, "erected from Augusta in 1769," (DUNMORE, p. 360); the abode of Col. William Preston, and these Virginia troops at Point Pleasant were called the "Augusta Line," (d. p. 343). (No ref. to No. Car.—O. E. M.)

JAMES MONAY, (or MOONEY, as called), was NOT killed in the Battle of Point Pleasant, nor subsequently, as he served as a soldier in the American Revolution, and lived after that period on Kentucky lands, probably military land grants, to him.

In order to understand the Battle of Point Pleasant map reference must be had to the great river now to be described:

GREAT KANAWHA-NEW RIVER

The one striking instance where the same large river has borne two names, concurrently.

river has borne two names, concurrently.

"Great Kanawha, a river which rises in the Blue Ridge of North Carolina, runs northeastward into Virginia, and then changing its course traverses several counties in West Virginia, (old Virginia), and enters the Ohio River at Point Pleasant, W. Va., (see Battle of, Oct. 10, 1774). It receives the Gauley River in Fayette co., W. Va., above which confluence the stream is generally known as NEW RIVER. Its entire length is estimated at 450 miles." (LIPPINCOTT-GAZ.)

In examining Maps and studying early, Colonial irginia history, one must remember that the Virginia history, one must remember that the Virginia portion of this River was usually referred to as NEW RIVER, and the settlements on, (SUMMERS).

Also, one can clearly visualize the course of the Virginia soldiery, in marching, for the Battle at Point Pleasant, largely from Fineastle and Boterourt, Va., as the banks of the NEW RIVER and GREAT KANAWHA would afford the easiest method of the route—perhaps, it was also followed later by pioneers, seeking the Ohio, but that must have been close to 1800, as the OLD WILDER-NESS road was the first well travelled, safer route, at earlier dates.—O. E. M.

WISCONSIN ARGUMENTS FOR LEGENDARY HISTORY

"If you can credit Daniel Boone's son, Nathan, the names of his companions were Mooney and Cooley. He, (Nathan), told Draper in an interview, that Cooley was the pronunciation that his father always gave it (6553). With regard to Mooney's services at the battle of Point Pleasant, Col. William Fleming states that he was a scout or spy and went out early in the morning of Oct. 10 and was fired upon. Thwaites & Kellogg's DUNMORE'S WAR, 328. Nathan Boone, in this interview, states that Mooney was killed at Point Pleasant (6554). On the reverse of Captain Null's muster roll (2ZZ30) is "Jas Moony Abst won'd (absent, wounded)." Nathan Boone also states that Alexander Neely, came with Squire Boone (6S46) and Draper found out his home and family in what is now West Virginia." (Annie A. Nunns.)

As will be noted, the foregoing argument is made

A. Nunns.)

As will be noted, the foregoing argument is made upon some kind of an interview with Col. Nathan Boone, son of Daniel Boone, by Lyman Copeland Draper, in 1851. (Photostat copies supplied, graciously by Mr. Joseph Shafer.) However, this was conversation, not even formalized by signed or verified statement, and Col. Nathan Boone was, in 1851, 70 years of age, b. 2 Mar. 1781, and relating, as his father had told him, as having taken place 82 years after the event. Without questioning his memory or his integrity, the transcription of the notes was made by a third person, and, of course, can rise no higher than the value of "hearsay testimony." Further, though Nathan Boone became a Colonel in the United States Army, and evidently possessed of ability, there is no evidence that he had any special education other than of a backwoodsman or pioneer, (he had gone to Missouri, away from the old scenes), and, certainly, he had no knowledge of the French language, or the pronunciation in English of French paytroymics. The story of Col. Nathan Boone forms the background and foundation of much that is behind all the alleged history writings and the BOONE GENEALOGY. In the absence of records, clearly in contravention, it might be accepted as a sort of secondary evidence, but certainly not as history.

The Alexander Neely story is an afterwards-re-

The Alexander Neely story is an afterwards-re-The Alexander Neely story is an afterwards-recollection, of hearsay testimony, with neither documentation nor record to sustain it. DANIEL BOONE himself never mentioned him, in his autobiography, and there is no factual basis for the statement. There was a Revolutionary soldier of that name, or McNeely, from Augusta, but the attachment is evanescent.—O. E. M.

VI. OLD WILDERNESS ROAD

VI. OLD WILDERNESS ROAD

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1161, under "Reserves for PART SEVEN"). This need not be further elaborated except to call attention, since he is used in this reference, to the descriptions by THWAITES, (p. 130), and (pp. 171-3).

"WILDERNESS ROAD TO KENTUCKY" by PUSSEY and HULBERT have been noted, and, especially, by SPEED, in FILLSON (preferal).

(preface).

"THE OLD WILDERNESS ROAD TO KENTUCKY" was one of the very important pioneer roads of the country." Prior to 1800 over 200,000 people, men, women and children, with horses and stock, traveled by this route, Philadelphia to the "Falls of the Ohio," via BOONE'S TRACE.

There is a remarkable statement concerning Richard Gentry, in GENTRY GEN., (pp. 50 and 86), which described as follows:

"They made a journey to Kentucky by way of Cumberland Gap and the Wilderness Route; his young wife, Jane, rode on horseback and carried her baby, Reuben, in her lap; he walked and led or drove another horse, packed with all their worldly effects except his faithful hound and his rifle, which he carried on his shoulder. The trip was made without special incident, danger or hardship. On reaching Kentucky, they stopped for about a year at Boone's Fort in Clark Co., Ky."

Ky."

The writer has endeavored to obtain a correct interpretation of the origin of the name "Crab Orchard," orig. Lincoln County, Ky., and, naturally, it was assumed that it was given by "vast crab apple orchard" found there, (FISH; KY. HIST. SOC.). However, this was not the origin, as believed by this writer, but was a transference by New Jersey settlers of the same name in Middlesex County, New Jersey. CRAB, from the first RICHARD CRABB, was a place name on L. I., and in N. J., as (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1175).

(NOTE: Returning to general heading, vide, ante, p. 1469.)

VII. FRANKLIN, THE UNRECOGNIZED COMMONWEALTH

As indicated in the BIB., (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1449), the writer is presenting this authentic history in a direct and positive way to be published in a current number of AMERICANA.

This is curious, but truthful history, except the use of the name as "Frankland," which is error.—

"It may strike the reader of the present day "It may strike the reader of the present day with some surprise that there was once a State called Frankland, in honor of Benjamin Franklin, the philosopher and patriot. Of its history, much is recorded, but, perhaps, little is known in the present day. It may be curious as well as instructive, to trace the origin, rise, and down fall of the ancient sovereignty." (HIST. of NOR. CAR., WHEELER, 1851, pp. 90 et seq.).

To anyone interested in this subject, consultation should be had of GENTRY GEN., (pp. 329-331).

Many Virginia Revolutionary soldiers and those coming from New Jersey participated in this move-ment and others pressed onward via Old Wilderness Road to Kentucky:

SIGNIFICANT KENTUCKY PLACE NAMES

For illumination of succeeding text and accompanying affidavits:

The first County of Ky., was Kentucky, itself, prior to Dec. 31, 1776, "a portion of the county of Fincastle, in the state of Virginia." (COL-LINS, p. 25.)

This county was divided, in May, 1780, into three counties, Jefferson, Fayette, and Lincoln, (see Map of Kentucke, vide, ante, this PART, p. 1462)

October, 1784, Jefferson was divided, as naturally by Salt River, (afterwards a place-name of Ross Co., Ohio), and Nelson Co., created.

Scott County was created from Woodford, in 1792; Shelby County from Jefferson, in 1792.

Greene County was taken out of Lincoln, in

NEW JERSEY SETTLERS REMOVED TO KENTUCKY

As though in confirmation of the migratory movement along the old WILDERNESS ROAD, the opening statement of COLLINS, under the title "Revolutionary Soldiers in Kentucky" is most applicable in discerning the identification of New Jersey First Settler surnames, by their progenitives in later Kentucky and Ohio.

"REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIERS IN KENTUCKY

KENTUCKY owed most of her remarkable intellectual development, at an early day in her history, to the fact that at the close of the Revo-Instory, to the fact that at the close of the Revo-lutionary War in 1781, many of the most intellec-tual and cultivated of the officers and soldiers in that war from the states of Virginia, NEW JERSEY, Pennsylvania, and MARYLAND—be-ing unsettled in their homes and business by its great duration, privations, and calamities—sought new homes in the then richest land in the known world." (COLLINS, p. 5.)

Battle fought on Patterson Creek, 1753—on the south branch of the Potomac—JERSEY MOUNTAIN, "so called from its being first settled by immigrants from New Jersey." (HIST. OF THE VALLEY, Kercheval, p. 96.)

DANIEL BOONE, CENTRAL FIGURE

Referring to the group of 1769. An account of him is given with reference to the founding of the old town of Boonesborough, as it was called "Daniel Boone before 1775," (BOONESBOR-OUGH, by George W. Ranck, 1901, (The Filson Club Pub., No. 16).

Club Pub., No. 16).

However, the old town site is now gone, and the place is exploited as a summer, bathing and fishing resort. The BOONE attachment is preserved in a monument, erected by D. A. R., containing the first settler names and it is a beautiful spot, overlooking the Kentucky, although itself is lower than the opposite bank, of this river, to which a fine, new bridge crosses at the entrance to which is the BOONE Statue, erected by a commission, as a life size, heroic figure, and will approximate four feet, four inches high, with a manikin face, unworthy of the Great Pioneer, and which facetiously has been dubbed, "The Squat," as reflective of the sculptor's mistake, as with the common illustration of "Jones' Folly," of humorous literature. Pictures on opposite page fully illustrate this inadequate memorialization.

By reference it will be discovered that the ous literature. Fictures on opposite page that illustrate this inadequate memorialization.

By reference it will be discovered that the original "Boonesborough" was the terminus of the northern branch of the old WILDERNESS ROAD, and running northward from that point was what was known as the "WARRIOR'S PATH," which in due course became the pathway or line of travel of the early pioneers and settlers, proceeding northward across the Ohio River, into the fertile lands and plains of Ohio. The mouth of the Scioto River was the first destination, then northward along its banks and approaches to the towns of Chillicothe, (Old Town), and Pickaway, where were soon the "MONNETT PLAINS," (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 676).

"Boone Trail," so-called, first through Cumberland Gap, into Kentucky, connected at Boonesborough with the Old Warriors Trail to the Ohio River, at the mouth of the Scioto River.

THE WARRIOR'S PATH, or TRACE, is mentioned three times in the foregoing authority, and the state of the control of the scioto River.

mentioned three times in the foregoing authority, (RANCK, pp. 3, 10 and 50), and referring to the scizure of the three girls taken as captives by the Indians in 1776, it is stated:

by the Indians in 1770, it is stated:

"From there, made dumb by a threat of the tomahawk, they were marched in silence through streams and canebreaks and woods toward the ancient "Warriors' Trace" that led to the Ohio. So cleverly had the savages managed that it was hours before the girls were missed."

Illustrating is a beautiful scene, depicting "The Hills of Clark, On the Kentucky River, Opposite BOONESBOROUGH."

This authority possesses the proper documentation, in the appendix.—O. E. M.

SHAWNEE INDIAN VILLAGES ON THE SCIOTO

These bear direct relation to the migrating families during the Indian border warfare, from New Jersey to Maryland and Virginia. Remembering that what was then Virginia was the jurisdiction of modern West Virginia, Kentucky and Southern Ohio, in larger sense.—O. E. M.

"In the country northwest of the Ohio River, there many warlike tribes of Indians, strongly imbued with feelings of rancorous hostility to the neighboring colonists," etc. * *

"The Shawnees, who to the number of 3000, dwelt upon the Scioto and Muskingum," etc. * * *

"In 1763-65, the great Shawnee village just below the mouth of the Scioto (site of Alexandria, Ohio), was destroyed by floods. Some of the tribesmen rebuilt their town on a higher bottom

Warfare, 1831, ed. 1895, pp. 45, 46 and 92.)

"This little map shows a portion of the "Pickaway Plains" upon which the towns of the Shawnees were built. These plains are on the east side of the "Scioto," and contain the richest body of land in Ohio. When first cultivated by the whites, the soil was a black vegetable mold, the result of long ages of decomposition, and for many years one hundred bushels of corn, or fifty bushels of wheat to the ages, was an average yield. This years one hundred bushels of corn, or fifty bushels of wheat to the acre, was an average yield. This region was for many generations the principal rendezvous of Indian chiefs in council, in the Ohio country, and here many victims, brought from the frontier settlements, endured the torments of savage cruelty." The subject is "The Pickaway Plains," in Pickaway County, county seat Circleville, while immediately south, contiguous, is Ross County, with county seat at Chillicothe. In the Map the ancient circular works is the site of Circleville. The Battle of Point Pleasant is described, (p. 405), and Old Chillicothe and the Shawnee Villages; after the victory, the Virginia troops marched across eighty miles and camped "on the banks of Congo Creek, in Pickaway township." 1774. Assuming that JAMES MONAY was along, he was the first MONNET, to visit this section. The latter is verified in WITHERS, (supra, p. 175): referring to Salt Creek and Kinnikinnick Prairie, ISAAC MONNETT took land in Ross County, 1797, and certainly ABRAHAM MONNETT, from Virginia and Maryland, became a permanent settler, there, 1802, on Salt Creek.

When a grand-daughter of the latter was interviewed by the writer, in 1907, she related many Indian anecdotes, told her by her mother, (Mrs. Warren's affidavit, vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1202), and, particularly of the "OLD WARRIORS PATH," which went right past their cabin window, on the old farm, where were "Bald Knob Cemetery" and "Pike Hole Prairie," in Salt Creek Township, Pickaway County, Ohio, and constantly traversing backward and forward, northward and southward, were bands of roving Indians, who occasionally stopped at the MONNETT cabin for food and drink—the remnants of the former warrior bands, then peaceful.—O.E.M.

NEIGHBORS OF BOONE ON THE YADKIN RIVER?

This has been the rallying legend, without proof, documentation or record to sustain it. Who were these neighbors is not revealed except by an interesting kind of speculation, turned into alleged historical statement.

Certainly, JAMES MONAY, JOHN STUART and JOHN FINLEY were NOT these neighbors, as they all came from Virginia, and all, with others, are given in both CHALKLEY and SUMMERS, as being there prior to the Battle of Point Pleasant, Oct. 10, 1774, in which they participated, (although it is difficult to identify John Stuart, there being several of the name at that Battle). Likewise, it is pretty clear that JOSEPH HOLDEN was in Virginia at this time, with his brother, Benjamin Holden, who stated in his own affidavit that he was from New Jersey.

As to WILLIAM COOL, it will be shown that he was from eastern North Carolina and never lived on the Yadkin.

Coming now to JAMES MONNET of Kentucky, and the definite thought of the Melvin Henry Monnette affidavit, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1465).

Henry Monnette attidavit, (vide, ante, ITHE PART, p. 1465).

Impossible it was to discount this MONNETT heritage, given in the Ohio families by ABRAHAM MONNETT, (1811-1881), repeated to the father of the writer, MERVIN JEREMIAH MONNETTE, (1847-1931), and by others, divergent, many, many times, positive to some, ancestral relationship or kinship with DANIEL BOONE, which took this writer on many a long, tedious hunt or quest, through the BOONE antecedents and sources, (nearly 25 years of continuous search, till the discovery in 1933), (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 849). The MONNETTS traveling from Maryland and Virginia, went via the old WILDERNESS ROAD, thru North Carolina, into Kentucky, via Cumberland Gap, though voyaging long and far; and were they who finally reached Ohio, (as see MONNET), and related families who went with them, reaching in pedigree origins as far back as New Jersey. This is not idle speculation, but historic fact, which future genealogists will develop, with more perspicacity.

GREATER JAMES MONNET OF KENTUCKY

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 849)
He was called both JAMES MONEY and JAMES MOONEY, as testified by descendants, living at this date in both Green and Shelby Counties, Kentucky, and he lies buried in an old farm burial place, near Coakley, Green County, Kentucky Kentucky.

He was the companion of DANIEL BOONE,

in 1769.

His pedigree is definitely and beyond doubt, that of MONNET, (MONNET FAM. GEN., 1911, p. 978), where a son, JAMES MONNET, was set up from family records submitted, over twenty-five years ago.

twenty-five years ago.

He was son of WILLIAM MONNET, (Isaacl), son of Isaacl and Elizabeth1 (Williams) MONNET; born in Calvert County, Maryland, May 21, 1702. JAMES MONNET is listed among the children, and could have been born as early, as 1723, or later. He was a brother of ISAAC MONNET, Rev. soldier, who, as MONEY received Virginia Military land warrant, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1203): SPIRIT, Sons of the Rev., Cal., p. 251), and this land was definitely granted for military services and located in Kentucky, (or Ohio), for which location, the search is now on.

The foregoing is supported in part and or

The foregoing is supported, in part, and extended by the following affidavit, which has recently been obtained, in this reference:

WHAT PROOF JAMES MONAY WAS NOT KILLED AT POINT PLEASANT?

Now comes our good friend Jacob Persinger on the scene!

In 1762 Cathernie Pence was the widow of Jacob Pence and appointed guardian for Jacob and Adam Pence, probably their children. In 1763, "Jacob Persinger and Catherine, late Catherine Pence vs. Miller, executor of Pence." Apparently, she had been a widow of Jacob Miller, too, so her maiden name is difficult. She revelled in three husbands named "Jacob." Certain it is that in 1766-1767, Jacob Pence was appointed overseer of the road, vice Jacob Persinger, CHALKLEY, Vol. I, sev. refs.). However, the following is the deposition of Jacob Persinger, of the foregoing:

"Jacob Persinger deposes in Botetourt, 22d April, 1813, he went with Cap. Arbuckle to keep garrison at Fort Randolph, which is now Point Pleasant. In 1776, in September, Thomas Toys, JAMES MOONEY, and deponent went down the Ohio to kill some buffaloe for the garrison."

(CHALKLEY, Vol. I, p. 161.)

(CHALKLEY, Vol. 1, p. 161.)

If JAMES MONAY, (called MOONEY), was in the garrison at Point Pleasant in 1776, it would be very difficult to determine that he had been killed at the Battle, Oct. 10, 1774, as per THWAITES, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1459). He was a Revolutionary soldier and received land warrant. His name is entered, differently, and as JAMES MUNE, (clearly "Monnet" or "Monay"), (ECKENRODE), Rev. Soldiers of Virginia, 1912, (p. 221) Auditor's Accounts, XXXI, (p. 301). This land was evidently located in Kentucky.

The spelling of the name, as "MUNE," is identical with the marriage recs., in Green Co., and the deed recs., in Nelson Co., where, even, it is "Muneay," before 1800.

One comment—these are orig. documents and records and not legendary lore.

"MOONEY, SARAH. August 5, 1808. Nov., 1808. Daus.: Mary, Nancy. Ex.: dau., Mary. Wit.: Joseph Young, Nathan Allen, Elijah Sutton." (From N. J.)

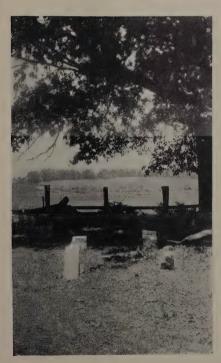

(Fayette County, Ky., Book A, p. 63, of Wills, by King.)

Deductions, of course: Randle is from Randolph, Fitz Randolph. REBECCA MONEY was the wife of (JAMES) MONEY. Susannah Boone was the wife of Obediah Boone, and the son, Daniel, was from DANIEL BOONE; son JAMES NOE, from JAMES MONAY. At p. 45 of the same, is Peter NOE, 1802, brother to above James.—O. E. M.

The above Randle Noe is identical with the ancestry of James Cotton Noe. (vide, COM-PEND., Vol. 5, p. 384), with alleged traditional ancestry all wrong, as this alone proves French and not Scotch, and points to N. J.

His grandfather was JAMES MONEY, who in 1821 or 1822, but his birthplace was in Bath County, Ky. He had a first wife who was the widow, Rebecca Sympson, m. , 1802, (who was, undoubtedly identical with Rebecca Noe, of the will, post.—O. E. M.). His second wife was Mary Jane Fox, b. Nov. 20, 1787, d. Dec. 3, 1879. "She had a large family connection of Noe's and Fox's. Her nephew was William Fox, father of the noted author, John Fox, Jr." Children, by second wife: Milton Vivian, (supra), and James Albert Money, b. Dec. 30, 1819, d. May 24, 1900, m. Sarah E. Williams.

His great-grandfather was JAMES MONEY,

May 24, 1900, m. Sarah E. Williams.

His great-grandfather was JAMES MONEY, who came to "Kentucky from Virginia. Probably the one who came with Daniel Boone." He moved from Washington Co. to Green Co., Ky., "where he died in 1820, more than ninety years old." He had at least four sons, "Perry (Pierre), Kenan, Redding and James, (my grandfather), and probably some girls. I have had some correspondence with W. R. Money, of Coakley, Ky., a grandson of Perry Money."

AFFIDAVIT OF MRS. F. A. (ROSALIE) BEVERLIN

STATE OF KANSAS COUNTY OF SEDGWICK SS. TOWN OF WICHITA

AFFIANT, MRS. F. A. BEVERLIN, being first duly sworn, deposes and says:

That she is a citizen of the City of Wichita, County of Sedgwick, State of Kansas, and makes this affidavit for genealogical and historical purposes solely, and for no other motive whatever, to stimulate research and investigation of James Money, one of the companions of Daniel Boone, upon his tour in Kentucky in 1769.

That affiant was born Aug. 23, in the year of 1882, as Rosalie Scott, her parents being John Wesley Scott, b. June 22, 1840, d. Mar. 17, 1907, and Sarah Pierce Mulkey, b. July 22, 1860, d. Mar. 11, 1935, who were married June, 1881.

That her grandmother was Almeda Rebecca Money, b. Feb. 10, 1826, d. 1905 or 1906, who married, May 4, 1842, her husband, grandfather of affiant, Milton Paradise Pierce, and who was b. April 15, 1820 d. July 28, 1887.

married, May 4, 1842, her husbald, granduather of affiant, Milton Paradise Pierce, and who was b. April 15, 1820, d. July 28, 1887.

That one of the brothers of the grandmother of affiant was named James Money, who came of the family of the James Money who visited Kentucky in 1769, with Daniel Boone, and this tradition has always been present in the family of affiant; that her ancestors have lived in Green County, Kentucky, and affiant personally has searched the records for finding evidences by deeds and transfers of property that the Money family was the original family in Green County, Kentucky; that in the ancestral family of affiant was a Perry Money, which was a corruption of the French prenom Pierre or Peter, and affiant has learned that similar names as Pierre, Isaac and William belonged to this particular family, as with the Monnet and Monet family.

That the great great-grandfather of affiant,

That the great great-grandfather of affiant, James Money, who made the incursion into Kentucky with Boone in 1769, is, beyond doubt, buried in the old farm burial place in said Green County, Kentucky, where the ancestors of affiant are buried, which facts are substantiated by the statements of other of the kinship as procured by Mr. Orra E. Monnette of Los Angeles, California.

Mr. Orra E. Monnette of Los Angeles, California.
That, to the best knowledge of affiant, the wife of the first James Money was (?) (wife of greatgrandfather Perry Money was) Grizzy or Gray Skaggs, and that her Revolutionary ancestor was William Skaggs of the same family, probably a nephew, and his historical records of Kentucky show that when the "Long Hunters" came into Kentucky in 1770, there was prominent among them one Henry Skaggs, undoubtedly of this same family. family.

And, further, affiant saith not.

AFFIDAVIT OF E. G. WALKER

STATE OF KENTUCKY COUNTY OF GREENE SS. VILLAGE OF BLOYD

Affiant, E. G. WALKER, being first duly sworn, deposes, as follows:

Sworn, deposes, as follows:
That, he is a resident of Greene County, Kentucky, and has been such for a great many years, and is acquainted with Mr. E. W. Money, of Lobb, of the same county, and the mother of the latter was the sister to the father of Affiant, David Walker.

That, at the request of Orra Eugene Monnette, of Los Angeles, California, this Affiant has been making searches to discover the last burial place of JAMES MONEY, (or Mooney), as variously spelled, who was the companion of Daniel Boone upon his expedition into Kentucky in the year 1769; that said JAMES MONEY was the ancestor of said E. W. Money above, and of W. R. Money, his first cousin of Coakley, Ky., and of another G. W. Money, now living at Shelbyville, Kentucky.

That, it is known by the said E. W. Money, and said W. R. Money, that his great grandfather, the above James Money, died and lies buried in the County of Greene, State of Kentucky, on a tract of land, described in original deed of records as follows, Section (?), Range (?), Deed Book No. 31, Page 379, Township (unnamed), approximating 159 acres, which tract of land is geographically located near the village of Coakley, in said county, and the crossroads or nearest highway to which is Pleasant Valley Road, which said road now crosses Highway No. 61, going east to this farm and Pleasant Valley Church.

That, Affaint has visited an old private green.

Pleasant Valley Church.

That, Affaint has visited an old private graveyard or cemetery within the last few days, which is on a natural eminence rising from fifty to seventy-five feet, containing the partially destroyed remains of an old cemetery, with only one or two gravestones left, in part, with no legible descriptions; that beyond doubt, from all the local evidences, this was the last burial place of said
JAMES MONEY, (or Mooney).

That, said E. W. Money states that his grandfather was Perry, (possibly Pierre), Money, who was born September 26, 1799. (Note affidavit of Rosalie Beverlin, supra.)

Rosalie Beverlin, supra.)

That, this Affiant has taken a kodak picture of said cemetery location, which accompanies this affidavit, in order to identify the site, as appears in ill., (vide, post, p. indic.).

That, Affiant has visited the County Records of Greene County and discovered a marriage record there of one James Money to Rebecca Simpson, in 1802. That, Affiant, also, has interrogated one W. R. Money, a first cousin of said E. W. Money, who confirms all of the facts recited herein.

That, Affiant has recently interviewed one Elzy Sidebottom, also a first cousin to E. W. Money, (supra), who is also a relative of Affiant's. He states that his mother was a daughter of Perry, (or Pierre), Money, and she had told him that JAMES MONEY, his great-grandfather, had lived and died in Greene County.

and died in Greene County.

That, said Perry Money had named one of his daughters, Rebecca, which reminds of Rebecca Simpson, (supra), and Affiant has been well acquainted with said Rebecca Money, m. to Pierce, and has in his possession the old stone mortar, used by the pioneers, to grind their grain. All confirm the fact of the burial place and the burial of the first JAMES MONEY, there. That, the land in question was at one time in the possession of Dr. S. D. Coakley, a pioneer of this section.

That, Affiant has learned that in the earlier days, said JAMES MONEY owned some land between the towns of Danville and Lexington, Kentucky, which he had traded for the above described tract in Greene County, and said trade was with a man named Priest who died soon after the trade and is, himself, buried in the above cemetery in Greene County; that thereupon, Mr. Priest's heirs moved away to the land that James Money had traded to Priest and James Money himself removed to this tract in Greene County where he lived until he died and was, beyond doubt, buried in that place.

And further Affiant saith not.

And further Affiant saith not.

FURTHER REPORT

Feb. 20, 1935.

My dear Mr. Monnette:

Just a line to say that on yesterday I was in Scott county and I looked carefully through the index books hoping to find additional information regarding James Mooney but found little of value. In Will Book A, pg. 42, 43, Roddy Coppage, Dec. 25, 1797—"shall and truly pay and deliver unto Elizabeth Mooney, SARAH Mooney and James Mooney, orphans of James Mooney, de-ceased, all such estate is or hereafter shall become due them the said orphans when they obtain lawful age to demand same or when thereunto required by the Justices for the said county, etc." This guardian signed himself Rodden Coppage.

This guardian signed himself Rodden Coppage.

As you may know the Scott county records are very unsatisfactory. Having been burned, they were, for the most part, copied and the spelling is varied and difficult. On page 16 of same book A, I found: Wm, MOODY and Peter Kerns bound to Jno. McHatton, Toliver Craig and Jno. Moody, gentlemen justices, Oct. 27, 1796—above bound Wm. Moody to pay and deliver to Elizabeth, SARAH and James MOODY, orphans of James Moody deceased all estate that shall become due said orphans when of age. Since, however, in the old Order Book the name is plainly written James Mooney there can, I think, be no doubt about it being Mooney. I hope the name of the guardian may help a little.

Sincerely, Julia S. Ardery.

(By this editor): IT IS SUFFICIENTLY AND CLEARLY DEMONSTRATED THAT MONNET, or MONET, or MONEY, WITH JAMES MONEY, COMPANION OF BOONE, 1769, SETTLED IN SCOTT COUNTY, KEN-TUCKY, REMOVED TO GREENE COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WHERE HE DIED AND IS BURIED, AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FAMILY WENT NORTHWARD INTO SHELBY AND HENRY COUNTIES, AND FINALLY TO ROSS AND PICKAWAY COUNTIES, OHIO.—O. E. M.

JAMES THOMAS COTTON NOE

Poet Laureate of Kentucky, who is a versatile teacher of English and writer of literature, and quite familiar with the old Kentucky trails and the "Old Wilderness Road," over which his own family traveled from Virginia into that territory.

He was b. 1864, and as a jovial, pleasing gentleman, he has been a correspondent for years, and recently, Sunday, Jan. 20, he and the writer met at the Bookfellows, in L. A.

His lineage is given in COMPEND. (Am. Gen.), (Vol. V, p. 384), but with great error, as his NOE ancestry was never Scotch, and he is a desc. of the N. J. Fam., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 622). Clearly French Huguenot.

This is definitely shown by the ones of the name going into Penna., and then Maryland, and then Virginia, as with other N. J. fams., ultimately locating in Ky., as Monnet, Drake, et al., and the best proof is the first name of his father, RANDAL NOE, who, he says himself, was short for RANDOLPH, and prob. FITZ RANDOLPH, from N. J. ancestry. Some one has done careless were work here. gen. work here.

Orig. the subject taught at Lincoln Mem. Univ., Harrogate, (Cumberland Gap), Tenn., of which the writer is now a Trustee.

Mr. Noe definitely recalls the intermarriage of his ancestors, NOE, with MONET, or MONEY, in Ky.

. ANOTHER JAMES MONNET OF KENTUCKY

He was undoubtedly grandson of ISAAC MONNET of Calvert Co., Md., "b. about 1711 (no record)," (MONNET, p. 975). The names of his chidren, and collateral records so indicate: especially the fact that this branch went along with their kin to "MONNETT PLAINS," near Chillicothe, Ohio. A remarkable confirmation. Genealogical truth, even tho concealed for generations, will finally come to light. MONEY became MONNET.

That, he was not of the immediate family, but related, is shown by statement of GEORGE MILTON MONEY, now living at Shelbyville, Kentucky, who was clearly the great-grandson of the GREATER JAMES MONNET, dying in Green Co., Ky., when over 90 years of age.

Green Co., Ky., who

MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY, (M.F.G., 1911, pp. 586, 589, 590-1, 593). The old traditions identify the route to Ohio, via Kentucky, now established as the "Old Wilderness Road," (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1161). Mervin Jeremiah Monnette, (1847-1931), insisted upon these facts and Kentucky settlements now proven, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 848-9), as related partic to ISAAC MONNET of Shelby Co., Kentucky, bef. 1799. Place names, as Salt Creek and Plum Creek, were reproduced at Pickaway. The most important was the alleged BOONE relationship, claimed in the M.F.G., among kinsmen, for years.

In the United States Census for 1830, it appears that WILLIAM MONETT, with his wife, Marg., was still living in Ross County, Ohio, having come there to settle before 1800.

As appears in the MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY, (MONNET, p. 457), these were the parents of DR. SAMUEL MONETT, first in Ross County, Chillicothe, 1812, a member of the Ohio Assembly, (MONNET, p. 644), whose wife was MARY WAYLAND, and they, in turn, were the parents of DR. JOHN WESLEY MONETTE, Mississippi Valley Historian, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 848).

CENSUS, 1830

Deerfield Township, Ross Co.,

William Monett, 1 male 70 and under 80 years, 1 female 60 and under 70 years. (As he was b. 1756, he was then 74 yrs. of age.

-O. E. M.)

Repeated the same, in 1840, and add 10 yrs. to above.

CENSUS, 1850

Deerfield Township, Ross Co.,
William Monneth, aged 94 yrs. Born, Maryland.
Marg. Monneth, aged 81 yrs. Born, Maryland.
The above abb., "Marg.," was copied into the official Census, as the "Mary," the former being correct for MARGARET. (MONNET, p. 457.) (Which corresponds, by adding 10 yrs., to the two previous entries—most remarkable confirmation.—O. E. M.)

MOONEY, WITH AN IRISH FLAVOR

It is a strange confirmation of the French origin of the name MONNET or MONET, as in IRISH PEDIGREES (by John O'Hart, 1881), is given the general origin of the Irish Mooney, there transplanted from England in the 17th century, (pp. 697-701). As Mooney, it is given as an offspring of the O'Gorman Family (p. 357), and under number 208, this entire Irish flavor is interesting. teresting.

"208.—THE STEM OF (OF OFFALEY) FAMILY. OF THE "MOONEY"

EOGHAN (or Owen), brother of Berchan who is No. 93 on the "O'Gorman" pedigree, was the ancestor of O'Maoinaigh; anglicised Mooney, and

93. Owen: son of Feig.

94. Alioll Mor: his son.

95. Maoinach ("maoin," gen. "maoine," Irish, wealth; Engl. "money"): his son; a quo O'Maoinaigh, and the territory of Feara Maoinaigh (anglicised "Fermanagh"), which was given to him by his uncle, the then Irish Monarch." him by (p. 316.)

(p. 316.)

JAMES MOONEY, the great ethnologist, who wrote the Myths of the Cherokees, and unparalfeled in Indian history, was born in Richmond, Indiana, (vide, ante, BIB., THIS PART, p. 1456), and was the son of James Mooney and wife, Ellen Tevlin, from Ireland(?); a sister, Miss Margaret E. Mooney, is still living at Richmond, Indiana, and has furnished the pedigree for the supplemental volume of THE MONNET FAMILY GENEALOGY. They have been unable to work out the Irish antecedents. Irish antecedents.

However, Peter, Matthew, James and William Mooney exist in this lineage which are counterparts of the names of descendants of the Huguenot Branch in America, from the first PIERRE MONNET, which tell its own story of the transfer of the name originally from French to English and to Ireland as given (supra).

and to Ireland as given (supra).

There was evidently in Augusta County, Virginia, a Patrick Mooney, who belongs to the last lineage, as well, who, prior to 1766, was in evidence. (CHALKLEY, Vol. I, p. 155).

Contemp. was PATRICK FINLEY, as early as 1747-8, (Id. sev. refs.).

JAMES MOONEY, THE CHEROKEE DISCIPLE

"James Mooney was born at Richmond, Indiana, February 10, 1861, and died in Washington, D. C., on December 22, 1921, in his sixty-first year. His father was from West Meath, Ireland, and his mother from Meath, where the ancient capital of Tara is situated, and which in former days appertained directly to the Irish crown. He was educated in the public schools of Richmond and afterwards taught for two terms himself. In 1880 he entered the office of the Richmond Paladium where he worked both at the case and in the editorial room. Early developing an exceptional interest in the American Indians, he read omnivorously upon the subject and walked many miles to obtain books dealing with them. His devotion to this study culminated a few years later in a secret determination to make his way to Brazil in order to investigate the aborigines of that country, but in Washington he had the good fortune to meet Major J. W. Powell, the founder of the Bureau of American Ethnology, then in its infancy, who became so much impressed by him that he gave him a position under himself. This was in the year 1885, and from that date until his death, Mr. Mooney retained his position as Ethnologist in this institution pursuing almost continuous researches among the Indian tribes of the Southeast and the Great Plains."

NICHOLAS MONEY, NEW JERSEY TO VIRGINIA, TO OHIO

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1205.) With contemporary variance of MONEY (de), Manny, etc., he was called "Nicholas Mooney," with wife Margaret, dau, of Samuel Norris, 1751, in Elizabeth, N. J. (ARCH., vol. XXXII, p. 237).

Soon, he was in Augusta County, Virginia, with his relatives from where he was present at the Battle of Point Pleasant, October 10, 1774, as see (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1476), and from the same place he had a very marvelous service in the Revolutionary War, with Isaac Moony, James Mune, (all MONNET or MONET) (ECHENRODE, Va., 1911-12, pp. 315 and 217), where name variation to both MONEY and MOONIE, Q. JOHN FINLEY, MANY PERSONAGES
AND MANY SOBRIQUETS
Calling him "Kentucky explorer," "pathfinder,"
"pilot," "trader," and various other romantic appellations, the difficulty with all historians, not genealogists, has been in the identification.

To Major Albert Finley France, Washington, D. C., must be given fullest credit for his compilations and researches concerning FINLEY. Without doubt, he is an authority, beyond any mediocre objection or criticism. The writer positively differs from him, in this reference, and has politely pointed out his reasons.

politely pointed out his reasons.

The association of JOHN FINLEY and JOHN STUART in old Augusta County is beyond dispute, (CHALKLEY), many references, and the easy route by the Kanawha River to the Battle of Point Pleasant, October 10, 1774, which was the only way thru the mountains from Virginia absolutely precludes most of the legendary stories about this JOHN FINLEY.

He availed not beyond as "failed," to Doniel.

about this JOHN FINLEY.

He could not have been a "pilot" to Daniel Boone in 1769, because Boone had been previously in Kentucky as early as 1767. He was not the trader, either British or Scotch, as given by DRAPER and THWAITES. The latter has presented a foot-note genealogy in WITHERS, (p. 143), which is undocumented, without vital statistics and probably incorrect, which contains so many other inaccuracies, and having in mind THWAITES' statement that JAMES MONAY or MOONEY was killed at Point Pleasant, a vital error, this genealogical foot-note is without sufficient ground to justify genealogy.

As the writer is not especially interested in the pursuit, he does not choose to argue the matter with Major France, but must insist that the particular JOHN FINLEY, who was with Boone in 1769, came from the group at or near Beverly Manor, Augusta County, Virginia, and was unquestionably the same as the "long hunter" mentioned in "The King's Mountain Men," (WHITE, p. 172), where he is called "Long Hunter" and with a George Finley from a Virginia regiment.

JOHN FINLEY'S WILL, OF AUGUSTA

There is no denying the following record, relative to Monay, Money, (or Mooney): "Augusta, 6th July, 1807. To wife, Sarah; to sons, John and William; to daughter, Sally Finley; daughter, Peggy Hutchinson; daughter, Jinny Frasor; son, Samuel; to PEGGY MOONEY (Margaret Money), something to be done for her. Executors, Wm. Finley, Andrew Ramsey. Teste: Andrew Ramsey, Isaac McClure, Adam Russell, David McClure. Proved, 28th December, 1807."

(CHALKLEY, vol. III, p. 231.)

As the vernacular would put it, this clinches the identification of FINLEY with MOONEY, in Augusta County, Virginia.—O. E. M.

REVEREND JAMES BRADLEY FINLEY

(From his "Autobiography," by W. P. Strickland, Cincinnati Conerence, [M. E.], 1855, a precious volume in the library of O. E. M.)
The subject was, undoubtedly, the greatest of the name, in postRevolutionary days; M. E. preacher, circuit rider, Indian Missionary and founder of the Wyandotte Mission Church, Upper Sandusky, Ohio, where the famous Indian convert, BETWEEN-THE-LOGS, lies buried, with his interesting career.

Rev. James Bradley Finley was the son of Robert W. Finley, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1493), and his wife. Rebecca Bradley, (dau. of Mr. James Bradley, of N. J., of P. and W.), and he was b. July 1, 1781. He was the early associate of Rev. Samuel Monett and Rev. Jeremiah Crabb Monnett, in Ross County, Ohio, before 1825, and "laid on hands," at the ordination of each, pioneers and missionaries.—O. E. M.

JAMES FINLEY OF BEVERLY MANOR, AUGUSTA, VIRGINIA

Of James Finley who moved to Virginia, 1740, died 1780, wife Agnes, I first thought he was a son of James and Elizabeth (Patterson) Finley, but since find that James, son of James, died in Cumberland County, Penn. (FRANCE.)

The above James Finley had a son, JOHN FINLEY, at Beverly Manor, likewise eligible.—
O. E. M.

O. E. M.

JOHN STUART OF 1769
THE FEE BOOKS OF AUGUSTA COUN-TY show 1759 to 1768 he was listed as "pedlar" and another entry, "John Stuart, merchant," and and that he was neighbor to John Finley and others covered in the land entries and at Beverly Manor and at Staunton, (CHALKLEY, VOL. II, sev. refs.).

In the Expedition of 1769, there was John Stuart who was the "pedlar" and not John Finley,

This John Stuart was not on the Yadkin, but may have been the one identified as the brother-in-law of Daniel Boone. The latter reported that he had been killed by an Indian in 1769-70, and based this upon finding a skeleton, long afterwards, in a hollow tree, or something of that sort.

It is not the province of this reference to set up any history or genealogy of this John Stuart, but like many of the other items, this writer does NOT believe that John Stuart was so killed, and is certain that he is identificable, afterwards, as in Augusta County, leaving a will and estate, and probably, was at the Battle of Point Pleasant.

JOSEPH HOLDEN OF 1769

He certainly came from Augusta County, Va., and never was in North Carolina, nor on the Yadkin River.

A most careful search discloses, that this was a Mass. family, before the Revolutionary War, where several Joseph Hoidens, and one line much earlier immigrated into New Jersey, in which the settler, Joseph Holden, was prominent before 1700, (ARCH. VOL. XXI, p. 297). This was in Cape May Co., before 1697-8.

It is clear that JOSEPH HOLDEN took root with a brother, Benjamin Holden of this lineage, and both disappeared from New Jersey, before 1769.

Benjamin Holden was in Augusta County

Benjamin Holden was in Augusta County as late as 1803 and deposes in Clarksburg "that hecame from Trenton, New Jersey," etc. (CHALK-LEY, Vol. II, p. 77). While identification is difficult, because of sparse records and this lineage, not being followed out genealogically, there can be little doubt of the origin of Joseph Holden of 1769, N. J. to Virginia.

It is rather remarkable to note the testimony given by his great grandson, George Holden, in the affidavit of Melvin Henry Monnette, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1465).

This association with DANIEL BOONE is shown in the marriage with Callaway at Boonesboro. (THE MOUNTAIN MUSE, p. 168.)

"Heroic Holden also touched with hand Meroic Holden also touched with hand More venturous, the tender-noted lyre Of Love; and drew a melody still more Enrapturing and divine than charmed ere then His melting heart.—And Flanders Calaway, By soft collision of their eyes and lips, Elicited from his Jemima's (Boone) soul A brighter flow of scintillations warm," * * * *

(JOSEPH HOLDEN m. Frances Callaway.—O. E. M.)

-THE ADVENTURES OF DANIEL BOONE, (Book V, p. 168.)

WILLIAM COOL OF 1769

He was NOT a neighbor of DANIEL BOONE, on the Yadkin, but came from eastern North Carolina. Nothing can be more positive than the following record concerning him. (COL. RECORDS OF NOR. CAR., VOL. VI, p. 339): "At a Council held at New Bern the 24th day of May, 1760.

Present His Excellency the Governor James

Hasell Lewis De Rossett.

The Honble John Swam, John Rieussett & John Dawson Richd Spaight.

It is ordered that Richard Fenner, WILLIAM COOL(E), Ross Bell and Thomas Shaw be added to the Commission of the Peace for the County of Carteret."

The transference of the name William Cool(e) to Cooley is very easily explained as the original New Amsterdam family was definitely Cool (Kuhl or Kull), as see article (N. Y. Biog. & Gen. Rec., 1934, Vol. LXV, pp. 15 et seq.), Cornelis Lambertszen Cool.

This family became Cooley, in New Jersey, and there can be little doubt that descendants migrated to North Carolina, with many other New Jersey families, direct, as William Cool was in nearly every generation prior to 1760, in New Jersey records. (ARCH., VOL. XXI, pp. 182 and 291.) (Also, id. Vol. XXII, p. 74.)

COOL, KUHL, KULL, NEW JERSEY

This is one of those delightful proofs which carry weight, without peradventure of doubt.

carry weight, without peradventure of doubt.

CHRISTOPHER COOL was in Hunterdon
Co. 1775, with a wife Anne, dau. of Peter Fisher, of Amwell Twp., (ARCH., vol. XXXIV, p. 176).
Contemporaneous was MATTHIAS KOUL, indexed KUHL, with ref. to COOL, (id. p. 590).

WILLIAM COOL, was in Sussex Co., 1771, and in Hunterdon, with wife Catharine, related to DR. COOLBAUGH, (id. pp. 192 and 255).

to DR. COOLBAUGH, (id. pp. 192 and 255).

Tracing the origin of the above, they were the sons of CREST (Crist., i. e. Christopher), COOL, of Amwell Twp., Hunterdon, who had wife Mary, eldest son Peter and sons Crest or Christopher, William and Phillip, and Paul, with daus. Catharine, Mary and Elizabeth, but executors, (denoting another generation), were nephews Crest Cool and Paul Cool, Jr. When account was filed in 1787, it was by Christopher Cool, and Paul Kuhl, on the estate of "Crist Kuhl." (ARCH., vol. XXIII, p. 88). Of course, this was the same as the New Amsterdam family of COOL, although CHRISTOPHER COOL, from Stuttgardt, Wurtemburg, Germany, was the lineal ancestor of the wife of the writer, Helen Marie Kull-Monnette, whose family always spelled the name as pron. in Ger., "Kuhl." (Vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 420-422.)

On the same page of the last authority is an

On the same page of the last authority is an estate of WILLIAM COOL, Burlington, 1767, whose admr. was Simon Cool, Princeton, Somerset Co., and widow Eve Cool, of William Cool, "late of Swancum, in Monmouth," and of these families was clearly the WILLIAM COOL, who removed to North Car. and was the companion of Daniel Roone in 1269 Boone in 1769.

It would appear that "Chr. Kaull (Coul)," and "Christopher Coul, Jr." were in Hunterdon Co. as early as 1756 (ARCH., vol. XXXII, p. 372).

Again, Christopher Krull, (Kull) or Cool, was in Hunterdon, 1741, (ARCH., vol. XXX, p. 240, Indexed as "Kuhl"), and others of the various names even earlier.

DRAKES IN AUGUSTA COUNTY. VIRGINIA

This becomes important because of their association with MONEY, FINLEY, Stuart, et. al.
The first was "ABRAHAM DRAKE, Feb. 19, 1746-7: Administration of ABRAHAM DRAKE'S estate committed to Thos. Grubbs, guardian of Abraham Drake, son of Abraham Drake. John Davis, Alex. Matthews, Daniel Stover, and George Leath, (Leith)," (all from N. J.—O.E. M.). (CHALKLEY, Vol. I, pp. 25 and 28.)

These items are confirmed in CHALKLEY, (VOL. III, p. 6 and 7). NICHOLAS NOEL, (NOE), was contemp.

"May and August, 1748, ABRAHAM DRAKE, administrator of Abraham Drake, Jr." (Id., p. 299.)
"ABRAHAM DRAKE, SR'S, bond as administrator of Abraham Drake, 1747," and entry, "Abraham Drake's hand as guardian of ABRAHAM DRAKE, orphan of Abraham Drake, 1747." (ID., p. 431.)

"JOHN DRAKE," 1761. (Id., p. 355.) Same, 1769, (id., p. 457). Several by the name of TROTTER, clearly from N. J., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 634).

The appearance of PHILIP DRAKE, of this lineage, and easily identified in N. J., as a legatee of Abraham LaRue, (N. J.), by 1790, is most conclusive. (CHALKLEY, Vol. III, pp. 220, 557 and 559.) In 1779, both had land.

JOSEPH DRAKE, LONG HUNTER

"JOSEPH DRAKE, LONG HUNTER

"Joseph Drake early settled on the frontiers of (West) Virginia, and was one of the leaders of the "Long Hunters" (1770-71). He served as a private in Bouquet's Ohio Expedition (1764); married (1773) Margaret, daughter of Col. John Buchanan; and served the next year in Christian's regiment on the Point Pleasant campaign. * * * He removed to Kentucky in March, 1778, and was killed by Indians in sight of Boonesborough, in August following. He was a rough, fearless man, well-fitted for frontier life and hardships.—L. C. D. (Draper MSS., 3B251)." (DUNMORE, p. 78.)

The foregoing is, in part true, but being the genealogical compilation of THWAITES, undocumented, it cannot be relied upon.

The recordal facts, in major part, are in CHALKLEY, (Vol. II, pp. 172), but the question of identification again arises, for there was a contemporaneous JOSEPH DRAKE, (as see post, p. indic.).

The one first above had a bro., Jeremiah, who m. Ann Buchanan, and also a son John Drake, and others in the kin.

It is to be doubted that he was the LONG HUNTER.—O. E. M.

JOSEPH DRAKE OF AUGUSTA

This is the one, who can be positively identified, as the son, of EDWARD DRAKE of P., for the O. B. L. Rees., recites that "he went south," and his age in Pisc. rees., corresponds to that of his own affidavit of 1806, viz., "JOSEPH DRAKE, aged 67, deposes 18th of August, 1806," i. e. b. 1739. DANIEL BOONE GENEALOGY

With great regret, this writer is not favorably disposed to the many items set up, by reference to the DRAPER MSS., without quotation or actual documentation. It detracts rather than supports this fine genealogy. (BOONE.)

The omission of OBEDIAH BOONE, (supra), as shown by Will quoted herein, is a grave omission, and the further failure to identify and to connect the members of the family in early New Jersey, together with the palpably traditional and legendary statements concerning DANIEL BOONE and his companions of 1769 are very disconcerting and unfortunate, in the light of this zealous and worthy compilation.—O. E. M.

BOONE IN NEW JERSEY

The best general BOONE statement appears, in brief, in D. A. R. MAG., (Gen. Dept., Aug., 1916, pp. 126-7), which should be compar. with BOONE. (CLEMENS, 1917.)

In N. J., BOWNE reigned supreme, in Monmouth, and was a different family, yet, ANDREW BOWNE, clearly of that race, is given in orig. recs., as Andrew BOONE, and the identity should be noted. be noted.

In BURLING, and Salem, N. J., there were definite BOONE fams., not given in co-ordination, in BOONE, and without explanation.

in BOONE, and without explanation.

Colonial Governor, THOMAS BOONE, has been noticed in the dedication, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1465). He was first, commissioner and land owner of South Carolina in 1758, appointed Gov., of N. J., till 1761, when he was appointed Gov. of So. Car.; then returned to Eng., to become Commissioner of Customs, and, undoubtedly was the greatest representative of this famous fam., in America, a N. J. personage of prominence. (ARCH., VOL. IX, Index.) He had a brother, Charles Boone. (AMER. ANC., VOL. 5, pp. 72-3.)

Charles Doors. T2-3.)

There was a "widow BOONE," in BURL., 1686, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 72), and again, 1689, (id., p. 339), and as much as this writer knows of gen. exchanges with Penna., it is certain, she belonged to BOONE. She had a son, SAMUEL BOONE, by 1702, (id., p. 163).

DANIEL BOONE, THE SQUAT (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1472.)

The above facetious appellation was a spontaneous expression, without any intentional disrespect, which burst from the lips of the beholder, when he first stood at the base of the statue, in company with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wiglesworth, of Cynthiana, Kentucky, when the kodak view was taken in June of 1934. Here is an immense cut stone hase with a figure surrounting approximately. base with a figure surmounting, approximately 4 ft. 4 in. high, supposedly a "heroic figure" of DANIEL BOONE, and with a manikin face, and the conception of the sculptor, or worker in stone, poorly represented or badly executed.

Discussing this subject with one of the officers of the Society of Colonial Dames, in Ky., who was present at the dedication of this monument, she quite agreed with this humorous view, and said that a movement was already under way to have the statue removed.

However, meeting a prominent Missourian who is familiar with the statue of DANIEL BOONE in that great commonwealth, he said, that it is 6 ft. 6 in. high, and truly "heroic"; but he told, illustratingly, the story of the display in a European shrine of 17 skulls of The Christ, each claimed to be original, but procured at different ages of his life.—O. AFFIDAVIT OF ELLIOTT WASHINGTON MONEY

STATE OF KENTUCKY, COUNTY OF GREEN, VILLAGE OF LOBB SS.

AFFIANT, ELLIOTT WASHINGTON MONEY, being first duly sworn, deposes, as follows:

Affiant is a resident of Green County, Kentucky, where among the original first settlers, 1792, and long before, the MONEY and SKAGGS families first settled, long known to residents of the County, and familiar to this AFFIANT, from his boyhood.

For several months, last past, AFFIANT has learned of an historical and genealogical effort, being made, to locate the grave or last burial place of one JAMES MONEY, (sometimes called MOONEY), in this County, in which one ORRA E. MONNETTE, of Los Angeles, California, has become interested, and is writing a history upon that subject, and said MONNETTE has communicated the fact to this AFFIANT, without any monetary or other selfish object, except that purely of historical truth.

That, previously said MONNETTE has presented the object of his search to one E. G. WALKER, an old and reputable citizen of this county, who researched the county records and interviewed many people, and as a result made, executed and delivered an affidavit upon this subject, which is true and correct, in every particular, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1485).

That, on Tuesday, June 4, 1935, said ORRA E. MONNETTE and said E. G. WALKER, called upon AFFIANT, at or near the village of Allendale, unincorporated, in said County of Green, Kentucky, and AFFIANT learned that they, in company with one ISAAC BUCKNER BALE, well-known to this AFFIANT had, already, visited the farm, known as that of the Dr. S. D. Coakley, heirs, and had already seen, viewed and photographed the burial place of said first, JAMES MONEY, who came into Kentucky, with DANIEL BOONE, in 1769, and lived and died, and was buried on said Coakley lands, which he had originally, at the time, owned and occupied, approximately 1,200 acres of land, all of which facts are well known to this AFFIANT. are well known to this AFFIANT.

are well known to this AFFIANT.

THEREUPON, said parties, in company with this AFFIANT, made a second trip to that section, in reality to stand upon and view the old PERRY MONEY farm, where AFFIANT was born, and where he was intimate with the history and surroundings of that place, this visit taking place on June 5, 1935, also in presence of two young men, Mr. Joe Mathews and his brother, J. Kenneth Mathews, of Mansfield, Ohio.

This AFFIANT is a son of JOHN M. MONEY, born 1833, died 1912, and his wife, ARRENA WALKER, born Summersville, Ky.

That, the grandfather of AFFIANT was said

MONEY, born 1833, died 1912, and his wife, ARRENA WALKER, born Summersville, Ky.

That, the grandfather of AFFIANT was said PERRY MONEY and his wife, "Grizzy" SKAGGS, who lived and died upon the land visited; that the same is located, approximately two or three miles, on a dirt road, running eastward from the main highway, No. 61, in the northeastern part of the County of Green, on what is known as the Pleasant Valley Road, running to a church of the same name, and near to the later County of Taylor, in which is located a little village of Finley. That on the right side of said dirt road is the old PERRY MONEY Farm, where AFFIANT was born, and where his grandfather and grandmother, lived and died, and are buried under a great oak tree in the barn-yard, now quite dilapidated and stones broken down, but at least ten or twelve of the family were, at different times buried there, AFFIANT being present at the interment of his said grandparents, and knows the exact location of each grave; that, at this visit, AFFIANT was able to find one stone, which bore the inscription "G. M." clearly the stone of "Grizzy" MONEY, and other important identifications; THAT, AFFIANT was born in a house, now removed in the bottoms, along Brush Creek, and that he had pointed out to him, in his youth, the older sites of the huts or log cabins of the SKAGGS family, and of the first in his youth, the older sites of the huts or log cabins of the SKAGGS family, and of the first JAMES MONEY, his great-grandfather;

THAT, the latter owned a large tract of land, and just across the said Pleasant Valley Road, a little further eastward, from the opposite site of the old PERRY MONEY Farm, is to be found today, the Dr. S. D. Coakley Farm, belonging to his heirs, and that was the original homesite of the said JAMES MONEY, the FIRST, who came into Kentucky, with DANIEL BOONE, in 1769; that, AFFIANT is familiar with the old burial place there, where said parties, herein, located said graves and the facts concerning the same are true.

THAT, one W. R. Money is a cousin of this AFFIANT, living at Coakley, Ky., and confirms these statements, and that both have a cousin GEORGE MILTON MONEY, living at Shelbyville, Ky., (making affidavit to the same effect, vide, ante, this PART, p. 1485).

THAT, to the best understanding of all, said first JAMES MONEY, died, on or about 1820-1, then about 90 years of age, and the SKAGGS Family came into the County, as its first settlers, a very large and prominent family, and both families have always been respected and honored

Last burial place of JAMES MONNET, (or MONET, pron. in Fr., Mo-nay), Companion of DANIEL BOONE, 1769, as JAMES MONAY, (or MONEY, or MOONEY, as note name corruption), who d. in Green County, Kentucky, 1820-1, aged 90 years. (Three views.)

This grave was located by Mr. E. G. Walker, school-teacher for 30 years, and respectable citizen, at Bloyd, not far away, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1485, his affidavit).

The site, on the present farm of the Dr. S. D. Coakley heirs, was visited, June 4, 1935, by him and the writer, in company with Mr. Isaac Buckner Bale, of Allendale, uninc., not far away, with Mr. Joe Mathews, Mr. J. Kenneth Matthews, of Mansfield, Ohio, present, and a small boy, Otis Warren.—O. E. M. THIRD MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE.

This shows original burial place and gravestone marker, of WILLIAM SKAGGS, reading "born 1754, Died Aug. the 20th, 1848," and is located, just off the highway No. 61, Green Co., Ky., a mile or so southeast of Allendale, and near to Summersville.

This picture was taken June 4, 1935, and leaning over the headstone, at the left is Mr. E. G. Walker, Bloyd, Ky., who gave the affidavit, appearing (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1485), and at the right is Mr. Elliott Washington Money, Lobb, Ky., who gave the affidavit, appearing (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1496).

This is to demonstrate the SKAGGS location, and as appearing in the text. (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1495).

O. E. M. was present when this picture was taken.

In making this affidavit, AFFIANT would record his age as 67 years, as having been born, April 24, 1868, and filing his genealogical blank, for compilation of MONNET FAM. GEN, (supp.), states that his great-grandfather, JAMES MONEY, (father of his grandfather, PERRY MONEY), "came to Kentucky with DANIEL BOONE, and among his children had said PERRY, Redmond, William and others."

And, further, AFFIANT saith not.

THE THIRD MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE (Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 977.)

This pilgrimage was unplanned and only precipitated by the pending closure of printing forms of this PART SEVEN.

Almost providentially, the discovery of the grave of JAMES MONAY, (MONET or MONNET), companion of DANIEL BOONE, 1769, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1485), was being rapidly developed, by keen correspondence and recordal evidence, when Dr. John Wesley Hill, Chancellor of Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn. of Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn, appeared in Los Angeles and participated with the writer, President of The Los Angeles Breakfast Club, in a Lincoln program on the morning of April 4, 1935, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1282), whereupon an invitation was extended to this editor to attend the commencement exercises of the Lincoln Memorial University, June 1-3, 1935, and to deliver the formal address in dedication of the James Harlan Chair of Biblical Literature, Sunday, June 2. day, June 2.

A trip Eastward at this time was not in contemplation but another happy event aided towards another educational and genealogical itinerary.

Kansas Wesleyan University, at Salina, Kansas, represented in person by its President, Dr. L. B. Bowers, a fellow graduate of O. W. U., (post), invited the writer to make a Commencement visit, and later advised that the trustees and faculty had voted to confer the degree of Doctor of Letters upon this editor. Unfortunately, the two Commencements conflicted in point of time and dis-

However, eagerly bent on the Kentucky mission and search, the writer left Los Angeles Monday night, May 27, 1935, headed for Tennessee, via Denver, Colorado, and Salina, Kansas.

At the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, Wednesday morning, May 29th, the program manager read the following felicitous account to the representatives of this distinguished and internationally-known club, while its President was enroute on this THIRD MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE:

"The President of the Los Angeles Breakfast Club, Dr. Orra E. Monnette, who received the degree five years ago of Doctor of Laws from Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn., of which institution he has served as Trustee for several terms, is leaving this week for a trip east to make a commencement address there on June 2.

While there, he will dedicate the James Harlan Chair of Religion donated by Mrs. Robert T. Lincoln, widow of the son of President Abraham Lincoln, in whose honor the University was founded and is being conducted. Dr. John Wesley Hill, Chancellor, has appeared before the Breakfast Club on two occasions, and was here two months ago to receive our salutation.

Upon his trip enroute, he will stop at Salina, Kansas, where he has been voted by the faculty and Trustees, the Degree of Doctor of Letters, Kansas Wesleyan University, which will be conferred.

Upon his return home, he will stop at his own alma mater, Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, from which he was graduated in 1895 and where he received his Phi Beta Kappa distinction, and will participate in the 40th year commencement reunion of his class."

ment reunion of his class."

Strangely enough Salina, Kansas, a beautiful western city of 20,000 people, has that attractive atmosphere of mid-west progress and activity. Suffering as the western part of the state has from the unusual dust storm of three weeks before, baneful and destructive, this section thrives, prospers and progresses, as an agricultural, grain and farm center of great proportions, modern in fine buildings and municipal outlook, it is the seat of learning of a fine Methodist University, large beautified campus, good buildings, and vital and broad educational and religious atmosphere. Its president, Dr. L. B. BOWERS, is from eastern American stock and many descendants of New Jersey people comprise its citizenry.

Proceeding onward, the schedule, as outlined

Jersey people comprise its citizenry.

Proceeding onward, the schedule, as outlined by the announcement made before The Breakfast Club in Los Angeles, was followed. At Lincoln Memorial University, Harrogate, Tenn., Hon. Homer S. Cummings, Attorney General of the U. S. A., delivered the Commencement address, and at the Baccalaureate exercises, the writer presided, and made, as well, the introductory address of welcome to Secretary Cummings, at a formal breakfast given him by the local Chamber of Commerce and University authorities, Cumberland Hotel, Middlesborough, Ky., Monday, June 3, 1935.

KENTUCKY

Proceeding to Green(e) County, Kentucky, one of the oldest, (formed from Jefferson, 1792), this writer contacted many older citizens and investigated the County records. (These are appended, in excerpt form.—O. E. M.)

gated the County records. (These are appended, in excerpt form.—O. E. M.)

There was neither difficulty nor impracticability in discovering the last resting place of the famous JAMES MONEY or MONAY, (freq. called MOONEY, from Fr. Monet or Monnet, pron. MONAY). The county records disclosed marriage Aug. 10, 1798 of JAMES MONEY (MUNY) and REBECCA SYMPSON, and others of her name. Deed records show JAMES MONEY, sometime spelled MUNY, as similar by his REV. REC., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1482). The association with SKAGGS is so definite and clear that there is no room for doubt. As fully shown, in many ways, his son, b. 1799, was Pierre (Perry) MONEY, and in the Green(e) (Co., Ky., records is entered marriage May 26, 1825, "Perry Money to Jane Scaggs," familiarly called "Grizzy Skaggs"; affectionately "my grand mother, Grisselda Skaggs", by Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sutherland, now aged 80, interviewed personally by the writer. Other Skaggs entries and particularly over on Brush Creek, neighbors and adjacent to MONEY prove the facts, as supported by all collateral proof.

Seemingly the first record, given in supplement, with the control of the supplement.

Seemingly the first record, given in supplement, under WILLIAM MONEY, is conclusive as showing in 1809, his parents, JAMES MONEY, SR., and wife, HEPZIBAH (a sec. wife (?)—0, E.M.). This confirmation is remarkable, as a WILLIAM MONNET in every generation has been present.

The old JAMES MONEY farm, orig. 1,200 acres now in name of Dr. S. D. Coakley heirs, was easily located. A few miles off of the main highway No. 61, running north by west from Greensburg toward Hodgkinville, at a point east of Ellendale, "unincorporated," is this side dirt road, called Pleasant Valley, veering towards Brush Creek and to the church, in Taylor County, where Money descendants are buried and where a small locus of Finley is situated, a reproduction of Samuel Finley in Green(e) Co. as shown by records as early as 1796 ords as early as 1796.

ords as early as 1796.

The first farm of consequence is now occupied by William Anthony Dobson, whose first wife was a Money, (from whom separated), and this is identified as the "old PERRY MONEY farm." Here Elliott Washington Money was born and reared, accompanying the writer and Mr. E. G. Walker, (whose affidavit, vide, ante, this PART, p. 1485), we succeeded in locating the old burial place under two big oak trees, (one a chestnut tree now cut down, at least four feet in diameter), in the barnyard, between house and barn. There were stones firmly imbedded in the ground, broken off and indecipherable, covered with wood and in the barnyard, between house and barn. There were stones firmly imbedded in the ground, broken off and indecipherable, covered with wood and debris indicating the burial places of ten to fifteen persons. With no difficulty, Elliott Washington Money, in the presence of Walker, William Anthony Dobson and the writer, was able to locate and identify the graves of his two grandparents, PERRY and GRIZZY MONEY, as he was at their funerals and helped to bury them there. Turning over one flat-like stone it bore the terse inscription "G. M. Born, Jan 23, 1800, Died Jan. 28, 1891," whom he said to be his grandmother, "Grizzy MONEY." He dug and found other broken stones which identified the grave of PERRY MONEY Mr. Dobson promised pictures to be sent. ELLIOTT WASHINGTON MONEY stated that the father of PERRY MONEY was the JAMES MONEY, under search, and that PERRY MONEY (sometimes called MOONEY), had acquired this land from him. He pointed out where the old log house of JAMES MONEY had been located in the bottoms on Brush Creek and across from where the SKAGGS had lived. He, himself, was born in one old house of the family, below the site of the present one. He knew JAMES MONEY, the FIRST, had had 1,200 acres of land, comprising this PERRY MONEY Farm, and including the piece, finally belonging to the heirs of Dr. S. D. Coakley, adjoining the SKAGGS LAND on Brush Creek.

Creek.

The "Coakley Farm" is down the road a half mile or more from "PERRY MONEY Farm" and this was visited by the writer, in company with Mr. E. G. Walker, (supra). Mr. Isaac Buckner Bale of Allendale, Mr. Joe Mathews his brother, J. Kenneth Matthews of Mansfield, Ohio, and young man, Otis Warren, walking back on a dirt road running off the Pleasant Valley Road, as to left, when going east, about 300 feet, we ventured into the field, rough and stubbled, and after some effort, climbed an eminence 60 or 75 feet high, rising above surrounding terrain. We could see the PERRY MONEY land in the distance and understand why JAMES MONEY, THE FIRST, lived, died and was buried here, on a hill.

In a clump of trees, there was no difficulty, locating in the undergrowth and vegetation, the old MONEY BURIAL GROUND. Between four old MONEY BURIAL GROUND. Between four hickory trees, rectangle, surrounded by sassafras trees (smaller) was the grave of JAMES MONEY, clearly marked by a rudely cut headstone, deep sunken in ground and a foot-stone which we lifted out, denoting a grave about 7 or 8 feet long. The foot-stone was about 14 in. by 7 in., the headstone 9 inches in width and two or three feet deep. The grave lay east and west in direction, the headstone towards the west.

That, these stones were hand carved was clearly apparent and though the inscriptions were practically illegible, the bottoms of the letters, were clearly noted by deep holes. A letter "M" was discernible, and by washing with water and pencilling the depressions, "JAS MONEY" was indicated to the view, upon which all present agreed. Therefore, with the collateral evidence, deed and other county records, and the current opinions, this was established beyond controversy as the grave of JAMES MONEY, companion of Daniel Boone, 1769, who d. 1821 or 1822, aged 90 years, as testified to by several recalling statements made concerning him. concerning him.

The most interesting fact, in the light of this work, was the ancestry of Isaac Buckner Bale, old gentleman witness of Allendale, who furnished his pedigree of his ancestor, who came to Green(e) County from N. J., before 1800. Baleville, Sussex Co. Jacob Bale, son of Henry Bale.

Many other visitations were made, interviews had, witnesses examined and pictures taken, (not to be recounted here, except one.—O. E. M.).

The most important statement was that obtained from an old lady, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Sutherland, P. O. Magnolia, R. F. D., LaRue Co., Ky., b. 5 Sept., 1855, who will be 80 years of age in September. She was fine and her niece is Mrs. Rosalie Beverlin, (whose affidavit, vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1485).

Mrs. Sutherland exhibited and loaned to this writer two old pictures of PERRY MONEY, and wife, GRISSELDA SKAGGS, as she distinctly told. They appear in ill., (p. 1484). She herself had a first husband, named SKAGGS, and it was interesting that they named a son HILLARY SKAGGS, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 609), and that OSBORN SPRIGG, from Maryland, lived early in this section, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1174).

The father of Mrs. Sutherland was Milton Paradise Pierce and wife, ALMELDA REBECCA MONEY, who d. May, 1907, aged over 80 years.

(This writer took notes a la Draper, but has had more courage to write and verify, than did the Great Collector, Draper, and he will consider the control of scientiously return the old pictures, so graciously loaned to him.—O. E. M.)

Proceeding to Buffalo, a notable remnant of the Proceeding to Buffalo, a notable remnant of the Scott lineage was interviewed, who knew and was related to Rosalie Beverlin, and others, who confirmed the trails thus uncovered by the writer. Fairly well done, was this glorified discovery, concerning a noted historical figure so contumeliously buried by THWAITES, at the Battle of Point Pleasant, in 1774, who, perhaps greater than Boone, served to become a first citizen of Greene Co., Ky., "and so faileth," that Boswell, to record history, either fairly or faithfully, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1476).

JAMES MONEY lived and is glorified after 136 years, for he lived till 1821-2, and died at the age of over 90 years, and is buried in Green(e) County, Ky., on the Coakley farm.—O. E. M.

Proceeding on highway, north of Buffalo, the writer reached the National Memorial, preserving the log cabin birthplace of Lincoln, near Hodgenville, quite in accordance with the theme of this pilgrimage to Harrogate, Tenn.

The writer was pleased to examine the county records of Nelson County, at Bardstown, (some of records of Nelson County, at Bardstown, (some of the earlier records of Green(e) being here). With jubilance, the original land entry to Henry Skaggs was discovered; 1780, 400 acres to "Henry Skaggs," by virtue of a certificate, etc., "lying on the north side of Green river, near to a creek that runs into the said river about 7 or 8 miles above the Elk Lick."

Also, "John Muneay enters 385 acres, by virtue of a Treasury warrant, beginning on the Back Fork, etc." (1780.) That, this is Money is proven by an entry in the old volume to JAMES MUNY, by an entry in the old volume to JAMES MUNIA, (very clear and distinct), but in the text at the page ref., some meddlesome hand has "erased and tried to make 'MUNDAY' out of it," but the next entry below is MONDAY, EDWARD, (a Piscataway, N. J., family).

James Skaggs appears, 1780, for land on Brush Creek, running into Green River; Isaac Finley and George Finley, et. al., (most convincing). Among the marriages there are several SKAGGS and Reuben Finley to Elizabeth King, 26 Apl. 1792, and John Simpson to Mary Morris, 2 March, 1790.

and John Simpson to Mary Morris, 2 March, 1790.

Driving on to Shelbyville, the writer interviewed Mr. George Milton Money, whose affidavit appears, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1485), and his brother, JEFFERSON MONEY, whose grandfather, JAMES MONEY, was buried in Green(e) Co., about 1821-2, near to the "time his father, JAMES MONEY, SR.," died there, and both were buried in the same old Money burial place, as discovered by this writer, as supra.

and both were burned in the same old Money burial place, as discovered by this writer, as supra.

Proceeding to Frankfort, Kentucky, visited the rooms of Ky. Hist. Soc., of which the writer is a member. Met again, Miss Nina Visscher, who has so kindly helped. Also, met Dr. Willard Rouse Jillson, (ante), and had long discussion about Boone legends and John Finley, antecedents. Going on to Lexington, the writer sought the services of Prof. Charles M. Knapp, who is publishing a series of syndicated newspaper articles re Daniel Boone, which he calls "traditional Boone." Together, we visited Judge Samuel M. Wilson, Chairman of Daniel Boone Commission, who has rendered invaluable service as a local historian. With some of these, the legends and romances have sunk so deeply that historical truth is far removed. Dr. Knapp feels the same as does this writer. A true, factual history of Kentucky has never been written, from actual records, in many counties, full of facts, and that such a discriminating, truthful history of Daniel Boone, is impossible, and any one who attempts it, will be "booted." Kentuckians prefer the glamour about him to real fact and true history. It will never be straightened out and it remains in the character him to real fact and true history. It will never be straightened out and it remains in the character of "I cilled a bar," of equal scholarship and his-torical technique.

record a bar, of edual scholarship and his torical technique.

Kentuckians with one accord desire the return of the DRAPER MSS. They believe that missing deed and mortgage records and old files were ignominiously carried off and that families were despoiled of their private papers under the beguiling influences of the stranger travelling in a buggy, gathering trans-Alleghany material. They do not appreciate DRAPER enthusiasm or energy, nor do they understand that he probably took no important books or papers, as he knew little of RECORDS, either public or private, but made voluminous notes of old men's and old women's countryside gossip, which he never turned out as attempted history, as he himself wrote that he was never satisfied of their accuracy. From this miscellaneous gossip and common Kentucky viewpoint, the writer is convinced more than ever that so-called history founded on the DRAPER MSS. is fatuous and deceiving, and is not nearly of the importance or value, as accredited to it. It would be better to admit this appraisal and to hold all historical compilations to a strict accountability, in the face of fact and record so readily available, to the conscientious searcher, than to continue the DRAPER will-o'-the-wisp.

JAMES MONEY lived, after Boswell THWAITES said he had been "killed." It was a "nunn" erat demonstrandum.

BOONE AND KENTUCKY CONCLUSIONS

1. An accurate and scientific history of Kentucky is not yet written,

The true life, with career and achievements, of Daniel Boone from recordal facts, documents and public records, has not been written.

and public records, has not been written.

3. WITHERS' CHRONICLES OF BORDER WARFARE is not a valuable, tho interesting, book, and until it is rewritten, based upon proper history source records, the actual historical events entering into the pioneering movement will not have been clearly set forth.

4. DUNMORE MUST BE REWRITTEN, as more authentic history, and all genealogical foot-notes of THWAITES, undocumented, and largely unreliable, as genealogy, must be omitted, or authenticated.

5. Itatii militia rolls of American Calcairle and

5. Until militia rolls of American Colonials are recovered, all claims for participation in Braddock's War, of DANIEL BOONE, John Finley, et. al., and other supposed heroes must be discarded, unless definitely shown by scattered public records.

Among the many John Finleys who lived con-temporaneously in 1769, it will be necessary for an accurate genealogist to identify, posi-tively, the real John Finley, who was neither pathfinder, peddler, pilot to Boone, or other glamorous title, as applied to him.

glamorous title, as applied to him. The naive "JOHN FINDLEY: The First Pathinder of Kentucky," by Lucien Beckner, is, in its title not true, by a dozen men, and the whole article is naive, with certain errors, and not a single document or record, to support—a serious reflection on The Filson Club, who certainly do not wish to establish Kentucky History, by that kind of "pother."

8. The other genealogical facts established in this PART SEVEN are sufficient in themselves to provoke more serious study and research, that the personages entering into the movement down the Valley of the Virginia, Eastern Tennessee, and settled in Kentucky, should be recovered from the musty records and separated from the legends of the past so that their real figures which stand out prominently as personalities worthy to be celebrated as the real founders of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. They were greater than Daniel Boone.—O.E.M.

ROMANTIC FABLE OR TRUE HISTORY?

"THE HISTORIAN AND HISTORICAL EVIDENCE," by Allen Johnson, Professor of American History, Yale University. "There is a healthy skepticism in this book which will be helpful for readers who would learn to discriminate between men and myths. The author says, "the serious student is disposed to wonder if Fontenelle was not right, after all, when he remarked that history is a fable that men have agreed upon."

BENJAMIN BORDEN OF NEW JERSEY AND VIRGINIA

This is referable to the Battle of Point Pleasant, Oct. 10, 1774, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1476).

"Of the origin of Benjamin Burden, Sr. (the name was mispronounced Burden, on the frontier), little is known. He was probably from New Jersey, and early became a fur trader (?) on the Virginia frontier; later he was in the employ of Lord Fairfax as a land agent," * * * * (Withers' Chron. of Border Warfare, 1831, ed. 1895, Thwaites, pp. 50-1).

The land titles coming to ABRAHAM MON-NETT, in old Hampshire County, Va., 1790, were from Lord Fairfax, and same titles earlier, (MONNET, p. 495).

PRINGLES IN WEST VIRGINIA

These were John and Samuel Pringle, whose adventures are given in WITHERS' CHRON-ICLES OF BORDER WARFARE, (1831, Ed., 1895 by Thwaites, pp. 117 et seq.). Their first incursion was in 1761 and they remained in the woods till 1767, and Samuel Pringle had a wife Charity.

They were the associates of JAMES MONEY, and a son of one or the other, James Pringle, witnessed the will of James Money, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1488).

ABRAHAM MONET OF ANCIENNE POICTOU

Huguenot Refugee To London (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 847.)

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 847.)
In the early Baptisms, recorded in the old registers of Threadneedle Street, "L'Eglise De Londres," "Baptémes," (Hug. Soc. of London, Vol. IX, p. 57), unquestionably the ancestor of the later, PIERRE MONNET, of Ancienne Poictou and London, in the same church, as registered 1681 and bef., (vide, ante, PART THREE,

Poictou and London, in the same church, as registered 1681 and bef., (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 425), appears:
Year, 1605: "MONET, Abraham, fils de Abraham MONET, et d'Anne, sa femme," etc., "Juin 30," which was the baptism of an ABRAHAM MONET, son of ABRAHAM MONET and his wife, ANNE.
When ABRAHAM MOONEY, (i. e. Monet, as Mo-nay or Mooney), appeared in Va., two being transported, 1638-1639, (GREER, p. 229), in two separate entries, it is conclusive to believe, as the conviction presses on one, that these are identificable as the persons in question. Remember that, as does PIERRE, (Peter) and Isaac, as Huguenot prenoms, persist in each gen., and partic., ABRAHAM MONNET, (grandfather of the writer), there is no denying the irrefutable conclusion, while awaiting all other evidences. (Vide, infra, ABRAHAM MONNET, of Virginia).—O. E. M.

ABRAHAM MONNET OF VIRGINIA

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1465.)

We know his origin, and though he ran the gamut of the name variations of MO-NAY, as MOONE, MOONEY, etc.; (more than 23 in number; MONNET, title-page), it is most certain that he was of the genus of that "ABRAHAM MONEY," repeated in generations on Staten Island, and as that later one b. in Calvert County, Md., Aug. 28, 1706, (No record), sic., (MONNET, there by 1698, and wife, Elizabeth Williams, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 847).

The subject, Early Virginia Immigrants, (Greer, p. 229), was transported into Virginia, 1638 and 1639, when he would have been at least 21 years old, (CAVALIERS, p. 113), as this writer's contention that the transportation deliveries were not all direct from England, but in many, many cases, went away from or came into Va., other Colonies, as Md., N. J., and New England, proven by docs. and recs., over and over again. This same auth., has in index, many p. refs., from which the foll:

ABRAHAM MOONE (MONEY, MONET) had lands near NICOLAS MARTIAU, The Huguenot, ancestor of Geo. Washington, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 674). He was located 1651 to 1666, in Lancaster Co., Va., upon the "s. side of the Rappahannock River," beg. "branch of Peanketank"; also, in Northumberland Co., etc., "upper side of land of Abraham Moone"; "Rappa, freshes." Also, "N. side of Northermost br. of Seaverne in Mojack Bay," "Nich Stillwell," (from or to Staten Island), proving migration to or from that sec., and Gloucester Co. to be differentiated from the CAPTAIN JOHN MOON, wife, Susan, in Virginia Emigrants, (Stanard, p. 47).

ABRAHAM MOONE IN NORTHUMBER-LAND COUNTY

This was in Virginia, 1656, where he had been of the ancestral neighbors of George Washington, as Ino Curtis, was Administrator of his estate (WM. & MARY Coll. Quart., Vol. 4, p. 75). In 1652, ABRAHAM MOONE was living in Lancaster County, Va., (Will. & M. Coll., Quart., Vol. 20, p. 13).

RETURNING TO NEW JERSEY JOHN ROYNO, as RYNO, from RAYNO (Renaud in Fr., Raynes in Eng.)

"Jhon royno," of E., (sic., HATFIELD, p. 312), in 1729. By 1781, this name was RYNO; in 1780, (id. p. 532), "Mr. Ryno," (ancestor of Dr. Wakeman Ryno of Benton Harbor, Mich.), and called even "Ryon," (id. p. 481).

Its origin in N. H., Francis Raynes and Elias Rano, has been sufficiently estab. herein, yet the accompanying photostat of an article in Jersey Gen., by Dr. Ryno, above, would seem to answer the "quibbles" of the guardian of genealogical purity, even in the Maine solitudes, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1213).

That James Rainie, 1685-6, who, with Abell Porter, junior, of Boston, died on voyage and admr. in East New Jersey, and himself, "James Rainie, anter, PART ONE, p. 777, leaves no room for doubt of origins, when the latter spelling as RAINEY and RAINS were in Virginia, (post), (ARCH. VOL. XXI, pp. 77 and 125).

This became RAEN, John; RAIGN, Samuel and TIMOTHY; RAINE, RAINES, Robert; RANIER, Peter; James Rainy, (VOL. XXIII, index.), "JOHN RYNO, junior," at W., 1723, (p. 215).

We are interested in the two who went to Salem, N. J., by 1727, JOHN RAEN and ROB-ERT RAINES.

SAMUEL RAIN and TIMOTHY were brothers in Gloucester, 1747, (Vol. XXX, p. 389).

ROBERT RAINES passed 1734-1747, wife, Christian (formerly m. to Scoggin), ets., 1747-8, and certainly with children of whom, a ROBERT RAINS, rem. to Virginia, (ARCH. VOL. XXX).

RAINS, rem. to Virginia, (ARCH. VOL. XXX). BUT, (id. p. 261), appears JOHN RAINNO of W., in 1750, James Jackson estate, and many John Ryno entries, with Richard Ryno, and Samuel Reine, elsewhere). (ARCH. VOL. XXX, index), ad infinitum.—O. E. M. In this belonged that JOHN RAINES who became the great Kentuckian, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1465).

A MAPP of RARITON RIVER

Milstone River, South River, Raway River, Bound brook, Milstone Kiver, South Kiver, Raway River, Bound brook, Green brook & Cedar brook; With the Plantations thereupon; Also these on Chingarora, Wickatonk, the Heads of Hop River, Swiming River and Manasquam River, like-wise appends some on Hackinsack River River.

J. Reid, delin.

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1070-a and 1070-b.)
A careful, close study of this MAPP, under glass, reveals some new FIRST SETTLER names; illuminates others, at the date; and proves contemporary land patents, contiguously; which, interpreted, rightly and as apparent, establishes new genealogy and history. Of this latter pointed reference, the most outstanding example, (infra), is the proof positive of "THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE BAKER," (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1021, 22 and 23), showing conclusively that he was not "THOMAS LAURENTZEN POPINGA." A true interpretation of the MAPP will now be attempted: will now be attempted:

(Supra); JOHN REID, delineator, of the MAPP, and R. Simpson, sculptor, or draughts-

The first thing to be noted, at the top of the MAPP, (as facing it), is the GEORGE KEITH SURVEY LINE, of 1687, (first expressed, thus, in 1683.—O. E. M.), northwest by southeast, as per cardinal points of graph in the center of the MAPP, pointing north, and in order to appreciate the directions and orientate onesself, the MAPP should be held, in front, with the side of the sheet, showing this KEITH LINE, to the left, and using THE BLEW HILLS, as the top, center, with RARITON BAY and STATEN ISLAND to the right hand, holding that side of the MAPP. (Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 891.)

There should be first quoted, the legend of this later KEITH SURVEY LINE, as "The Line of Partition between East & West Jarsay, North & by West, & 3 degree 5 minute more Westerly from ye Mouth of little egg Harbour, in a straight line, to Delawar River."

(Note: With most of the prenoms to surnames, the letter "J." appears wrongly, as can easily be proved, as though it were "I." And, these names, as here given, have each and all been verified by comparison with other records.—O. E. M.)

comparison with other records.—O. E. M.)

The MILESTONE RIVER, appearing in so many of early EAST JERSEY deeds and records is below the KEITH SURVEY LINE, (that is, to the right of it, facing MAPP, as suggested, supra). It runs, meanderingly north and south, and empties into the RARITAN RIVER, which is the important geographic fact, so prominently cassigned itself in the name of the MAPP, (supra), and coursing eastward, and emptying itself finally into RARITON BAY. All land records appertaining to rimpinging upon these earlier grants have some reference, direct or indirect to RARITAN RIVER. Of course, those indicated in this MAPP were antedated by the first settlements at PISCATAWAY, 1664, and WOODBRIDGE, 1667, where grants were first made, before this SCOTCH MIGRATION of 1683-1685, (vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 335, et seq.), for which purpose, JOHN REID, SCOTCHMAN, GEORGE KEITH, SURVEYOR, et. al., of these Scotch clans, were called upon to plat, map and survey the lands, as indicated, for the persons so named.

named.

Along MILESTONE RIVER should be first designated STONY BROOK, the same as STONY CREEK, afterwards a famous location, near Princeton, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 769-770). Here "D. GREENLAND" was marked for 200 A. (acres). While probably a mistake for HENRY GREENLAND, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 608), yet it does suggest another, David or Daniel Greenland, who might have been his father, or brother, (worth looking into.—O. E. M.). It is quite probable the "D" was intended for "DR."

tended for "DR."

Taking the top of the MAPP, held as suggested, in proper cardinal points, facing the MAPP and looking to the then northerly border, we see locations, which have been little emphasized, as place locations, THE BLEW HILLS, with every proper query, as to why so called. The writer would like to solve this problem, and has thought of Margaret Blew, her husband, Thomas Davis of W., and her kin, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 356 and PART FIVE, p. 815); and of PIERRE BILLIOU, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 700), and of a color connotation of sky or landscape, for this place name appears in many old dated deed and records land descriptions. Certainly a geographic name to conjure with.

At the upper part of the MAPP, RARITAN RIVER diverges into a north branch and south branch, also frequently referenced in the records. This is to the left hand, in the northwest corner of the MAPP.

Returning to the top of the MAPP), that is its northern section, and in THE BLEW HILLS region; pursuing the plats laid out south of the BLEW HILLS and starting between the divergence of Green brook, north, and Bound brook, south—eastwardly, the plats read: Wm. (William) Dockwra, 100 (acres); Locheill, the same as SIR EWAN CAMERON, of Scotland, Knight, (his brother, SIR EUGENIUS CAMERON), 1000 (acres); P. (Peter) Sonmans, 2300 (acres); R. (Robert) Fullerton; G. & J. Alex. (George & James Alexander), 462 (acres); R. (Robert) Burnet & R. (Robert) Gordon, 3000 (acres); J. (John) Forbes, 450 (acres); J. (John) Barclay, 1300 (acres); still eastward, across the sheet, T. (Thomas) Hart, 200 (acres); R. (Richard) Townley, 1498 (acres), the latter bordering on Raway River; below, T. (Thomas) Rudyard, 1500 (acres), and in a concentrated corner, small tracts, western shore of Raway River, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 732-3); W. (William) Robison, not ROB-ERTSON, which proves, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1213), 700 (acres); S. (Simon Rouse) R., 100 (acres); W. (William Piles) P.; J. (Joseph) F. (Frazee); J. (John) C. (Coddington), 120 (acres); J. Alex., (George and James Alexander), 320 (acres); J. (James) Emott, 300 (acres), with Raway river plainly marked as the eastern border, and the above explains "Coddington Point," (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 732); to the north is the legend, "Scots Propr. 1175 Head Land being 8 and 20, Wherein Wm. Dockwray is concerned." Running south from this legend is the Raway River, marking the western boundary of "Part of Elizabeth Town Pretended Bounds," and to the right of the MAPP, along the eastern border is depicted in outline, "Part of" STATEN ISLAND, with BILLOPP'S POINT at the southern extremity, from Christopher Billopp, and the Island's western boundary being marked, twice, "The Sound."

Returning to the south, central part of the MAPP, South River, orig. called "Manalapan," (GAZ., p. 172), should be noted, running north-ward, and emptying into the RARITAN RIVER between THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE BAKER, and Roundabout Meadow, and, up-side-down, as it were, is another list of plots, as P. (Peter) Sonmans: T. (Thomas) Fullerton; G. (Gawen) Laury, (Lawrie); D. (David) Mudy or "ie"; C. (Charles) Gordon; R. (Robert) Gordon; Wm. Dockwra; J. (John) Forbes; R. (Robert) Hardy; J. NEW JERSEY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

NEW JERSEY HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Its great library and genealogical collections render it without an equal on the Atlantic Seaboard. Its field is the most important for migratory trends, in the Colonial Period, as set in the high standard of this REFERENCE SERIES.

All credit to Mr. A. VanDoren Honeyman, of Plainfield, and his efficient, pleasing daughter, Mrs. Maude H. Bender, assistant Librarian, Newark, (now Mrs. Greene).

He writes in PROCEEDS, (Jan. 1935, Vol. 53, No. 1, p. 47), as follows:

"My most interesting correspondence was with Mr. Hiram E. Deats, of Flemington on Hunterdon families and churches, and, next, with Mr. Orra E. Monnette, of Los Angeles, on matters concerning Piscataway Township, Middlesex County." Thanks.—O. E. M.

THE VINEYARD OF PISCATAWAY

THE VINEYARD OF PISCATAWAY

The center of MUNDAY settlement, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 852).

Later he, NICOLAS MUNDAY, of P., "lived at what was called "The Vineyard," on the old Vineyard Road, which formerly ran in a northerly direction and connected with the "Old Road" leading from Metuchen to New Durham.

1682, May 18, Deed. John Martin of Piscataway to his son, Joseph Martin of the same place, for 80 acres at "The Vineyard," in said Township, bounded S. by son John Martin, E. by Nicholas Munday, N. by Samuel Hull, etc., (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 70).

XXI, p. 70).

1689-90, the same in rel. to Nicholas Munday, of P., his son, Nicholas, "Mrs fitts rendolph," et. al. (idem, p. 252).

Also, 1697-8, the same, 110 acres, "in the Vineyard" and same persons, adding "Widow Higgens," (idem, p. 277).

When NICHOLAS MUNDAY made his will, 1734, Sept. 2, Middlesex Co., yeoman, he called himself of THE VINEYARD, of Piscataqua Township, (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 342).

New Durham is a small village of Piscataway Tp., Mdx. Co., 5 miles east of north of New Brunswick, on the turnpike-road, leading from Perth Amboy toward Bound Brook; a tavern, a store and half-dozen dwellings, (1834), (GAZ, p. 197). 197).

p. 197).

By examining Map, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. frontispiece), the location of THE VINE YARD, could be approximated.—O. E. M.

REVEREND FRANCIS DOUGHTY

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1176 and pagings in Index, p. 1346.)

He is mentioned again, because of this incursion into Virginia, from Long Island, where he became mixed with the COTTON Fam., entering into the COTTON-SPRIGG dispute, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1174), as he had first lived at Flushing, (vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1009-10), in 1647.

The will of the Rev. William Cotton, (Book 3, p. 55), Northampton Co., Va., dated Aug. 20, 1640, and probated, Dec. 30, 1646, (as rec. supp. by Mr. Stout Lillard, of Wash.), he desired "to be buried by my two little children"; wife, Ann Cotton; mother, Joane Cotton of Bunbury in Cheshire, (Eng.); bros.-in-law, Capt. William Stone and Capt. William Roper, to be overseers. After his death, the widow m. Rev. Francis Doughty, Sept. 6. 1658, (Book IX, p. 18, Accomac Co., Va.; Va. Mag., Vol. 3, p. 272).

This does not prove that Katherine (Roper) Sprigg, was born Cotton, no matter how anxious the Tennessee descs. desire the COTTON PEDI-GREE, but, strange, the wife of Rev. Doughty was first given as Bridget. This is noted because of the Dedication, herein, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1465).

He was the grandfather of Judge JACOB DOUGHTY, of BURLING., 1723-4, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1103).

SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST CHURCH MEMBERS AT PISCATAWAY, 1722

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 548-9.)

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 548-9.)

The members, as preserved in a list, which is probably incomplete, with some clear errors, in names, as spelled, showed in number 44 males and 29 females, as per orig. REC. and printing.

As this represented the Separatist or Dissensionist Movement, sometime ca. 1705, or later, of members of the FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, at Pisc., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 192), in order to form the new SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST CHURCH, which separated families, and caused some religious contentions, the membership by 1722 is not only interesting, but when segregated, as far as possible to husband and wife, a restatement of the list by families is important; likewise, where no husband or wife appears in the list, it is attempted to show him or her, even the marriage was afterwards, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the statements, or other relative to the statement of the stat tho the marriage was afterwards, or other relationship. The numbers used are in order of orig. list, and the parenthetical names are those supplied by the writer.—O. E. M.

Naturally, REV. EDMUND DUNHAM heads the list, and he was the first of the name then at PISC., as his father had d. 1680. His sisters, Hannah, Mary and Elizabeth, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 186), were thus bereft, and became heads of families of their own.

heads of families of their own.

Rev. EDMUND DUNHAM was most prominent and influential in organizing, 1686-9, THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH, at P., and it was while officiating as expounder and deacon of that church, he had had his famous argument with HEZEKIAH BONHAM, (not NICHOLAS BONHAM, his father, as sometimes erroneously stated—O. E. M.), about the right uses of the Sabbath Day; about 1700, he changed his views, was especially ordained, and became the Founder, leader, pastor, and elder of the new Church; SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST. Therefore, his name is first in the list. name is first in the list.

It does appear that, HEZEKIAH BONHAM, (wrongly referred to in sev. auth. re the Sunday observance episode, as tho it were his father, NICHOLAS BONHAM), apparently did not join the new congregation, nor any of the name, in its earlier years.

The first record on the church book after the articles of faith is as follows:

articles of faith is as follows:

"The Church of God keeping the Commandments of God and the faith of Jesus Christ living in Piscataway and Hopewell, in the province of New Jersey, being assembled with one accord at the house of Benjamin Martin, in Piscataway, the 19th day of August, 1705, we did then and with one mind choose our dearly beloved EDMUND DUNHAM, who is faithful in the Lord, to be our elder and assistant according to the will of God, whom we did send to New England to be ordained, who was ordained at the church meeting in Westerly, R. I., by prayer and laying on of hands by their elder, William Gibson, the 8th day of September, 1705." (CLAYTON, p. 596.)

Re-allocation of church membership list, in related groups, as per family, and with wives, et. al., noted, where discoverable. O. B. L., first undertook this interesting diversion, and which has been expanded by the writer, as it has divulged some of the kinships, not otherwise determinable, forming almost a fundamental genealogical list.—

forming almost a fundamental genealogical list.— O. E. M. (Vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 192-3); (CLAYTON, p. 596).

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS OLD BURYING GROUND (Main Street and Pennsylvania R. R.) METUCHEN, NEW JERSEY (Copied 1916)

This was originally the yard surrounding the First Presbyterian Church of Metuchen. In the South East corner of the yard is a space where there are no stones. This is where the church stood before it was removed to the present site, not far away.

A number of unmarked field stones supposedly indicate old graves, but there are said to be scores of others without any sign whatever. Burials have ceased in this yard and two more modern cemeteries have come into existence in Metuchen.

(LIPPINCOTT, p. 483.) The accompanying illustration, (vide, p. 1532), is rendered necessary because of recent record discoveries supporting the HULL ancestry, as from de Hulle.

It must be noted that there is an excellent booklet, entitled "St. Bartholomew's Crewkerne, Somerset, Historical Notes on the Church," by W. G. Willis Watson, (1933). A very fine description, in chaste language, appears in the latest MARTIN Gen., (vide, ante, THIS PART, BIB., p. 1452).

PISCATAWAY IN NEW ENGLAND, 1637
A most valuable book has come to desk, namely, ADMIRALTY, (vide, ante, PART SIX, BIB.,
p. 948). This is of importance in establishing a fixed date and reference to "PISCATOWAY in New England," as early as 1637, (Entry No. 403, p 178). This refers to "Henry West, Eustace Man and company," owners of the ELIZABETH, of London, (ship), and "for the intended voyage from London to PISCATOWAY IN NEW ENGLAND." The ship is described, cargo and other interesting items of that day. This reference to

STATEN ISLAND'S 275TH YEAR

In the year 1661 the Huguenot founders of Staten Island established the first permanent settlement on the island, under the leadership of Pierre Billiou. The 275th anniversary of this event is to be observed with appropriate ceremonies in the Spring of 1936, and the preparations for the anniversary are now beginning.

The list below gives names of some of the Huguenots who are in the Staten Island group, with the dates that have been established for their coming to Staten Island, or to some other settlement from which they came here. The assistance of all informed people is desired, in order to correct and complete this provisional list:

ROBINSON may be ROBERTSON, (and often should be) or ROBISON, ROBERSON, ROBEISSON, or ROBESON, &c. STERLING can be STARLING, and the initial "H" is subject at times to local aspiration or non-aspiration. In the matter of fore-names much of interest could be said. The compiler in some recent exoloration on the Eastern compiler in some recent exploration on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, discovered that the original name of PEREGRINE (quite common in that section), had become condensed to Pere, pronounced Perry, and possibly it settled down to that in some localities.

CONVERSION OF SURNAMES IN COLONIAL AMERICA

By Orra Eugene Monnette

(Reprinted from THE GENEALOGISTS' MAGAZINE, London, by permission.)
Much history and genealogy have been lost, with Much history and genealogy have been lost, with reference to true ancestral origins, in England, France and Germany, because of the tendency, on the part of both the possessor of the surname and the recording clerk, in the first official records, to reproduce surnames, in different form, other than the original usage, the spellings of which were changed; phonetics being the guiding factor and ignorance of both the etymology and syllabifi-cation being the ruling chance. cation being the ruling chance.

This resulted in detached pedigrees, which careless genealogists do not reassemble, or else are fearful of not giving true co-ordination and identification, since few American records directly established family pedigrees; in that they must, perforce, be compiled from more or less undetermining records, to be selected, upon collateral evidences, by the skill, experience and ability to read relationships correctly and to properly interpret them.

The foregoing is essentially the fact, where the surname was non-English and susceptible of easy change by elision or perversion, as in the case of Holland origins, Welsh derivatives, French patronymics and other forcible examples to be illustra-

THE STILLWELL-PERINE HOUSE

This house, at 1476 Richmond Road, standing on property for which Pierre Billiou had a Dutch ground brief before 1674, and of which the oldest portion appears to have been built by Thomas Stillwell about 1686, was freed of mortgage indebtedness in 1930, and will be preserved by the Staten Island Historical Society as an example of colonial architecture. For this purpose it is eminently suitable from its association, as owners or neighbors, with many old Staten Island families, viz: Hans Christofel 1677, Nathaniel Britton and Pietr Haughwout 1678, Nicholas Britton 1704, Walter and Thomas Dongan 1740, Joseph Holmes 1749, Edward Perine and his descendants 1764 to 1915. Its history was written by Charles Gilbert Hine in 1915. (MUSEUM BULLETIN of the STATEN ISLAND INSTITUTE of ARTS AND SCIENCES; courtesy of Dr. Charles W. Leng.)

THE BRITTON COTTAGE

Selected by a committee of architects as the best example of colonial cottage constructed on Staten Island. The land on which it stands was granted to Obadiah Holmes in 1677, and was sold to Nathaniel and Elizabeth Britton in 1695. It was presented to the Institute in 1915 by Dr. Nathaniel Lord Britton and Mrs. Elizabeth Gertrude Britton for historical preservation and exhibition. tive. And too frequently the "foreigner," in English colonies, surrendered too easily to the fact of corruption of his own surname, yielding to the seductive pronunciation by the official or neighbour, even to the point of nickname nomenclature or occupational designation, since he was unable to combat the environment, which he could not well understand, often in the face of some persecution or opposition. Many noble surnames of distinguished prevalence in Europe, thereby lost their pristine form and glory, and difficult is the task of re-establishment, even by the expert and conscientious genealogist.

conscientious genealogist.

For the most pertinent examples are those surnames which originally expressed "son of," as Fitz, Mac, "ap," and other forms, and the predicated articles, as in French, of "de la," "du," "des," etc.; while the prevailing tendency, in German forms, was to translate the German etymology into English equivalents, as Schwartz became Black, etc., developing and setting up many new alleged patronymics in America, where the older and original was completely lost or buried beyond recovery. Poor oral phonetics and careless transcription in the records have accentuated this disturbing course, and current or colloquial adoption and usage have completed the ruin of surname purity and identification.

This devastating fact was more positive in early colonial New York, because of the many difficult

This devastating fact was more positive in early colonial New York, because of the many difficult and unusual Dutch name-forms in old New Amsterdam, and likewise in neighbouring New Jersey, where the lines of immigration, in supplementing the English, were largely evidenced from that and French Huguenot sources.

French Huguenot sources.
Possibly the surname MONNET is an excellent illustration. Derived from the original Latin, MONET, a verb, third person, singular, indicative mood, present tense, translated from the verb "to warn," and from Moneta, early, and Moneti, later Italian, it found its first signification in the Roman Temple of Juno Moneta, i.e., called, mythologically, "The Warner," and then becoming Monnet and Monet in France, and after the Revocation of Nantes, to England and to America, where Manee, Minot, over thirty surname variations followed.

The occupational names of early New York

The occupational names of early New York interest, as the tradesmen and artisans usually were so described, and occasionally were only remembered by the preservation of the trade name. If THOMAS LAWRENCE were a baker in 1677, membered by the preservation of the trade name. If THOMAS LAWRENCE were a baker in 1677, he might have been called, appropriately, The Baker, but the probability is destroyed by the fact that the Holland de Baecker became a surname, Baker, as early as Colonial records abundantly show. Further, in an old map reference of 1683, the famous Reid Map of New Jersey, his name is given Law Baker, without any discritical marks to differentiate from Thomas Lawrence, attached to the same plot of land. Shortly previously, Thomas Laurentzen Popinga appeared in some Dutch church records, which has occasioned a famous genealogical dispute that this latter man was the same as the former, though clearly Popinga was not a true Frisian surname, merely descriptio personæ, meaning etymologically, "papejay," meaning parrot, and where used as a surname PAPEGOIA was clearly indicated, and not POPINGA, which interesting analysation is given in FIRST SETTLERS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, NEW JERSEY, a current reference series by this writer. In fact, if it be the same family, the Popinga was dropped entirely, and though THOMAS LAWRENCE, BAKER, with little likelihood of any punctuation in the original secords, so appeared, an alias was used, thus, Louriesse (sic), an attempt of some entrant to distinguish him as Dutch, or more probably to show that the previous owner or patentee was a Dutchman, by the name of LAURENTZEN, the Dutch for "son of" Laurence, a first name, and not patronymic, whatsoever. But remember that in American records very seldom does the "alias" mean another name or surname, as it was more frequently used as a designation of previous ownership, by another person, of the land, article in personal or place representation.

Perhaps the New Jersey records, as shown in its Archives, largely interspersed with New York origins, from Dutch New Amsterdam, in giving several pages of listed occupations of the First Settlers (Volume XXI), afforded the best opportunity of subjecting the possessor to a changed occupational name, as a "ma on" became such, occupational name, as a "ma on" became such, and illustrations multiply.

Likewise, Shakemaple, an old English name, was converted to Maple; Belconger to Conger, Montagne to Mountain, Fontaine to Fountain, de Forrest to Forrest, and kindred examples. Bound, pure English, was transferred to Bowne, and written as Bonue and Bonny.

and written as Bonue and Bonny.

Undoubtedly the pure French origin of William Mullins, from England, passenger in the Mayflower, has caused the greatest controversy. It was first alleged to have been Irish by a large contingent. This was disputed, and then alleged to have been Spanish, as Moleyn, and then Mollyneux. Its French origin from "moulins" is clear, and though William Mullins so signed his own cognomen that proves nothing, as his contemporaries were French, and that he was Huguenot seems certain; at least Molines, Fr. (sic), came with William the Conqueror before Huguenot days.

The riot of confusion as to English origins of with William the Conqueror before Huguenot days.

The riot of confusion as to English origins of true patronymics is cleared very greatly by that excellent modern authority, A HISTORY OF SURNAMES OF THE BRITISH ISLES, by C. L'Estrange Ewen (Macmillan, N. Y., 1931). This confusion is not lessened by Colonial usage of supposed immutable patronymics or true surnames in America, all of which makes genealogy both mystifying and interesting.

Amidst the hectic discussion, revolving around the attempt to set up an exclusive and personal serving office of heraldry, in Boston, this reference was recently uncovered by the writer.

It is an article "By New Englander," ridiculing the very thing which this self-exploitive group is trying to carry on, with much laughter from the outside, in democratic America. Sound, logical and most determinative, every professed heraldist exhault read should read.

Previously, in this REFERENCE SERIES, this writer has given extracts from these old court records; and most of the material appearing in this little volume has been covered in this REFERENCE SERIES. However, there are given certain items concerning OTTO LAW-RENCE and THOMAS LAWRENCE, 1683-5, both from New York; and since then the latter has developed into quite a figure in Piscataway genealogy, as THOMAS LAWRENCE, THE BAKER.

However, in addition to the list of justices and assistants given as in that book, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 542, et seq.), and other well-known names, families in this REFERENCE SERIES, there are some to be noted;

DISPUTE BETWEEN PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE

(DOC. COL. HIST. N. Y., HOLL. Vol. 2, pp. 722-3.)

Petition of DANIEL DENTON and JOHN GILMAN, representing Town of Piscattaway, 1674.

(Interesting.) MR. JOHN LAWRENCE, as President, Mr. Richard Betts, and Mr. James Hubbert, appointed commissioners. Order, "Done Fort Willem Hendrick, this 17th June, 1674."

BOUND BROOK AT PISCATAWAY (Called by the Indians, "SACUNCK")

The true source of this name has been explained, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 402), where it was noted first, as BOWNE BROOK, i.e., BOUND BROOK, as this family was first in Monmouth County, and then owned land contiguous. See also SOMERSET COUNTY DELINEATIONS, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 565 et seq.) It refers to the district, or village, and to the river of the name. Examine REID, MAPP, 1683, (vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1070-a and 1070-b). Also, Map of Hunterdon and Somerset Counties, 1881, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 560). Further, (SNELL, frontispiece).

ther, (SNELL, frontispiece).

It is specifically described in GAZETTEER, (1834, in relation to Green Brook), pp. 107-151.

There is material showing the land owners adjacent and they are to be found in the explanatory statements of the Reid Map, 1683, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. 1503). As these names have been repeated elsewhere, except that by 1727, many of the P. and W. settlers, moving westward, settled here, and then passed on.

A recent editorial appeared in a New Jersey paper insisting upon the long prevalent error of the origin of the name, BUT IT WAS AS ABOVE.—O. E. M.

SIX-MILE RUN, NOW FRANKLIN, SOMERSET

It has always been treated as the far from P. and, erroneously, claimed that the PYATT Fam. there was dif., from that of the latter.

In 1701, a Dutch Company from Long Island bought from JOHN HARRISON, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 564-5), a tract of 10,000 acres in the heart of Franklin Township, Somerset, and PETER CORTELYOU headed the group, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1072). The plot extended from the Raritan Lots on the north to a line running east and west near Six-Mile Run, and from the Millstone River on the west to the Indian path on the east." (SNELL, p. 803.)
"SIX-MILE RUN is situated on the road path on the east." (SNELL, p. 803.)

"SIX-MILE RUN is situated on the road which forms the division line between Middlesex and Somerset Counties, about six miles southwest of New Brunswick. A church was built about 1718, now Elm Ridge Cemetery, and first court house of the county at SIX-MILE RUN, about 1714. Houses indicated, along the SIX-MILE RUN road, (as foll.), and "on the south side of the road, opposite Simon Wyckoff's was the house of JOHN PYATT, (sic.).

To say that the PYATT Family of SIX-MILE RUN was a different family, by identifying it, as PIATT, is simply inept, (vide, ante, THIS PART, p. indic.), and NOT TRUE.—O. E. M.

THE SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI

An excellent article appears in the current Americana (Amer. Hist. Mag., Vol. XXIX, Dec. 1934), with beautiful cover illustration and some fine plates illuminating the text which is a historic review of this Society. The information given is very complete and it is a worth-while historic contribution.

Judge Lewis Howell Smith, of the Superior Court of Los Angeles for many years, and a jurist of distinction, is a direct lineal descendant and first son of the father in each generation from Capt. Ebenezer Aug. Smith, an officer in the Army of George Washington during the American Revolution, and who became a member of the Society of Cincinnati, and Judge Lewis Howell Smith has in his possession the original certificate of membership which will be used as an illustration in this PART SEVEN, (to be found on page 1542).

WHAT KENTUCKY THINKS ABOUT DRAPER MSS.

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1473.) (June 1, 1935, Louisville)

"THE CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS GRAHAM DINNER

To the Editor of The Courier-Journal

In the room where rare documents are placed in the Harper Library, University of Chicago, one finds much of interest from almost everywhere. In the Durrett Collection purchased in Louisville several years ago may be found full details of a banquet which was given at the Louisville Hotel, Friday evening, October 10, 1884, in honor of Dr. Christopher Columbus Graham."

"There seems to be confusion about the date of Dr. Graham's birth. Some authorities state he was born in 1787. Later authorities have the date as October 10, 1784. The last-named date was accepted for the occasion to commemorate his 100th birthday and is doubtless accurate. It was intended to have 100 guests present at this dinner. The invitation said the dinner was to be a 'pioneer repast of a hundred years ago more than a banquet of modern times.' A menu card is not found with the rest of the data, so one's imagination must suffice. Proctor Knott was then Governor of Kentucky and accepted the invitation to be present, as did also a former Governor, Beriah Magoffin."

"Among those declining the invitation to be present was LYMAN C. DRAPER, distinguished as a historian and a collector of historical data in the West, WHO CARRIED IMMENSE QUANTITIES OF KENTUCKY MANUSCRIPTS TO WISCONSIN, where they are now preserved in the historical library of that State; also one from Gen. S. B. Buckner of Munfordville, who was unavoidably detained. A notable letter was written by Jefferson Davis declining to come." * * * *

DR. WILLARD ROUSE JILLSON, FRANKFORT, KY.

DR. WILLARD ROUSE JILLSON, FRANKFORT, KY.

The writer has enjoyed a fine correspondence, and recently called upon him in Kentucky. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1501.) As recognized, he has performed an invaluable service, in preserving the Filson, 1784, account of DANIEL BOONE, about the only real documentary history, yet presented.

Attention is called to the article in April, 1935, The Reg., of the Ky. State Hist. Soc., (Vol. 33, pp. 137 et seq.). Well, as the writer has courteously written, this is NOT HISTORY—but, the Kentuckians revel in and gloat over this secondary, unrealistic pabulum—and it is not for the writer to deny them the romance and glamour of it all. But, these legendary accounts are not FACT or HISTORY, and the authenticity and source possibilities of the DRAPER MSS. recede, as one delves into the real county records of Kentucky. The citizenry of that State need not worry longer about what DRAPER "carried off," as he probably never looked into an official record, let alone carrying them away, in his "old horse and buggy," That is a popular misconception, which Kentuckians would do well to forget, and to ask their historians to search deeply, in their own gold mines of original information, and forget the "puttering" notes and memoranda of DRAPER, which have been given an undeserved dignity and place, wholly unjustified.—O. E. M.

Likewise, Reserves for PART SEVEN, (vide, tte, PART SIX, p. 1161). RICHARDSON, ante, PART (pp. 26-29).

The ref. volume is out of print and so rare, that it had been the hope of this editor to re-publish these militia rolls. They have been photostated, from the orig. in Cong. Lib., at Washington, D. C., but, again, space prevents. However, four or five certain entries, appearing, identify personages covered in this Reference Series, namely:

(2) Corporal JOHN HARRISON, N. J. Rev. Soldier, rem. to Kentucky, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1184).

It is very apparent that since names occur in STRYKER, not appearing in the above lists, these Rolls are incomplete.—O. E. M.

RECORDS AND GENEALOGICAL DEDUCTIONS

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1163.)

After the manner and precedence of this section, in each PART of this REFERENCE SERIES. They represent factual conclusions, based in large measure upon the recordal researches and findings of the writer, but in some referential phases, upon the conscientious and acceptable work of others. the white, but in some renerental phases, upon the conscientious and acceptable work of others. This editor has grown more courageous in refusing to accept professional dicta and expert opinion, as they are less likely to contribute truth and accuracy, because of the self-exploitive features of this class of favoritism. Therefore, if statements here are new, provocative or challenging, they will ultimately induce GENEALOGICAL TRUTH. Of course, where negativing other opinions in secluded circles of vaunting criticism, it is not with the slightest intent of dealing in personalities or of using ungracious language, concerning another. But, it is high time, all false pretenses to "originality of pronouncement" or "private discoveries," or "editorial efficiency," be thrown into the discard. Accuracy cannot be maintained by yelping about "experience" and showing other egotistic manifestations.

ATTENTION: PREVIOUS SURNAME REFERENCES, APPEARING IN PARTS, ONE TO SIX, OF THIS REFERENCE SERIES, ARE NOT IN EACH CASE REPEATED IN THE FOLLOWING GENEALOGICAL DEDUCTIONS. THEREFORE, URGENT SUGGESTION IS MADE TO THE STUDENT AND SEARCHER TO LOOK UP EACH SURNAME, BEING INVESTIGATED IN THE INDEXES, PRESENTED IN THIS PART, (vide, ante, pp. 1293 to 1439, inc.).—O. E. M.

WILLIAM ACKERLY OF REVEL SURVEYS

He appeared in 1697, and his pedigree relates to the rather noted family at E., represented by widow Sympkins there. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE,

HENRY ACRES, Often ACKERS, OF NEWBURY

He m. there Hannah Silver, 13 March, 1674. Chil. (COFFIN, p. 293) "perhaps others." Of the line of JOHN, BOSTON, 1656, at Muddy River, now Brookline, m. bef. 1664, Desiretruth dau. of WILLIAM THORNE, (which is very suggestive). Out of this fam. came children (q. v.), of that certain surname in N. J.

WILLIAM ACRES, (AKERS), of Hopewell. There first, 1698-9. March 18, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 786; ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 517). A son, SIMON ACRES was in Hunterdon, 1722 and 1720, (ARCH., Vol. XXII, p. 388).

BENJAMIN ACTON, WEAVER, OF SALEM TOWN

(ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 610, et al.)

He came as a young man to Fenwick's Colony in 1677.

A relative of FITZ RANDOLPH of Middlesex. Gen. is presented in FENWICK, (SHOURDS, pp. 18 et seq., with errors and omissions).

BENJAMIN ACTON (3) of Salem, m. Nov.
24, 1773, HANNAH (FITZ) RANDOLPH, of Cumberland, (ARCH., Vol. XXII, p. 329).

AIKMAN FROM SCOTLAND

This referred to two brothers, WILLIAM AIKMAN, sometimes Aickman or Eckman or Ekman and THOMAS AIKMAN, both F. S. after 1685, They were Scotch. (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 155 and 290-1.)

Peapack, as with HULL, Somerset Co., was the gen. center of this fam.

JOHN AIKMAN, OF MORRIS

He was of the second gen. Will, 1754, Nov. 10, prov. Dec. 9, 1755. Names wife, Jean; Children, William, Alexander and three daughters, unnamed. Grandson, William Aikman. (ARCH., Vol. XXII, p. 10.)

ALBURTUS OF NEWTOWN, L. I.

Immigrant, PETER CAESAR ALBURTUS, native of Venice, rem. to New Amsterdam, before 1642, where he m. 1642, Judith Jans Meynie, from Amsterdam in Holland. From this sprang ALBURTIS, or simply BURTIS. He d. bef. 1686, (RIKER, pp. 395 et seq.). His eldest son:

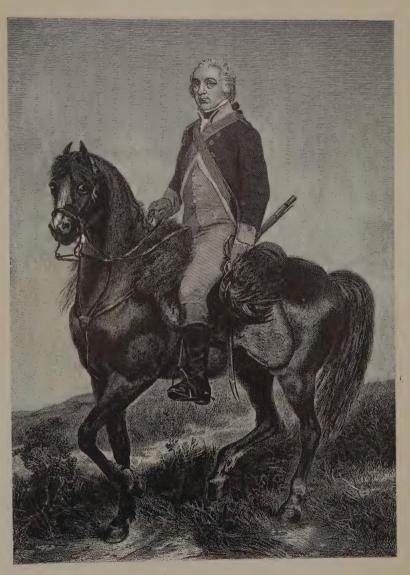

JOHN ALBURTIS OF NEWTOWN, L. I. (Auth., supra.)

Two of his sons settled in N. J., JOHN ALBURTIS, 2nd, and WILLIAM, his brother.

ALEXANDER FAMILY

ALEXANDER FAMILY

ANDREW, JOHN, GEORGE, DAVID and PATRICK. There were five F. S., of whom ANDREW ALEXANDER of E., who came in 1685, with the Scotch migration and was a grantee of Blew Hills, Essex Co., (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 189). He acted, July 13, 1686, as attorney for JOHN AND GEORGE ALEXANDER, for land at P. A.," "in right of one 16th share there, on one 24th share of the Province." (also ARCH., VOL. XXIII, pp. 409 and 420).

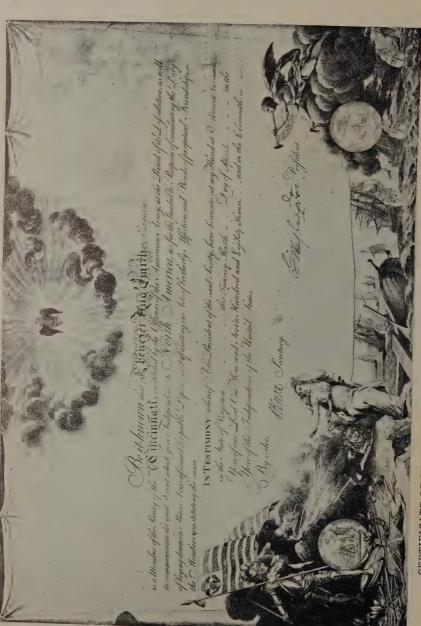

& Christee

MAJOR HENRY LEE, (afterwards Major-General of the U. S., 1798).

He served as a military leader in the War of the Revolution, 1777 till 1780, (POWLE'S HOOK, p. 24). (Heitman, p. 345.)

Born 1756, son of Henry Lee and Lucy Grimes, and father of General Robert E. Lee, he was called "Light Horse Harry," and became famous for the Captaincy of the First Continental Light Dragoons, which was transformed to "LEE'S LEGION" of over 202 men. He died Mar. 25, 1818. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1540.) (Cut kindly loaned by RICHARDSON.)

CERTIFICATE OF MEMBERSHIP OF EBENEZER AUG. SMITH, ESQ., THE SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI, by signature of GEORGE WASHINGTON, PRESIDENT. Dated April 26, 1787. His great-great-grandson, Judge Lewis Howell Smith, now of the Superior Court of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, owns the original, and is the inheritor, of this ancestral right. (Vide, ante, text appearing on p. 1539 of this PART.)—O.E. M. CAPTAIN EBENEZER AUGUSTUS SMITH was b. in Delaware, 1723, d. 1793.

He rem. to Burl. by 1731, and was called "of maica." He was a school master.

The other two, DAVID and PATRICK, came, as "servants" for Lord Neil Campbell, (ARCH., VOL XXI, p. 61), in 1685.

JAMES ALEXANDER OF RARITAN

Perchance the greatest of all, and son of the first Andrew Alexander.

SAMUEL ALGER OF WOODBRIDGE, F. S.

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 583.)

The perversion of this spelling from AUGUR and AWGER is best explained by SAVAGE, (Vol. 1, p. 28). AUGER, (id., p. 78).

SAMUEL AUGUR, (ALGER), was a land owner at W. by 1670, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 16). This item has heretofore been overlooked.

JEDIDIAH ALLEN OF SHREWSBURY

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 786.)

This family persists, as related to Woodbridge, and, especially, FITZ RANDOLPH.

and, especially, FITZ RANDOLPH.

Again, it should be noted that the lists of children should be further extended. Apparently, the child, given by other authority than the writer, was Experience, b. 30 Aug., 1670, d. soon; and not "Esperance." There being a second of the first name, b. 30 Dec. 1671, who lived and m.

To the list must now be added with certainty, GEORGE ALLEN of Shrewsbury, as note that the first JUDAH ALLEN in his will of 1689, wrote "brother George Allen," (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 11). (N. E. HIST. GEN., Vol. 25, p. 144, incomplete and errs.—O. E. M.)

JOHN ALLEN, CONSTABLE, OF WOODBRIDGE

DALLY confused his record, with that of REV. JOHN ALLEN, of W., who d. 1683/4, tho leaving a son, JOHN ALLEN, (p. 103). The meatpacker was he of the title, and a Quaker.

JOHN ALLEN, constable (1687), m. Susanah Alger, dau. of THOMAS ALGER, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 583; VIT. RECS., p. 108).

He made his will, 1702-3, Jan. 4, prov. Jan. 28, 1702-3, called of Middlesex Co., Cooper, and named son, JOHN ALLEN, and daus., tho un named. His exctrs. were JOHN FITZ RANDOLPH and NATHANIEL FITZ RANDOLPH and NATHANIEL FITZ RANDOLPH, JR., both of W. He had m. (2) sec. wife, JANE, as chil. by dif. mothers:

ALLEN.

I. JOHN, of John and Susannah,
b. Feb. 5, 1683/4.
II. Sarah, of "John and Jane," b. Oct. 5, 1689.

III. Elizabeth "of John and Jane," b. June 15, 1691. IV. Mercy, (Mary) "of John and Jane," b. Jan. 1, 1693.

His son, JOHN ALLEN, of W. m. Oct. 24, 1707, Deliverance Potter, dau. of Marmaduke Potter of W. He d. 1715, and she remarried to John Jacques, Nov. 17, 1716, while his sister, Elizabeth Allen, m. Aug. 20, 1711, Joseph Thornell of W. (Vit. Recs., vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 247.) (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 10.)

After some search, this writer has concluded that JOHN ALLEN, Constable, of W., was a son of JEDEDIAH ALLEN, of Shrewsbury, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 786), whose chil are not yet fully worked out in completeness.

PETER ALRICKS OF NEW JERSEY

PETER ALRICKS OF NEW JERSEY

An important discovery! The last is not a true record of his will, and clerk advises that it is only a memo, unofficial, inserted in the records in after years. Therefore, PETER ALRICKS had other sons and daus than those given by PRICE (supra), and heretofore accepted. This is certain.—O. E. M.

EVARTS ALRICKS OF SALEM

He was a son of PETER ALRICKS, THE FIRST; settler in West Jersey, in the Manor of Fenwicks Grove, Salem Tenth, on Fenwicks River and Salem Creek.

HARMANUS ALRICKS, was present there 1708-9.

This family spread into Penna., and one Harmanus Alricks was a settler at Cumberland, Md. There was relation to GEORGE ALRICKS, called "Elerich," of the Rev. War.

A daughter, Hannah Alston cert. became the wife of Jonathan Toms of W., (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 485), by 1747-8.

THOMAS ALWARD, THE FIRST (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 787.)

A correspondent, Mrs. Allen D. Smith, Registrar D. A. R., DeSoto Branch, Tampa, Florida, has, from family records, developed additional

"THOMAS ALWARD was a beneficed English clergyman. In 1662 when the Act of Uniformity in England was passed he was deprived of his living for refusing to conform to its requirements.

So he decided to join the Carteret Company in N. J. In 1665, with his wife Anne and infant son, Henry, he went to Elizabeth Town. In 1665 they had a daughter, Christian, born who later married Thomas Moore.

Dec. 11, 1666, Rev. John Woodbridge started Woodbridge, so Thomas Alward and his wife went there. He died shortly after that, and his widow married for her 2nd husband in 1675, Robert Rogers."

JACOB AMMONET OF VIRGINIA

Pamphlet was compiled by Clifton Wood Bransford, (Owensboro, Ky.), before 1906; refs., herein, (vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 986 and 1164). Hug. Soc. of America. This was A' MONNET.

"The Ammonet family is of French origin. The founder, JACOB AMMONET, his wife and four infants, with a number of other Huguenot emigrants from France, reached the colony of Virginia in 1700. His ancestry has not been traced. In 1634, Jacob, Pierre and Matthieu Ammonet were resident heads of families in Loudun, France."

"JACOB AMMONET settled at Manakintown."*

APPLEGATE ORIGINS

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 584.)

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 584.)
Attention is called to that error made by correspondent, (not the writer), in articles from Jersey genealogy. A full presentation was attempted by Horner, in the Freehold Transcript (N. J.), (issue April 3, 1931), which is not complete and with errors. However, the first THOMAS APPLE-GATE, and his wife, Elizabeth, are well given, and it was the son, THOMAS APPLEGATE II who appeared in Monmouth County and had wife, Joanna, dau. of Richard Gibbons. It was the dau. Elizabeth, (of Thomas II), who m. the first John Vaughan of New Jersey. (Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 406.)

JUDGE EDWARD ANTILL OF MIDDLESEX

He was the second of the name, and a F. S. of P. The genealogy and reference already given should be coordinated with an account given in GENEALOGY, (Clemens, Aug. 17, 1912, Vol. 7, No. 7, p. 259).

The subject was Judge of Middlesex Court of Common Pleas, in 1739, and a member of the Council in 1741 and 1761.

(Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 406.) The latter should be related to item, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 402).

WALTER ANTROBUS OF HERTS, ENG.

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1164.)

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1164.)

His prob. relative in New Jersey was BENJAMIN ANTROBUS, in REVEL SURVEYS,
1685, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 584).
(ARCH., Vol. XXI, index.)

This was acutely brought forward in the records presented as from Saint Albans, Herts, Eng., (vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 998-1003), with partic. ref. to Chart re Antrobus, (p. 1005). This origin is definite and clear, with coat-of-arms.

HENRY AXTELL OF SUDBURY, MASS.

He was a N. J. progenitor, in that he may have been a son of Thomas, rem. 1660 to Mariborough, there m. 14 June, 1665, Hannah, whose fam. name unknown, as widow, m. 16 July 1677, William Taylor (sic.), and her first husband was killed by the Indians Apr., 1676, so recorded by his son, DANIEL AXTELL, as see N. E. HIST. GEN. REG., (Vol. 21, p. 60), rec. in 1691. From the account given in Hist. of Morris Co., N. J., (1882, p. 242), the first HENRY AXTELL, blacksmith and N. J. father, of all, was the son, in turn, of the last above, DANIEL AXTELL, and joined to BURT and CONDICT, there, 1715.

BALE OF NEW JERSEY

This was spelled BAYLE, never Dutch, always f French origin, and cognate with Anglicized Bailey

Bailey.

While on Kentucky trip, met Mr. Isaac Buckner Bale, who had a small leaflet Bale Gen., of uncertain statement. It was by a John F. Bale, who claimed the great-grandfather to have been IACOB BALE, b. Aug. 17, 1761, and reared in N. J. He m. there Dec. 21, 1786, Sophia Snuke, prob. Snook. It is stated the parents were from Holland, more likely referring to the wife's ancestry. They moved to Green Co., Ky., in 1797, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1500).

The ancestor was that HENRY BALE, settling in 1751, in Lafayette, Sussex Co., N. J., and founded Baleville, (Sussex, p. 371). HULL.

SAMUEL BICKFORD OF PISCATAWAY

He d. there, Sept. 14, 1681, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 242). (HOYT, Vol. I, p. 115.)

He was identical with that one, first at Salisbury and then at Nantucket, who m. Mary, dau. of EDWARD COTTLE, (q. v.), and who was 1 Nov. 1653.

He was aged 21 in 1669, and prob. a son of the first George Cottle, and wife, Christian, (N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., Vol. VI, p. 243). He was SAMUEL BICKFORD of Amesbury, "Jamaica, so called," "wife, Mary, 1670. George Bickford had a servant, Hugh Hancock, 1666."

When he rem. to Pisc. does not appear,

Contrary to LIBBY, (MAINE, PART TWO, p. 91), the one who is always careless about surname spellings, form Bickford is NOT correct. The orig. etymon was BECKFORD, (EWEN, SURNAMES, p. 239). Gloucestershire.

LIEUT. JOHN BISHOP OF WOODBRIDGE

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, pp. 745, et seq.)

"JOHN BISHOP was a carpenter, which was a common vocation of the early settlers of Woodbridge, but he was also a substantial man of affairs in the early history of the town." However, it appears that in Newbury, he was a miller. He had settled there in 1637 and he sold his mill in 1644 and removed to Woodbridge, possibly 1666.7 sibly 1666-7

BLACKFORD OF PISCATAWAY

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1165-6), where are gathered previous references.

N. B. The writer has compiled this family for several generations, with great care, but limitations of space forbid their inclusion.—O. E. M.

SAMUEL BLACKFORD, THE FIRST, OF PISCATAWAY

He appeared on or before Aug. 16, 1695, when he had 160 acres of land, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 106).

His children have been given, except MATTHIAS BLACKFORD and ANTHONY BLACKFORD, the latter of P., both appearing in N. J. by 1750, (ARCH., VOL. XXX, pp. 254 and 352). (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 792, and PART SIX, pp. 1113-4.)

There is every reason to believe that he had a son of the same name, and one was on Bound Brook. The father was dead by 1712, leaving Anne Blackford, his widow and exetr., et al. The three sons, Samuel, John and Daniel served in Coll. Thos. Ffarmer's Reg't., of 1715, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 114).

In the third generation, grandsons of the above progenitor were John Blackford, Jr., Joseph Blackford, Samuel Blackford, Jr., Nathaniel Blackford, Jeremiah Blackford, Nehemiah Blackford and Benjamin Blackford, who carried the name on to permanent distinction.

BLOSSOM FAMILY

This family was represented among the first settlers of Piscataway by ELIZABETH BLOSSOM, who was the wife of EDWARD FITZ RANDOLPH, FIRST SETTLER. As ELIZABETH FITZ RANDOLPH, she appears in the Elizabethtown Bill in Chancery, 1676, and came to Piscataway with her husband, 1669-1670.

BRASSIEUR (Brassier) BRASHEAR

(Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 407.)

When the Brashear-Brashears Family 1449-1929, was pub., 1929, (vide, ante, BIB., PART THREE, p. 318), this editor compiled and transmitted an article on his own ancestry, which was pub. therein, (pp. 141 et seq.), which was the first compilation distinguishing the Maryland Fam. Likewise, additional records have been procured, and evidences of the family in early N. Y. and N. J., of which HENRY BRESIER, (sic.) was the first progenitor as early as 1648, (CAL of N. Y. Mss., Dutch, 1630-1664, p. 45). Called "HARRY BRESIER," and BRASER, and lived on the "island of Manhattans," 1654; "HENRY BRESIER," 1652; HARRY BRASIER, 1655, and on East River, 1645.

BRESSER, for BRASHER, was ABRAHAM, who appeared in N. Y. as an Ensign, 1689, without doubt, a son of the first, (above). (Vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 407.)

COLONEL ABRAHAM BRASHER

This was the same as orig., BRASSIEUR, (q. v.), and ref., because of that name, in foll., "Brasher, Col. Abraham; d. 7 Dec., 1782, act., 60, i. e., b. 1722, and imp. fact. (First Church of Morristown, N. J., (p. 23).

BENJAMIN BRASSIEUR OF MARYLAND

BENJAMIN BRASSIEUR OF MARYLAND Son of Robert Brassieur of Virginia. He was denizated as a French Protestant in Calvert County in 1662. This is given in full, quoted from Maryland Archives, (Vol. III, p. 465), called "Benoist Brasseuir" and should be consulted for the form, of procedure, so tolerantly followed by this Catholic Province, quite the reverse of intolerant Massachusetts settlers, alleged to have special commissions as to Puritans, direct from God. (BRASHEAR GEN., pp. 143-146.)

His wife was named Mary. They had MARTHA

His wife was named Mary. They had MARTHA BRASSEUR, who m. 1674, Henry Kent, Jr. Another dau., ANNE BRASSIEUR, m. ca. 1685, William Dalrymple, Jr., b. ca. 1668, (idem, pp. 146-150), where print error occurs, in calling her dau. of John Brassier, when she was dau. of BENOIST (Benjamin) BRASSIEUR, (supra).

ROBERT BRASSEUR OF VIRGINIA

He had land soon after, 1636, (CAVALIERS, pp. 41 and 76), at least by 1637. This was confirmed, as ROBERT BRASSURE in 1638, (id. p. 103). Again, in 1639, (id. p. 111). Again in 1640, (id. p. 124).

The whole story of patent grant is in the same, (p. 244), where 1653, he had granted 1,200 acres in Nauzemond Co., for transporting into the Province, ROBT. BRASSEUR, Florence, his Province, ROBT. BRASSEUR, Florence, his wife, Mary Brasseur, Bennet Brasseur, (this was Benoist), (and sub. BENJAMIN BRASSEUR), of Calvert Co., Md., et al, and JOHN SUTTON. Again, in 1653, (p. 257 idem). In the next ref., (id. p. 329), name spelled BENJAMIN BRASSEURE, 300 acres on Nansemond Riv., adjoining land of "Mr. John Garrat," who as John Gerer, subsequently appeared in Calvert Co., Md., (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1183).

This orig. and lineage are traced in BRASHEAR-BRASHEARS GEN., but this writer discovered his removal to Md., and death there of ROBERT BRASSEUIR, SR., d. there 1665, (p. 145), as see him styled, ROBERT BRASHIEUR, SR."

FRANCIS BREWSTER, NEW JERSEY MAYFLOWER DESCENDANT

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 798.)

Like Banquo's ghost this arises to confront the sages and the "ne plus ultra," who have prevented so many good Americans from their rightful inheritance, by ipse dixit. "THOU SHALT NOT PASS."

Recently discovered by the writer-

REV. EBENEZER GOOLD, (Gould), OF THE TOWNSHIP OF GREENWICH,

CUMBERLAND CO., N. J.

"After Mr. Goold came to Greenwich, he was married to Amie Brewster, a sister of FRANCIS BREWSTER, one of the elders of the church, AND A DESCENDANT OF THE ELDER BREWSTER, WHO LANDED FROM THE "MAYFLOWER" AT PLYMOUTH IN 1620. She died in the year previous to that in which Mr. Goold resigned his pastoral charge, (1739), and was interred under the communion-table of the church, which had been recently erected. Near her grave still remains a marble slab, on which her death is recorded, July 16, 1739, aged thirty-six years." (GLOUSACUMB, p. 682.)

BRODERICK FAMILY OF CASCO, MAINE

This surname is susceptible of several corruptions. EWEN, (p. 211), recognizes the name in the form of the title as an "Anglicization" of the Irish O' Bruadair, which is most interesting. However, that it is cognate with Brodrick and Brodribb, pp. 255 and 265). The former is Welsh, from ab or ap Roderick, i. e., Rodricus. Again, Broadridge, Broadrigg, etc., are the same, (EWEN), and as such went to Maine.

Poss. Brodrepp, and in VIS. of Berkshire, Eng., it was Brodrewick, as in N. J., and Brodrepp, in Dorset, and Brodrick, (MARSHALL, p. 66).

THOMAS BRODERICK OF PISCATAWAY

He came from the Piscataqua Region, N. H. A F. S., and is noted in 1717, of P., as wit., to will of the first Edward Doty, 1717, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 141). Also 1714, witness to will of Abraham Marlett of P., (idem, p. 304). Other entries.

His wife, Mary, was a dau. of Isaac Smalley of P., 1724, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 423), and wife, Mary White. She was b. Oct. 13, 1686.

Children: (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 229.)

BRUERE, FRENCH HUGUENOT

This is a N. J. Fam., at P., which had a defi-nite French origin, and because of early dispersion has received little attention, yet, modern direc-tories show the name, sometimes with prefix "Le" and "De."

The fam, orig. in DAUPHINY, France, and had a coat-of-arms, from Nobility, (RIETSTAP, VOL. I, p. 315).

PIERRE (PETER) BRUERE OF MONMOUTH

By 1722, he was recorded, although he had prob. arr. earlier, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 283). This most interesting thing about this record is that he was associated with ISAAC STELLE, of that GREAT FRENCH HUGUENOT FAMILY, and JOHN ROVE (Rovere), also a HUG.

DANIEL BAYLESS, THE FIRST

(For Mrs. Mary Hoss Headman, Knoxville, Tenn.)
Descendant of the above, who was a grandson of John Baylis, called Baylee, of Huguenot descent, b. in 1617, and came in 1635. New England to Long Island, and see (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 692).

The one of the title, settled first in Hunterdon Co., was a justice, and then in Middlesex Co., New Jersey. He had a son Daniel Bayless, 2nd, b. in N. J. in 1716, m. Johanna Lake, and rem. to Cecil Co., Md., and from there to Loudon Co., Va., and finally, during the Rev. War, to Washington Co., in East Tenn.

It is prob. that BALE, (vide, ante, this PART, 1545), is cognate in "Baylee," (supra).

JOSEPH BIRD OF RAHWAY

It is said his father was one JONATHAN BIRD, b. ca. 1655, who m. Hampton; d. 1738, and had sons, Joseph, Hampton, Samuel, Reuben and John, et al.

Subject was ident. with that one of E., "yeoman," will, dated Sept. 22, 1740, wife, Elizabeth, and chil, Samuel, Ruben, John and Abigail. Prov. Oct. 6, 1740, (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 46).

He was the father of Jeremiah Bird, who d. 1738, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1165).

ANDREW BYERLY OF BUSHY RUN

This Pennsylvanian was, in 1758, the companion and sustaining aid of Col. Henry Bouquet of Indian warfare fame. He established a relay station for express riders, midway between Fort Pitt and Fort Ligonier, at Bushy Run. He then had a second wife and a young and growing family. (BOUQUET, p. 17.) Mrs. Byerly had maiden name of Beatrice Guldin, and had emigrated from the Canton of Berne, Switzerland, the native home of Col. Bouquet. Byerly was a baker, by trade, and had lived at Lancaster, Pa., where he erected a fine Inn. He had baked for Braddock's Army; and buried his first wife there. He was a friend of Washington, etc. His most important son was Jacob Byerly, and they rem. to Fort Bedford, (p. 53). Four chil, Michael, Jacob, Francis and Andrew, et al. There were also Benjamin and Joseph, possibly his sons, and daus, not named.

The name became Birely, and Michael, son, (supra), was a Rev. Soldier, (SPIRIT, of which O. E. M. was editor, 1915, p. 173). Mr. Charles Erwin Bireley of Los Angeles, being a personal friend of the writer, and pub. of MONNET, in

He belonged to a body called the Welsh Company, which came to New England in 1640 from Monmouthshire, England. See formal Gen., Ancestor of several N. J. fams. from Conn.

CHAMBERLAYNE IN FRANCE

A lineage of distinguished nobility, Normandy. The best statement is:

The best statement is:

"CHAMBERLAIN or CHAMBERLIN;
JOHN de TANKERVILLE, son of COUNT TANKERVILLE of TANKERVILLE CASTLE in NORMANDY, came to England, with WILLIAM, THE CONQUEROR, 1066. His son, JOHN de TANKERVILLE, was LORD CHAMBERLAIN to HENRY I, and his son, JOHN, held the same position at the court of STEPHEN
I, and assumed the surname of CHAMBERLAIN. (HOLMES, p. xliv.)

CHAMBERLAYNE IN ENGLAND

Running back to William, the Conqueror, this surname had its origin in France, and the families in England were the marks of the Orders of Nobility.

No family appeared in East N. J., to whom so much aristocratic affluence attended, tho like other armorial and hereditary distinctions, they were probably too heavy to carry in mass, and were thrown overboard as the Colonial forests and Indians were seen, in the distance.

CHAMBERLAIN, OFTEN CHAMBERLIN. OF N. E.

The first HENRY CHAMBERLIN of Hingham, shoemaker, and later, Hull, Mass., who came in 1638, with two children, William and Henry, was the father, or the elder brother of JOHN CHAMBERLAIN, of Boston, currier, 1651.

CHRISTIAN CLARKSON, WIFE OF FIRST JAMES

This easily shown: She was CHRISTIAN SPENCE, dau. of James Spence of Ownesferry, Scotland, merchant, unmarried and sole heiress of her sister, Margaret Spence, widow of John Verner, of Dathvick, as shown by the will of the latter dated 1685, Nov. 1, "made aboard the Henry and Francis of New Castle," (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 125).

1689, Aug. 11, Letters of admin. granted on the above estate to JAMES CLARKSON, of W., her brother-in-law, i. e., m. to sister of Margaret Spence, dec'd. (Idem, p. 128.)

IOHN CLAWSON OF HACKENSACK, 1671 (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 17; IDEM, XXIII, p. 96.)

This must be resolved with CLAWSON, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 594). Very important in this gen., as there were two brothers, WILLIAM and JOHN CLAWSON, of P., before 1700, as see.—O. E. M.

CODDINGTON OF WOODBRIDGE

On page 9 (of idem, supra), is given the long list of children of BENJAMIN CODDINGTON, two daus. of this group, Rebecca and Mary, prob. b. 1717 to 1721, unmarried and under 18 in 1753. Will of BENJAMIN CODDINGTON, SR., 1750, (ARCH., VOL. XXXII, p. 63).
One of his daus. b. ca. 1709, m. WILLIAM PANGBURN, as named in said will.

MR. TRISTRAM COFFIN OF NEWBURY

B. in 1609, Brixham Parish, town of Plymouth, in Devon, Eng. Son of Peter and Joanna Coffin. He m. Dionis Stevens. Came in 1642, to N. E., bringing his mother, Joanna, who d. May, 1661, aged 77; his two sisters, Eunice and Mary, his wife, and five chil., Peter, Tristram, Elizabeth, James and John.

When Col. C. H. Weygant essayed to find the maiden name of one of the wives of REV. JOS-EPH HULL, it was concluded that she was of this group, because of sev. coll. items, contiguity, and the repetition of the name, TRISTRAM HULL, in this fam., app, from no other source. The strength of the second TRISTRAM COFFIN

The story of the second, TRISTRAM COFFIN, is in COFFIN, (pp. 298-9).—O. E. M.

There is evidence of the fam. in N. J.

(N. E. HIST. REG., VOL. 24, pp. 149 et sed., and id. Vol. 31, p. 18) where mother and dau. Joan(na), appear, as eligibles.—O. E. M.

COMPTON OF ENGLAND

With ref. to the N. J. Family, this editor has procured from an old book shop in Piccadilly, London, a glorious chart of the ancestors of this noble family, which leads back, genealogically, under the title of "ARDEN, EARDENE, AR-DERNE and COMPTON."

These families were one and the same, and joined together, out of which came the Cheshire branch of the Ardens to whom belonged the family of Novoborgo, 1229, and from it the family of Belocampo, really, the modern Beauchamp.

The charts and pedigrees, with coats of arms, are elaborate and COMPTON proper starts with OSBERTUS DE COMPTON, (16 Henry II), and the lineage passes down the generations, with the same first names as those appearing in N. J.

From the first was established a standard coat of arms for the family, of many variations, but of which "the three helmets" were the leading

The book and charts in question were published by W. Pickering, (prob. 100 years ago), in Piccadilly; and are crowned by numerous colored portraits of the nobles of the family, opening with that of Henry Lord Compton, obt. 1589, (from the original picture in the collection of the Marquis of Northampton).

Of this lineage, the first was WILLIAM COMPTON, K.G., who was the first Earl of Northampton and President of Wales, the second Earl being Spencer Compton who "was slain" at Hoptonheath, March 19th, 1642. There are many of these illustrations and over one hundred coats-of-arms, and the lineage is clearly defined as descending from Egbert, King from 800 to 836.

(This is one of the rare items in the private library of O. E. M.)

WILLIAM COMPTON, THE FIRST OF N. J.

Running clear thru, as the associate of RICH-ARD SMITH of P. and W., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 288), from the orig. home of both, Ipswich, Mass., via Conn., Long Island and into N. J., realizing this full significance, for the first time, it seems clear that the first wife, Elizabeth(?), of RICHARD SMITH, must have been a dau. of the former, WILLIAM COMPTON, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 809; ref. to PART FOUR, p. 495).

RICHARD SMITH'S third wife, Flinger and

FOUR, p. 495),

RICHARD SMITH'S third wife, Elliner and himself, were "in at the death" of WILLIAM COMPTON, 1694, solely, with EDWARD WATSON, of W., (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 104 and p. 431), and when RICHARD SMITH, senior of W., himself d., in 1696, his brother-in-law, (?)JOHN COMPTON, assisted in the estate. This will bear close searching, for further proof, but it's certainty grows on the writer. Where else did soon a RICHARD COMPTON arise?

DAVID CONGER, LOYALIST

DAVID CONGER, LOYALIST

"David Conger was born at Piscataqua, New Jersey, in 1731. A brass founder and silversmith by trade. At heart a Loyalist, after the war, moved to Ulster County, N. Y. In 1786, he moved to Hallowell, Ont., and selected a millsite on the Bay of Quinte." "When David settled in Canada, he left some property unsold in the states. In his absence, others took possession. Years afterward his heirs endeavored to reclaim it, but without result." He died in 1792, aged 61 years. His wife, (b. 1734), died in 1817, aged 83. Children: Sabra; Aceneth; John; David S.; Rachel; Sarah who married Augustus Spencer; Dorcas; Peter D.; Stephen, Mary and Wilson." (Letter from Rush M. Blodgett, January 28, 1935.)

BARENT JACOBS COOL

Dutch, in New Amsterdam, he was the earliest in N. Y. Colony, and more prominent than Cornelis Jansen Cool. (Ger., KUHL or KULL). There before, 1633, as see N. Y. Col. Mss., (Holland Docs., Vol. II, p. 140). CHAMBERS, (Early Germans, pp. 299 et seq.), tells of him, calling him KOOL, and muddles the genealogy. He refers to the printed gen., (vide, ante, BIB., this PART, under COLE). The subject did send reps., into N. J.

COOLBAUGH OF NEW JERSEY

Origin of the name of Coolbaugh has not been fully determined at this writing. One common explanation is that it signifies "cool brook." The word cool is derived from such words as Anglo Saxon col; Dutch koel; German kühl, &c, (Cf. Webster's International Dict. [1926], p. 494); and the ending baugh, or bach, from bache (Anglo Saxon baec), a rivulet or stream, or the vale or low ground where it flows, being written bach or batch as a suffix in place names (Ib. p. 166). Kohlbach and Kaulbach are two well-known German names. German names.

COWPERTHWAITE COPELAND OF WOODBRIDGE

This W. character is entitled to record, if only for his odd name, as MAHERSHALHASHALBAZ DYER, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 821), but proof that this early occasionally a surname was used for a prenom, in the next gen.

He m. (1), Feb. 26, 1750 to Susannah Atkinson; m. (2), Apr. 1, 1772, to Margaret Flatt (Vliet). (SHOTWELL, p. 187.)

(Vhet). (SHOTWELL, p. 187.)

As to the Quaker origin of this family, which made its appearance at W., in the Friend's Monthly Meetings, it should be noted:

"COPELAND, JOHN, Boston came in July, 1656, in the Speedwell, aged 28, from London, a Quaker. He was next year banished from Plymouth Colony, and whipped in Massachusetts." SAVAGE, (Vol. I, p. 455). (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 811.)

COTTON-SPRIGG

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1174.)

The origin of this error now appears in OLD NORTHWEST GEN. QUART., (Vol. IV, 1901, p. 46). C. H. Browning of Ardmore, Pennsylvania (he of the Americans of Royal Descent) presented a chart containing (1) Governor William Stone as married to Verlinda Cotton. This was credited (2) to Christopher Johnson, Baltimore, Maryland, and C. H. Stanard, Richmond, Virginia, (the latter intended to be W. G. Stanard).

WILLIAM STONE appeared in Virginia in 1635, WILLIAM COTTON in 1636, (without any ref., to the famous N. E. fam., or Cotton Mather, so attractive to suppositious descs.), and WILLIAM ROPER about the same time, (CAV-ALIERS, pp. in Index). That there was closeness, is apparent, but no concrete evidence, as per DOUGHTY, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1510).

CORSON OR COURSON NEAR PISCATAWAY

The Gen., (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 319, Bib.), does not supply the missing gens.
For, CORNELIUS COURSON, from Staten Island, 1683-4, participated in the 1904 acre patient on the south side of the Raraton, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 61). In 1687, HENDRICK COURSEN was in the same as a land owner, (id., p. 105). In 1687, the former was called "Captain," and had a wife, Mary, while the latter in the same year was Hendrick Coursen and had a wife, Jesyntje. (Id., p. 169-170.)

COX: UNPUBLISHED RECORDS

COX: UNPUBLISHED RECORDS

A beautifully bound, ornate, volume was presented to this writer by Mr. Louis R. Hamill, of Matanzas, Cuba, before the publication of PART SIX. SUTTON ORIGINS were predicated upon it. (Vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1226 and 1227.) The introductory material in this painstaking compilation, published in this form, after his death was based upon searches made by the late decased, Judge John Clay Cox of Dayton, Ohio, and unlikely to have been incorrect, to his judicial mind, and unsullied purpose. The SUTTON ORIGINS, (Eng. and Mass.), were immediately challenged by two of the SUTTON lineage, one more important, by reason of his own authorship of the only SUTTON GEN. extant. The writer has no personal interest in the genealogical quarrel, as (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1286). It seems that the critic has suffered because of his own guess-work, re the wife of Zebulon Sutton at the hands of Gen. Soc. of Mayflower Desc., and on the theory of critical attacks upon others one's own hands must be clean, this critic ought to see the point and withdraw his unctious complaints.

However, for some glorified reason, there is a concerted movement among the Baston, exclusives.

However, for some glorified reason, there is a to make WILLIAM SUTTON, 1st of P., the son of the first GEORGE SUTTON of Scituate, which is up to date, only a fond hope and working theory. (More power to them!—O. E. M.) (Vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1226-7.)

ANDREW CRAIGE, THE FIRST OF E. (HATFIELD, pp. 254-5.) Said to have come with the Scotch immigration, i. e., 1683, and ARCHIBALD CRAIGE, JAMES CRAIGE and

JOHN CRAIGE, appeared in 1685, (idem and ARCH., VOL. XXI, pp. 74 and 150). The writer is inclined to that JOHN CRAGG, "emb. at Barbadoes for N. E., 31 Jan. 1679," as this line of approach to N. E. has been much overlooked. (SAVAGE, Vol. I, p. 470.)

ANDREW CRAIG was a first settler of E. and admitted an associate, 1699-1700, and Rev. GEORGE KEITH, Episcopal Missionary, was entertained by him in his house, Nov. 1703, and baptized four of his children.

A sister or daughter of the above was that URSULA CRAIG, who became the wife of ELISHA PARKER, Sept. 27, 1697, (WHITE-HEAD, Perth Amboy, pp. 22 and 130).

ANDREW CRAIG

D. in 1739, and was the F. S. His will, dated 1738, Sept. 28, calls him weaver, and does not name his wife, who was b. in Scotland. It names children, Andrew, John, Margery, Elizabeth, Mary and Martha, and grandson, Abraham Terrill, under age. Exctrs. son, John Craig, and dau., Margery Craig. Prov. Oct. 24, 1739. (ARCH., VOL. XXX. p. 120.) Craig. Prov. XXX, p. 120.)

It is quite evident that a dau, was then dead, who was the wife of Terrill. Also, from ARCH., (Vol. XXIII, p. 456, two refs.), the name of the wife of ANDREW CRAIG was Susannah. In the latter records, Archibald Craig is noted, as well as both John and James Craig.

CRAGE OR CRAIGE OF WOODBRIDGE

This has only recently attracted attention. This was a Scotch Family, originating at E., but the Bible records in The Gen. Magazine, (Vol. III, Sept., 1916, No. 4, pp. 210-1), are most compelling. They inherently identify themselves, as

ANDREW CRAGE had a wife, JANET, (believed to have been JANET GORDON.—O.E.M.). Children "of ANDREW CRAGE and JANET, his wife"

I. JOHN CRAGE, b. October, 1721. II. JANE CRAGE, b. October 1723.

III. ROBERT CRAGE, b. December 10, 1725.

IV. ELIANOR CRAGE, b. October, 1727.

V. MARGARET CRAGE, b. February 28th,

1730-1.

VI. HANNAH CRAGE, b. May 8th, 1733. The first name, "ROBERT," was a definite Perth Amboy Scotch cognomen.

Apparently ISAAC CHOATE, of the record, m. one of the above CRAGE girls.

JEAN (JOHN) CROCHERON (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 812.)

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 812.)

A famous Staten Island family, which is well noted in STATEN ISLAND AND ITS PEOPLE, (Vol. II, p. 882 and Vol. V, p. 193). The first immigrant, JEAN CROCHERON, came before 1677, from Flanders, or from Zale in Waslsle, and lived on S. I. Will, 18 December, 1695, and prov. 3 Sept. 1696, when "of great age." (N. Y. HIST. COLL., 1892, Vol. I, Wills, pp. 267-8), naming his wife, Mary, his sons, Nicholas and Anthony Crocheron, and others unnamed. As he had m. ca. 1646, he had nine chil. They rem. to N. J.

JOHN CROCHERON, THE SECOND, OF NEW JERSEY

This name is badly abused. He appeared there by 1688, as JOHN CUSHANE, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 167 and p. 310). The last date is 1700. It appears that he was b. ca. 1650, d. ca. 1727. At Flatbush, he m. May 3, 1682, Hester Lutine. In his will, he names a sec. wife, and children by the first; JOHN CROCHERON, that one of P., who was 21 in 1706; Abraham, Mary and Elizabeth. The name of the second son would indicate that his father-in-law was the first Abraham Lutine of S. I. (Same, supra, p. 357).

PRIVATE JOHN CROCHERON OF PISCATAWAY

He was a private in the Regiment of Coll. Thos.: Ffarmer in 1715, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 219), where his name was entered "Jno. Cusho," a common err., from French pron., (Rept. St. Hist. N. Y., 1898, Col. Ser., Vol. I, p. 526). (Illustration CROCHERON HOUSE, on Staten Island.)

CROWELL OF PISCATAWAY (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 597.)

A dispute has been had about the two first CROWES or CROWELLS, at Yarmouth, namely; John Crowe and YELVERTON CROWELL, as to their relationship. The indirect proof is unbreakable.

The first EDWARD CROWELL, of W., was a son of said YELVERTON CROWE, or CROWELL, and these name variants persisted, "even unto the third and fourth generations."—

As EDWARD CROWELL, JR., he was Town Clerk of W., 1731-1756. He was thrice married, first as above; (2) Nov. 24, 1731, Elizabeth Pike, who d. Nov. 20, 1732; (3) Christian.

CROWELL TO NORTH CAROLINA

This migration, though fancifully expressed in the auth., (Hist. of No. Car., Wheeler, Vol. II, p. 199), is further evidence of this movement of N. J. fams. to North Carolina, as FOLSOM, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1182), Fitz Randolph, COOL(E), and many others, largely after the Amer. Rev., but some before.—O. E. M.

It is said that "Two brothers, John and Edward Crowell, came to North Carolina, and settled in Halifax. They came from Woodbridge, New Jersey." The other statements are purely speculative, as to Cromwell origin, etc., and no dates are JACOB CULL, as KULL, IN PENNA.

He was listed as a settler in Heidelburg Twp., Pa., in 1756, and belonged to the group of Palatinates, who had come there, earlier, to make Haidelburg, a city of south Germany, in the Duchy of Baden, etc., on the Rhine, near Manheim, and this twp. became a part of Berks Co., (HIST. OF BERKS and LEBANON COS., RUPP, p. 192).

He came in 1748, as per shipping lists of those who were imported in the Ship Hampshire, and at that date he was 49 years of age, i. e., b. 1699. In a second list, he was entered as "JACOB KUHL," and the latter again, in a third list, (PENNA. GER. PIONEERS, Vol. I, pp. 373-5). He was probably the ancestor of the family appearing in Ohio, after 1800.

DARKIN FAMILY OF SALEM COUNTY

Important, because of their intermarriages with the FITZRANDOLPHS, who rem, there, from W., and Monmouth. (PROCEEDS, N. J. HIST. SOC., Vol. IX, 3rd Ser., pp. 93 et seq.) The first was RICHARD DARKIN, who with ROBERT ASHTON went into SALEM COUNTY, as early as 1686, from New Castle Co., Penna., Delaware, and a contemporary was BENJAMIN ACTON, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 581).

ACTON, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 581).

1707-8, RICHARD DARKIN, of Windham, Salem Co., made his will, naming wife, Ann, and chil., Sarah, wife of James Wheaton or Whitten, (who figures in the FITZ RANDOLPH recs.), Joseph, JOHN, Hannah and Ann, the last four under age. Quakers, etc. Prov., with wit., Andrew Thompson, et al., Apr. 26, 1716. (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 128.)

ANDREW DAVIS OF PISCATAWAY First of Perth Amboy, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 816), of P., as early as 1683.

In looking for the origin of JOSIAH DAVIS of P., a discovery! — only could have come out of the tribe of the first ROBERT DAVIS of Barnstable, (q. v.), (OTIS' BARNSTABLE, VOL. I, p. 278), not easily identificable, but how about ANDREW DAVIS, (son of that ROBERT DAVIS and brother of JOSIAH DAVIS, b. Sept., 1656)?

Sept., 1656)?
This ANDREW DAVIS, b. May, 1650, was NOT identical with the one in New London, Conn., (Caulkins, p. 364), and that statement, (p. 278, of OTIS), is only conjecture. It is equally evident that he is the one of the title, who d. at ROCKY HILL, in P., in 1707, as his associates of the records identify him. (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 129.) He d. int., and inv. by William Hixson, Geo. Rescarrick, of P. A., Benjamin Clarke and Joseph Worth, and GRACE DAVIS app., admx. of estate, Sept. 19, 1707, called "widow of Andrew Davis." Those of the inv. were of Rocky Hill, N. J.
With other indicative evidence, it is an irre-

With other indicative evidence, it is an irresistible conclusion that the subject was the father of DEACON JOSIAH DAVIS OF P., for the appearance, in the same locality, of an Andrew Davis, of the third generation, in 1782, is explainable upon no other basis. (ARCH., Vol. XXXIV,

p. 412.)

DEACON JOSIAH DAVIS OF PISCATAWAY

He appears in the vital records, (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 226 and 230).

PART TWO, pp. 226 and 230).

He was certainly a son of that Andrew Davis, of Perth Amboy and Rocky Hill, (supra).

He married March 29, 1724, Hannah Dunham, b. April 14, 1704, living 1731, dau. of Rev. Edmund Dunham, first elder of the Seventh Day Baptist Church at P. and his wife Mary Bonham, (dau. of Nicholas Bonham), all of which families together with Fitz Randolph came from Plymouth Colony and Barnstable. (ARCH., VOL. XXX, pp. 154.5.) pp. 154-5.)

They had children recorded at P. as follows: I. Hannah, b. April 1, 1725.

II. Mary, b. Dec. 7, 1727.III. Elijah, b. March 26, 1729. IV. Dorothy, b. Feb. 16, 1730.

HENRY DE COURCEY OF PISCATAWAY

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 813, under Crocheron.)

There was a separate, distinct family of this name in Maryland, and very probably the above was not CROCHERON, but de Courcey, as

DE COURCEY, (COURSEY), IN MARYLAND

DENNIS FAMILY OF PORTSMOUTH, R. I. (Only given in N. E. HIST. GEN. REC., VOL. 49, pp. 441 et seq.)

This article is illuminative of certain DENNIS-

This article is illuminative of certain DENNIS-IANA of P. and W., already given. It can only be given by reference, for, it has errors.

ROBERT DENNIS was a first settler of New Jersey, and though from Portsmouth, R. I., it is not historically true to so designate him, as his greatest achievements were in N. J., in association with the famed JEDIDIAH ALLEN.

"JEDIDIAH ALLEN was brother-in-law of ROBERT DENNIS, of Portsmouth, they having married sisters and in 1691, he sold to ROBERT DENNIS, 150 acres of land in Monmouth County, N. J." * * * * "The latter was English and a Ouaker." (Vide, ante, supra.)

The genealogy of this family in New Jersey, including the first prominent SAMUEL DENNIS, of Monmouth, was recently attempted in HORNER, (vide, ante, THIS PART, BIB., p. 1455), at pp. 387, et seq., but it is mixed and confused and cannot be accepted as authority.—O. E. M.

PHILIP DENNIS OF W.

Signed petition, Dec. 1713, (ARCH., Vol. IV, p. 190), (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 112). Wife, Mary, Apr. 17, 1704 and dau. Abigail. (Idem, pp. 255 and 267.)

A Philip Dennis d. 1761, leaving will, dated Nov. 8, 1760, (ARCH., Vol. XXXIII, p. 113); wife Rachel, sons John, Joseph, eldest dau. Zilpha, youngest dau. Sarah, as related to a Philip Dennis who d. Feb. 15, 1768, and had a wife Lucy Bacon, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 745). The latter was a son of Jonathan Dennis and Rachel Moore.

DESJARDINS OF THE NOBILITY, FRANCE

This family name, not a patronymic, belongs to the oldest in France, as surname dictionaries, old and modern show: and, particularly, in French Huguenot authorities, as (Hug. Soc. pubs., London), its forms taking place, by the elision of the prefix "de," and reduced to simple Jardin or JARDINE, in America, and the elision of these letters in the full name, which meant, simply, the Gardens. The main locus in France was in Lorraine, with a coat-of-arms, (REITSTAP, Vol. I, p. 528). p. 528).

MONS. JEAN BERTHOLME DESJORDAINES

This character, orig. French DesJardins, was almost as noted in early N. J. hist., as Monsieur Pierre Jegou, already noted in this Ref. Ser., (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 611), for they appeared together on the "Eastside of Delaware River," and "over against New Castle," as early as 1668, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 3).

JEAN (JOHN) DESJARDINS OF E. J. He came with Gov., Philip Carteret, in 1665, in a group, as servants of the latter, most of whom were Frenchmen, as Richard Michell, Claude Vallot, Daniel Perrin, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 103), Claude Barbour, Charles Seguine, of S. I., who gave a long enduring place name there, as "Seguine's Point," (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 148), et al. (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 46.)

Likewise, MONEE'S POINT, in Staten Island Place Names, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 147). The latter was MONNET.

DES MAREST AS RELATED TO N. J.

A Huguenot Fam., from the Palatinate, Germany, of early importance and greatness. Only one or two sprigs went to P. and W.

The gen. commences with the progenitor, DAVID des MAREST, SR., (son of Jean des Marest), b. at Beauchamp, in Picardy, about 1620. He m. Marie, dau. of Francois Sohier, b. in Nieppe, town of Hainault, they m. at Middleburg, Island of Zeeland, July 24th, 1643. They had six chill, one dying in infancy, and one, unnamed, dying in America.

DAVID DES MAREST, SR., and his three sons, as JEAN (JAN or JOHN), DAVID, JR., and SAMUEL, being the four invincible pioneers of N. Y. and N. J., (vide, ante, French Huguenot Bible, PART FOUR, p. 491).

DAVID DESMAREST, SR., OF HACKENSACK

He arrived at New Amsterdam, with wife and four children, in 1663, in the ship "Spotted Cow" and settled on Staten Island.

1665, he rem. to New Harlem.

1667, purchased Hackensack land of Tappan Indians, and 1678, all rem. to N. J. and estab. "Desmarest Kill." This was Bergen Co., N. J., till 1686. But he crossed the river and declared in his will, 1689, as being of Essex Co., N. J.

PHILIP DODDRIDGE OF W., THE FIRST

He had been so named at E., as late of 1698-9, with a wife, Frances, having five acres at Rahway, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 291), was certainly living in 1692-3, when and as a minor son, "with consent of his parents," he was indentured to JOHN GIBBON, of P., Mariner, then named "PHILLIP DODDRIDGE." and indenture cancelled in 1694, when the boy became of age. (Id., p. 215.)

That, there was another son, John Doddridge, appar., in 1720, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p.

From CHANCERY COURTS, pp. 75, 79, 76 and 82), there as an older, PHILIP DODDRIDGE, the father, who had had a wife, Elizabeth, marrying THOMAS THORPE, Junior, and in 1683, being wife of Richard Powell, fussing about money belonging to "Philip & Elizabeth Court of the Children of Philip Dodaridge, a former husband," etc.

Somewhere along the line, his wife, Frances, d., for when he made his will, in Nov. 29, 1749, he had a wife, Lydia, and his mother.....still living. Prov., Jan. 12, 1749, (ARCH., Vol. XXX, living.] p. 146),

BENJAMIN DOUGHTY OF NEW JERSEY

SIR FRANCIS DRAKE OF KENTUCKY (For Mrs. W. P. Drake, Bowling Green, Ky.)

This ancestor, who prefixed "SIR" to his name as above, came into Logan County, Ky., in 1809, preceded by his brother, Tarlton Drake, in 1807. The wife of the former was Martha and of the latter, Mary. The two Drakes were sons of James and Molly Drake of Powhatan County, Va.

CAPTAIN FRANCIS DRAKE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE AND PISCATAWAY

A recent inquiry in the Boston Transcript revives this discussion. It is suggested, that once for all, the orig, theory that he was a son of ROBERT DRAKE of Hampton, N. H., be rejected.

In this REFERENCE SERIES much has been presented. This is commented upon in D. A. R. MAG., (Vol. 64, pp. 61 et seq.).

The opinion of gen. Mr. Joseph B. Turner, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1176).

Now, the Dungan Genealogy and relationship by marriage in the family of the son, Captain GEORGE DRAKE, suggesting the secondary origin in the County of Meath, Ireland, at the Town of Drakesrath, still orig. source in DEVON, ENG.

ANOTHER CAPTAIN FRANCIS DRAKE LEAD

Giving due credit to queries and answers, developed in The Boston Transcript, early in 1935, veloped in The Boston Transcript, early in 1933, by correspondents, including the writer, it is interesting to note that an Augustine Drake of Ide, Devon, England, in 1657, conveyed land there to Edward Champernowne. The former was from Alphington, near Exeter, where he had a son Austen, bapt. in 1659. A Francis Drake was closely associated with the above and also with Anna (Drake) Champernowne, William and John Drake CAPT. FRANCIS CHAMPERNOWNE, from Devon, was a First Settler, at Portsmouth, N. H., bef. 1640, and associate of John Heard, Capt. Francis Raynes, et al., (LIBBY, pp. 135-7). Rev. Joseph Hull.

NEARING THE TRUTH OF THIS ORIGIN, IT SEEMS TO THE WRITER THAT THIS CHAMPERNOWNE ITEM SHOULD BE INVESTIGATED.—O. E. M. ITEM

CAPTAIN GEORGE DRAKE OF PISCATAWAY

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 601.)

This is referenced because of the DUNGAN Gen, and the repetition of Christian names of the family of the above, among the children of both Jeremiah and Thomas Dungan.

That author states:

"Francis Drake, in the writer's opinion, was of the family of 'Drake of Drakesworth,' County Meath, Ireland, who owned lands also in County Kildare, in which two counties the Dungans also had large estates." (DUNGAN, pp. 121-2.)

JOSEPH DRAKE OF NEW BRUNSWICK

Wife Catherine Cheeseman. Deed from them, signed separately, to George Morris, and John Skinner, Sept. 6, 1759. "That tract of land and meadowbrook within the corporation of New Brunswick," "north side of Cranberry Brook," 300 acres.

Received by Joseph Drake, from Moses Hull, deed of May 1, 1754. (Vide, post, George Morris.)

THOMAS DRINKWATER OF TAUNTON

Associate of GEORGE SOULE of Duxbury, who sent desc. into N. J., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 217).

It is said that he was a settler also at Newport, R. I., Bridgewater, Mass., and Dighton, Mass.

R. I., Bridgewater, Mass., and Dighton, Mass.

It is also argued, (Boston Trans., No. 8776, Sept. 26, 1934, J. R. D. L.), that the subject was the father of that THOMAS DRINKWATER, who m. Elizabeth Haskell, 1695, who was dau. of John Haskell, b. 1639, d. May 15, 1706, (wife, Patience, dau. of George Soule), son of Roger Haskell, m. Elizabeth Hardy, dau. of John, Salem.

John, Salem.

Chil. of THOMAS DRINKWATER and Elizabeth Haskell: Walter, in Freetown, Mass., in 1721; William, in Newport, R. I., 1722; Warren, in Freetown, 1723; George, there, 1723; John, there, 1724; Elizabeth, there, 1732; Joseph settled in Cousins Island, in North Yarmouth, 1721, where the homestead still stands; Samuel m. Dorothy Josselyn; Patience was in Swansea, 1734. Coat-of-arms, "Ermine on a cross fleury azure a crescent argent."

This is only important as read in connection first with article by this author, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 415).

WILLIAM DUER AS RELATED TO HULL

Benjamin Hull of Baleville, Sussex, married for his wife Anne Duer. She was the daughter of William Duer. She had a sister who married Daniel Pridmore, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1210). This leads back to P.

This genealogy is covered in VAN RENSSEL-AER'S NEW YORKERS, and also one item in CHAMBERS, (p. 18).

THOMAS DUER OF MAIDENHEAD

THOMAS DUER OF MAIDENHEAD

THREE, p. 438).

This must be a divergence from that noted Col. William Duer, who came, in 1768. He was b. Mar. 18, 1747, d. May 17, 1790, son of JOHN DUER and Frances Frye; m. Apr. 17, 1779, at Basking Ridge, N. J., Catharine Alexander, dau. of Major-General William Alexander and Sarah Livingston. ("New Yorkers Of The 19th Century," by Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer.)

DUMONT FAMILY OF NEW JERSEY

A badly corrupted form of MONET, in France, as of de la MONET or du MONET, similar to the famous wine DUBONNET, from the fam. of BONNET, as du BONNET.

It was headed in New Jersey by PIERRE (Peter) DUMONT, as see MESSLER, (Somerset p. 60) set, p. 60).

In N. Y. Gen. & Biog. Rec., an early writer struggled with this fam., orig., but his premise and most conclusions are to be doubted, (Vol. 29, 1898, pp. 103 et seq., and Vol. 30, 1899, pp. 36 et seq.). The most amusing peregrination is 36 et seq.). The most amusing pergrination is the lugulorious attempt of the same author, (The AMER. GEN., 1899, Vol. I, pp. 148 et seq.), TO TRACE THIS ANCESTRY BACK TO FERNANDO DEL MONTE, A SPANISH SOLDIER, etc., which is not true.

The orig., was as given here.

DUMONT FAMILY IN NEW JERSEY (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1465.)

The family was French Huguenot, with Dutch intermarriage, and searching for all possible forms of MONET, being certain, as many records given in this SERIES prove, that the name variation was multiplied, (vide, ante, this PART, index, p. 1391), applicable in this case.

Four sons, Hendrick, (Dutch), John Baptiste, (French), Peter (Pierre), and Rynear, (both French); likewise son, ABRAHAM, (which tickles the risibilities of this writer, whose grandfather, and for several gens., before him, bore that honorable Biblical name. Daus., Cattelintje, (wife of Christian Legrange, she, Dutch, while his own, French); Margaret, (English), (wife of John Bergen); Gerretje and Jannetje, (Dutch, with brothers-in-law, Rynear and Nicholas Veghten, (really Dutch, van Veghten), et al.; but ABRAHAM DUMONT and PETER DUMONT cling, throughout, (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 153).

REV. THOMAS DUNGAN OF RHODE ISLAND

Family related to early New Jersey and Bucks County, Pennsylvania, at Cold Spring.
They had nine children, all born in Rhode Island. (DUNGAN, p. 118.)

Of the foregoing family two sons intermarried with Drake of Piscataway.

"7. Jeremiah Dungan, son of Rev. Thomas and Elizabeth, b. 1673, d. Apr. 6, 1761, aged about 88 years (27), m. 1 circa 1702, Deborah Drake, b. Jan. 8, 1686-7 (49) d. circa 1721, daughter of Captain George and Mary (Oliver) Drake, and granddaughter of Rev. and Capt. Francis Drake, an early settler in Piscataway, N. J." (DUNGAN, 122)

BENAJAH DUNHAM, THE FIRST, OF PISCATAWAY

(Vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 181.)

He was b. at Plymouth, New Eng., in 1640, m. Oct. 25, 1660, to Elizabeth Tilson, dau. of Edward. (TILSON GEN. has errors.—O. E. M.) At P., he was a linen weaver. He came to E. N. J. ca. 1672-3.

(1635-1680, REG. COL. DAMES, N. J., 1928, p. 345.)

His will, dated May 10th, 1679, proved Aug. 12, 1680, named wife, Elizabeth, and children; EDMUND, Mary and Elizabeth, land in N. J. and N. E.; ment. Andrew Wooden as a neighbor; wife, exctrx., with Samuel Dennis of W., and JOHN FITZ RANDOLPH of P., overseer for the children; wit. Benj. Hull, Geo. Hill, and JOHN SMALLEY, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 146).

The above will is a good example of the omission of children, living at the date thereof, and estab. by other evidence. Children:

It would now appear that his first wife was MARY BLOOMFIELD and correction to that end: MARY "DUNN" belongs somewhere.

He was b. Mar. 10, 1674, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 285), and was a son of the first JONATHAN DUNHAM, of W., and wife, Mary Bloomfield, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 603). The second wife, Mary, if any, was mixed with DUNN

He was b. Jan. 20, 1689; and the pendulum as to his wife, whether Hannah Drake or not, has swung to a finding, collaterally, that she was HANNAH FITZ RANDOLPH, dau., of the first JOHN FITZ RANDOLPH, of P., and his wife, SARAH BONHAM. (Q. V., post, p. indic.)

FINLEY OF NEW JERSEY

(Courtesy of Mr. A. H. France, see BIB.)

"The branch of the Finleys who settled Cumberland and Salem Counties, as follows: Samuel Finley, son of Alexander and Margaret (Jennings) Finley, baptised St. Peters Church, Dublin, Oct. 10, 1682, died Cecil County, Maryland, prior to 1751, married in Dublin, Ireland, May 20, 1709, Jean Whyte, 8 children, six born in Ireland, his oldest son, John, baptised May 6, 1710, moved across the Delaware River, died in Stow Creek township, between Mch. 20, 1757, date of Will, and June 17, 1757. Will proved, (Lib. 8, page 430), wife Rebecca."

JAMES FINLEY OF TRENTON. NEW JERSEY

"This is family who settled in New Jersey. James Finley, son of James and Ann (McDonald) Finley, born Glasgow, June 8, 1737, died Basking Ridge, married in Scotland, Ann Angrest, immigrated to America, landing, New York, 1769, moved and settled Princeton, New Jersey."

Issue:

I. James Finley, born Princeton, 1770, moved to Western New York.

Alexander Finley, born 1771, died Basking Ridge(?), married Susan Whitaker, 12 children.

III. Rev. Robert Finley, born Princeton, N. J., 1772, died Athens, Ga., Oct. 3, 1817, married May 16, 1768, Esther Flynt Caldwell, daughter of Rev. James and Hannah (Ogden) Caldwell.

IV. Anne, who m. Charles Morford of Basking Ridge, N. J.

FIRMIN, FOREMAN AND FURMAN

As to surname origin, these names are used interchangeably.

In Monmouth, came SAMUEL FORMAN, son of the orig. Samuel, of Newtown, L. I., one of whom is said to have m. Mary, d. of Samuel Wilbore, of Portsmouth, R. I., but little gen.

can be accurately shown.

In 1695, as SAMUEL FOREMAN, he was Sheriff, from Monmouth, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p.

161), and as "fforman," with Aaron, 1688, but no evidence of origin; and not a FURMAN, which was reserved as the form, next gen., in Hunterdon.

FITZRANDOLPH NOTES

It has been the purpose and ambition of the writer to publish in this PART, a revised and complete genealogy of this important family, both at P. and W., down to 1800, and for a whole year researches have been made and data have been essembled. Regrettably, space limitations forbid. Mrs. Charles A. Christian, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 823), has been a most valuable aid, her known authenticity, relative to this family, making her suggestions most valuable. With this author, she agrees that, STILLWELL, (Voi. III, pp. 238 et seq.), is without dependability, on account of errors and omissions. Mrs. Maude H. Bender-Greene of N. J. Hist. Soc., has been a most important critic, checking the MSS. of the writer against the cards on file, with that Society, the production in large part of Mr. Stelle Fitz the production in large part of Mr. Stelle Fitz Randolph, able enthusiast, but sadly inefficient in his work, which is faulty, erroneous and while valuable, disturbs the original sequence of generations, in alarming fashion. RANDOLPH, the editor, also, has no completeness re this GEN.

Of course, HORNER, (vide, ante, this PART, BIB., p. 1455), should never have been published, a "hodge-podge," so full of mistakes, that it must be disregarded as possessing much authenticity, and yet that non-genealogical compiler may have preserved some guides to this pedigree, of consequence.

This writer would assert:

I. The grandchildren of EDWARD FITZ
RANDOLPH, and his wife, ELIZABETH BLOSSOM, have never been completely nor correctly set forth.

II. Nathaniel Fitz Randolph records, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 772), according to photostats were not all in his hand, and, perhaps completed by another, which may account for certain errors.

III. Alexander Randall, of Salem, continuously in the records, was FITZ RANDOLPH, never before developed, and grandson of Alexander Dove, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 818).

Christopher and Peter Fitz Randolph, who rem. to Salem have never been accu-rately nor completely developed.

Warwick Fitz Randolph, the same.

VI. The Cumberland Co. sprigs remain unidentified.

VII. The fourth generation, as between P. and W., is hopelessly mixed, father and son, of the same name, being confused, and uncle and nephew, the same, so that Rev. Soldiers are mixed up, and wrong entries obtain in D. A. R.

CAPTAIN JOSEPH FITZ RANDOLPH, 4TH

Regretfully this editor announces the death, recently, of his friend and collaborator, with Mr. John R. Clark, in N. J. Cemetery Inscriptions, of Mr. John W. Saling, of Rahway, New Jersey, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1054). We bend our heads in sorrow. His last act was to send me "rubbing" of stone of JOSEPH FITZ RANDOLPH, 4th, taken Oct. 12, 1934, at Samptown Cemetery, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1032).

"JOSEPH F. RANDOLPH 4th Born Jan. 16, 1750 Died Nov. 11, 1801. Married Mary Laing. Born at Plainfield 8m. 12d. 1753 Private in patriot service Middlesex Co. Promoted to Captain and transferred to Monmouth Co."

GEORGE FOREMAN, F. S.

GOVERNOR WILLIAM FRANKLIN OF N. J. (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 698.)

He was the noted Tory governor of N. J., with tempestuous career, but whether or not illegitimate son of the famous BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, is doubted.

It is suggested that Abraham Temple of Hopewell, Hunterdon, had kinship. Will, Sept. 2, 1736; proved Jan. 24, 1754, wife Rebecca, and chil.; Abraham, BENJAMIN, Johanna, Elizabeth, Return, and Timothy, and witnesses, Edward Hart and John Hart, (ARCH., Vol. XXXII, p. 319).

He gives an affidavit, June 8, 1854, stating that he was the son of Amos Freeman, "a native of said Woodbridge, whose father was Henry Freeman, my grandfather, of the same place, both my said grandfather and my father, being now deceased." It is a most interesting account of the Revolutionary War at Woodbridge, American prisoners who died in the Sugar House, and were buried in Trinity Church yard, in N. Y. City, (Trinity Church, pp. 8-10).

FURMANS OF NEWTOWN, LONG ISLAND

These refer to brothers, John and Josias Furman, first in Hempstead and then at Newtown, the first John Furman d. in 1677 at 46, leaving a son Jonathan; and Josias dead subsequent to 1703, having sons, John, Josias, Joseph, David, Samuel and Jonathan Furman. (NEWTOWN, p. 399.) It is easy to see from the prename, Josias, that this was the line of the Hunterdon Co., N. J., tribe.

GANO-GENEAU-TO E. N. J.

"Gano" is the modern, Anglicized form of the name. Some of the early variants were Geneau, Gayneau, Geano, &c.

ETIENNE GENEAU first appears as a settler on Staten Island in 1676. (HUGUENOT MAGAZINE, Vol. II, No. 1, p. 12; MONNETTE'S PISCATAWAY, N. J., IV: 489; I: 123).

GILMAN ORIGINS IN ENGLAND

(PART FIVE, vide, ante, pp. 701 et seq.) While without record proof or documentation, all are gratified over the presentation in The AMERICAN GENEALOGIST, re The Lincoln-Gilman Ancestry, (April, 1935, Vol. XI, No. 4, pp. 193-4). It is done by that serious genealogist, Mr. Clarence A. Torrey. It shows, as heretofore, that the GILMAN line is as follows:

 I. Edward Gilman, of Caston, England, m. June 21, 1550, Rose Rysse.
 II. Edward Gilman, bapt. Apr. 20, 1557.
 III. Bridget Gilman, b. circa 1582; m. Edward Lincoln.

"Edward Gilman, from Hingham, England."

It is no criticism of that eminent compiler, to await with anxiety, the recordal substantiality of his very intriguing suggestions.—O. E. M.

GOODLOE FAMILY, 1730-1935

GOODLOE FAMILY, 1730-1935

The REV. HENRY GOODLOE was born in Caroline Co. Va. in 1730. His wife was Frances D. Kemp. They had seventeen children to survive infancy, viz.: Annie, b. 1752; Thomas, b. 1754; Garrett, b. 1755; Kemp, b. 1757; Mary, b. 1758; Vivion, b. 1760-1819; Phoebe, b. 1762; Francis Diana, b. 1764; George, b. 1766; Jane, b. 1767; Isabel and Robert (twins), b. 1769; Henry, b. 1771; Elizabeth, b. 1772; Ann, b. 1774; Katherine, b. 1777; Sarah, b. 1781. The Rev. Henry Goodloe was for many years the pastor of Pyney Branch Baptist Church, Spotsylvania Co. Va. He enlisted Sept. 1775 in Capt. Wm. Talliferro's Co., Col. John Woodford's Regiment for twelve months. He was honorably discharged at Williamsberg, Va., pension granted to commence Dec. 31, 1831. 1831.

VIVION GOODLOE 1760-1819, fourth son of the Rev. Henry and Frances D. Goodloe, left a will dated April 20, 1819 in which mention is made of a "wish that his property should be kept together under the management of his wife until his youngest son Joseph T. Goodloe should come to legal age" Woodford Co. May Court, Versailles Ky, 1819. Vivion Goodloe married Dorothy Tompkins (b. 1768 in Va. died 1832 Woodford Co. Ky.). The remains of both are buried in the private cemetery at the old log house on the Paynes Mill Rd. opposite the old Goodloe stone house to which there has been some additions of late years and is now occupied by Henry Karle.

In Deed Book M. page 400 in the Court House In Deed Book M. page 400 in the Court House Versailles, Ky. a deed to Henry Goodloe dated Oct. 20, 1830, mentions the children of Vivion Goodloe as follows: Henry Goodloe, Francis D. Goodloe, Ann Stout, Mary D. Goodloe, Caroline Goodloe, Louisa Goodloe, Joseph T. Goodloe. The Minute Book of Mt. Vernon Church, Woodford Co. Ky. page 130, tells that, "Louisa Jesse was formerly Louisa Goodloe 1836."

The Minute Book of Mt. Vernon Church, Woodford Co. Ky. page 130, tells that, "Louisa Jesse was formerly Louisa Goodloe 1836."

HENRY GOODLOE, 1800-1866 was the son of Vivion and the grandson of the Rev. Henry Goodloe, is frequently mentioned in the records of Mt. Vernon Church. His wife Frances Eliza MONET (of late years Monette) b. 1810, d. 1892, was the daughter of the Rev. SAMUEL MONET (1778-1823) and Mary Wayland of Old Chillicothe, Ohio, as recorded in his old Huguenot Bible. DR. MONET was a member of the first Legislature of Ohio and Frances Eliza was their only daughter, though they had five sons all of whom adopted medicine as a profession and one of them DR. JOHN WESLEY MONET was a graduate of Transylvania in Ky. and the author of "The History of the Mississippi Valley." Two volumes of his history, autographed, were given to his mother, Mrs. Mary Wayland Monet, by the author, and she gave them to her daughter, who in turn passed them on to her grandson, William Goodloe Wiglesworth, Sr. of Cynthiana, Ky. DR. WESLEY MONET lived in Warren Co. Miss. and a complete description of his plantation estate "Sweet Auburn," is given in the Sunday issue of the Natchez Democrat Sept. 18, 1932. Mrs. Mary Wayland Monet spent the last few years of her life in Woodford Co. and is buried in the old Goodloe private cemetery. Her estate was settled by her son-in-law, Henry Goodloe, (Will Book O. page 506 Versailles Ky.) 1851. Henry and Frances Eliza Goodloe had four children: James William, 1835-1894, wife Jenney Payne, and they had four children, the only son died age 13 yrs.; Mary Frances, 1838-1905, wife of William Thomson Wiglesworth, and they had eight children; Annown Cornelia, 1835-????, wife of Frank Collier; Dorothy Tompkins, 1844-1901, wife of Capt. Gabe Davie, and they had three children; Allie VanDeren, seven children; Rone Legist in number: Lillie, born 1859, wife of Kemp Woods, three children; Harry Rodes, born 1860-1907, wife Franke Vivion, (1761-1842), early pioneers from Va. to Clark Co. Ky. The children;

Frances Louise, born 1879-????, wife of Simeon Elliott Drake, children, Simeon Elliott, Jr., born 1911, Dorothy Lee, born 1908-1931.

William Thomson Wiglesworth brought his bride, Mary Frances Goodloe, back to the land in Harrison Co. K., which in 1797 his grandfather, Lieut. James Wiglesworth Jr. of Spotsylvania Co. Va., rison Co. K., which in 1797 his grandiather, Lieut. James Wiglesworth Jr. of Spotsylvania Co. Va., a Revolutionary soldier, had purchased.

Lieut. James Wiglesworth Jr. had married in 1779, Mary Thomson, daughter of William Thomson, (d. 1778), and Ann Rodes of Louisa Co. Va. ("To James Wiglesworth Jr. who intermarried with my daughter" Deed of a gift, Book H. page 35, Louisa Co. Va. Court records.) James Wiglesworth Sr. the father of Lieut. James Wiglesworth Jr. was on "the committee of safety for Spotsylvania Co. Va.," chosen 17 Nov. 1775, (Vol. 5 of William and Mary Magazine year 1897, page 249). The wife of James Wiglesworth Sr. was Mary Durrett, daughter of John Durrett, (Will probated Spotsylvania Co. Va. in 1775), and wife KATH-ERINE GOODLOE, 1720-1751, who in turn was the daughter of Henry Goodloe, (1675-1741), Elizabeth being his wife's name. John Durrett's will names James Wiglesworth Sr., as one of the two executors. The Wiglesworth Sr., as one of the two executors. The Wiglesworth and the Goodloe families had intermarried back in old Va., as they did later in Woodford County Ky. John Wiglesworth, (will probated 1752 Spotsylvania Co. Va.), and wife Mary (Holiday?), bought land in Spotsylvania Co. Va. in 1728. They were the parents of James Wiglesworth, Sr.

The Wiglesworth descendants have traced their lineage through many generations in lineage through many generations in Yorkshire England where the ancestral estate of 4,181 acres was in possession of male descendants as late as 1924. Interesting photographs of the old Wigles-worth stone tithe barn, erected in the thirteenth century, and conceded to be the largest in Eng-land, is located near the stone ruins of "Wigles-worth Hall," and the village of Wiglesworth, are in possession of the family of William Goodloe Wiglesworth

GEORGE GWUINAP OF BURLINGTON (Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1183.)

No trace of him has been found, after 1727, but several of the name, in simple form, GWIN, continued in N. J. This led to an investigation, of origins:

The name is clearly Welsh, orig. "Gwin," meaning "white," and the suffix of "ap," is "son of," in Welsh, usually used as a prefix.

In Cornwall, the name was clearly GWENNAP, and devived from "course to the control of the control o

In Cornwall, the name was clearly GWENNAP, and derived from "gwyn, gwen, gwydn, wen, widn, win," (meaning) "white," as in GWENNAP, (SURNAMES, pp. 238 and 378).

Again, GWIN, as (id., p. 206), and "gwyn, now Gwinn, Gwynn, Wynne, etc., Welsh (id., p. 124). Nowhere does GWINNETT appear as a patronymic, just a plain corruption, as in Wistaston co., Hereford, (Bridger, p. 209).

Amer. politician; 1732-1777, (Phillips, p. 469). He signed the Declaration of Independence for Georgia, the most unique man of them all. It is said that he came from Bristol, Eng.; and was Governor of Ga. He was wounded in a duel with General McIntosh, and d. 27th May, 1777, (HEITMAN, p. 265). See Dwight, "Lives of the Signers," 1895, and Americana, (Vol. 13, p. 586).

It is just a suggestion, but is enough known of his antecedents to state definitely, and was he related to GEORGE GWUINNAP of N. J.?

JOHN HADDEN OF GLOUCESTER

JOHN HADDEN OF GLOUCESTER

He owned land there in 1700, on the South branch of Cowper's Creek. (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 660.) Again, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, pp. 675-6), for the year 1700, adjoining Joseph Cooper. In the same year, he was called of Rotherith Co. of Surrey, blacksmith, power of attorney to his dau., Elizabeth Haddon of the same place, as general agent. (Idem, p. 676.) In 1699, John Haddon of Rothereith, Co. of Surry, anchor Smith had reserved \(\frac{1}{2} \) of a share of W. J. from Richard Matthews, with foot notes of explanation of these English locations, (idem, p. 683).

There is little likelihood of his being the same person as the JOHN HADDON of N. J. He d. in Eng., 1724, as see will dated 1723, July 26; New Haddonfield, the origin of this place, from his own name. (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 199.)

A grantee, Dec. 18, 1702 and a grantor Sept. 8, 1705, for nineteen 20ths of one 24th of Proprietary Rights, (Elizabeth Town Bill in Chancery, p. 86).

THOMAS HADDEN, SR., OF WOODBRIDGE (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 826.)

The writer has concluded that he came from Westchester, N. Y., and rather certain that he was the son of JOHN HADDEN, SR., and wife, Elizabeth, "deed to their son, Thomas, carpenter," etc. (N. Y. GEN. & BIOG. REC., VOL. LX, 1929, p. 263), as noted in year 1701. He sold land in Westchester, 1703, and 1704, land given by his father, JOHN HADDEN, (idem, pp. 264, 304-5, and 311), the last being a purchase in 1718. 1718.

Soon, with BARNES, VAIL, GACH, et al., he went to E. N. J., as Quakers.

HARNETT BECAME HARNED IN N. J.

HARNETT BECAME HARNED IN N. J. (The leading article is HARNED, in BIB., vide, ante, this PART, p. 1450.)

The first in America was that EDWARD HARNETT, SR., Salem, Mass., 1638-40, who had a grant of land, 1639, with EDWARD HARNETT, JR., prob. his son, who, in fact, was admitted to the church in 1646, only three years after his father, indicating his maturity. The wife of the senior was Priscilla (Scicillea) and one of of the senior was Priscilla (Scicillea) and one of the name suffered 1658 for favoring the Quakers, and this is previously the Quaker affiliations at

The younger EDWARD HARNETT, Jr., m. Elizabeth, dau. of Jonathan Porter, and wife Eunice, of Huntington, L. I. (SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 358, POPE, p. 213, with diff. dates) and had children, Jonathan, bapt. 17 Nov. 1650 and Eunice, 3 Sept. 1654, et al.

To the latter son, JONATHAN HARNETT is allotted by that author, first above, the three sons, removing to W., viz.: (1) JONATHAN, (2) NATHANIEL and (3) EDWARD HARNED, as the name came to be in N. J.

(1) JONATHAN, (2) NATHANIEL AND (3) EDWARD HARNED

Three brothers of W., sons of JONATHAN HARNETT, of Huntington, L. I., and wife.

This should be always held as a shining example of the "three brothers" tradition; for, more true than romantic.

1. JONATHAN HARNED OF WOOD-BRIDGE. He is claimed to have been b. ca 1690. There in 1729. To identify, he was fence-adjuster, of W. in 1747 and had had his "earmark" recorded in 1732. (DALLY, pp. 71 and 161.) There are other entries concerning him in N. J. records.

He was twice m. (1) Ann or Rebecca Fitz Randolph, dau. of Nathaniel Fitz Randolph, of W. He was executor, (N. Y. Gen. & Biog., Vol. LXI, 1930, p. 21), of the will of the latter in 1756; (2) m. 3-24, 1768, Judah (Judith), Bloodgood, (SHOTWELL, p. 188), widow of Francis Bloodgood of Amboy, whose will, prov. Aug. 12, 1766, (ARCH., VOL. XXXIII, p. 47).

It names wife, Judah Bloodgood.

The subject had chil., despite neg. claims. His will, 1774.

2. NATHANIEL HARNED OF WOOD-BRIDGE. He was there 1729-30. Not so pronounced as JONATHAN in Quaker affairs; b. ca. 1690-5, d. by 1774. Prob. m. (1) a Herriott.

Said to have had seven children. A son, Nathaniel Harned, b. 3d of 10 mo. 1716, wife unknown, but prob. m. (1) betw. 4-17 and 5-15, 1742, to Annah Closson, (Clawson), (SHOTWELL, p. 188), dau. of John Clawson; m. (2) 1.1. 5-18, 1751, Upham Alwood, (Ephemia Alward), as see SHOTWELL, (p. 188).

3. EDWARD HARNED OF WOOD-BRIDGE, b. ca. 1690-5. He was there 1729-30, living in 1774

BRIDGE, b. caliving in 1774.

Entered as a witness to the will of George Morris of W., 1730, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p.

There are other entries in N. J. records; said to have had four children.

HARRIS OF IPSWICH AND ROWLEY, MASS.

Another migration, from this point, to N. J. The first was that widow, ELIZABETH HARRIS, who sub. became the wife of Deacon Stitson, of Charlestown, and d. Feb. 16, 1669-70, aged 93; and was the mother of John, Thomas, WILLIAM, Daniel HARRIS, and Mrs. Annie Maverick, relict of Elias Maverick, as her husband mentioned in his will, April 12, 1688, as the above being the children of his first wife.

the children of his first wife.

THOMAS HARRIS (2) was a soldier, 1648; Dennison subscriber, 1648; had a wife, Martha, and his will, dated July, 1687; Martha in court, 1695, and represents three sons, WILLIAM HARRIS, John and Ebenezer, and two daus. THOMAS HARRIS (2) and Martha Lakeman were m. Nov. 15, 1647, etc.

WILLIAM HARRIS (3), son of Thomas (2) was b. Dec. 12, 1664; and his wife was SARAH, dau. of THOMAS NEWMAN, who m. Hannah Morse, June 8, 1665, and had Sara Newman, b. Sept. 21, 1668. (HAMMATT PAPERS, pp. 124, 232 and POPE, p. 214; also, as to same, SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 364, birth date of WILLIAM HARRIS, Dec. 12, 1661; and as to Newman, SAVAGE, Vol. III, p. 276; POPE, p. 328). The HARRIS and NEWMAN families traveled along together to New Jersey. (ARCHIVES.)

JAMES HARRIS OF E.

He had to be b., before 1721, for he was said to have m. a BOLLEN, and their oldest child was b. in Essex, a dau., ABIGAIL HARRIS, who m. NATHANIEL MITCHELL, August 30, 1752, "by whom she had eight children," as says the record.

This HARRIS GEN., of 1888, clearly exposes errors, plainly evident.

WILLIAM HARRIS, SENIOR, OF BOUND BROOK

Coming from Long Island, as ROBERT BOND, he was there between 1681 and 1699, an associate of WILLIAM OLDEN, (vide, post, this PART, p. indic.); (Hist. of Somerset, Messler, p. 35). As a son, WILLIAM HARRIS, was the son-in-law of WILLIAM OLDEN, the subject must have been the father, with wife, Sarah, who was b. as WILLIAM HARRIS, b. Dec. 12, 1661 or 1664, at Ipswich, Mass., (supra). (AMER. ANC., Vol. II, p. 52), which is a second gen. rem., or one omitted.

WILLIAM HARRIS, JUNIOR, OF PISCATAWAY

PISCATAWAY

He was a soldier in Col. Thos. Ffarmar's Regiment of 1715, with his relatives, Benjamin Bond, Simon Horn, William Horn and William Olden, Jr., (PROCS., N. J. Hist. Soc., Vol. xiii, p. 205; and REP, N. Y. STATE, 1896, Vol. I, pp. 531-3); (vide, ante, PART ONE, pp. 114-5). He became prominent, at Piscataway and Bound Brook, and on the "Great Raritan Road," thru the latter, established "William Harris's Tavern," (Story of an Old Farm, p. 172). He died, with will, dated 1754, Aug. 20, called "Sr., of Piscataqua Township," etc. (ARCH., VOL. XXXII, p. 146.) This will is int., as it completely sets aside origin of JAMES HARRIS, as given in HARRIS (GEN., for here it is. The wife was "Mersey" (second one). Chil.: John, JAMES, Sarah, Elizabeth, Mary, Rachel, Mersey, Benjamin, William, Samuel, Thomas, Isaac, Jacob, Peter and Elijah. His son-in-law was Nathaniel Manning, and DAVID FITZ RANDOLPH, and Reune Runyon appear. Prov., Nov. 21, 1757.

This last mentioned will mentions "homefarm" adjoining WILLIAM OLDEN, etc., and Somerset Co., and Elias van Court, which figures in RUNYON, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 625 et seq). His son, William d. in Hunterdon, in 1757, (as next pp. of idem).

JOHN HARRISON, REV. SOLDIER (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1540.)

"At one time owned over 3 acres of land, which is near the corner of Main and Limestone, being our chief corners * * * * his son, John, went along there," etc. This was ca. 1800.

JOHN HART, THE SIGNER (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 827.)

"The Harts in Early Randolph County History," (West Va.), by Knight Burns Wees, (Mrs. Boyd Wees). (Printed in annual II, pp. 7 et seq.)

This definitely gives him as the son of Capt. This definitely gives him as the son of Capt. Edward Hart, the great grandson of John Harte, Newtown, Long Island; will, prob. in 1671. It is stated he was born in Conn. in 1711, and baptized at Maidenhead, Dec. 31, 1713. He d. in Hopewell, N. J., May 11, 1779. In 1740 he m. Deborah Scudder, b. 1721, and d. Oct. 26, 1776, age 55 years. Thirteen children are listed. This should be studied by those interested.

DAVID HERRIOTT (HARRIOTT) OF PERTH AMBOY

He came with Lord Neil Campbell, in 1685, a Scotchman, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 68).

He had land at P. A., 1688, and in 1693 represented it in the Gen'l Assembly, (Id., pp. 117 and 160.) Constable, 1709-10, (COURTS, Miller, pp. 64-5).

His wife was Helen Campbell, daughter of David Campbell of P. A., as per latter's will, 1687, Aug. 10, (id., pp. 217-8).

As David Harriot, he had land at P. A., in 1701, (id., p. 323). He was admin. of est., of William Young, "lately deceased" at P. A., in 1702, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 147).

He rem. to W. afterwards, where he d. in 1725-6, leaving a will, dated 1725, Aug. 10, called of W., yeoman; no wife ment., but chil., John appointed executor, David, Andrew, and Sarah. Prov. Mar. 15, 1725-6, (Idem, Vol. XXIII, p. 224). Other entries in same auth.

The wife was living at P. A., in 1714, (Idem, p. 355), as "Sarah Heritt."

JEREMIAH HILLARY, PIONEER SETTLER OF OHIO

He came with brothers, JOHN HILLARY and THOMAS HILLARY, from Maryland, about 1802, in company with the families of ISAAC MONNET, ABRAHAM MONNET and REV. JEREMIAH CRABB MONNETT, to whom he was kin, and who settled in Ross and Pickaway Counties, Ohio, particularly, Chillicothe and Colerain Township of the former and Salt Creek Township of the latter, on the River Scioto. His dates were b. 1762, d. Jan. 3, 1837, (MONNET, p. 682). His stone grave-marker, broken by cattle and scattered was recovered from Bald Knob burial place, (private), and is in possession of O. E. M. (ILL., vide, post, p. indic.)

(ILL., vide, post, p. indic.)

ROGER HILLARY OF ENGLAND

He was English Chief Justice of the Common Pleas; 1354, (PHILLIPS, p. 499). Imp. as ancestral.

THOMAS HILLARY OF CALVERT, MARYLAND

Sometimes Hilliary, and from French, St. Hillaire.

This is no attempt to connect him with N. J., except by ref., to that F. S., JOHN HILLIAR, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 609). However, the subject was one of most noted Colonists of Maryland and the progenitor of a distinguished race. He was there by 1661, and his genealogy was first given almost completely in MONNET, (pp. 1084 et seq.).

It is said in (WEST FAM, REG., 1928, p. 154, with ref. to "Of Sceptered Race," Watson, p.

271), that the subject was a son of "Chamberly Hilleary," Baronet of Danbury, Eng., "whose son, Thomas, came to America, 1661." Unconfirmed, as yet .- O. E. M.

A careful search justifies the belief that the prenom Chamberly was a corruption of the name CHAMBERLAINE or CHAMBERLIN, appearing to this day, in so many forms and with much profuseness, and which was one of the most noble names of early history of England.—O. E. M.

HILTON FROM COUNTY DURHAM. ENGLAND

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1188.)

"HILTON. There are parishes and places so called in many counties, and probably several called in many counties, and probably several distinct families. The great baronial race who flourished in the XIV cent. derived their name from the Castle of Hulton or Hilton, co. Durham, their ancient seat. The origin of the family of Hilton is lost in the clouds of remote antiquity.

It is at least certain, that the house of thicknessed in great splendour at the time of the Conquest, and had, long before its members were summoned to Parliament, under Edward II, enjoyed the rank and reputation of barons by tenure, a title which, after the declension of the family, was constantly attributed to the chief of the name by popular courtesy." Sharp's Hartlepool, p. 167. The characteristic of the family was, "THE HOARY HILTONS."

(GEN. QUART., LONDON, Dec., 1934, p.

(Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1189.)

Again, this writer asserts his unalterable belief that Hilton brought the name Durham from Eng-land to Durham, N. H.—O. E. M.

JOIST HITE, LEADER OF MIGRATION

The writer has taken from BOONE, (p. 546), a true historical statement, although an imaginary German family of SCHOLL was erected as illustration. The latter was SCULL.

"In Virgnia also, appears * * * * and perhaps as early as 1738, Jaist (or Joist) Hite and a Peter Scholl (Scull) were associated with each other in the Shenandoah Valley. Hite recruited in New York, New Jersey, and eastern Pennsylvania for his southern colonies. * * * *."

Perhaps, the best statement, supporting the foregoing is to be found in "First Settlement of The Valley," (KERCHEVAL, pp. 45 et seq.). Joist Hite, with his family, and his sons-in-law came Walter, with his family, and his sons-in-law came in 1732.

We are interested in the two men, John and Isaac Van Meter, who came from New Jersey along with Richard Mercer, Edward Mercer and Robert Stockton, from the same.

HOAGLAND, N. Y. TO W.

Christoffel Hoaglandt was the first of this branch to emigrate to America. The name has a Dutch signification of Christbearer and high-land. The bearers of the name were numerous and greatly distinguished in war and art in Holland and Netherland. and Netherlands.

Christopher Hoagland was b. in Holland in 1634, and the first records of him at New Amsterdam was in 1665 as a merchant. He m. Catharine Cregier, dau. of Capt. Martin Cregier, June 23, 1661. She was b. 1645. He d. in New York, Feb. 8, 1684. She m., 2nd, Roelof Martensen Schenck, Oct. 3, 1686.

Eight children.

A son, DIRCK, bapt., Nov. 1, 1662, m. MARIA, dau. of Jacob and Maria (Montanye) Kip, in N. Y., Aug. 4, 1687, and settled in W.,

SAMUEL HOPKINS OF ELIZABETHTOWN

It is not the intention to biograph this infamous character, for he joined with Capt. James Carteret, in treasonable actions against the Sovereignty, and aided the Dutch for which he was rewarded by being appointed as Schout or Sheppen. However, his official acts were related to both P. and W. Much is given concerning him in HATFIELD, (see Index), and in ARCH., (Vol. I, pp. 152-3, particularly footnote). This was in 1673 and the Captain of the Sloop was Samuel Davis, (see DAVIS treatment herein).—O. E. M.

JOHN HORN OF SALEM, MASS.

He was the N. J. origin and ancestor; came in 1630, prob. with Winthrop, and d. 1685, age 82. His wife was Ann, and several children, among whom were Recompence Horn and SIMON HORN, b. 28 Oct. 1649, who cannot be missed as the N. J. man. He may have m. (2) Elizabeth, who d. at Newbury, Mass., (SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 464), and many desc., who turned name to Orne, (SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 464). There was a kindred family at Dover, N. H., with a WILLIAM HORN prominent as the same in N. J. (q. v.).

SIMON HORN OF PISCATAWAY

He was a son-in-law of WILLIAM OLDEN of P., and was in turn, himself, a son of the first SIMON HORN, b. 28 Oct. 1649.

The subject, with his brother, WILLIAM HORN, served as a soldier in Col. Thomas Ffarmer's Regiment, 4th Company, Capt. Thomas Wetherill, 1715, (PROCS. N. J. HIST. SOC., Vol. XIII, p. 205; N. Y. SEC. of STATE, 1896, Vol. I. p. 533). Vol. XIII, p. 2 Vol. I, p. 533).

GEORGE HUBBARD

GEORGE HUBBARD and wife MARY, are supposed to have come from England about 1635 or 6, and went with the early settlers to Wethersfield, of which he was delegate in 1638.

We are only interested in his dau., SARAH HUBBARD, who m. Sergeant Richard Harrison of Conn., and N. J., and who was the father of the first JOHN HARRISON, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 827).

GENT. EPHRAIM HUIT OF BEDFORDSHIRE

This may be the origin of that minister, or related to him, who came to Connecticut in 1639, and was the uncle of the Hon. Daniel Clark, secretary for the colony. (SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 490 and vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1190), the variation of the vowels in the name being of no great consequence. great consequence.

"Seats of the Gentry of Great BRITAIN. THE HASSELS, Bedfordshire, the seat of Francis PYM, Esq. This mansion was erected about one hundred and thirty years ago by Heylock KINGS-LEY, Esq., who died in 1749.

This manor was in the BURGOYNES as early as the reign of Elizabeth, and was sold by John BURGOYNE, Esq., in 1633, to EPHRAIM HUIT, (sic.), who the next year disposed of it to Robert BRITTAIN, of whom it was purchased by Mr. Kingsley in 1721. Elizabeth, daughter and sole heiress of Heylock KINGSLEY, Esq., brought the estate in marriage to William PYM, Esq., the grandfather of the present owner."

THOMAS HUET, BROTHER OF REV. EPHRAIM HUET

We are interested because of his orig., and relationship to HON. DANIEL CLARK, of Windsor, Conn., famous Secretary of the Colony, and their after relationship to SCRIBNER and STRONG, via Northampton, and KEYES, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1220).

HENRY HULL OF LARKBEARE, EXETER

Reference must now be made to the children of Sir William Martin, by his wife, Christian Poulett, whose mother was the heiress of Denebrand. Lady Martin was a sister of Sir Amias Poulett, who was knighted for his gallant behaviour at the battle of Newark-upon-Trent, on June 16th, 1487, and he it was who built much of Hinton Saint George. (2)

Christian Poulett had been twice previously married. Her first husband was Henry Hull, of Larkbeare, Exeter, who died in May, 1490. Then she wedded Nicholas Chichester, of Raleigh, and had issue, Richard, and Elizabeth (who married John Carew, of Haccombe); next, Sir William Martin, and afterwards, Sir James Chudleigh, of Ashton—four husbands in all. GEORGE HULL OF DORSETSHIRE

George Hull armiger paid 20 shillings subsidy (tax) on lands he owned in Tallarford Hundred (Dorsetshire) in the 10th year of James I, (ref. 105/301). (E. Dwelly.)

THOMAS HULL, OF SOMERSET, ENGLAND

As given in HULL, (p. 245), the parents of REV. JOSEPH HULL, 1594-1665, were Thomas Hull of Somerset, whose wife was Joane Peson.

Some years ago, through the Hug. Soc. of London, Miss Grace de Mouilpied, the following items were obtained, and should be quoted here:

"In the Chancery Proceedings for the year 1653, there is an interesting suit by the Rev. Thos, Hull v. Thos. Bamfylde and others. This Thomas Hull was vicar of South Stoke, co. Som., and had graduated at Oxford in 1613, taking his M. A. in graduated at Oxford in 1615, taking his M. A. in 1618. He may not have been a brother of the Rev. Joseph Hull, but certainly was a near relative. He sued Thos. Bampfylde, the Lord of the Manor of Stokeland, * * * *." This suit was about a house, "which had been purchased by his mother, ANNE HULL, widow, of the defendant's father in 1603," etc. Was this ANNE a corruption of JOANE (PESON) HULL!—O. E. M.

Mention is made in the case of Edward Hull, brother of Thomas, who appears to have died in 1627.

HULL ORIGINS IN CREWKERNE, SOMERSETSHIRE

Nothing has given this editor more pleasure than to prove the fatherhood of the immigrant, Rev. JOSEPH HULL, 1594-1665, as set up by COL. C. H. WEYGANT and this writer, in 1913, (HULL, p. 245), and by the co-operation of Mr. E. Dwelly, of Eng., noted researcher, the following will records do this, for note the names, PESON, et al., and partic., the clear indication that the first RICHARD HULL, of Conn., was a brother of the first above, and of his known brother, the first George Hull, of Conn.—O. E. M. (Vide, ante, this PART. p. 1533.) (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1533.)

DEDUCTIONS-

- 1. It is very apparent that Joane PESON, wife of THOMAS HULL, (father of REV. JOSEPH HULL), had origin in ROBERT PYSINGE, as may also, the later ROBERT HULL, of Boston.
- It is indic., that JOHN HULL, 1588, was the brother of THOMAS HULL, the younger, and, prob. both were the sons of THOMAS HULL, the elder.
- 3. RICHARD HULL appears in this group, as indic. of that one of Conn., long thought to be kin.
- It is certain that REV. JOSEPH HULL had a bro., GEORGE, as in HULL; a bro., JOHN, of the will of 1627; a bro., WILLIAM HULL, as is known, and the will of THOMAS 4. It is certain HULL, of 1627, shows the father.
- 5. The appearance of ISAAC HULL rejoices all, as afterwards appearing in America.
- 6. Other kin are self-evident, as with GILES GIBBS, later in Conn., thus giving new genealogy, to the world.—O. E. M.

BENJAMIN HULL OF BALEVILLE. SUSSEX

He was b. 1702; d. 1792; m. 1748, Anne Duer, see BALE, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1545).

He was the son of Joseph Hull and his first wife of P., latter name unknown, (HULL, pp. 265-6 and p. 276).

This was a famous family in Sussex, and the visage of the subject is presented, as in ill. in that auth. There were 14 children, all grown to maturity, and raising large families, scattering westward through Penna. into Ohio. (SNELL, SUSSEX, opp. p. 330.)

CYRUS EDWIN HULL OF LOS ANGELES

104 Years of Age

104 Years of Age
(Interviewed by O. E. M., Sunday, Jan. 13, 1935)

He was b. Oct. 28, 1830, at New Lebanon, Columbia County, New York, later resided in Champaign and Urbana, Ill., then at St. Louis, Mo., removing to settle in Calif., in 1898. He was
m. (1) Jan. 1836, to Eliza Garland Brydson, (of Isle of Man), and (2) Dec. 21, 1899, to Emma Jackson, a widow, who is living at this date, age 83, on Dec. 19, 1934. Their address is 715 Bernal Street, Los Angeles. The subject had one son by his first wife, viz., Charles Hull, who d. at East his first wife, viz., Charles Hull, who d. at East St. Louis.

CYRUS EDWIN HULL belongs to the REV. JOSEPH (1) HULL branch of the family and his ancestral lineage appears in HULL, (p. 373, as No. 4181r), indicated as CYRUS HULL therein.

He verifies this lineage in an interview with him, showing remarkable memory and physical capacity at age of 104.

He knew, personally, Abraham Lincoln, heard him make pleas in law courts, political speeches and was present at two of his debates, with Stephen A. Douglas.

He bears the HULL physiognomy and facial expression, similar to that of the grandfather of the writer, George Washington Hull, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 834), and a brother of the latter, JAPHETH HULL, for exemplification of which a page of Hull pictures are attached in accompany-ing illustration, (p. 1569), to show this resemblance.

He published two volumes of verse, one in 1898 and one in 1924, while of great age.

JOHN HULL, MINT MASTER, BOSTON Many recs. re him, and he was son of first ROBERT HULL, (q. v.), b. ca. 18 Dec., 1624, at Market Harborough, Leicester co., in the borders of Northamptonshire, freeman, 1649, m. 11 May, 1647, Judith, d. of Edmund Quincy, whose mother, m. his own father; sev. children, inc., Hannah, b. 14 Feb. 1658. He was of artillery co., 1660, capt. of it, 1671, and again, 1678, Treasurer of the Colony, 1676, and as early as 1652, was a goldsmith. He had other honors, as (SAVAGE, VOL. II, p. 493; Book of the Hulls, 1863). 1863).

His dau., Hannah m. 28 Feb. 1676, Samuel Sewell, Chief Justice of Province of Mass. Bay Colony, and her name with reference to his appears in N. J., 1700, as he had d., in 1683, possessed of property at Perth Amboy, N. J., (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 312).

JUDGE JOHN HULL OF MONMOUTH

He was b. May 28, 1762, a son of HOPE-WELL HULL, (1711-1791), of the branch of the P. family removing to Monmouth, and wife, Isabella Reid.

They lived at the Cross-Roads, between Princeton and New Brunswick. The subject, with two brothers were prisoners at the old "Sugar-House," prison, in the Rev. War, (MONMOUTH, pp. 283-4). His picture is given in this Ref. Ser., for comparison with the several HULL visages, (vide, post, p. indic.).

Consult HULL, (pp. 275 and 277). Note, partic., SALTER, (appx., p. lxxi).

ROBERT HULL, IMMIGRANT

A chandler and father of JOHN HULL. Came in the George, from Bristol, 1635, with wife, Elizabeth, et al. (The Planters of the Commonwealth, Banks, p. 161.) His first wife was a widow Storer, and he had two sons, JOHN HULL, Mint Master, and Edward, and was himself, a blacksmith, freeman, 1637, and churchman, 1636. His wife d., 1646, and he m. widow, Judith Paine, who had m. (1) Edmund Quincy, d. 1654. His will, 1657, names son, JOHN HULL, et al. (SAVAGE, Vol. II, p. 495; Book of the Hulls, 1863.) Latter gives his d. 1663, and claimed that he was related to Rev. Joseph Hull, (1595-1665).

JAMES JACKSON OF WOODBRIDGE. CONSTABLE, 1735-6

(Courts, Miller, pp. 65-64.)

He was important as related to Fitz Randolph, as his wife was nee of that surname. He first appeared at W. owning land, in 1730, will of William Bunn of that place, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 73). Active, 1737-9, and d. in 1750 called "James Jackson, yeoman," (ARCH., VOL. XXX, pp. 35 and 318).

His wife was Mary, widow of William Thorne of W., who d. in 1735, and soon she m. the subject, and in 1750 Nov. 5, she was admr., of his estate, (idem, pp. 260-1).

JAMES JACOB OF PHILADELPHIA

He was there, "interested in West Jersey, 1691-," as a cordwainer, and acquiring land, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, pp. 498 and 679).

PETER JACOB OF BERGEN

Aug. 5, 1671, he came, and acquired "three houselots" in the Corporation of Bergen, and "gardens, 2 acres," (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p.

He may have been identical with "Pieter Jacobsen," who had grant in Bergen by May 12, 1668, (id., p. 5).

And, he was called as "Peter Jacobs," in land references with Col. Richard Townley and wife, Elizabeth, years, 1687 and 1691, then called of "N. Y. City." (Idem, pp. 99 and 188.)

THE JOHNSTON(E) FAMILY OF PISCATAWAY

These relate to the Scotch migrants, JAMES and JOHN JOHNSTONE, brothers, 1684-5, to Monmouth and, later, P. A. There is so much serious dispute about this pedigree, that this writer will not elab.

writer will not elab.

The chief compilations are WHITEHEAD, SAVARY in N. Y. GEN. & BIOG. REC., (VOL. XXXIII, pp. 246, et seq.), and in HIST. of ST. PETERS CHURCH, by Rev. W. Northey Jones, P. A., (1924, pp. 310 et seq.). Each of these is predicated on the other, and vital statistics given, without source auth. There is a clear confusion of marriages, as with ref., to "John Johnston, Perth Amboy, and Euphaeam Johnston, same, 1746, May 5," (ARCH., VOL. XXII, p. 218). The first name, Euphemia or Eupham, had its source in George Scott of Pitlochie, and because the writer has refused to accept any other, he has received most disagreeable letters, from a descendreceived most disagreeable letters, from a descend-ant, who does not wish to accept the m. of Euphemia Johnston to James Freeman, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 714), altho two noted genealo-gists on the latter fam., long ago decided that fact. This author does not care, but believes the statement to be correct.—O. E. M.

to their aid, in any way.)

KENDALL: ORIGIN IN ENGLAND (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 611.)

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 611.)

"KENDALL. Kent-dale, the valley of the Kent, a river of Westmoreland. The true name of the town known as Kendal is Kirby-in-Kendale. The Kendalls of Cornwall, long and still resident at Pelyn, were formerly of Treworgy in that county, but there does not seem to be any proof of their derivation from Westmoreland. It has been remarked of this family that they have perhaps sent more representatives to the British Senate than any other in the United Kingdom. C. S. Gilbert's Cornwall. JOHN KINSEY, THE FIRST

He was in West Jersey, as early as 1677, receiving an Indian deed, with et al., for the tract between Old Man's brook and Timber creek, (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 395). By 1681, Dec. 22-3, he was dead, with a son of the same name, who made conveyance, (idem, p. 375), for 1/3 of a share of the Province. (Coll. N. J. Hist. Soc., Vol. 9, p. 62.) The Chancellor, Sir William Keith, who stood much upon form, ordered his hat to be taken off; which was accordingly done by one of the officers of the Court. This gave great offence to the Quakers—great excitement followed, and order reversed. (Prov. Courts, of N. J., p. 111.)

KULL (from German KÜHL), AS COOL

KULL (from German KUHL), AS COOL

Not pronounced the same as HULL. Being intrigued by this fact, a Noted German scholar was consulted, who said that it was originally, KUHL, the German word for "Cool," and when spelled KULL, or KULLIN, (a diminutive, vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1197), in the German, the "u" had the normal, broad "oo" sound; Kull, as HULL beng an attempt at Anglicization. Its further consanguinity and self-same origin to COOL, are presented in this PART, (vide, ante, p. 1494). p. 1494).

A prominent Los Angeles representative of this family of KULL, with his lineage, complete, back to Wurttemburg, at Stuttgartt, makes the same explanation, Lieut. CHRISTIAN FREDERICK KULL, of the Los Angeles Police Department. (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1494.)

KULL IN PENNSYLVANIA, AS CULL

KULL IN PENNSYLVANIA, AS CULL Following the German trek, as early as 1748, of Palatinates, see JACOB CULL, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1552), it is very clear that the Rhenish immigrants took their rise in or near the Black Forest, and in Wurttemburg. A family of the same in Rustburg, West Virginia, assumed the German name Hek, for KULL, and have very clear records as to this migration. The name of the latter was Charles Kull Hek, a bloodbrother of Christian Gottleib Kull.—O. E. M.

Two brothers, as "Mani," were denizated, as in London Records, tho the event may have been after their removal to America, as was the case with PIERRE MONNET, SR., (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 146), and the record is clearly shown, (HUG. He must have been the son, of JOHN MANY, deceased, and had a brother, JAMES MANY, eligible to be the one, who went to North Carolina, soon, thereafter.

These items, and the foregoing are supported in the Coll. of the Hug. Soc., of N. Y., (Wittmeyer, index), where records of this fam., both Magny and Many, identifying the foregoing, 1692, 1696 and, later as well, a Jeremie Many.

MARTIN COAT-OF-ARMS PREFACE

"As a lad, I, many a time, gazed upon the memorial brasses and tablets in the beautiful Church of Crewkerne, and wondered and wondered what kind of people they were whose names are perpetuated in these pieces of metal and stone.

One dull sheet of brass always interested me because of the quaintness of the crest which surmounted the coat-of-arms—a monkey gazing into a mirror.

From the inscription below, these were the arms and crest of Adam Martin of Seaborough."

"The memorials in brass are few in number. But two or three of them are of the greatest interest, connecting Crewkerne Church with fam-ilies of high repute in the days which are passed. On the east wall of the south transept is an etched brass bearing this coat-of-arms—

Argent two bars gules, impaled with a barry of six, ermine and gules.

Crest: On the stump of a tree, couped and erased, Argent, a monkey, sejant, proper, collared and lined Or, looking in a mirror framed of the last.
The Motto is: Accedimys, Syccedimys,

Decedimys.

Underneath are the words-These are the Armes of Adam Martine of Seaborow
Esqr and his wife the dafter of Hybvrde Hyssie of Sedland, Esqr.

MARTIN, AS FROM MARTEINE, FRENCH

With all the references in this SERIES relative to Martin, it will be interesting to learn of a long discussion of the name as (supra), on the Battle Abbey Roll, and finding its origin as above, together with descent from Martin de Tours.

"MARTEINE. This entry on the Battle Abbey Roll refers to the famous Martin de Tours, who came over from Normandy with the Conqueror, and was distinguished at the Battle of Hastings."

"Descendants of Martin de Tours were summoned to parliament in the Barony Martin, which, at the decease of William, Lord Martin, in 1326, fell in abeyance between his heirs, Eleanor Columbers, his sister, and James de Audley, his nephew, as it still continues with their representatives."

ERRORS IN MOORE RECORDS

(N. J. Hist. Soc. Proceeds, Vol. XI, n. s., pp. 53 et seq.)

Judge John Moore of Marksboro, Warren Co., N. J., leaves MSS., rel. to his grandfather, Joseph Moore of Rahway (g. v.). "He was a son of N. SAMUEL MOORE OF WOODBRIDGE

(Third Generation.)

(Third Generation.)

There is confusion among sev. of this name, which must be distinguished, with care. This one was the son, SAMUEL MOORE of Captain JOHN MOORE, and wife, HOPE ROBBINS, of W., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 851).

The subject was b. Apl. 4, 1709, and d. in 1751, at W., leaving a will, dated Mar. 3, 1750, in which he was called "merchant," and then had a wife, Mary, and sons: Joseph, Edward, Isaac, John and Samuel. He names a bro., Enoch Moore, which def. identifies him, of Essex Co., a mariner, and Robert Moores, Michael Moore, (a cousin), Isaac Prall, and Nugient Kelly, also, wit. (ARCH., Vol. XXXII, p. 227).

The wife was Mary Crowell, b. Aug. 3, 1713,

(ARCH., Vol. XXXII, p. 227).

The wife was Mary Crowell, b. Aug. 3, 1713, dau. of Edward Crowell, of W., as see, (vide, ante, this PART, p. indic.). She survived her husband, many years and "was again m. to a man, named Hays (?), who robbed her of her property," etc. She resided at the old homestead, with her son, Edward Moore, until her death, which took place, the 17th day of the 5th month, 1811, aged 97 years," which corresponds with the above birth year.

There is no doubt, that after her husband's death, the widow of SAMUEL MOORE, viz., MARY MOORE, m. ca. 1751, THOMAS ALSTON, of W., had an expected child by him, and then he d., 1756, (ARCH., VOL. XXXII, p. 12).

GEORGE MORRIS OF NEW BRUNSWICK

In Reg. of Ancestors of Dorr Eugene Felt by Holman, (1921), is a statement that George Morris, son of George and Mary Morris, received land in Cranbury, N. J., Sept. 22, 1730, as see (ante), Joseph Drake. This proves John Skinner.

JOHN MORRIS, FIRST SETTLER OF WOODBRIDGE

He is first noted, with his wife, MARY, as witness to the will of John Trueman, of W., (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1230), dated May 2, 1679, and they were associated with the "First Citizen," there, SAMUEL MOORE. There are other entries in ARCH., (VOL. XXI, index). His wife was MARY. His wife was MARY

Following the trail from Piscataqua, N. H., to PISCATAWAY, N. J., came, after 1700, JOHN MUCHMORE, with son, or brother, EBENEZER MUCHMORE, and the consanguinity to HULL tells the historic origin.

EBENEZER MUCHMORE OF PISCATAWAY

His specific orig., is not disclosed, but he certainly followed his HULL relatives from Piscataqua, N. H., to Piscataway, N. J., with JOHN MUCHMORE.

He had a wife, LUCY, prob. a FITZ RAN-DOLPH.

PUEBLO OF LOS ANGELES
(Plaque, on church wall.) "On Sept. 4th, 1781, DON FELIPE DE NEVE, the Padres and Pobladores came to this very spot to found a pueblo. They reared a cross . . . and read the proclamation of CARLOS III, King of Spain. They called it, 'EL PUEBLO DE NUESTRA SONORA DE LA REINA DE LOS ANGELES.' It means, 'The City of Our Lady, the Queen of the Angels.' The corner-adobe of the Mission was laid in 1814."

JOHN NEVE, THE MARRINER

He appears but in three entries in N. J., (ARCH., VOL. XXI, pp. 491, 508, 535). In 1696-7, he was "John Neve, boatman"; in 1698, of Burlington, "waterman," and in 1699, he got a marriage license at Annapolis, Md., to wed Mary ffryley, and he was m. in Talbot county.

There is some suggestion that he was a descendant of the first famous JOHN NEVILL, of Md., who was a "marriner" in 1637, (MD. ARCH., VOL. V, p. 169), who appeared in many sub. rees., with wife, ANNE, and who had a son, IOHN JOHN.

But, more likely the first above was a Frenchman, orig. in de la Neve, although the Hon. James Nevill was a N. J., eminence.

His dau., ALMIRA CLARK, m. SAMUEL SCRIBNER, III (of whom many refs., in INDEX). His noted son, (foll.), presented a family and group, in an early day, in Ohio, of whom the picture above shows himself and wife, at their prime. (This CLARK LINEAGE, by O. E. M. in Coll. Fams. of U. S. A., Mackenzie, Vol. IV, pp. 97 et seq.) "HARVEY CLARK, of Marion, Ohio; b. in Ashford Conn., 1st June, 1797; d. 66th April, 1874. > NOE FAMILY OF NEW JERSEY (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 622.)

Ovide, ante, FART FOUR, p. 622.)
Different from the "three brothers" theory, there is little doubt but that one immigrant was the sole origin of this American family; namely, the PIERRE NOE or PETER NOE, a French Huguenot, first in N. Y., 1663 and then on Staten Island, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 126), and then 1695, rem. to E.

and then 1995, rem. to E.

The name variation from the French, certainly differentiates from that ELIAS NEAU, first in N. Y. City, but there is certainty that it, NOE, was orig. a corruption of NOEL, as the terminology used for Xmas personification. This is reached by the striking off of the concluding letter. This is definitely proven by the entries in French Church in N. Y. city, (WITTMEYER, index, p. xxx).

In the same, (p. 39), his son, JOHN, was called "JEAN NOEL," and m. Elisabeth Damaris Gisrard, Oct. 2, 1694. He signed as "JEAN NUEL," and his father-in-law was clearly Isaac Girard. As "JEAN NUEL," he was a witness, 1695, (id., p. 43), and had a dau, Marguerite "de Jean Noue et Elizabeth damaris girard." Apparently he had a sister, "anne Noel," in 1703-4, (id., p. 99). (id., p. 99).

Out of this progenitive came many soon after, Isaac Noe, Peter Noe, and others, rem., to the Valley of Virginia, where the name came to be, Noll, Nall, Null, Nowell, and other corrupts.

REV. ROBERT PARKER, ENGLAND

This is the source of the N. E., Newbury, Parkers, and possibly ELISHA PARKER, and his brother, ROBERT PARKER, of Barnstable.

his brother, ROBERT PARKER, of Barnstable.
Wrongly called, THOMAS PARKER, (POPE, p. 345 and p. 512, as JOHN PARKER), he was the very eminent divine and writer, who was the father of the REV. THOMAS PARKER, "matus baptizatus die Penecoste, anno 1575, being June 8, etc.," of Ipswich, 1634, and famous minister of Newbury, Mass.; uncle of REV. JOHN WOODBRIDGE, (vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 441 et seq.), the latter being the "cum laude" of the baptismal name of WOODBRIDGE.

The second point, never emphasized before was

The second point, never emphasized before, was the rancorous church dissensions, 1664 and liter-ally tearing apart the citizenry of Newbury, Mass., and probably the GREATEST MOTIVATING CAUSE of the migration to New Jersey, the supporters of Rev. JOHN WOODBRIDGE migrating, taking their beloved pastor with them, and leaving his uncle and his favorites, Rev. Thomas Parker, behind, in the old community. The NOYES relationship accounts for the recurrence of that name in W., et al. (COFFIN, want refer the result of many refs.)

ELISHA PARKER, SENIOR, OF WOODBRIDGE

He was identical with the first ELISHA PARKER, of Barnstable, Mass., who had a brother there, ROBERT PARKER, and probably other brothers who comprised the first PARKERS in N. J., at Monmouth and W.

First, note the account of the PARKER family First, note the account of the PARKER family in WHITEHEAD, (Cont. to E. J. Hist., 1856, pp. 128 et seq.), which possesses errors. It is true that ELISHA PARKER, SR., yeoman of Woodbridge received grant of land for 102 acres on the highway leading to Piscataway, April 19, 1675; that, he had been on Staten Island, and really became a settler of W. He had not three wilves. wives.

As omitted by WHITEHEAD, his first wife was Elizabeth Hinckley, dau. of Samuel Hinckley, (supra) bapt. Sept. 6, 1635, m. July 15, 1657, ELISHA PARKER. (GEN. NOTES OF BARNSTABLE FAMS., 1888, Vol. 2, p. 32.)

ELISHA PARKER, JUNIOR, OF W.

GEORGE PARKHURST OF MASS.

He was the immigrant progenitor of all, first of Newbury, Mass. and then, 1643, of Watertown, Mass. (HATFIELD, p. 166; SAVAGE, Vol. 3, p. 358; and BOND'S WATERTOWN, pp. 329.0) 388-9.)

He came with a family, and, no doubt had others, as with names, particularly that of GEORGE PARKHURST, after appearing in N. J., so there is no doubt of his fatherhood of BENJAMIN PARKHURST of W. and E.

BENJAMIN PARKHURST OF W.

This name, with slithering phonetic corruption, also appears, as PARKIS, even PARKS, but the spelling of the title is an old English place name, and the correct form, (EWEN, Surnames, p. 241).

and the correct form, (EWEN, Surnames, p. 241).

The subject of the title was an orig. F. S. of W., as early as 1669-70, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 10, et al.). He subsequently became a prominent settler at E., leaving children at W., with intermarriages, and his biog. is to be found in HAT-FIELD, (p. 166), and he clearly had a wife, Martha Parkhurst. His properties at W. were conveyed Aug. 8, 1672 to Claude Vallot of W. He was a joiner, lieutenant of company of foot, justice of the peace, judge of Small Causes and JOHN PEARSALL OF NEWTOWN, L. I.

This is verified by Thompson, while RIKER, (p. 83), spells it PARCELL, and it is confused in N. J., with PIERSON or PEARSON, (SAVAGE, VOL. III, p. 377).

The first was clearly JOHN PARCELL, at Newtown, 1656, (RIKER, p. 37, foot-note: and other refs.), rel. to JACOB PARCELL, Thomas and William, (q. v.), and out of the loins of these came that N. PHEBE PEARSALL OF CEDAR BROOK IN PISCATAWAY

Because of her contemporary PHEBE PEAR-SALL-FITZ RANDOLPH, who was the daughter of SAMUEL PEARSALL, of Cedar Brook, (q. v.), she is ment. as daughter-in-law of DAVID LEFORGE of Cedar Brook, in P., will dated Jan. 20, 1764, miller, etc., "my father's in P." wife Sarah.

1681, Draft of Will by "Daniel Peirce, Senior, of W.," to his dau., and her children, to which the son, Capt. Daniel Peirce gives consent, September 29, 1681, (id., p. 205).

JOSHUA PEIRCE OF WOODBRIDGE

Son of DANIEL PEIRCE, FOUNDER, (vide, supra). Wrongly entered as "Joseph," he had land 1677, and wife, "Mrs. Dorothy Pearce," (who was), and her children, in right of her late husband, JOSEPH (?) PEARCE." (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 50.)

He was d. by 1670-71, June 1, when his estate was inv., (ARCH., Vol. XXI, p. 31). For letters of admin., were granted to his widow, Dorothy Pierce; John Smith and Robert Dennis, both of W., were bondsmen.

He was d. and wife, Dorothy, had m. John Light of Portsmouth, N. E., by 1678-9, "husband of Dorothy, late widow of Joshua Pierce, and Capt. John Pike, her attorney." (Id., p. 42.) Two chil., Joshua and Sarah Peirce, the first of whom, as "Joshua Peirce, Jr.," was in W., but the sister m. Humphrey Bradstreet, of Portsmouth, N. H. PESON, AS ANGLICIZED FROM PAISANT. IN FRENCH (PYSINGE: vide, ante, this PART, p. 1567.) 1687-1688. Les Enfants baptize L'an 1688, en L'Eglise Walloon de Canterb:

Peson. (p. 309.)

(Hug. Soc. of London, Vol. V, Regs. of the Walloon, Ch. in England.)

Undoubtedly, it is consonant with the modernly accepted name of Payson. Another ref., Gen. Gleanings in England, (WATERS, Vol. I, pp. 297-8), which along with SAVAGE, (Vol. III, pp. 372-3), gives information concerning the immigrants to America, Giles Payson and Edward Payson.

JOANE PESON, WIFE OF REV. JOSEPH HULL

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1566.)

"We find the name PESYN also among these early Huguenots: In 1544 Robert Pesyn, priest, was registered as having been 22 years in England, then being 60 years of age, giving the date of his birth about 1484. Whether this is the derivation of the name Peson it is not easy to say, but as I have said before, the Pesyn family were established in Dorset and Somerset, including Crewkerne in the 16th century. The Hulls were a Dorset-Somerset-Devon family, the John Hull, who returned to England and became a tailor in West returned to England and became a tailor in Wolrington as above, may have induced the Pesyns to settle in the same neighborhood, if they fled from France about the same time."

The lineage of Joane Peson, wife of Rev. Joseph

Hull, (1594-1665).

There is a will in the name of PYSING for Cruekerne, Somerset Co., at the Somerset House, in London, (found in 1915), which helps.

ROGER PRESTON, THE FIRST

Ipswich, Mass., 1648, a tanner, came in the Elizabeth from London, 1635, aged 21, d. at Lynn, 20 Jan. 1666. He had son, Samuel, Andover, m. 27 May, 1672, Susanna Gutterson, (ancestors of O. E. M.). SAVAGE, (Vol. III, Prestons," and giving the above Samuel Preston, 1651-1738, wife, Susanna Gutterson, and a complete ancestral lineage, of 700 years, with kings and queens, in abundance. The writer has not checked with English sources.—O. E. M.

JOHN PRIDMORE, THE FIRST (Vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1210.)

That he had a son, JOHN PRIDMORE, was not evidenced, until this rec., Sept. 4, 1701, at N. Y. one JOHN PRIDMORE, of East Jersey, was indentured to JAMES MANY, Mariner, for six years, (N. Y. HIST. COLL., 1885, p. 593). For indenture, he must then have been of non-age, and hence, junior to the subject.

CLAES JANSEN VAN PURMURRENT OF BERGEN

The subject was one of the first Patentees of "OLDE EAST NEW JERSEY," and accounts for some varied and shortened names of the F. S.

for some varied and shortened names of the F. S. With GOVERT LOOKERMANS, of Staten Island, AUGUSTINE HERRMAN, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 650), he, figured in the earliest records, almost equally with PETER ALRICKS and PIERRE JEGOU, 1651 to 1668.

A full account of the subject, in KINGS, (Bergen, p. 359), "Purmarent, a town in North Holland." He was of Gowanus, where he m. (1), Altien Brackhoengie, and (2), Nov. 11, 1656, in N. A., Annetje Van Vorst. Sometimes called Jan Pottagie, and "Kuyper," prob. a cooper, by trade, (Winfield, Land Titles of Hudson).

JOHN PYATT OF SIX-MILE RUN

JOHN PYATT OF SIX-MILE RUN

Purposely called Piatt by others, in attempted differentiation, from the Piscataway family to which he belonged, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 878; and PART SIX, p. 1209). Mr. O. B. Leonard, beyond doubt the orig. and keenest genealogist, to first delve into P. and W. gen. (who gave me his recs.—O. E. M.), very carefully discussed all of the traditions of the subject, and the "St. Thomas tale about sugar plantations," and he says, "but we have no proof that he ever saw France and so I prefer to call him 'John Pyatt of Six-Mile Run,' Why inexpert genealogists like to claim the contrary is because they have not studied closely the PYATT families, at P. and Six-Mile Run, just a short distance away. Why, in order to set up a pedigree, take the lineage all the way to St. Thomas?—O. E. M. JOHN PYATT (sic.), was sheriff of Somerset County, 1732 and Commissioner of Highways, 1742. In a map of Six-Mile Run, JOHN PYATT'S (sic.), house, (sic.), is marked, and he owned lot 21. He was living as early as 1717-20, at Six-Mile Run, when the church was publicly constituted.

Recently, the writer has received "Historical and Genealogical Chart," (compiled by Arthur Sherman Meloy), which gives the subject, ROGER His best biog., in add., is to be found, in ARCH., (VOL. ONE, p. 510, foot-note, q. v.) He d., Mar. 16, 1723, aged sixty-seven, and his wife was Margaret Miller, Scot., etc.

PETER RESNIER OF N. J.

Another Fr. Huguenot. Same as REGNIER, 1709. Jacob and wife, Elizabeth, in French Church, N. Y. City. (WITTMEYER, p. 117.)

JEANNE DE RESSIGUIER, dau. of Alexander came bef. 1696, and settled in Norwalk, Conn., (see BAIRD, HUGS., Vol. II, pp. 145-6).

DEACON GEORGE ROSS

(Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 860.)

Prominent F. S. of E., where he came in 1670, from New Haven, Conn. There he had m. Constance Little, dau. of Richard Little of N. H., and was freeman in 1668. (SAVAGE, VOL. III, p. 577, and HATFIELD, p. 167.)

He was a carpenter, became patentee, associate and land owner; Dec. 3, 1683, commissioned a Lieutenant at E.; May 1, 1686, a Judge, and a church deacon, (HATFIELD, pp. Index).

(Vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 53.) HATFIELD says he d. about 1702, without any record of est.

JOHN LITTLE of E. was accredited to brotherhood of first GEORGE LITTLE, yet the former had a dau., CONSTANCE LITTLE, which may have orig. in Deacon George Ross' wife and not from Little fam.

GEORGE and CONSTANCE ROSS, (ROYCE), had children:

I. JOHN ROSS, appearing 1694;

II. DANIEL, noted 1699-1700 at FIELD, (vide, ante, PART WEST p. 556);

III. GEORGE ROSS, JUNIOR, first named

IV. JAMES.

And, no doubt others. These appear definitely.

GEORGE ROSS, JR., OF E.

He was first on the records 1692, (HATFIELD, p. 248), then of age. Succeeded to his father's estate, as oldest son, (legis), and is variously mentioned. His wife was Anna (Hannah) Spinning, dau. of HUMPHREY SPINNING of E., to whom this fam, were in constant attendance, (ARCH, VOL. XXI, pp. 168 and 180). Prob. his brother, JOHN ROSS, m. her sister Elizabeth or Abigail Spinning. GEORGE ROSS was exetrof Daniel Spinning, 1690, (idem, p. 179).

1717, Oct. 26, GEORGE ROSS, of Elizabeth Town, Essex Co., yeoman; will of Wife Hannah (Anna), dau. of Humphrey Spinning, and proved Nov. 14, 1717. Names children:

I. John

II. Thomas

III. Abigail

IV. Sarah, chose guardian, James Hampton,

V. George

VI. William

VII. Samuel

VIII. Expected child

Brother-in-law, Daniel Price, who had wife, prob. Elizabeth Spinning, dau. of Humphrey Spinning. Witnesses, Daniel Ross, Hannah Lambert, and Samuel Whitehead, (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 395). The first name, James Ross, came in on another sprout.

JOHN ROSS OF BONHAMTOWN

(For Mrs. Julia Bogart, Metuchen, N. J.)

He d., in 1806 in 68th year, and hence b. 1738. He m. June 20, 1759, Sarah Jackson of Woodbridge, (ARCH., Vol. XXII, p. 219). The latter was the dau. of JAMES JACKSON, who d., 1750, and whose wife was Mary Fitz Randolph, first m. to William Thorne. Jackson came from Hempstead, L. I.

The above JOHN ROSS was of the lineage of JAMES ROSS, in church at W., 1710, who had a son JOHN ROSS, and also a brother of the same name.

SCHOLL IN NEW JERSEY

This is absolutely erroneous, (BOONE, p. 546), as there was no separate surname, as that, in New Jersey. There were two families; SCHOOLEY, of which Schooley's Mountain will always be the memorial, and the other, plain SCULL, early at Great Egg Harbor, N. J.

Concerning the claim that Peter Scholl lived in the Raritan district of New Jersey from 1714 to 1731, this is without evidence. An examination of the New Jersey Archives completely disproves, as PETER SCULL, was apparently the homo in question.

JOHANN SCHUSSLER

If incunables, or books printed in the 15th century in the cradle days of the craft, are few, incunables that have American interest are necessarily fewer. The Hexameron of St. Ambrosius, Twenty years more ancient than Discovered America, this book is mentioned by Columbus in the account of his third voyage. The printer was Johann Schüssler, noted for the excellence of his typography. Since Schüssler printed for only two years, his imprints are of great rarity.

(THE MONTH AT GOODSPEEDS, Oct., 1934, pp. 50-51.)

This was the name Schissler, (Pa.), in later America,-O. E. M.

NOTED GEORGE SCOT OF PITLOCHIE

Never reaching N. J., to which he sailed from Scotland about Aug. 1st, 1685, with 200 persons, (WHITEHEAD, pp. 359, et seq.). In some un-known catastrophe, he and his wife d. enroute, on the vessel, "Henry and Francis," apparently leaving only two children, a dau., EUPHAM (Euphemia) Scot, who in 1686, m. DR. JOHN-STONE; and a son James Scot, for whom DR. JOHNSTONE and George Willocks were appointed guardians, Oct. 30, 1686.

His greatest claim for undying fame was his authorship of the remarkable "The Model of the Government of the Province of East-New Jersey, in America," (Edinburgh, 1685, by JOHN REID), (vide, ante, PART THREE, pp. 337-8). His wife was named Margaret Scot. (ARCH., VOL. XXI, pp. 70 and 125.)

SCRIBNER COAT-OF-ARMS (From English Scrivener or Scriven)

Arms: Ermine, on a chief indented azure three leopards faces, or.

Crest: An arm couped at the elbow and erect holding between the thumb and finger a quill, all proper.

Motto: "Veritas Securis."

This subject has been covered hereinbefore, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1220), and the development of the above correct coat-of-arms, as applicable to the New Hampshire family, has been established by Mr. William H. Cobb of Los Angeles, well-known genealogist and heraldist.

It is quite gratifying to achieve this result.—O, E. M.

JOEL SCRIBNER, ABNER SCRIBNER AND NATHANIEL SCRIBNER

Three brothers, starting down the Ohio River, 1813, purchased the tract of land at Madison, Indiana, upon which the town of New Albany was laid out. The Scribners builded by them a frame house in 1814 which has become the Chapter House of the Piankeshaw Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

See article by Miss Mary Helen Scribner, (in February, 1935, D. A. R. Mag., Vol. LXIX, p.

115).

SCULL OF NEW JERSEY

This is not SCHOLL. Gen. nicely given, with coat-of-arms, in THOMAS, (pp. 498, et seq.), relating to the brothers John and Nicholas Scull from Herefordshire, England, who came in 1685, the latter moving on to Penna., where he d. in

The other brother was JOHN SCULL, whaler, Great Egg Harbor, N. J., extensive land owner, founder of Scullville, who had m. before his arrival Mary and d. 1744-45, with eleven children, among whom was PETER SCULL, F. S., of P. and the Raritan, and others of the children prob. went to the same section.

This gen. is attempted in SHOURDS (Fenwick, pp. 218 et seq), truthful in the main, but of course, this compilation has no real substance, as many dates etc. are missing.

Also, see AMER. ANC., (Vol. 8, pp. 94-95).

THOMAS SHADWELL, FAMOUS PLAYWRIGHT

His noted works are listed in recent catalogue of Goodspeed's, (Boston), as of 1673-1690, and are alluded to here to demonstrate the origin of the N. J. surname of SHOTWELL, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 865).

SHADWELL BECAME SHOTWELL

(ARCH., Vol. XXX, INDEX, and pp. 51 and 110.)

Proof of the origin of this name, as SHAD-WELL, and hence SHATSWELL and SATCH-WELL, of Ipswich, Mass., nothing has given the writer more pleasure than the above, beyond dispute, identificable with men at P. and W., as pute, identifica SHOTWELL.

"JOHN SHADWELL" at Scotch Plains was a witness to the will of Nathaniel Bonnell of E., 1736, (id., p. 51).

"ABRAHAM SHADWELL," was so called, with wife Elizabeth, who was the daughter of John Cowperthwaite as named in his will of 1732, (id., 110), who is the same as that ABRAHAM SHOTWELL, (ARCH., XXXII, p. 291).

WILLIAM SHARP(E) OF WOODBRIDGE

WILLIAM SHARP(E) OF WOODBRIDGE

(Responsive courtesy to Miss Winifred Lovering Holman, Watertown, Mass.)

Quoting from her letter, (8 April, 1935); "Just to express my appreciation of the splendid work you are doing in connection with the publication of data dealing with New Jersey families and records. I am looking forward to the publication of the consolidated index."

The one of the title was son of that first WILLIAM SHARPE, of W., (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1514), church records.

His will dated Apr. 23, 1749, proved May 22

His will dated Apr. 23, 1749, proved May 22, (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 428), shows 2nd wife Sarah, prob. Langstaff, and five sons, inc. the foll.

SAMUEL SHARP OF PISCATAWAY

Member, St. James Church, and deed, 1774, "whereby SAMUEL SHARP and wife, Priscilla, of P. convey land," He was a blacksmith, and m. at P., in 1759, Priscilla Sutton, (ARCH., Vol. XXII, p. 389), who was b. Apl. 14, 1735, dau. of JOSEPH SUTTON and wife, Priscilla Langstaff.

WILLIAM SHERBOURNE OF MIDDLESEX

In the records the name is both STERBORN and STARBORN, but correct form is clear. This originated in N. H. and came to P., with migration.

Will of William Sherbourne of Middlesex, dated April 28, 1730, whole estate left to wife Elizabeth, and witness EDWARD FITZ RANDOLPH, (ARCH., Vol. XXIII, p. 439; and Vol. XXX, p. 454).

ABRAHAM SHOTWELL, SENIOR, OF PISCATAWAY

This is odd, as SHOTWELL was strictly a W. family. His will dated June 20, 1757, gives designation of the title, and "of Piscatua, Mddlesex Co." From other sources we know his wife to have been Elizabeth Cowperthwaite, not named in the will. Proved Nov. 2, 1757, and NATHANIEL FITZ RANDOLPH refused to act as executor, (ARCH., Vol. XXXII, p. 291).

SHEFFIELD ORIGINS

In 1677, Renatus Fleurrison, more easily recognized as RENE PYATT, (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 878), m. Elizabeth SHEFFIELD, of Flushing, L. I.

"(1660), there came to Flushing a number of French Huguenots, who introduced the industry of Horticulture, for which the town has ever since been famous."

(WALLER, p. 43; FLINT'S, L. I., p. 183.) Because RENATUS FLEURRISON was related to Boston, it seems very probable that the THOMAS SHEFFIELD, there bef. 1663, mariner, is the ancestor, since RENE PYATT, named a son, THOMAS PYATT. (SAVAGE, VOL. IV, p. 68.)

The name itself has a French origin, the domiciled in Lincolnshire, Eng. (RIETSTAP, p. 771), with coat-of-arms.

(AM. & ENG. GEN. in Lib. of Cong., Ed. 1919.) Re Pierce, by Ebenezer Weaver Peirce, 1874, Boston hist. of fams. including, SHEF-FIELD. Scroope, (p. 13, Folio 8). St. Cath. Creechurch, L. Mch. 11, 1628-9, Anne Sherborne. Will, to which witness. THO. SHEFFIELD.

SILVERTHORNE OF NEW JERSEY

Opinion that the original name was plain SIL-VER, an early N. E. Fam. The above developed by a combination of an early surname in N. J., and ubiquitous family of THORNE in N. J.

Interest here lies in the HULL relationship in Sussex, N. J., and later Morrow Co., Ohio, whither HULL and other N. J. fams., rem. about 1825, and the closest girlhood friend of Olive Adelaide Hull-Monnette, on Shaw Creek, Morrow Co., Ohio, bef. 1877, was LAURA SILVER-THORNE. THORNE.

The first found in N. J. is that THOMAS SIL-VERTHORNE, first in Morris Co., by 1750.

It will be noted that this combination is founded on the orig. THOMAS SILVER, from Newbury, Mass. (q. v.).

ROBERT SKELTON OF PISCATAWAY

He was there before 1693, probably coming up from Monmouth, and having a wife Alice, both made defendants in an action to recover money, there being a hint that they had been in New there being a hint that they had been in New York, the claim being made that they had handled the personal estate of Joseph Throckmorton, probably related to the wife Alice, and other kin Job Throckmorton, James Ashton, and wife Deliverance Throckmorton, and Edward Taylor, son of Edward Taylor, who had married a daughter of Joseph Throckmorton, (CHANCERY COURTS, see v. pp. in Index). sev. pp. in Index),

It is interesting to note that this Robert Skelton was a soldier in King Philip's War.

JOHN SKINNER, FIRST, OF W.

He was called "Senior" hence two of the name were contemporaneous.

Son of the first RICHARD SKINNER, b. prob. 1667-8 d. 1725, leaving a will dated July 12, 1725, prov. Aug. 19, 1749. Wife, Ann, and chil.: Catte (Catherine), John, Daniel, Richard, Benjamin, Ann and Marg., "last five under age." Son, John Skinner, with wife, Exctrs. Land in W. (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 435.)

His wife, Ann, was the dau of Robert Wright, Sr. of W., (vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 878). She was living at W., 1752, and witnessed the will of John Freeman, (ARCH., VOL. XXXIII, p. 152).

In addition to foregoing he had a son, Wright Skinner, 1738, (HATFIELD, p. 318).

The son, Benjamin Skinner, was of W., in 1750, (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 261), and over in E. in 1761, when assoc. with Thomas Scudder, dec., who had bot land of "Richard Skinner." (ARCH., Vol. XXXIII, p. 377.) The latter was at Rahway, "on Robinson's branch."

DEACON RICHARD SKINNER OF W.

He was so called and d. May 12, 1727, age 63, i. e., b. 1664, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 377). He was son of the first RICHARD SKINNER. (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 630.)

In 1712, he had land near that accepted for schoolhouse at Rahway, (DALLY, p. 155). He was in W. church, 1707-8, with Francis Skinner, John Skinner and Ann Skinner, prob. latter's

He had m. Sarah Moore, dau. of Matthew Moore of W., and had, at least, two chil., Mathew and Sarah Skinner, (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 343). (Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 618.)

He prob. had two sons, Jonathan and Nathaniel Skinner appearing later at W.

Rev. Nathaniel Skinner, b. 1706, d. 1801, Somerset Co., Pa. (Jer. Gen. No. 3908, Apr. 20, 1912.)

JOHN SKINNER, SECOND, OF W.

Son of first JOHN SKINNER of W., m. Elizabeth Cutter, dau. of William Cutter, Mar. or Nov., 1736, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 251), d. leaving will dated Feb. 14, 1748-9, prov. Mar. 9, 1748-9, (ARCH., VOL. XXX, p. 435), showing wife Elizabeth; youngest child, Elizabeth, not 15; four daus. "now living, all under age; expected child. Brother, Richard Skinner, and wife's brother, William Cutter, figure. His widow, Elizabeth, d. 1750, will dated Apr. 5, 1750, prov. April 13, 1750, will dated Apr. 5, 1750, prov. April 13, 1750," refers to five daus., not named, all under age. Sisters, Sarah Jacques and Esther Marsh, et al. (id., p. 435).

Children, (vide, ante, PART TWO, pp. 259 and 276):

I. Ann, b. Dec. 26, 1736

II. Hannah, b. Feb. 2, 1742-3

III. Esther, b. Apl. 1, 1744IV. Elizabeth, b. Apl. 29, 1746

V. Expected child, 1748-9, (a dau.).

JOHN SKINNER OF PENNSYLVANIA

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 630.)

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, p. 630.)

This man had a wife, Mary, and left N. J., about 1776. (N. B. Waters considerably muddied by a prof. gen.?), but the family recs., show definitely that he was b. 1733, d. Nov. 21, 1801, and that in March, 1775, he was living in South Brunswick, as a P. of A., (orig.), shows, and he lived in Cumberland (then Lancaster) Co., Penna:, and when he d., had sons, William, John, Jr., Archer, George and Enoch, his wife, Mary, d. June 21, 1799, having been b., in 1743, in N. J. There were daus., Anna, Phoebe, and a son, Archer. The son, John Skinner, Jr., was b. Feb. 15, 1765, d. Mar. 23, 1819.

SLOAT (SLOT, SLOOT, SLOET)

(N. Y. GEN. & BIOG. REC., Vol. LXIV, 1933, p. 367.)

This, of course, happened to follow the publication by this writer relative to the family, as presented in PART SIX, (p. 1222), however, it would have been very gracious of that compiler if, instead of the stinging rebuke of Holland, he had given some authority for the last two sentences. That is the best example of an "ipse dixit statement" to be found. (On a subject in which this writer has no personal interest whoten which this writer has no personal interest whatsoever.—O. E. M.)

IOHN SMALLEY, THE FIRST, OF PISCATAWAY

(Vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 225; PART THREE, pp. 435-6; and PART FIVE, p. 866.)

He was a freeholder, with 118½ a., in 1675, (vide, ante, PART ONE, p. 55).

He d. at P., July 30, 1692, and his wife, Anne (or Hannah) Walden, d. at P., Jan. 29, 1693-4, (vide, ante, PART TWO, p. 243). (Gen. and Mem. Hist. of N. J., LEE, pp. 793 et seq.)

The writer is compiling with meticulous care, several generations of this family, and, WITH CONVICTION, is persuaded that he had daus, not named in his will, 1689-1697, (ARCH., Vol. XXI, pp. 269-270), and THAT IT WAS A DAU. OF HIS, ANNE, WHO M. SAMUEL BLACKFORD, (vide, ante, PART SIX, pp. 1165-6).— O. E. M.

HEZEKIAH SMITH, FIRST, OF PISCATAWAY

This was the line, of the first John Smith, of W., and wife Susannah Hinckley. Their son Samuel, m. Esther Dunham, (of Jonathan Dunham and Mary Bloomfield), and they had a son Samuel Smith, b. 1685, d. 1748, at E., will, prob. at P. A.

The latter had a son, Hezekiah Smith, b. June 3, 1714, d. Oct. 6, 1801, m. Sarah Hull, b. Sept. 25, 1719, d. July 31, 1804. Rem. to Newtown, Sussex Co., where Lieut. Isaac Hull became Sheriff. (Col. Fams., U. S. A., Mackenzie, Vol. IV, p. 463.)

(JOHANNES) ADAM SPENGLER (Vide, ante, PART FIVE, p. 868.)

He was in Phila. Co., then Berks, Pa. The Spengler family of Pennsylvania trace their ancestry back to George Spangler or Spengler, who was cup-bearer to the Emperor Barbarossa (1150, A.D.) whom he accompanied in one of the cru-sades to the Holy Land in 1189. The family coat-of-arms consists of a red shield emblazoned with a silver beaker resting on three golden hills, and surmounted by a bishop's bust. The family was long settled at Nuremberg, Germany, of which town, a George Spengler (b. 1479, d. 1534) was town clerk in 1526, in which year he entertained there Melanchton, the great reformer. Lazarus Spengler, son of George the town-clerk, was a triend and conditions of Martin Luther, and an friend and coadjutor of Martin Luther, and an active participator in the scenes of the Reformation, was with Luther at the Diet of Worms, of the proceedings of which he wrote a graphic description. He was also the author of a number of theological treatises, and of religious poetry. After his death, Luther published his "Confessions of Faith of Lazarus Spengler, formerly Syndic of the City of Nuremberg."

(COL. AND REV. FAMILIES, pp. 592-3.)

SPENGLER COAT-OF-ARMS

According to Seibmacher's Wappenbuch and Risstap's Armorial General the ancient Nuremberg Spengler arms were: Gules, a beaker argent on a trimount or; in other words, "A red shield on a trimount or; in other words, "A red shield emblazoned with a silver beaker resting on three golden hills. The beaker or covered cup, emblematized the office of Cupbearer held by George Spengler in the service of the Bishop of Wurtzburg, 1189. The Spengler Arms, with later augmentations, are; Gules, and eagle displayed sable, a beaker argent, on a trimount or, accosted with four estoiles or, Crest: a Bishop's bust proper. The arms of the descendant branches, having been subsequently conferred and for personal and independent service, differ from the above.

GEORGE SPENGLER The Common Ancestor

(N. B. The following is presented SPENGLER ASSOCIATION.—O. E. M.)

The first of the family of Spengler who achieved fame was GEORGE SPENGLER, Cupbearer to the Prince—Bishop of ecclesiastical principality of Wurtzburg, Godfrey of Piesenburg, who was also Chancellor of the Emperor Frederick Barbarossa.

This Bishop and his Cupbearer accompanied the Emperor on his crusade to the Holy Land. The Emperor was drowned, 1190, in the Syrian river, Calycadnus, while trying to urge his horse across the stream. His camp was then immediately removed to Antioch, where he was provisionally buried.

The Bishop and his Cupbearer died soon afterward. They were carried off by that dreadful scourge, the plague, which afflicted the crusaders, and were buried in the Church of St. Peter, at Antioch. Of those whom the Emperor had brought across the Bosphorus, not a tenth, it is said, reached Antioch. Since then the genealogy runs regularly. GEORGE SPENGLER was born about 1150 and died 1190.

BALTZER SPENGLER Second Settler in America

JOHANN BALTHASER SPENGLER was born November 29, 1706, at Weyler under Steinsberg, District of Hilsbach, in the Palatinate on the Rhine, now Baden. He married Magdalena Ritter, April 29, 1732. He and his wife and brothers, Hans George and Jorg Heinrich, and their wives sailed from Rotterdam, Holland, in the ship Pleasant, J. Morris, master, and arrived in Philadelphia, October, 1732, and qualified the 11th of that month. of that month.

After his arrival in this section in 1732, he purchased a tract of 200 acres of land, nearly all virgin forest, one mile east of Codorus Creek, in "Springettsburg Manor." Other lands adjacent were acquired by Baltzer Spengler by purchase, so that he had patented to him February 24, 1763, four hundred and eighty-seven acres in York Township. Some of this land was sold by Baltzer Spengler during his lifetime. After his death, the title to the remainder became vested in his sons George and John. A large portion has been annexed to the City of York on the southwest. Baltzer Spengler built on the Frey tract his first home west of the first run about 100 yards south of the present Plank Road.

The exact year when the congregation was first formed is not known but it had existed for some years before it was blessed with the instructions of a stated teacher. Prior to its organization, in 1742, the members worshipped with the Lutheran Congregation gregation.

Baltzer Spengler, Jr., was one of the Committee of "Freeholders and Inhabitants" of Yorktown, organized December 16, 1774, for the purpose of procuring "the earlier intelligence of any material transactions" concerning the English oppression of their compatriots in Boston.

President Washington's Visit to York, 1791-Quartered at Baltzer Spengler's Inn

Quartered at Baltzer Spengler's Inn
Upon his return from his trip through the Southern States, President Washington visited York, arriving here on July 2, 1791. He came from Mount Vernon through Frederick and Hanover. He was met by a delegation from York at, the present site of Nashville, in Jackson Township. Gen. Henry Miller, Maj. John Clark, Col. Thomas Hartley, Lieut. Colonels David Grier and John Hay, and Hon. James Smith, intimate friends of Washington, were then living, and greeted him. He quartered at the leading Hostery of Baltzer Spengler, Jr., second door west of Court House Square, some of whose descendants have still in their possession china-ware used on that occasion.

Church Diary of 1791, by Pastor John Roth:

"On the 2nd of July, 1791, came to Yorktown the Honorable President Washington. The bells of the town were rung in his honor, a melody of sweet and pleasant sounds; linked with the inspiring event they appeared to me as if the voices of the archangels were present. I could not restrain my tears over the thought—Yes, I cried aloud; not from a sense of sadness but from a pressure of overwrought emotions and irrepressible joy. In the evening the Court House was illuminated, a light being placed at every pane."

light being placed at every pane."

He was received with great enthusiasm by the numerous patriots in and around York, many of whom had fought under him in many battles during the Revolution. The morning (Sunday) following his arrival, there being no pastor of the Episcopal Church, he was invited by prominent members of the German Reformed Church (of which Baltzer Spengler was one) to attend their services, and accepted. The services being in German he could not understand a word, and was man he could not understand a word, and was presumably relieved upon their conclusion.

The present scribe with great difficulty obtained a copy of that portion of the unpublished diary of President Washington describing his visit to York.

LAZARUS SPENGLER

The most distinguished of the German Spenglers was the elder Lazarus Spengler, of Nuremberg, born 1479, died 1534. He was one of the most noted, courageous and learned men of his time-a famous author and composer of hymns. He was one of the supporters of Luther at the Diet of Worms, and his description of the Debauchery and dissipation of the dissolute clergy at that famous convocation is the most graphic extant. The subjoined letter of Martin Luther to him found in Luther's published works, and the biographical sketch of this remarkable man was discovered in the Astor Library, New York. His biography was published by Hansdorff Nuremberg, 1741; by Pressel, Elberfeld, 1862; and his complete works are about to be published by a Spengler scion, Professor Dr. Hans von Schubert of Kiel, Germany.

PETER SPANGLER, REVOLUTIONARY SOLDIER

SOLDIER

His name is listed in "Official Roster: Soldiers of the American Revolution Buried in Ohio," (Columbus, 1929, p. 344), along with other ancestors of O. E. M., in the same volume, as ISRAEL, CLARK, (p. 78); ABRAHAM MONNETT, (p. 260); JOHN ADAMS REICHELSDORFFER, (p. 304), and SAMUEL SCRIBNER, (p. 325).

The subject came with his kinsman, JOHN ADAMS REICHELSDORFFFER, from Berks County, Penna., to Pickaway County, Ohio, (where buried), and he had served, Mch. 1777, to Mch. 1780, in 3rd Battalion of Pennsylvania, Capt. RICHARD SPENCE, OR SPENCER, OF WOODBRIDGE

In two entries (ARCH., VOL. XXI, p. 267), both spellings appear, and he was a grantee, 1696-7, and called Scotchman.

In 1701, as Richard Spencer, yeoman, he conveyed to his son, William Spencer, weaver, both of W., (idem, p. 142), and the latter was also called Spence, (idem, p. 141).

John Spencer was such in 1677, (idem, p. 185). Were they related to the two sisters, SPENCE, Christian, wife of JAMES CLARKSON, of W., and Margaret, widow of John Verner? (q. v.)

John Sommer married Elizabeth Rideneaur and died in Monroe County, West Virginia in 1812. His son, Andrew Summers (spelling of name changed) married Margaret Miller and their son Andrew Summers married Olivia Wirt Hawkins, my grandmother. My father John C. Summers married Nannie Preston and died in 1907. He was a Colonel in the Confederate Army and left a distinguished record as a soldier. His nephew, my first Cousin, Andrew Summers Rowan of San Francisco, carried the message to Garcia during the Spanish-American War.

My father resembled General von Hindenberg, strikingly, and was a typical German in all of his activities, in War and peace.

SUTTON ORIGINS (Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1286.)

(Vide, ante, this PART, p. 1286.)

Mr. Edward Forrester Sutton, author of the pamphlet SUTTON, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 323), is not favorably inclined to the "Unpublished Cox Records," which give a certain English SUTTON ancestry, (vide, ante, PART SIX, p. 1226), but he has been researching with a professional (?), and they have determined that the first WILLIAM SUTTON of N. J., and his brother, Daniel Sutton, of Burling, were sons of the first GEORGE SUTTON of Scituate, but without obtaining any record or documentary proof, and all certainly are in dispute with HAMILL of Cuba. (Vide, ante, PART SIX, "Genealogical Follies of 1933," p. 890.)

JAMES THOMSON, ESQ., OF PISCATAWAY

The "ESQ." sticks to make him the "GREAT" JAMES THOMSON, spelling preserved by his descendants, in large part, and by THOMAS STELLE, who identified this kinship and origin.

He was a son of, and named in his will, ALEX-ANDER THOMSON, (supra), to which has been added since PART SIX, p. 1229. He d. June 21, 1763, in the 71st year of his age, i. e., b. 1692, (vide, ante, PART THREE, p. 366). His wife was Charity who d. Sepr. 18, 1792, aged 92 years, i. e., b. 1700 (idem).

This burial plot adjoins that of STELLE, at the Baptist Churchyard, (now Episcopal) there.

The writer is working on theory that CHARITY THOMSON was, herself, a STELLE.—O. E. M.

PETER TRENNARY OF WOODBRIDGE

There is meagre information relative to this family. He appeared in New Jersey by the year 1725, and was first noted in the records as Peter Trauverrie, as see (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 8).

This was undoubtedly a French Huguenot name and its origin is to be found in the first years of that Great Migration of French Protestants.

VAIL OF NEW JERSEY

(Vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 635-6.) This is a continuation. The origin was, as given.

The VAIL GEN. states in confirmance:

(p. 285.)

By 1686, SAMUEL VAIL was still in West-chester, and by 1690, THOMAS VAIL, son, had become "THOMAS VAIL, Senr., of East-chester," (pp. 392-3 and 400), and one JOSEAPH VEALE, (sic.), Suffolk County, Nassau Island, "of Huntington," conveyed to "brother Thomas Veale of Eastchester," land formerly "by brother, John Veale's, late of Eastchester," and May 28, 1697, signed by him and acknowledged by Joseph and Thomas Vaile of Eastchester, (idem, p. 400). THOMAS VAIL, JR., OF WOODBRIDGE See references to KINSEY and FITZ RAN-DOLPH.

The origin of this Fam., without much gen., was given, (vide, ante, PART FOUR, pp. 635-6), and has been referenced herein many times.

He was the son of THOMAS VAIL, SR., the FIRST, and tho his career was short, he was a prom. rep. of the fam., at W., coming there from Eastchester, N. Y., with the GAGES, et al.

He d. in 1718, leaving a will, dated Mar. 11, 1717-8, naming a wife, RACHEL, who was FITZ RANDOLPH, (q. v.), and relatives, JOHN KINSEY, SR., and JR., Samuel Fitz Randolph, and ABRAHAM FITZ RANDOLPH, (q. v.). (ARCH., VOL. XXIII, p. 475.) (SHOTWELL, pp. 243 et seq.)

DR. JOHN VAN BUREN OF PISCATAWAY

He was a prominent physician, particularly to the Dunham and Fitz Randolph families.

In 1750, when Benajah Dunham of P. died, subject was his doctor, as see account 1751, (ARCH., Vol. XXX, p. 154).

In 1749-50, when Joseph Fitz Randolph of Piscataway died, one of the witnesses to his will, was JOHN VAN BUREN, (idem, p. 179).

EVERYBODY'S ANCESTRY

A genealogical magazine, of ambitious propor-A genealogical magazine, of ambitious proportions, Miss N. Louise Lodge, editor, (correspondent and friend of the writer, of years standing). It was started, Vol. I, No. 1, (Indianapolis, Ind., Jan., 1917), but did not survive. The first numbers contained most excellent material, from which some quotations, below.

As appears herein, (vide, ante, this PART, p. 1583), this writer and editor differs most positively from the idea of making PIATT out of PYATT, in N. J., a separate family, called of "SIX MILE RUN," (vide that mag., Oct. No., 1917, "The Piatt Fam.," p. 52), and presses forward most aggressively for the original proposition, that there was but one fam., in that closely limited environment, namely the descendants of the first RENE PYATT, or RENATUS FLEURRISON. A book is about to come forth by that excellent genealogist and conscientious worker, presenting her original conclusion, but it simply cannot be sustained in conclusion, but it simply cannot be sustained in this reference, as is the belief of this editor—with every courtesy and regret.—O. E. M.

MANEE OF STATEN ISLAND

For, the Hon. E. Stewart Manee, whose family recess of descendants from the first, PIERRE MONNET, did so much for the MONNET FAM. GEN., of 1911, recovering this far removed surname variation, it seems providential that the following old document, just received should show as it does, in confirmation of the early Colonial use of the surname. (MONNET, p. 967.) 31487—MONTREAL, Canada. DS, 8pp, fol, Paris, 1648. Notarial copy, certified on June 26, 1649. Signed by three notaries. Mentions the following names: Noblehomme Jerome Le Royer, Sieur De Dauversiere, Louis Daillebout, Lieutenant at the Fort and Island of Montreal, and "General of the Navy," DAMESELLE JEANNE MANEE, director of the Hospital Chomedy, Sieur de la Maisonneuve, Governor of Fort Ville-Marie and of the Island of Montreal. FOURTH MONNETTE PILGRIMAGE

Leaving Los Angeles, July 28, 1935, this editor, and family, will make another trip to Europe, educational for his daughter, Miss Helen Hull Moncational for his daughter, Miss freigh fruit Mon-nette, but, likewise, historical and genealogical, and for health recovery, as this work has been exacting. Crewkerne, Somersetshire, will be visited; Mon-net, or Monet, shrines in France; Dutch origins in Holland, and many German ancient seats of the first orders of Nobility.—O. E. M.

ANOTHER MAP OF EAST NEW JERSEY, SHOWING PLACE NAMES as KILL VAN KULL, ill. of orig. of KULL, or COOL; partic. MONEE'S POINT, Staten Island, re MONNET. There the first PIERRE MONNET was noticed, 1681, and son of the same name, land owner with ANTHONY TYCE, and first French Church near, and street, named PIERRE. Most pleasingly this Map currently appears, (with permission and credit to Jersey Observer, Sat., July 6, 1935, and Wm. H. Richardson). THE CONCLUSION OF THE WHOLE MATTER

The presentation of complete Indexes for PART ONE TO PART SIX, inc., (vide, ante, this PART, pp. 1293 to 1439), was in itself a real triumph, considering the labor and detail involved, ranging to a limit of over 80,000 entries. However, this consummation, so earnestly desired by all, renders an almost perfect coordination and connotation, in reference, for each and all FIRST SETTLERS OF PISCATAWAY AND WOODBRIDGE, prior to 1714, for the Period of Fifty Years, from the first and prior settlement at Piscataway, in 1664. At least, no name has escaped in the listing or notation, and many personages, living since the year 1714, have received treatment or indication. year 1714, have received treatment or indication.

Further, all of the data of this compendium have been supplemented by the extensions presented in PART SEVEN, including history, fact, record and genealogy, which could not, in their very nature and exemplification, be omitted.

It has taken twenty-three years of research, zeal and effort and conscientious application to produce this result, at great expense, for which no profit can possibly accrue. The regular and future subscriptions will only compensate, inadequately, the full expenditure and cost.

Nevertheless, as one may be justly proud of his handiwork, so this author, compiler, and editor, rises to that standard of attainment, which calls for justifiable enthusiasm. Not seeking merely to please for the sake of complimentary encomiums, but really seriously laboring, for the helpfulness of others, there is a full satisfaction in the thought that this presentation has done yeoman service, conscientiously and accurately, in the interest of history and genealogy; particularly, as centralized in these two old villages of New Jersey, a converging point of migratory influences, animated by race, religion, vocation, sociability, and other communal proactions, entering into American Colonization. This Reference Series must ever be the focal point of study and research in this Province. Though improvement, or even correction, can no doubt be made, the pathway has been dug out, cleared, and smoothed, and the guide posts and other markers, are now erected for the genealogical traveler, who realizes that America is not a fettered, secluded portion of geography, section or field, but that he who would be great in this work, must search far and wide, deeply into the records, official, public and private, along historic pathways, in all the Colonial adventures.

These books contain some personal items genealogical etc. relating to the but really seriously laboring, for the helpfulness of others, there is a full satisfaction

These books contain some personal items, genealogical, etc., relating to the writer and his family; some personal assertions and autobiography, and an honest attempt has been made to create interest even in these portions of the whole, but, sufficiently and liberally, have been brought together other subjects of wide and general interest, more than to elevate any pedigrees solely from personal elucidation. Editorial opinion has been strong, positive and provocative, but never intended to be unkind or unfair. The heart of the writer is pure and undefiled towards all, and he himself despises rancorous and censorious criticism.

Unlikely it is, that another may be able to make such a similar investment of time, labor and expense, as this editor has, in his chosen field. This INDEX—PART SEVEN, is concluded with animation, gratitude, and kindness, and with a fond wish for its equitable use and fair enjoyment, by all who seek its pages for knowledge, meat and refreshment.

PART EIGHT, in embryonic plan and voluminous data, must be laid aside tenderly, upon the genealogical shelves, for another year, or more, as the health and eyesight of the writer must now be conserved.

With affectionate spirit toward all avocatives and altruistic expression to every unselfish worker:-

In each little Sunbeam, There is a rare Day dream. As long as Life shall last, We are held by the Past.

Sincerely, the compiler,

Los Angeles, California, July 20, 1935.
